SEC. 8. That no auctioneer in the city of Philadelphia shall at the same time have more than one house or store for the purpose of holding an auction; and every auctioneer in said city shall designate in writing such house or store, and also his partner or partners, if any, engaged with him in his said business; which said writings shall be deposited by such auctioneer with the recorder of deeds of the said city; and no auctioneer shall expose to sale by public auction or vendue in said city, any goods, wares or merchandize, or effects whatsoever, at any other places than in the said houses and stores respectively, to be designated as aforesaid, except goods, wares and merchandize which shall be sold in the original package in which they are imported; domestic dry goods, in original packages, as they come from the manufacturers; stocks of dry goods, groceries, cabinet furniture, crockery and glassware at the warehouses or stores of the owners, the removal of which to the auction stores would be attended with risk and expense to the owners; goods of persons deceased, or of persons who are bona fide declining business; household furniture, musical instruments, and such like articles as have been usually sold at auction in warehouses or in public streets or wharves, or sales authorized by the courts of said city, or in consequence of any legal proceeding whatever; and if any auctioneer in said city shall enter upon the execution of his office, or shall permit any person to act in his behalf, without designating his said house or store, or his partner or partners, if any, in the manner and form herein prescribed, or shall hold any auction at any other place than the place so designated, except for the sale of the articles hereinbefore excepted, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor; and on conviction, shall be fined in a sum not exceeding three hundred dollars; and it shall be the duty of the court before whom each conviction is had, to transmit forthwith a particular report thereof to the Governor of the Commonwealth, who is hereby authorized, in his discretion, to inhibit the person so convicted from acting as an auctioneer so long as such inhibition shall continue.

SEC. 9. That it shall be the duty of the appraisers of mercantile taxes in the several counties of this Commonwealth, to call at least once in every year at the regular place of business of every commissioned auctioneer in said cities and counties, and make a personal examination of the books and papers of said auctioneer, and report to the Auditor General the amount of sales made by said auctioneer during each quarter, subject to the payment of the State tax or duty, specifying the different classes of such sales; for which service the said appraiser shall be authorized to demand and receive from said auctioneer a fee of five dollars in each case; and in case any auctioneer shall refuse to permit such examination, it shall be the duty of said appraiser to report the fact to the Governor, who shall thereupon revoke and annul the commission of such offending auctioneer.

SEC. 10. That all former auction laws, and parts of laws relating to auctions and auctioneers for the city and county of Philadelphia, conflicting with the provisions of this act, be and the same are hereby repealed.

No. 642.—FILE OF THE HOUSE.

NILL, Education—March 3.

AN ACT supplemental to an act, approved the eighth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-four, entitled "An Act for the regulation and continuance of education by common schools."

WHEREAS, It is the true intent and meaning of the thirty-ninth section of the act, approved the eighth day of May, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-four, entitled "An Act for the regulation and continuance of education by common schools," that the salary of county superintendent of common schools should be paid out of the State appropriation to each county respectively, and not out of the general State appropriation:

AND WHEREAS, It is the practice to deduct the aggregate salary of such superintendents from the aggregate State appropriation to common schools; therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this act, the appropriation of State funds shall be made to each county in this State, independent and exclusive of any salary of any superintendent as aforesaid, and the salary of such superintendents respectively, shall be paid by the order of the State superintendent, as is now provided for by law, which salary shall be deducted from the State appropriation to each county respectively.

Mr. KELLER, from the Committee to Compare Bills, made a report; which was read.

Mr. BREWER, from the Committee on the Judiciary System, asked that said committee be discharged from the further consideration of the bill relative to the claim of Thomas Morley.

The request was granted.

BILLS IN PLACE.

Mr. MARSELIS read in his place and presented to the chair, "An Act to incorporate the Western library association of Philadelphia."

Mr. TURNEY, "An Act authorizing the trustees of the Brush Creek German Reformed and German Lutheran congregations, in Westmoreland county, to sell coal on their farm."

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

"An Act to pay the claim of Charles Fisher," came up in order on third reading, and passed finally.

Senate bill No. 280, "An Act relating to costs," came up in order, and after some discussion upon its merits,

On motion of Mr. BREWER, consideration of the same was postponed for the present.

Senate bill No. 540, "A further supplement to an act for the regulation and continuance of a system of education by common schools," came up in order on second reading.

The first section being before the Senate,

Mr. TURNEY made a brief statement in explanation of the provisions of the bill. The design of the first section was, he said, to prevent the frequent change of books which was resorted to, to suit the purposes of speculators.

Mr. MILLER thought the section a very singular one. The idea that the public schools should be compelled to use certain kinds of books, for a period of three years, was, he said, absurd. The tendency of the bill would be to enforce upon the public schools a series of books which might be injurious to the minds of the children composing them. The section was wrong, and he hoped it would not be adopted.

Mr. TURNEY further advocated the provisions of the section, as designed to meet the views of the people, who complain of the frequent change of books in the public schools. He had consulted the Superintendent of Common Schools, as well as others familiar with the workings of the system, and their unanimous opinion was, that this section of the bill was calculated to work a salutary reform.

On the adoption of the first section,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MILLER and Mr. TURNEY, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Fetter, Francis, Harris, Marselis, Nunemacher, Parker, Schell, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Welsh and Wright—12.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Coffey, Finney, Miller, Palmer, Penney, Rutherford, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—9.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The second section being before the Senate,

Mr. GAZZAM moved to strike out the word "eighteen," and insert the word "seventeen;" which was not agreed to.

Upon the second section a short discussion took place between Messrs. TURNEY in favor, and Messrs. WRIGHT, MILLER, PALMER, SCHELL and HARRIS in opposition to its adoption. The section provides that the directors of the common schools of any district in the Commonwealth shall employ no female teacher in the common schools who has not attained the age of eighteen, and no male applicant under the age of twenty-one.

The section was negatived.

Upon the question of adopting the third section,

Mr. FINNEY expressed his opposition to the third section. It provides that any director of the common schools shall, before entering upon the discharge of the duties imposed upon him by the existing laws, be qualified, by oath or affirmation, to be administered by an acting justice of the peace or alderman, to faithfully and impartially discharge the duties of his office. He thought the obligation imposed by the section would be a trammel upon the school system, and render it obnoxious to the people. He was not opposed to all the sections of the bill, but he was opposed to this. The effect of it would be to demoralize the sanctity of an oath, and to render the whole school system obnoxious.

Mr. BELL was opposed to all alterations of the school system, unless the change was demanded by necessity. He thought this tinkering with the system was unwise and impolitic, and he hoped the Senate would set its face against it, because it was not demanded, either from necessity or by the public wish.

Mr. TURNEY favored the section. It simply proposed a qualification which was prescribed for any office of a public character. It was no argument against the section to say that, because these school directors had never been sworn, heretofore, they should be sworn now. The office of a school director was an important one. They do more than select and reject teachers—they control the whole school fund. No present law imposes any obligation, legal or moral, on the school directors, and it was to remedy this defect that he proposed and advocated the bill. There was, he said, no reason why school directors should form an exception to other public officers. There are as many rogues, no doubt, in the school board as in any other office of public trust; and there is no instance, save this, where persons exercising important public functions, are permitted to do so, without the qualifications imposed by this section.

The section had been incorporated, with no view to embarrass the system of public schools. On the contrary, the whole bill was intended to benefit and aid that system. During the course of his remarks, he paid a flattering compliment to the Superintendent of Common Schools, as a gentleman of talent, energy and efficiency, and to whom belongs the credit of the beneficial results which have been witnessed.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to this section?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MILLER and Mr. TURNEY, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Craig, Fetter, Harris, Marselis, Nunemacher, Parker, Penney, Schell, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Yardley—16.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Coffey, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Miller, Myer, Palmer and Rutherford—11.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The fourth section being before the Senate, Mr. PALMER moved to amend by striking out the word "eight" and inserting the word "ten" in lieu thereof; which agreed to.

And the section, as amended, was adopted.

The fifth section having been read,

Mr. SCHELL advocated the fifth section.—The section provides that all independent school districts, heretofore formed, either by enactment of the Legislature or by any court of common pleas of this Commonwealth, be and the same are hereby abolished, and that it shall not be lawful for the said courts, after the passage of this act, to establish or continue any independent district for school purposes.

Mr. GAZZAM briefly opposed the section.

Mr. TURNEY favored it, and trusted that this, of all others, would receive the endorsement of the Senate. It was important to the success of the common school system of the State that it should be adopted, and he trusted it would receive the support of Senators.

A further explanatory discussion took place between Messrs. PENNEY, TURNEY, HARRIS and MILLER, as to the effect of the section.

Mr. TURNEY offered the following proviso, to come in at the end of the fifth section, which was adopted:

Provided, That no money in the treasury of any district hereby abolished, shall be taken and applied to school purposes for the township or townships out of which said district was originally formed, but shall remain and enure to the exclusive use of the territory comprising such district, and all taxes assessed, due and uncollected shall be applied in the same way.

On the adoption of the section, as amended,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. TURNEY and Mr. MILLER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Fetter, Finney, Keller, Marselis, Nunemacher, Parker, Steele, Turney, Welsh and Wright—11.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Craig, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Penney, Rutherford, Schell, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—14.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. HARRIS moved to strike out the sixth section, and insert the following in lieu thereof:

That so much of the forty-eighth section of an act, entitled "An Act regulating the common school system of this Commonwealth," as relates to the office of county superintendent of common schools and his duties, be and the same is hereby repealed.

Mr. HARRIS briefly advocated the section, and expressed the hope that it would receive the sanction of the Senate.

Mr. BELL advocated the importance of the county superintendents of common schools, and opposed the section as designed to operate injuriously to the system.

Various other amendments and motions were submitted, most of them ruled out of order or withdrawn, upon which there was a running, informal discussion.

The provisions of this section are that the qualified electors of the several counties of this Commonwealth shall, at the next general election, determine by ballot whether the office of county superintendent of common schools shall be abolished or not, and that the ballots so voted shall be "for the county superintendent," and "against the county superintendent," and the result of said election shall be certified by the proper officers in the mode prescribed by existing laws in relation to the returns for State officers; and if a majority of the votes polled should be against the abolition of said office, then the same shall remain as provided for by existing laws, but if a majority of the votes so polled, should be in favor of the abolition of the office, then the said office is to be declared abolished by the State Superintendent of Common Schools, to take effect on the first Monday in January next succeeding said election—notice of the same to be sent by said State superintendent to the several superintendents of the Commonwealth.

Mr. WELSH said, that, whatever might be his individual opinions upon this question, he felt bound, as a faithful representative, to vote for the proposition to submit this matter to the people for their decision. In doing so he desired to say that petitions signed by over three thousand tax-payers in York county, had been presented to this Legislature, asking that the law creating the county superintendency might be repealed, so far as York is concerned. Although the session was considerably more than half advanced, he had not received a single line, or heard a word, from his constituents, in opposition to the prayers of the petitioners. He was in favor of protecting, as far as he was able, the common school system of Pennsylvania, and he trusted that the people, in their wisdom, would resist any attempt to destroy its power and influence. He was the friend and advocate of education and free schools in every sense of these words—but he felt that it was his duty, desiring as he did to reflect the wishes of his constituents, to vote for this section, which left the question of county superintendency to the voters of the respective counties. He regretted very much that the friends of the county superintendency had not felt sufficient interest in this matter to give an expression of their sentiments to their representatives at Harrisburg, and in the total absence of such, and in the face of the thousands of tax-payers who advocated the repeal, he could not, as a faithful representative, vote against this section.

Mr. SCHELL moved to postpone consideration of the bill for the present.

Mr. BELL moved to amend by striking out the words, "for the present," and inserting the word, "indefinitely."

On which,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MILLER and Mr. FRANCIS, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Finney, Gregg, Miller, Palmer, Penney, Rutherford, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—10.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Gazzam, Harris, Keller, Myer, Nunemacher, Parker, Schell, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Welsh and Wright—19.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring upon the motion to postpone for the present,

Mr. HARRIS moved to amend by postponing one week from to day; which was not agreed to, and the original motion was adopted.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented a message from the Governor; which was read, and is as follows:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, March 17, 1859.

BILLS CONSIDERED.

Mr. CHURCH called up House bill No. 752, "An Act to incorporate the Richmond and Schuylkill passenger railroad company," which was read the second and third time.

Mr. WALBORN moved to add the names of John M. Riley, Edmund Denger and Alexander Cummings as additional corporators.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to add the names of A. C. Hammer and H. R. Cogshall.

Mr. GRATZ moved to add the name of Jos. Wood.

Mr. HARDING moved to add the names of J. L. Hutchinson and R. F. Taylor.

Discussion ensued between Messrs. THORN, CHURCH, WALBORN and PENNELL.

Mr. GOOD moved to postpone the bill for the present; which was not agreed to.

Mr. HARDING withdrew his amendment.

Adjourned until this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The House re-assembled at three o'clock.

Agreeably to order, the House proceeded to the consideration of House bill No. 752, "An Act to incorporate the Richmond and Schuylkill passenger railway company."

Mr. PINKERTON raised a point of order to the effect that the Chair this morning decided the call of the gentleman from Northumberland, (Mr. HOTTENSTINE,) to have been exhausted, inasmuch as the House adjourned pending the consideration of the bill which that gentleman had called up last petition day.

The Chair decided the point not well taken, and remarked that the two cases were not analogous. That the present (afternoon,) session was but a continuation of the morning session, and the consideration of the bill at the present time was, therefore, clearly in order.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment to the amendment proposed by Mr. HARDING, to include the names of Jeremiah Hutchinson and R. F. Taylor among the list of corporators?

It was not agreed to.

The question now recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment proposed by Mr. GRATZ, to include the name of Mr. Joseph Wood?

It was not agreed to.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment as amended?

It was not agreed to.

Mr. GRATZ moved that the House go into committee of the whole for the purpose of special amendments to insert the names of Edmund Dingle, John M. Riley and Joseph Wood among the list of corporators; which was agreed to.

Mr. PUGHE was called to the Chair, and the amendment was inserted.

The committee then rose, and the SPEAKER resumed the Chair.

Mr. GOOD moved that the House go into committee of the whole for the purpose of special amendment, as follows:

And provided further, That if at any time authority shall be given to any other company to construct a railway on the whole or part of Girard avenue or Poplar street, such company shall have the right to run their cars over the road hereby authorized to be made, said company being required to pay an equal amount of the original cost of construction and expense in keeping in good and perpetual repair.

The amendment of Mr. GOOD provoked discussion between Messrs. THORN, CHURCH, GOOD and SHEPPARD.

Mr. CHURCH alleged that the amendment was instigated by a rival company for the purpose of infringing on the rights of the company soliciting the charter.

Mr. THORN said that the amendment (which included Poplar street,) was not germane to the bill.

Mr. GOOD defended his amendment, alleging that it was just and equitable.

Mr. SHEPPARD thought that the bill would be allowed to pass without the amendment.

The motion to go into committee of the whole was not agreed to.

The bill being before the House on its final passage.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GOOD and Mr. GRATZ, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Bayard, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Graham, Gratz, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mahaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Patterson, Pennell, Peirce, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Wilson, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—61.

NAYS—Messrs. Balliet, Barnsley, Bertolet, Brodhead, Custer, Dismant, Good, Gray, Harding, Jackson, M'Curdy, Smead, Stephens, Stoneback and Wagenseller—15.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. IRISH called up Senate bill No. 441, "Supplement to the act incorporating the Odd Fellows' Hall association of the city of Pittsburgh and county of Allegheny, approved 21st April, 1852;" which was considered and passed finally.

Mr. CAMPBELL called up "An Act to amend the act regulating boroughs, so far as relates to Edenboro', in the county of Erie," which was considered and passed; and ordered to be sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. JACKSON called up House bill No. 712, "Supplement to an act to incorporate the Catawissa and Towanda railroad company."

Mr. JACKSON moved to amend, by adding the names of the following gentlemen as additional corporators: Warren J. Woodward, Lot Search, George W. Search, Levi L. Tate and James Thompson; which was agreed to, and the bill, as amended, passed the House.

Mr. IRISH, on leave, from the Committee on Judiciary, reported as committed, "An Act relating to livery stable keepers in Allegheny county."

Mr. KENEAGY called up Senate bill No. 152, as follows:

A FURTHER SUPPLEMENT to an act to appoint commissioners to view, lay out and construct a State road in Lancaster and Chester counties, approved the fifteenth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the commissioners named in the act to which this is a supplement, or a majority of them, be and they are hereby authorized to lay a tax for the purpose of defraying the expenses of making the road, as laid out and constructed by them, between the points mentioned in said act, and to collect the same from the citizens of the respective townships through which said road passes, in the same manner that supervisors are authorized by law to levy and collect taxes; and the accounts of said commissioners shall be audited in the same manner that accounts of supervisors are audited.

Mr. ACKER moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. ACKER and Mr. PENNELL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Dnrboraw, Eckman, Fisher, Foster, Good, Graham, Hill, Hottensine, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mahaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Pennell, Peirce, Shafer, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Warden, Wilson, Woodrigo and Zoller—33.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Campbell, Church, Ellmaker, Evans, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Gratz, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Jackson, Keneagy, Kinney, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rose, Rouse, Sheppard, Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Walborn, Walker, Williams, (Bedford,) Wolf and Lawrence, Speaker—39.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. ACKER moved to amend the bill by striking out all after the enacting clause and inserting the following:

That the auditors of the townships of West Calm and Sadsbury, Chester county, are hereby authorized to audit the accounts of the commissioners named in the act to which this is a supplement, and ascertain and determine the sum or sums of money to be paid to them for the work done under the authority of the said act, and pursuant to its directions; and the supervisors of said townships are hereby authorized to lay and assess a tax for the payment of said sum or sums of money: Provided, that the said road has been laid out and opened in accordance with the requisition of said act, and the general road laws of this Commonwealth.

Mr. KENEAGY said that the amendment was not desired. The facts of the case were simply these—that some of the citizens of Chester county wanted a road built which passed through a small portion of Lancaster county. The bill was sent to Senator Dickey and passed. In accordance with its provisions, the road was laid out. The same bill which authorized the original construction provided that the commissioners should levy a tax. Through some cause, however, one of the board dissented, and as it was not stated that a majority would be competent to collect the tax, his disaffection prevented any further action. The only question at issue now was whether a majority should be empowered to collect the tax, and all that was asked was that the legitimate purposes contemplated by the original bill should be carried out. The commissioners had, in the construction of the road, expended their own money, and it was certainly just and proper that they should be re-imbursed by the collection from the citizens of Chester county.

The withdrawal of one of the commissioners, which had caused such trouble in the board, was owing to the fact that the road was not laid out to suit his particular views. The collection of the tax was opposed by the people of Chester county on the ground that the highway was already made, and they were willing to allow the commissioners to sustain the whole burden of expense. This action was neither more nor less than the repudiation of the just debts of Chester county.

Mr. ACKER said that the object contemplated by the gentleman from Chester, simply was to give power to one man to levy and collect a tax, and that man the people of Chester county asserted had already made a nice thing of it. He desired to say one word as to the organic act under which the road had been constructed.—It had originated with a citizen of Lancaster county, and the bill had been put through the Legislature without being sustained by any petitions. The aim had been to open a road from Robert Baldwin's lime kiln to certain parts of Chester county.

Now, he would appeal to the members whether it was just and right for citizens of one county to come into another, expend money for their own purposes, and then levy a tax. The bill before the House simply provides that Baldwin should go into Chester county, collect a tax and then say to the auditors, "Gentlemen, you can settle your account."

Mr. PRICE had hoped that the bill would pass without discussion, but as a personal attack had been made on Senator BALDWIN, he felt called upon to speak.

The bill originally authorizing the construction of the road had not been introduced by Lancaster Representatives, but by Mr. Dickey, of Chester county, as would be found by reference to the Journals. This bill, while it stated that a majority of the commissioners should have power to proceed with the highway, had omitted to say that a majority of them should be also competent to collect the tax, and the present difficulty had occurred from the withdrawal of one of the board. This was the whole case. The supplement now before the House was only intended to carry out the original object of the bill.

As far as the charge was concerned of Senator Baldwin having made "a good thing" out of it, he would simply say that that gentleman could produce vouchers for amounts which he had paid out of his own pocket for work and labor done on the road.

The road had been literally forced upon the citizens of Lancaster county, and he would appeal to the members whether it was fair to say now that the commissioners should be allowed to lose their private investments on account of the withdrawal of one of their number.

The object of the amendment of the gentleman from Chester, (Mr. ACKER,) was to entangle the whole matter, and by placing it in the auditors' hands, to render the lapse of years necessary before the commissioners could receive one cent. The accounts would most certainly be audited, and all that was now asked was that the majority might be empowered to carry out the provisions of the original bill, and not be tied down by the proposed amendment.

The commissioners had been compelled to do their duty, and the refusal to reimburse them came with a bad grace from the people of a county which had received the benefits of the road.

Mr. THORN called upon the gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. WALBORN,) for an explanation.

Mr. PEIRCE explained the objects of the amendment of his colleague, (Mr. ACKER,) one of which was to provide (by reference to the auditor,) for some means of ascertaining the amount due. He denied that Chester county repudiated her just obligations, and strenuously opposed the bill before the House.

Mr. GRITMAN said that justice demanded that the bill should pass without the amendment. After recapitulating the circumstances, he could draw no other inference.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was determined in the negative.

On the question,

Will the House suspend the rule, and read the bill the third time by its title?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PEIRCE and Mr. SHAFER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Campbell, Chase, Church, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Good, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Mahaffey, Miller, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Price, Proudfoot, Rose, Rouse, Sheppard, Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams (Bedford,) and Lawrence, Speaker—46.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Bertolet, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Eckman, Foster, Graham, Hot-tenstine, Laird, Mann, Matthews, McClure, Patterson, Pennell, Peirce, Pughe, Shafer, Smead, Thompson, Wagenseller, Warden, Williams, (Bucks,) and Wilson—27.

So the question was determined in the negative, two-thirds not voting in the affirmative.

Mr. KETCHUM called up Senate bill No. 368, "Supplement to the act to incorporate the Philadelphia and Great Bend turnpike road company." The bill having not been found Mr. KETCHUM transferred his call to

Mr. MEHAFFY, who called up House bill No. 587, "Supplement to an act to protect fruit and punish trespass;" which was considered and passed, and ordered to be sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. ELLMAKER called up Senate bill No. 490, "An Act to annex part of the lands of Eli Lichtenberger, in Elizabeth township, Lancaster county, to Penn township, said county;" which was passed finally.

Mr. KINNEY called up House bill No. 638, "An Act to incorporate the Towanda library association;" which was considered and passed, and ordered that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. LAIRD called up House bill No. 581, "An Act to appoint an additional notary public in the county of Erie;" which was considered and passed the House.

Mr. SMITH, of Berks, called up House bill No. 404, "A further supplement to an act to incorporate the Philadelphia and Reading railroad."

The question being on the final passage of the bill,

Mr. SMITH, of Bucks, moved that the House go into committee of the whole for the purpose of special amendment; which was agreed to.

Mr. KINNEY was called to the chair.

Mr. SMITH moved to amend the bill by striking out "Reading" and inserting the word "Harrisburg;" which was agreed to.

The committee rose and the SPEAKER resumed the chair.

The bill being again before the House on final passage,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WALBORN and Mr. HARDING, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Balliet, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Evans, Fearon, Galley, Glatz, Good, Graham, Gritman, Hill, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mahaffey, Miller, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rohrer, Shafer, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Wolf, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—58.

NAYS—Messrs. Barnsley, Bayard, Burley, Church, Ellmaker, Fisher, Foster, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Hottenstine, Irish, Keneagy, Matthews, McClure, McCurdy, Palm, Patterson, Pennell, Pinkerton, Rouse, Smead, Walborn, Wigton and Wiley—28.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. IRISH said he voted "No," but for a different reason from that given by the gentleman from Philadelphia. The gentleman has stated that he voted "No" because he was opposed on principle to imposing a tonnage tax on any road. That is not my reason for so voting. The tax which is now imposed on the Pennsylvania road was done under peculiar circumstances, for a particular purpose and for good reasons. He did not understand the same state of facts to exist in regard to the road now under consideration, and therefore voted "No."

The hour of five having arrived, the SPEAK-

ER adjourned the House until this evening at 7 o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

The House met again at 7 o'clock.

On motion of Mr. MCCLURE, Senate bill No. 445, "An Act to incorporate the Mont Alto iron company," was ordered to be placed on the Calendar for this evening.

On the suspension of the rule,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. JACKSON and Mr. PATTERSON, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Custer, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Glatz, Goepf, Graham, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Irish, Keneagy, Laird, Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, McClure, McCurdy, McDowell, Neall, Nill, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Smith, (Berks,) Stuart, Taylor, Thomson, Thorn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Williams, (Bedford,) Wilson, Wolf and Lawrence, Speaker—49.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Dismant, Eckman, Galley, Gray, Harding, Jackson, Lawrence, (Washington,) Smead, Styer, Wagenseller and Walborn—11.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The bill then passed.

No. 590. "An Act to increase the pay of State and county tax in the several townships and boroughs of Delaware county."

No. 596. "An Act to change the time of meeting of the county auditors of Northumberland county."

No. 598. "A supplement to an act to give jurisdiction in equity to the supreme court and the court of common pleas for the county of Philadelphia, in cases of disputed boundaries, approved 15th day of April, 1858"

No. 607. "An Act relating to party walls in the county of Allegheny."

No. 611. "An Act authorizing the auditors of Forest county to re audit the State account of William R. Coon, former treasurer of said county."

No. 632. "An Act for the relief of Anna Stackhouse, the widow of an old soldier."

No. 634. "An Act to authorize the payment of the claim of Emanuel Will, of Lancaster county."

No. 648. "An Act to repeal the act, approved April 20, 1855, supplementary to an act, approved March 31, 1856, to regulate the sale of intoxicating liquors, so far as the said supplementary act applies to the county of Potter."

Sen. 467. "A supplement to the act to incorporate the Hanover savings fund society, of York county."

No. 650. "An Act relating to Reed street, in the city of Philadelphia."

"An Act to lay out a State road in Westmoreland and Allegheny counties."

No. 652. "A further supplement to an act passed February 28, 1839, incorporating the Royersford bridge company, and several supplements thereto."

No. 653. "An Act to incorporate the Spinnerstown and Roseusack turnpike road company"

No. 654. "An Act relative to supervisors of public highways, in Jenner township, Somerset county."

No. 655. "An Act vacating certain lanes and alleys of the out lots of the borough of Beaver, Beaver county."

No. 657. "An Act declaring Tombs run a public highway."

No. 660. "An Act relative to vacating certain streets in the city of Philadelphia."

"An Act relating to roads and bridges in Washington county."

No. 663. "An Act concerning the appointment of road viewers and road damages in Lehigh county."

No. 664. "An Act to raise the compensation of supervisors in Spring Creek township, Elk county."

No. 665. "An Act declaring a bridge between the counties of Armstrong and Clarion a county bridge."

Sen. 386. "An Act relating to road and bridge viewers in Centre county."

No. 668. "An Act to incorporate the Warwick manufacturing company."

"An Act to repeal a supplement to an act relating to a burial ground in the borough of Pottsville, approved April 21, 1858," came up in order on second reading; when, on motion of Mr. PINKERTON, the further consideration of the same was postponed indefinitely.

"An Act authorizing the laying out of a certain State road in Clinton and Union counties," came up in order.

Mr. BARLOW moved to amend as follows: Provided, That Mills township, in Centre county, shall not be required to be at any expense in laying out or constructing said road.

Messrs. WAGENSELLER and PATTERSON opposed the amendment.

Mr. BARLOW defended it.

The amendment was lost, and the bill was passed finally.

Mr. WALBORN moved that the House do now adjourn; which was not agreed to.

"An Act relating to the making and repairing of the public roads in Norwegian township, Schuylkill county," came up in order; and on motion of Mr. PINKERTON, postponed for the present.

"An Act to run and define a part of the boundary line between the counties of Mifflin and Huntingdon," came up in order; and on motion of Mr. FLEMING, postponed for the present.

Bill No. 514. "A further supplement to an act to incorporate the borough of Reading into a city, passed 16th March, 1847," came up in order.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (of Washington,) moved to amend, by striking out the fourth section.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) desired the gentleman to state his reason for so amending a bill of purely local concern.

Mr. LAWRENCE disclaimed all intention to embarrass the measure, but the gentleman from Berks could see that the bill, as it stood, was an omnibus bill, and might not receive the Executive sanction. The fourth section proposed to repeal an independent act, fixing a boundary line, which was no part of the charter.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks.) If the act would be likely to be so regarded by the Governor, he would not object, but gave notice that he would to-morrow introduce an independent bill to effect the purpose contemplated by the section stricken out.

The amendment of the gentleman from Washington (Mr. LAWRENCE,) was then carried, and the bill passed.

"An Act to require the Pennsylvania railroad company to change the location of a certain road in Wayne township, Mifflin county," came up in order; when, on motion of Mr. WALBORN, the same was postponed for the present.

"An Act to authorize and require the treasurer of the city of Reading, Berks county, to pay certain costs and fees," came up in order, on second reading.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) said he regretted to be compelled to join issue with his colleagues upon the question presented by this bill, but the principle and policy it embodied were so obviously objectionable, that he was left no alternative. He could ascribe this attempt to impose upon the city exclusively, burdens which naturally and justly pertained to the entire body of the county, to no other cause than the ancient prejudice which had heretofore, in some instances, arrayed town against county. The suicidal tendency of this spirit had been illustrated by classic fable in Roman history. The body was then shown, to the satisfaction of the populace, to be as essential to the well being of the members as the members to the body. The city was the natural ally and friend of the rural districts, and these were again needed to the advancement of the former. Each was the desideratum and complement of the other; they were parts of one harmonious whole; their prosperity flourished in a sympathetic union, and died inevitably when this union was dissolved and turned to discord.

When the county of Berks sent him here to represent its interests, it exacted from him, in his public acts, nothing but equal and exact justice to all its parts, and he was loth to believe that the measure now proposed, when its principal and unavoidable tendency and full legal operation were known and appreciated, would receive the sanction of any considerable body of his constituents of any party.

He desired to state to the House the effect of this novel proposition. It was briefly to make the citizens of Reading pay all costs and fees (except prison costs only) due to the mayor, aldermen, constables and other officers, for the arrest, examination and trial of any vagrant who may be arrested and tried for any offence within the county of Berks. The locality where the arrest may be made and examination had is not specified, nor where the offence may have been committed, but the expense of trial, as far as the fees of the officers are concerned, and these fees constitute the bulk of all the expenses, are imposed upon the city, if the vagrant is there tried, no matter how high or how low that offence may be. If a theft or burglary, or even murder be committed in the remotest township of the county, and the offender be tried, where alone he can be tried, in the city of Reading, all costs and fees due the State, by this law, arising out of his trial, are necessarily cast upon the city, if he be a vagrant. Surely, the county has as much, if not more at stake in the prompt redress of heinous wrongs committed within its limits as the city. Surely, the preservation of public order against the assaults of a class who may be denominated vagrants, is as much a matter of concern to the county as to the city, and every consideration of justice requires that all parts should be made to contribute its equal and just proportion of the expenses.

Whether or not the effect of the bill has been thus understood, he does not say, but that such will be its effect, he entertains no doubt, and the simple statement of it was enough to denounce the attempt. The friends of the bill would themselves, he imagined, shrink from accomplishing what it really proposed in terms.

This would be its necessary and inevitable effect in his own county. The interests of the State might not, perhaps, be compromised, but it aimed a blow at the symmetry of the system which had always obtained in this Commonwealth, of dispensing justice and of exacting from every section of every county its due proportion of the expenses incident to its administration. Innovation was sometimes, but not always, reform; it demands in every instance cogent and cunning reasons, such as had not, and could not be alleged in this discussion. He had been urged by some of his constituents, resident in Reading, to offer an amendment releasing that city from the payment of further county tax. This might be regarded as a justifiable set-off to the extravagant claim preferred by the bill under discussion; but like the bill itself, was entitled to no consideration. He hoped to be saved the necessity of weighing down the bill by odious amendments, and submitted the subject to the judgment of the House and calm consideration of his rural constituents. He wished the aid of the House in defeating the bill, by its indefinite postponement.

Mr. CUSTER said—

I do not feel prepared to make a long speech upon this subject, yet I feel sorry to differ with my colleague upon this subject. I feel it my duty to express myself in favor of the passage of this act, and I will repeat what the petitioners for this act say upon this subject. They say that the fees for arresting vagrants in the city of Reading have increased to such an amount, within the last two or three years, as to become a serious charge on the county—that the fees paid by the county, for the year 1856, were only $25 70, whilst for 1858 they amounted to $397 13; and for the month of December alone, to $74 25; that if this continues it will cost the county thousands of dollars. Whereas, if the city of Reading had to pay these expenses, the police officers would be required to perform this duty for the salaries they now receive. They, therefore, most respectfully ask for the passage of this act.

Mr. McCLURE moved to postpone the further consideration of the bill for the present.

Mr. SMITH, (of Berks,) desired to see the bill disposed of now, and opposed the postponement of the question.

Mr. HAMERSLY hoped the motion to postpone could carry.

Mr. SMITH, (of Berks,) then moved to amend, by postponing the further consideration of the bill indefinitely.

And on the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SMITH, (Berks.) and Mr. WALBORN, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Foster, Glatz, Goepf, Graiz, Hamersly, Harding, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehafe, Matthews, McDowell, Nill, Patterson, Pinkerton, Ramsdell, Sheppard, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller and Walborn—80.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Custer, Dismant,

Evans, Fearon, Galley, Graham, Gray, Hill, Jackson, Keneagy, M'Curdy, Neall, Palm, Peirce, Rohrer, Rouse, Stuart, Thorn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Wilson, Wolf and Lawrence, Speaker,—28.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

"An Act for the better regulation of the Mercer County and Shenango Valley agricultural society," came up in order on second reading.

Mr. IRISH moved to embrace the county of Allegheny within the provisions of said act; which was agreed to, and the bill passed.

"An Act authorizing the laying out of a State road from Dushore, Sullivan county, to the North Branch of the Susquehanna river, at or near Wells' ferry, in Bradford county," came up in order and was passed.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved a re-consideration of the vote had on the final passage of Senate bill No. 525, "An Act relative to the limits of the borough of Wrightsville, York county."

The motion was resisted by Messrs. GLATZ and WOLF, but was finally carried.

And the question recurring,

On the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GLATZ and Mr. WOLF, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Brodhead, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Evans, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Goepf, Gray, Hill, Jackson, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Nill, Peirce, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rouse, Smith, (Berks,) Stuart, Styer, Thompson, Walborn, Warden, Wilson, Wolf and Lawrence, Speaker—31.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Eokman, Fearon, Fisher, Foster, Graham, Graiz, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, Keneagy, Ketchum, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Neall, Palm, Patterson, Pinkerton, Smead, Thorn, Walker, Witman, Williams, (Bedford,) and Zoller—31.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The bill having been lost on a tie vote.

"An Act to extend the charter of the Forest improvement company," came up in order on second reading.

Mr. M'CLURE moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Discussion took place between Messrs. PINKERTON, PALM and WALBORN against the motion, and by Messrs. M'CLURE, NEALL and THORN in favor of postponement.

The question was further discussed by Mr. HAMERSLY; when, on motion of Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) the SPEAKER adjourned the House until to-morrow morning at 9½ o'clock.

SENATE.

Also, "An Act abolishing an independent school district in Westmoreland county."

Mr. WRIGHT, "An Act relative to insurance companies and associations in the city and county of Philadelphia, and county of Allegheny."

ORIGINAL RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. SCHELL offered the following resolution; which was twice read, considered and adopted:

Resolved, That the Governor be requested, if the House of Representatives concur, to return Senate bill No. 185, "An Act to incorporate the Johnstown and Ashtola tram road and railroad company."

On motion of Mr. WELSH, the Senate reconsidered its vote on the final passage of Senate bill No. 438, "An Act to incorporate the Union Evangelical Lutheran congregation in the borough of York," which had been returned by the Governor.

The bill being again before the Senate, on motion of Mr. WELSH, the last section was stricken out, and the bill passed.

On motion of Mr. MYER, House bill No. 714, "An Act compelling the Williamsport and Elmira railroad company to fence their road," was re-committed.

On motion of Mr. BALDWIN, the following bill was ordered to be printed in the Record:

AN ACT regulating the construction of passenger railroads in Philadelphia.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That it shall be lawful for the councils of the city of Philadelphia, by ordinance duly enacted for that purpose, to authorize the construction of railroads for the conveyance of passengers on any of the streets of said city on which railroads for said purpose shall not have been constructed or commenced under authority heretofore granted, subject to the terms and conditions hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. That every ordinance enacted for said purpose shall designate the route on which such railroads shall be constructed, and the number of tracks which may be used; and contain such other regulations for the government of the road as councils shall deem proper.

SEC. 3. That within thirty days after the passage of such ordinance, it shall be the duty of the mayor of the city of Philadelphia, after giving ten days' notice in two or more daily newspapers published in said city, to sell at public sale, to the highest bidder, the right to make the road designated in said ordinance, subject to the provisions thereof and the acts heretofore mentioned: Provided, That if the highest bidder aforesaid shall fail to pay ten per centum on the amount of his bid, upon it being declared the highest, the said right shall be forthwith again offered for sale; and if the purchaser or purchasers shall fail to pay the whole amount of the purchase money within thirty days, the said right shall be again offered for sale in the manner aforesaid, and the money paid on account of the first sale shall be forfeited to the city treasury.

SEC. 4. That the mayor shall give such purchaser or purchasers a certificate that said right was sold him or them under authority of an ordinance enacted for the purpose, and for the price therein named; and upon the presentation of such certificate, with receipt from the receiver of taxes that the whole amount of the purchase money has been paid into the city treasury, the Governor shall issue letters patent to such purchaser or purchasers, and such persons as they may associate with them; whereupon the persons named in such letters patent shall become a body corporate and politic, with perpetual succession, for the purpose of constructing and operating the said railroad, and for no other purpose, subject to all the provisions and restrictions of an act to incorporate the Second and Third Street passenger railway company of Philadelphia, approved April tenth, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, so far as the same are not altered or supplied by this act and the ordinance of councils.

A communication from the State Treasurer was received and read, and ordered to be published in the Record.

On motion of Mr. BELL, the Committee on Roads and Bridges was discharged from the consideration of "An Act relative to highways in East Bradford township, Chester county," and the Senate proceeded to consider the same.

The bill went through its various readings and passed finally.

HOUSE AMENDMENTS.

House amendments to "A supplement to the act incorporating the borough of Harrisburg," were, on motion of Mr. RUTHERFORD, concurred in and a proviso added thereto.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

House bill No. 546, "An Act for the appointment of a sequestrator on the Washington and Pittsburg turnpike road," came up in order on third reading.

Mr. PENNEY desired to hear from the Senator from Washington some reasons for the appointment of an additional sequestrator. He had no objection to the bill, if it was practicable; but he could see nothing which would justify the proposition submitted by it.

Mr. MILLER could see no objection to the bill. The appointment of an additional sequestrator could involve no additional expense, nor in any other respect was it objectionable. He entered into an explanation of the local demands for the passage of the bill. Its passage, he said, would be of great advantage to the people of Washington county; not alone to them, but to the public at large. The State held a large amount of stock in the road, and it was important to the public that the appointment should be made, for the management of the road had been bad, and utterly regardless of the rights of the judgment creditors. The present sequestrator, notwithstanding this bad management, comes here and asks complete control of the road, while he does not present a clear record with regard to its affairs. The appointment of an additional sequestrator is the least that the people of Washington county can do, and that a change may be made in its management. It is their right, and should be granted.

Mr. PENNEY would join the Senator from Washington in any measure calculated to benefit the road alluded to. It was, he said, an important outlet, and Pittsburg was as much interested as the people of Washington in its successful management. But he could see no reason, in the argument of the Senator, which he thought would justify the appointment provided for by the bill. His argument was that, whenever there are two sequestrators, it involves the settlement of two accounts. There was already a sequestrator, and he doubted the policy of appointing an additional one on a road only twenty-five miles in length. He was perfectly willing, if Senators could see anything in the argument of the Senator from Washington to warrant it, that it would have a tendency to increase the facilities of travel, or add to the interests of the road, that they should go for it. For himself, he could see nothing justifying it, and he should be compelled to vote against it.

Mr. GAZZAM thought the appointment of an additional sequestrator would have a tendency to unnecessarily expend the funds of the road. The courts, too, have ample power over the management of the road, where there has been anything wrong. There had been no complaints, that he was aware of, and he saw no necessity for the passage of the bill.

Mr. MILLER made a further statement in justification of the appointment. The citizens of Washington county, he said, felt a deeper interest in the affairs of this road than the people of Pittsburg can feel, because it is their principal thoroughfare to that city; and as a majority of the creditors reside in Washington county, there should be a sequestrator appointed there.

Mr. GAZZAM thought the interests of the road would be better subserved by having a sequestrator in Pittsburg—not only to the stockholders, but to the judgment creditors.

On the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PENNEY and Mr. MILLER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Coffey, Fetter, Francis, Gregg, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Rutherford, Schell, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Yardley—22.

NAYS—Messrs. Brewer, Gazzam, Penney and Cresswell, Speaker—4.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

BILLS CONSIDERED.

On motion of Mr. STEELE, the Senate proceeded to consider Senate bill No. 368, "A supplement to an act incorporating the Philadelphia and Great Bend turnpike road company."

The bill after being duly considered, passed finally.

On motion of Mr. THOMPSON, House bill No. 543, "An Act to incorporate the White Marsh and Cheltenham turnpike road company," was taken up, and having gone through its various readings, passed finally.

On motion of Mr. MILLER, Senate bill No. 662, "An Act to equalize taxation on corporations," was brought before the Senate, and having passed committee of the whole lies over.

Mr. FINNEY called up Senate bill No. 482, "An Act to establish the Penn Industrial reform school."

This bill passed committee of the whole, after being amended variously, and by request, lies over.

On motion of Mr. TURNEY, Senate bill No. 576, "An Act relative to challenging jurors in civil cases," was taken up, considered and passed finally.

Mr. RUTHERFORD called up Senate bill No. 566, "An Act relating to executors, administrators and guardians."

Said bill having passed committee of the whole and second reading, lies over.

On motion of Mr. SCHELL, the Senate resumed consideration of Senate bill No. 672, "An Act relative to county treasurers and their sureties," on third reading.

This bill being before the Senate, Mr. MYER moved to postpone consideration, and that it be printed; which was agreed to.

On motion of Mr. BELL, Senate bill No. 275, "An Act to authorize execution of process in certain cases in equity, concerning property within the jurisdiction of the court or defendants, not resident or found therein," was taken up, and after passing committee of the whole, lies over.

On motion of Mr. MYER, the Senate resumed the consideration of Senate bill No. 202, "An Act to pay the claim of Thomas Morley."

Mr. TURNEY offered the following proviso:

Provided, That before any part of the aforesaid appropriation shall be paid, the whole subject shall be examined by the Auditor General and Attorney General; and if it should appear to their satisfaction that any damages are due to said claimant, either legally or equitably, then it shall be their duty to give notice to the president of the Sunbury and Erie railroad company, and to the owners and purchasers of said canal, in which they shall fix a day for the hearing of the case, and shall act as commissioners to take testimony, and determine, if any, what amount of damages is due said claimant, and this amount, and no more, shall be paid.

An explanatory discussion, with reference to the claim, its reference to the Judiciary Committee, with the power to hear testimony upon which it was based, and the application of the resolution of the Senator from Crawford, (Mr. FINNEY,) to it, requiring notice to the North Branch canal company to appear and show cause why they should not be held liable for the same, ensued between Messrs. TURNEY, MYER and BELL.

Mr. MYER said the bill had already been discussed by the Senate. If he thought a reiteration of the circumstances and facts connected with it would have a tendency to place them in any clearer light than had already been done, he would again go over the whole ground. But he thought it unnecessary, and would leave the matter with the Senate, trusting to its sense of right and justice for such a disposition of it as would be proper.

Mr. BELL was not satisfied with the claim, and trusted the Senator from Bradford would present some statement of the facts, so that he might be able to vote upon the bill with the proper knowledge of its merits.

Mr. MYER entered into an explanation of the circumstances in which the claim originated, with a statement of the facts connected with its presentation in its present shape.

Mr. FINNEY made a statement of the previous action of the Legislature upon this claim, when there was a committee appointed to examine into its merits. He denied that their consent to examine the claim was a recognition of it, or that the State was justly liable for its payment.

Mr. FINNEY gave way for the reading of a letter to Mr. TURNEY, bearing upon the claim, and denying the right of Mr. Morley to recover, having no title, either in law or equity, in the property alleged to have been damaged.

He then continued, in explanation of the legal position of the case, as it had previously been presented to the Legislature, and of the testimony which had, at that time, been presented in behalf of Mr. Morley's right to recover. There was no evidence, he thought, which entitled Mr. Morley to the payment of seven thousand dollars. If he did suffer damages, however, (and there was reason to believe he did, to a certain extent,) the right way was to have a fair hearing of both parties—not an ex parte one—for the State has rights as well as claimants. He was not prepared to say that he was entitled to this sum of seven thousand dollars, without other evidence than he had yet seen. Mr. Morley may have a just claim to some amount, but before casting his vote for the bill, he must have some better evidence to warrant it than had yet been furnished.

Mr. SCHELL thought the proper way to arrive at the merits of this claim would be for the Judiciary Committee to report a bill to give to Mr. Morley the right of proceeding against the Sunbury and Erie railroad company, in the courts either of Dauphin county or some other. Judge Pearson was a good man, and he was confident that justice would be done to both parties.

Mr. TURNEY was willing to give Mr. Morley a right to be heard; and he would propose some plan by which his claim could be referred to a competent tribunal to determine, not only of the law, but the facts of the case. He believed that the Judiciary Committee was competent to the task, and, if required, that they would, in the examination of the claim, do justice to both the State and the claimant.

Mr. MILLER suggested to the Senator from Bradford that he had better withdraw the bill for the present. His own candid opinion was that it would be doing wrong to pay any claim, however well established, out of the treasury of the Commonwealth. All these claims, he said, have already been paid, by the fixing of a certain price for the sale of the public works to the Sunbury and Erie company. The money was held in their hands for the payment of them; and if they are now paid out of the treasury of the State, without notice to the company, the amount cannot be recovered from them.

His sympathies, he said, were with Mr. Morley, and were it in his power to relieve him, he would willingly do so; but his oath to protect the interests of the State, and to perform faithfully his duties as a public servant, compelled him to oppose the allowance of the claim as at present presented. If Mr. Morley's claim is a just one, it can suffer nothing by age, and he was in favor of deferring action upon all claims for alleged damages, until some uniform system or tribunal shall have been established to pronounce upon them.

Mr. BELL reviewed the circumstances attending the origin and reference of this claim, which, he said, was an ex parte one, founded upon ex parte evidence, and upon which the Senate did not possess sufficient evidence to justify favorable action. He advocated the adoption of some general system—some settled legal mode—for the settlement of all claims against the Commonwealth.

The amendment of Mr. TURNEY was agreed to, and the consideration of the bill was postponed for the present.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented a message from the Governor; which was read, and is as follows:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, March 18, 1859. }

"An Act authorizing the Frankford and Oxford turnpike road company to borrow money."

"A supplement to the act incorporating the Middletown and Harrisburg turnpike road company."

WM. F. PACKER.

Mr. FRANCIS, from the Committee to Compare Bills, made a report; which was read.

An extract from the Journal of the House was received and read. It is as follows:

Resolved, That if the Senate concur, the Clerk of the House is hereby authorized to strike out from the 20th line of the third section of House bill No. 247, "An Act authorizing the Governor to incorporate a company to erect a bridge over Clearfield creek in Clearfield county, at Alexander's Fording," the word "fifty," and insert in lieu thereof the word "thirty."

On motion, the extract was concurred in.

On motion of Mr. BLOOD, the Committee on the Judiciary was discharged from the consideration of "An Act to enable the commissioners of Clarion county to erect a new court house;" and said bill being brought before the Senate, was duly considered and passed finally.

The hour of one having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until 3 o'clock this afternoon.

CORRECTION.—In our report of Senate proceedings upon the act, "A further supplement to an act for the regulation and continuance of a system of education by common schools," we made Mr. SCHELL advocate the fifth section, which provides that all independent school districts heretofore formed, either by enactment of the Legislature or by any court of common pleas of this Commonwealth, be and the same are hereby abolished, and that it shall not be lawful for the said courts, after the passage of this act, to establish or continue any independent district for school purposes.

Mr. SCHELL was in the chair at the time, and the advocacy of the section should have been imputed to Mr. TURNEY. Mr. S. opposed the second section, and favored the section limiting the tax to ten mills on the dollar on all property subject to taxation by existing laws for school purposes.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

FRIDAY, March 18, 1859.

The House was called to order at 9½ o'clock. The Clerk read the Journal of yesterday.

Mr. PINKERTON, leave having been given, read in his place and presented to the Chair, two petitions of citizens of Schuylkill county, praying for a law making it obligatory on the several banks of this Commonwealth to keep their notes at par in the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

Also, one from citizens of Schuylkill county, numerously signed, asking for a law better securing the wages of labor in the county of Schuylkill.

Mr. OAKS moved that the rules be suspended and that the House proceed to the consideration of Senate bill No. 355, "An Act to incorporate the East Danville iron company."

Mr. CHASE called for a division of the question.

On the motion to suspend the rule,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. CHASE and Mr. MANN, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Bryson, Campbell, Custer, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Galley, Good, Gray, Hill, Laird, Matthews, Neall, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Pinkerton, Rohrer, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Wilson and Lawrence, Speaker—32.

NAYS—Messrs. Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Burley, Chase, Dodds, Durboraw, Fearon, Foster, Goepf, Graham, Kencagy, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Nill, Peirce, Proudfoot, Ramsdell, Shafer, Walborn, Walker, Wigtou, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) and Woodring—29.

So the question was determined in the negative, two-thirds not voting in the affirmative.

Mr. WILCOX asked the unanimous consent of the House to introduce a resolution fixing upon the 6th day of April next for the final adjournment of the Legislature. He stated that he had consulted many members of both branches of the Legislature, who expressed a desire to adjourn at that time. He thought the members should know when the final adjournment would take place. In his experience, he had found it conducive to the expeditious discharge of the business before the Legislature.

Mr. HAMERSLY understood that the appropriation bill had not yet been touched in the Senate, and therefore could not see the propriety of passing this resolution.

Mr. WILCOX was assured that if the resolution passed the House, it would pass the Senate in five minutes. He again repeated that the members ought to know at this time when the Legislature would adjourn finally.

Mr. M'CLURE said that there was already a resolution before the House providing for the final adjournment of the Legislature, and suggested that it be re-considered and amended.

The House refused to give its unanimous consent to Mr. WILCOX to introduce said resolution.

Mr. RAMSDELL moved that the House proceed to the consideration of the resolution indicated by the gentleman from Franklin, (Mr. M'CLURE;) which was not agreed to.

CALENDAR OF PUBLIC BILLS.

Agreeably to order, the House resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. ABBOTT in the Chair,) on House bill No. 206, "An Act defining the punishment of certain offences."

Mr. FOSTER moved to amend the bill, by making it applicable to any city of this Commonwealth; which was agreed to.

And on the bill, as amended,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAMERSLY and Mr. FOSTER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Goepf, Good, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottensine, Jackson, Kencagy, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Miller, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Pennell, Peirce, Price, Proudfoot, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Thorp, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigtou, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—75.

NAYS—None.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The House resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. PRICE in the chair,) on House bill No. 211, "A supplement to the several acts relative to the liens of mechanics and material men," as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That when any master workman or contractor shall, on demand, refuse to pay any journeyman or laborer employed in erecting or constructing, repairing or extending any building or property, belonging or adjacent thereunto, the wages due to him for such labor, it shall be the duty of such journeyman or laborer to give notice in writing to the owner or owners of such building, of such refusal, and of the amount due to him, and so demanded; and the owner or owners of such building shall thereupon be authorized to retain the amount so due, and claimed by any such journeyman or laborer, out of the amount owing by him or them, to such master workman or contractor, giving him written notice of such claim and demand; and if the same be not paid or settled by said master workman or contractor, such owner or owners shall retain the amount claimed by said journeyman or laborer, until a suit for the recovery of the same shall have been adjudicated by the proper authority; and such journeyman or laborer, for the same judgment, having first been obtained, judgment for the same as aforesaid, such owner or owners shall be entitled to an allowance thereof, in the settlement of accounts between him and such master workman or contractor as so much paid on account: Provided, That the owner or owners of any building or buildings, against which such claim shall be made, shall not be required to pay the same until such journeyman or laborer shall have obtained final judgment against such contractor or contractors, and all costs shall be paid by such contractor or contractors; but if such contractor or contractors are unable to pay the costs, then, and in that case, the costs to which the owner or owners may have been subjected, shall be deducted from the moneys coming to such journeyman, laborer or claimant, under the provisions of this act. And it is further provided, That such claimant or claimants shall bring suit against such contractor or contractors, within one month after giving such notice; and if no suit is brought within said time, then the notice is to have no effect whatever.

Mr. ROHRER moved to amend the bill by inserting the following proviso, after the word "building," in the tenth line.

Provided, That the same shall not have been previously paid and settled between such borrower and contractor; which was not agreed to.

Mr. PALM moved to amend the bill by striking out "one month," in the 29th line, and inserting the word "ten days," thus requiring claimant against contractors to bring suit within ten days after giving such notice.

Mr. NEALL moved to amend the amendment by fixing the time at twenty days; which was not agreed to.

The amendment of Mr. PALM was agreed to.

Mr. THOMPSON moved to amend by adding to the end of the section the following proviso: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be so construed, as to change the mode of payment fixed upon by agreement or otherwise, between such owner and master-workman or contractor.

Mr. NEALL said—

Mr. CHAIRMAN:—I have been standing at my seat and listening very attentively to the arguments of the gentlemen in reference to this bill, and would say that I took a great deal of pains with this bill, presented it to the House, it was referred to the Judiciary Committee, and with the assistance of the gentlemen of that committee the bill was perfected. There were grammatical errors and clerical errors in the bill, which have been corrected. I hope the amendment of the gentleman from Butler will not be adopted, for it strikes at the vital principles of the bill. The bill provides for the payment of journeymen and laborers employed by master workmen or contractors in the erection of buildings, and whether the contract between the master-workmen or contractor, and the owner or owners, be that they should be paid in money, notes, provisions, or, as the gentleman from Butler, says in horses and cattle, this bill does not affect that contract for one moment. It, sir, is not my desire to injure the laws in reference to mechanics' liens in the least. I am not a lawyer, or one versed in the law, but simply a plain mechanic, representing a portion of this great Commonwealth, and asking for a law to protect my fellow mechanics from the impositions of unreliable contractors.

I do not speak thus for buncombe, but with honest intentions and purposes. I understand the gentleman from Butler has withdrawn his amendment. I thank him. I hope the bill will now pass as it stands, that the poor bricklayer and honest bod-carrier may not labor in vain in his honest endeavor to carry out the command to earn his bread by the sweat of his brow.

A rambling debate took place between Messrs THOMPSON, WALBORN, HAMERSLY, NILL, SHEPPARD and KINNEY, after which, the amendment was withdrawn.

The bill as amended was agreed to.

And on the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAMERSLY and Mr. GRATZ, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Good, Graham, Gratz, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Pennell, Pierce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—81.

NAYS—None.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The House resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. WILSON in the Chair,) on House bill No. 212, "An Act to abolish the board of revenue commissioners."

Mr. NILL explained why he was induced to introduce the bill, and expressed the hope that it would pass.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) concurred with the sentiments set forth in the remarks of Mr. NILL.

Mr. WALBORN opposed the abolition of the board, and hoped the bill would be negatived. He could see no necessity for its abolishment.

The bill passed committee of the whole, and was read the second time.

Mr. WALBORN moved that the bill be re-committed to the Committee on Ways and Means.

On the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WALBORN and Mr. WILSON, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Campbell, Chase, Church, Glatz, Good, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Ketchum, Mann, Neall, Peirce, Shafer, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Thompson, Walborn, Warden, Wigton, Williston, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—23.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Custer, Dismant, Doods, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Foster, Galley, Goepf, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Green, Gritman, Harding, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mahaffey, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Rohrer, Rouse, Smead, Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Wagenseller, Walker, Witman, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson and Zoller—58.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. WALBORN moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to amend by postponing indefinitely.

Mr. WALBORN hoped members would reflect before they passed upon this bill.

Mr. WILLIAMS, of Bucks, looked upon the board as a nuisance and hoped the bill would be passed.

Mr. NILL again spoke in favor of the bill. There was no necessity for the board.

Mr. ZOLLER would vote for the bill with all his heart.

Mr. CHASE said there was, he understood, considerable utility in this board, and he could not see the practicability of its abolishment.

Further discussion took place between Messrs. NILL and others.

On the motion to postpone indefinitely,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. NILL and Mr. IRISH, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Campbell, Chase, Church, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Glatz, Good, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Ketchum, Laird, Mann, Matthews, Neall, Pennell, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rouse, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Walborn, Wigton, Williston and Lawrence, Speaker—28.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Bayard, Bertolet, Burley, Custer, Dismant, Doods, Durhoraw, Eckman, Fearon, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Goepf, Graham, Gratz, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mahaffey, M'Clure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Rohrer, Shafer, Smead, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Woodring and Zoller—57.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. THORN opposed the passage of the bill.

Mr. HAMERSLY favored postponement for the present.

The motion to postpone said bill for the present, was not agreed to.

Mr. GRITMAN could not see the utility of passing the bill. He could see no good reason to abolish the revenue board.

Mr. HILL said the board subserved a useful purpose, and he could, therefore, not vote for the bill.

On agreeing to the bill on second reading, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. NILL and Mr. HILL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Barnsley, Bayard, Bertolet, Burley, Custer, Doods, Durboraw, Eckman, Fearon, Foster, Galley, Graham, Irish, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mahaffey, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Price, Proudfoot, Smead, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walker, Witman, Williams, (Bucks,) and Zoller—33.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Balliet, Barlow, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Campbell, Chase, Church, Dismant, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Fleming, Glatz, Goepf, Good, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Mann, Matthews, Neall, Pennell, Peirce, Pinkerton, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Styer, Thorn, Walborn, Warden, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Wilson, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—57.

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the bill fell.

Mr. BOYER, (Clearfield,) offered a joint resolution, that the Clerk of the House be directed so to amend bill No. 247, "An Act to incorporate a company to erect a bridge over Clearfield creek, in Clearfield county, at Alexander's fording," as to make 1850 read 1830; which was adopted.

Mr. THORN asked and obtained leave to change his vote from yea to nay, on the vote had on the final passage of the act authorizing and requiring the treasurer of Reading to pay certain costs and fees.

Mr. WAGENSELLER asked and obtained leave to change his vote from yea to nay on the vote had on the final passage of the bill, entitled "A supplement to an act to incorporate the Philadelphia and Reading railroad company."

Mr. PRICE asked and obtained leave to withdraw certain papers.

The House resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. GRATZ in the chair,) on House bill No. 214, "An Act relating to the collection of taxes in the several counties of the State," which was read, as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That hereafter it shall be the duty of the commissioners of every county of the State, in each and every year immediately after the assessment of taxes for State and county purposes shall be completed in the manner prescribed by law, to cause their clerk to make fair duplicates thereof, in a convenient form, and deliver the same to the treasurer of the said county, together with a certificate, under their hands respectively, and attested by their clerk, certifying that the taxes charged in said duplicates have been duly assessed according to law.

SEC. 2. That it shall be the duty of the county treasurer of each county, after he shall receive the duplicates of assessment from the county commissioners as hereinbefore provided, to give at least thirty days' notice, by weekly publications in one or more newspapers printed in the county, for the purpose of collecting and receiving State and county taxes; and it shall be the duty of the said treasurer to attend at least two days in each township and borough in the county, for the purpose aforesaid, previous to the twelfth day of July in each year; and he shall give receipts for taxes in all cases when required by the person paying the same: Provided, That if any person shall, on or before the twelfth day of July, aforesaid, pay to such treasurer the amount of his or her taxes, such person shall be entitled to a deduction of five per centum on the amount thereof paid for State purposes, which shall be in lieu of the abatement of five per centum allowed the county, by the forty-second section of the act to reduce the State debt, et cetera, passed the twenty-ninth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and forty-four.

SEC. 3. That in case any State or county tax, assessed in any township or borough, within any county, shall remain unpaid for a period of thirty days from and after the twelfth day of July aforesaid, it shall be the duty of the treasurer to issue his warrant, under his hand, accompanied by a schedule of all such unpaid taxes, and the names of the persons respectively to whom the same are charged, in the proper duplicate, directed to the constable of the proper township or borough, whose duty it is hereby made to receive the same, authorizing and requiring him to demand and receive from the persons named in the schedule, the sums with which they are therein charged respectively; and the said warrants shall further authorize and require such constable, in case any person named in the schedule thereto annexed shall fail to pay the amount with which such person is therein charged, within ten days after demand therefor, made by such constable, to levy the same, by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of such delinquent, giving ten days' public notice of such sale, by written or printed advertisements; and in such case the constable shall be entitled to retain, out of the proceeds of such sale, after first deducting the taxes, the same fees as are now allowed to constables by law, for a levy and sale upon a writ of execution.

SEC. 4. That upon the delivery by the county treasurer of his warrant to any constable according to the provisions of this act, he shall charge such constable with the whole amount of taxes contained in the schedule thereto annexed, in a book to be provided for the purpose; from which liability such constable and his sureties, under the provisions of this act, shall only be discharged by payments of said amount, after deducting such exonerations as may be allowed to such constables and certified to the said treasurer by the county commissioners, for mistakes, indigent persons, unseated lands and other cases wherein exonerations are now by law allowed to collectors of taxes.

SEC. 5. That it shall be the duty of the court of quarter sessions in and for the several counties of the Commonwealth, before they shall appoint constables, to require from them a bond, in the name of the Commonwealth, in such sum and with such sureties as shall be approved by the said court, conditioned for the faithful discharge of the duties imposed upon such constables by this act, and for the payment to the proper county treasurer of the full amount of taxes contained in any warrant and schedule, which shall be delivered to them, or any of them, by the county treasurer of said county, after deducting exonerations, within four months from and after the date of the delivery of any such warrant as aforesaid.

SEC. 6. That it shall be the duty of the constables who shall receive warrants from the county treasurer of such counties, under the provisions of this act, to settle their accounts, obtain their exonerations, and pay over to the treasurer of said county, all moneys collected by them in pursuance of the said warrants, within four months from and after the day of delivery of such warrants to them respectively; which day shall be endorsed on each warrant by the treasurer issuing the same, and shall also be by him entered in a book to be by him kept for that purpose; which book, verified by the oath or affirmation of such treasurer, or in case of his death, absence out of the State or other inability to appear and testify, by the oath or affirmation of any credible person proving the hand writing of such treasurer, shall be competent evidence to establish the fact of the delivery of any warrant or warrants to any constable or constables as aforesaid, in any court of law in this Commonwealth.

SEC. 7. That in case any constable shall fail to make the settlement and payment required in the preceding section of this act, within the time aforesaid, it shall be the duty of the treasurer of said county, to cause an action of debt, in the name of this Commonwealth, to be brought upon the bond of such constable; and if upon the commencement of any such suit, it shall appear that such constable has not complied with the provisions of this act, judgment shall be rendered against the defendants therein for the amount for which such constable is delinquent, together with interest, at the rate of twelve per centum per annum, from and after the expiration of the aforesaid period of four months, and full costs of suit; and in all such cases there shall be no stay of execution or other stay, any law to the contrary notwithstanding; but it shall be the duty of the said treasurer to prosecute such judgment to execution and satisfaction without delay.

SEC. 8. That if any treasurer or constable shall fail or refuse to perform any of the duties required of them respectively by this act, he or they shall, for every such offence, forfeit and pay a fine of fifty dollars, which shall be recoverable in the name of the Commonwealth, at the instance of any person who will sue therefor, in the same manner as debts of like amount are now by law recoverable, with costs of suit; and one moiety thereof shall be paid to the treasurer of the Commonwealth, and the residue to the person suing for and recovering the same.

SEC. 9. That in lieu of the per centage now received by the treasurer of such counties, or State taxes by him paid into the State treasury, he shall hereafter be entitled to deduct and retain, out of the gross amount of moneys collected and received by him for the use of the Commonwealth, under the provisions of this act, the sum of six per centum on the amount accounted for and paid over by him to the State Treasurer, four per centum of which shall be passed by him to the credit of the county.

SEC. 10. That it shall be the duty of the commissioners of such counties to deliver the duplicates of assessment for the present year to the county treasurer, on or before the first day of May next, and to deliver the duplicates of assessments for each succeeding year, on or before the first day of April.

SEC. 11. That so much of any law as requires the commissioners of the several counties of the State to appoint collectors of taxes, and so much of any law as is hereby altered or supplanted, is hereby repealed.

SEC. 12. That hereafter the pay of assessors in the several counties of the State shall be two dollars per day for every day necessarily required to make the assessment for State and county purposes.

SEC. 13. That in all cases under the provisions of this act, in which constables shall receive taxes from tax-payers without resorting to levy and sale of goods, they shall be entitled to demand and receive from such tax-payers the additional sum of five per centum on said taxes, to be retained by them as their compensation for such collections.

SEC. 14. That the assessors of the different townships, wards and boroughs in the several counties of the State, in making the extra assessment provided for by the former acts of assembly, shall certify the name of the person applying to be assessed, with the amount of tax imposed both for State and county purposes, to the constable discharging the duties of collector under the provisions of said act of the twenty-fifth of February, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three; and the said constables shall receive and receipt for all such taxes; which receipt shall be as valid as receipts given by collectors in like cases under existing acts of assembly.

SEC. 15. That the provisions of this act shall not be deemed or taken to apply to the county of Philadelphia.

The first section being before the committee,

Mr. WILSON said he was opposed to this bill, for many and weighty reasons to him.—There was already in operation, in his county, a law similar in its character to the bill before the House—one that offered stronger inducements even than did the bill under consideration, to the tax-payers there, yet it had failed of its object. One among the many objections he had to this bill, was that it fixed an untimely period for the payment of the taxes. The existing law held out an inducement to the tax-payers to pay their taxes at a time of the year when money was scarce, hard to obtain, and men were most busily engaged in their various avocations. The object of this bill was to induce the tax-payers to pay in the month of June—a time of the year when many of the people of the Commonwealth were expending their earnings of the previous winter in replenishing their stocks of merchandise, or preparing for a renewal of their business, or other of their avocations, whatever it might be. Then it was at that inconvenient season, they were called upon to pay the taxes for the previous year, before collecting their earnings of the present. The people were required to pay their taxes whilst their crops were yet green, before they were cut, before they were matured, before they have received any returns for their labor. Now, it was well known that the month of June was an untimely season for the payment of taxes, especially for the poorer classes of the community. He objected to the bill, therefore, first, upon that ground, because it was not the proper time. Why ask your merchants, your business men all over the Commonwealth, and they would tell you that it is a season of the year when they need all the payments they can command, in order to lay in their stocks. It was, too, (he observed,) at a period of the year when the poor are busily employed in recruiting their almost exhausted resources, perhaps, after a very hard winter.

Then, again, he believed it was contrary to public policy to enact such a law as was contemplated by the bill before the House. It would entail on the people grievances which they were not able to bear at that season of the year. He objected to the measure upon another ground, and that was, it professed upon its face to do that which it would not, in practice, carry out. He then proceeded to illustrate how the bill would discriminate between the poor and the rich, and showed that it would be extremely oppressive upon the former, whilst the rich would, at all times, be prepared to meet the tax collector. He contended that it would be treating the poorer classes of the people with unfairness, if not oppressiveness. Now, as legislators, as representatives of the people, they should treat all classes of their fellow-citizens alike.

The effect and operation of the bill would be, in his opinion, to destroy the credit system of the State. In short, the bill would not attain the object of its author. Mr. W. then entered into a critical examination of the various sections of the bill, and pointed out the injustice it would inflict upon his constituents should it become a law, even admitting the undoubted ability of his constituents to pay their taxes with as little inconvenience as those of any other member upon that floor. He maintained that we could not dispense with the office of county collector, and could not get clear of the labor, expense and annoyance attending the collecting of balances due the Commonwealth. Had there been a provision in the bill to enable the constable to collect the balances, there might be some justice in it. Another objection was, the bill proposed virtually to abolish the office of county collector.

FOR THE SESSION OF 1859.

No. 57.

One of the operations of the bill was to leave one-half the money due the Commonwealth in the hands of the constables, whose duty it was to collect the balances, and that he was utterly opposed to.

Mr. MILLER was opposed to the passage of the bill, and he spoke from some experience on the subject, for there was a law in his county, (Crawford,) of similar character to the one now proposed; and it had been attended with no good consequences. He next proceeded to notice some of the objections of the gentleman from Beaver, (Mr. WILSON.) Under the operation of this bill, it would cost more to collect the money due than it had ever cost before.

Mr. NILL replied, stating that there had been a similar law in operation in Franklin county for the last ten years, and it had worked well. He then explained it. He advocated this bill, because he regarded it as consistent with sound policy not to increase the expense of collecting the revenue of the State. The office of tax collector, under the present system, was an important office, and it should not be dispensed with; but if a better plan could be devised of collecting the public money, let the House adopt it. If this law were adopted, it would save vast sums of money. He cared but little about the passage of this bill, but he would say he had drawn it up with great care, and after many suggestions from several members. He next proceeded to reply to the gentleman from Beaver, (Mr. WILSON,) and asked him if he was afraid of the influence to be exercised by constables. If he was, then he would never have an opportunity of acting independently. When a similar law to the proposed one was first introduced into Franklin county, the same fear as to their influence was apprehended, but time proved it to be fallacious. Were they, he asked, always to hold on to a number of officers, because they were afraid of their influence at elections and elsewhere? Was such a feeling to control—to operate upon the minds of the members of this House? He trusted not. The poor in his county were perfectly satisfied with the manner in which the taxes are collected.

Mr. WILSON very briefly rejoined, and insisted that the people are entitled to have such a law as would do equal and exact justice, and he again reiterated many of the objections he had previously advanced. He declared that, taking the whole bill as it stood, he objected to it in toto. He saw nothing in the slightest degree in its favor, and the people would not stand it.

Mr. PINKERTON said he was opposed to the passage of the bill under consideration, and gave as his reasons, first, that the time fixed for the collection of the taxes by the treasurer was July, which was entirely too early, and that the same principle had been tested before in this Commonwealth, in the collection of school taxes, and the experiment was a perfect failure. The consequence was, the act was soon repealed, and the old system revived.

The gentleman from Franklin, (Mr. NILL,) had said that the principle of collecting taxes had been tried in his county and operated admirably; but the gentleman must recollect that that was a farming district, and, as a general thing, farmers have always money, and are ready, at almost any time, to pay their taxes; but it was not so with the majority in the coal and iron regions.

Mr. NILL briefly explained some statistical facts in connection with the county of Franklin, referred to by Mr. PINKERTON.

Mr. MILLER said this law had been tried three or four years in Crawford county, and it worked very badly. There it had been found that constables never could collect the taxes; indeed, it would not pay them for their trouble, to put the bills in their hands. He hoped the bill would be defeated.

Mr. WILCOX moved that the committee rise, report progress, and ask leave to sit again; which was not agreed to.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the first section of the bill?

It was determined in the negative.

The committee then rose, and the bill was reported to the House, with a negative recommendation,

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the report of the committee?

It was determined in the affirmative.

So the bill fell.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (of Washington,) moved that when this House adjourns, it adjourn to meet again at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. WALBORN moved to amend, by holding a session this afternoon from 3 until 5, and to-morrow morning from 9½ until 12; which was not agreed to.

Mr. ROHRER moved to amend, that in lieu of a session to-morrow afternoon, this House will hold a session this afternoon, from 3 until 5 o'clock; which was not agreed to.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to amend the motion of the gentleman from Washington, (Mr. LAWRENCE,) as follows:

That the House will hold a session this afternoon, commencing at 3 o'clock, for the purpose of considering bills on the Private Calendar; and that when the House adjourns this afternoon it will meet again to-morrow morning at 9, to adjourn at 12 o'clock; and that the session of to-morrow afternoon be dispensed with; and that the House will meet on Monday, at 3 o'clock, P. M.

Mr. THOMPSON moved to amend the amendment by meeting on Monday at 10 o'clock; which was not agreed to.

Mr. PATTERSON moved to have a session this evening from 7½ until 9 o'clock, in lieu of the one held on Monday morning; which was not agreed to.

The amendment proposed by Mr. HAMERSLY was then agreed to.

And the motion, as amended, adopted.

Mr. THORN asked but did not obtain leave to introduce a resolution, authorizing the SPEAKER and Clerk of the House to employ the services of an additional clerk for the remainder of the session.

Mr. ECKMAN asked and obtained leave to amend the act incorporating the Union cemetery association of the borough of Lebanon.

The amendment, as indicated by the gentleman, was inserted.

The Senate refusing to concur in the House amendments to the act authorizing the board of school directors of Uniontown, Fayette county, to borrow money,

On motion of Mr. GALLEY, a committee of conference was appointed, on the part of the House.

Adjourned until this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

SENATE—AFTERNOON SESSION.

Agreeably to order, the Senate met at three o'clock.

BILLS IN PLACE.

Mr. BELL read in his place and presented to the Chair, a bill, entitled "An Act relative to the liabilities of the railroad companies of this Commonwealth."

Mr. PARKER, "An Act to exempt the post-office and court rooms situated in the city of Philadelphia, from the payment of State and county taxes."

BILLS CONSIDERED AND PASSED.

On motion of Mr. TURNEY, Senate bill No. 647, "An Act to prevent the destruction of trout in the counties of Westmoreland, Somerset, Fayette and Blair."

(This bill was variously amended, and the counties of Lycoming, Clinton and Bedford, were included.)

On motion of Mr. PENNEY, Senate bill No. 541, "An Act for the regulation and continuance of a system of education by common schools in the city of Pittsburg."

(The bill lies over on second reading.)

Mr. WRIGHT, from the Committee on Corporations, reported as committed, "A supplement to an act to incorporate the Chestnut Hill water company;" and, on his motion, said bill was taken up and passed finally.

On motion of Mr. SCHELL, (the Committee on Railroads having been discharged from its consideration,) House bill No. 713, "An Act to incorporate the Ebensburg and Cresson railroad company."

On motion of Mr. COFFEY, House bill No. 554, "An Act to establish a public ferry over the Allegheny river in Armstrong county."

(This bill was amended by the adoption of a substitute and a change in the title.)

On motion of Mr. PENNEY, House bill No. 371, "An Act to incorporate the Citizens' passenger railway company of the city of Pittsburg."

On motion of Mr. FETTER, House bill No. 865, "An Act to authorize the directors of the poor in Cumberland county to re-build a barn and other buildings destroyed by fire."

On motion of Mr. FINNEY, House bill No. 387, "An Act relative to foreign insurance companies in the county of Erie."

On motion of Mr. FRANCIS, House bill No. 383, "A further supplement to an act to incorporate the Mercer and New Castle railroad company."

On motion of Mr. FETTER, (the Judiciary Committee having been discharged from its consideration,) House bill No. 852, "A joint resolution to direct the Surveyor General to issue a patent to John Williams Jr."

On motion of Mr. RUTHERFORD, (the Committee on Corporations having been discharged from its consideration,) "A supplement to the act incorporating the Shalerstown academy, in the county of Lebanon."

On motion of Mr. GAZZAM, Senate bill No. 266, "An Act to incorporate the city and county insurance company of the city of Allegheny."

On motion of Mr. GREGG, (the Committee on Corporations having been discharged from its consideration,) House bill No. 680, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Clinton County coal company, authorizing the bondholders to organize a company under the name, style and title of the Egleton coal company."

On motion of Mr. MARSELIS, Senate bill No. 698, "A supplement to the act incorporating the West Philadelphia passenger railway company."

On motion of Mr. MYER, (the Committee on Corporations having been discharged from its consideration,) House bill No. 605, "An Act to extend the general manufacturing law to the manufacture of leather in certain counties of this Commonwealth."

The bill was so amended as to include the counties of Bradford, Susquehanna and Wyoming.

On motion of Mr. NUNEMACHER, House bill No. 406, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Philadelphia and Reading railroad company."

On motion of Mr. PALMER, Senate bill No. 605, "A supplement to the act incorporating the village of Port Carbon into a borough."

On motion of Mr. BELL, House bill No. 526, "An Act to incorporate the Chester steamboat company."

On motion of Mr. BREWER, (the Committee on Agriculture and Domestic Manufactures having been discharged from its consideration,) House bill No. 536, "An Act to prevent fishing with nets, seines and set-nets in the East Conchoque Creek, below the borough of Chambersburg, on the lands owned by Bernard Wolff and William Keyser, known as the Hollywell paper mill property."

On motion of Mr. MILLER, the Senate proceeded to consider a motion to re-consider the vote on "An Act to incorporate the American improvement and loan company."

The motion to re-consider was agreed to; and the bill being before the Senate,

Mr. MILLER offered a substitute, which was ordered to be printed, and consideration of the same was postponed for the present.

On motion of Mr. SCHELL, the Senate re-considered its vote on the final passage of "An Act to incorporate the Johnstown and Ashtabula road and railroad company," and the bill being again before the Senate, on his motion, all after the word "paid," in the seventh line of the seventh section, was stricken out.

The bill then passed finally.

The hour of three having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

HOUSE—AFTERNOON SESSION.

The House met again at 3 o'clock.

Mr. CHASE, on leave, from the Committee on Ways and Means reported, as committed, "An Act relating to the overseers of the poor of Lewisburg, Union county."

On motion of Mr. WAGENSELLER, said bill was taken up and passed, and ordered that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. CAMPBELL, on leave, from the Committee on Roads and Bridges, reported, as committed, "An Act to enable the commissioners of Sheffield and Kinzua townships, Warren county, to levy and collect an additional road tax."

On motion of Mr. EVANS, the House resumed the consideration of the act, entitled "A supplement to an act to incorporate the Second and Third Streets passenger railway company."

Mr. EVANS moved to amend, so as to make the second section read as follows:

That the company shall be required within sixty days from the passage of this act, to extend their road from the Reading railroad to Allegheny avenue, with a double track; and shall also extend said road from Allegheny avenue along Richmond street, and Point road, to Bridesburg, in the Twenty-third ward, with a single track, within nine months after the passage of this act; which was agreed to.

The first section of the bill provides that the capital stock shall be increased to 10,000 shares: Provided, That the stockholders shall accept this amendment to their charter within thirty days after the approval thereof.

And the bill as amended was passed.

Mr. McDOWELL, on leave, read in his place and presented to the Chair "An Act to incorporate the Pittsburg gymnastic association."

Mr. KINNEY asked, but did not obtain, the unanimous consent of the House in order to make a motion that the House proceed to the consideration of "An Act for the assessment and recovery of damages on the North Branch and Wyoming canals."

Mr. RAMSDELL made an ineffectual motion to place on the Private Calendar, "An Act relative to Big Sandy creek and Venango creek."

Messrs. GALLEY and BRODHEAD moved a re-consideration of the vote had on the final passage of the act to reduce the expenses of collecting taxes in Fayette county; which was agreed to.

On motion of Mr. GALLEY, the further consideration of said bill was postponed for the present.

Mr. CHURCH asked, but did not obtain, the unanimous consent of the House to make a motion that the House proceed to the consideration of "An Act to incorporate the Passenger Railroad relief association of Philadelphia."

Mr. SHAFER asked the unanimous consent of the House to proceed to the consideration of an act, entitled, "Supplement to an act to incorporate the borough of Phoenixville."

Objections were made.

Mr. MILLER asked, but did not obtain, leave to make a motion.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) moved that the House proceed to the consideration of the joint resolution relative to the final adjournment of the Legislature.

The SPEAKER informed the gentleman from Washington, (Mr. LAWRENCE,) that he could not make the motion without first moving to suspend the rule, which motion could not be made, inasmuch as the House already refused to do so.

The SPEAKER held that as this was but a continuation of the morning session, the motion to suspend the rule could not again be entertained.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) then raised the following point of order:

That it was competent for him, without unanimous consent of the House, to make a motion to suspend the rule, notwithstanding the refusal of the House to suspend the rules this forenoon, inasmuch as the afternoon session had been ordered after the refusal to suspend the rules in the morning.

The SPEAKER refused to decide the point, and referred the point of order to the judgment of the House.

The point provoked discussion, which was participated in by Messrs. THORN, LAWRENCE, (Washington,) MCCLURE, HAMERSLY and others.

And on the question,

Shall the point raised by the gentleman from Washington, (Mr. LAWRENCE,) stand as the judgment of the House?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAMERSLY and Mr. WARDEN, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS.—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Balliet, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fleming, Galley, Good, Graham, Gratz, Green, Gritman, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Curdy, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Patterson, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Walker, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) and Wilson—56.

NAYS.—Messrs. Barnsley, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Fisher, Foster, Glatz, Goepf, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, Kinney, Mann, Neall, Palm, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Stephens, Stoneback, Styer, Thorn, Walhorn, Warden, Witman, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—27.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) now moved that the rules be suspended, and that they proceed to the consideration of said resolution.

A division of the question was called for.

And on the suspension of the rule,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. THORN and Mr. HARDING, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS.—Messrs. Balliet, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Eckman, Galley, Glatz, Good, Graham, Gratz, Green, Gritman, Hill, Hottenstine, Keneagy, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, M'Curdy, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Pennell, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rouse, Shafer, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—57.

NAYS.—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Goepf, Gray, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, Jackson, Mann, Matthews, Neall, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Rohrer, Sheppard, Stephens, Styer, Walhorn, Witman, Williston and Woodring—31.

So the question was determined in the negative, two-thirds not voting affirmatively.

PRIVATE CALENDAR.

The House resumed the consideration of bills on Private Calendar.

"An Act to extend the charter of the Forest improvement company," came up in order on final passage.

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MILLER and Mr. THORN, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS.—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Chase, Church, Custer, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fleming, Foster, Goepf, Graham, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Irish, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Oaks, Palm, Pennell, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rouse, Shafer, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Styer, Taylor, Wagenseller, Walhorn, Walker, Witman, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—60.

NAYS.—Messrs. Burley, Campbell, Dismant, Dodds, Evans, Glatz, Gray, Jackson, Miller, Neall, Nill, Patterson, Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Thorn and Warden—17.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The following were then passed and ordered that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence:

Mr. WRIGHT, (Corporations,) as committed, House bill No. 402, "An Act to incorporate the Fall Brook railroad and coal company."

Also, from the Committee to Compare Bills, he made a report; which was read.

BILLS IN PLACE.

Mr. PALMER read in his place and presented to the Chair, a bill, entitled "A further supplement to an act to incorporate the town of Ashland, partially in Schuylkill and partially in Columbia county."

Mr. GAZZAM, "An Act to incorporate the Allegheny and Sharpsburg passenger railway company."

Mr. BELL, "An Act to provide a mode of levying tax against delinquent municipalities."

Also, "An Act relative to the sheriff of Mifflin county."

On leave given, Mr. PARKER presented the memorial of Joseph Harrison, Jr., of Philadelphia, relative to passenger railways.

The reading of the memorial was called for. Mr. MARSELIS moved that the memorial be printed in the Record.

Upon which an informal debate ensued, participated in by Messrs. FINNEY, GAZZAM, MILLER, WRIGHT and MARSELIS.

On the adoption of the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GAZZAM and Mr. WRIGHT, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS.—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Rutherford, Schell, Shaeffer, Schindel, Thompson, Turney, Welsh, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—26.

NAYS.—None.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

It is as follows:

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The memorial of Joseph Harrison, Jr., respectfully sheweth:

That your memorialist is a native and resident citizen of Philadelphia, and as an owner of property therein, is interested in promoting any measures tending to relieve the city from the present heavy burden of debt and taxation.

Your memorialist being a large holder of the stock of the Frankford and Southwark Philadelphia city passenger railway company, (Fifth and Sixth streets) has a practical knowledge of the working and value of such improvements. Your memorialist conceives that passenger railways have proved themselves to be a great public convenience, and he knows them to be largely profitable to their owners. Under these circumstances, he is satisfied that the privilege of constructing them ought not to be hereafter granted or renewed without securing to the city, whose streets they occupy, a just compensation for such occupation; and he represents to your honorable bodies that the fairest and most certain mode of ascertaining the proper amount of such compensation, would be to set up the privilege at public sale. To make such sale for a gross sum would be a mode open to several serious objections, only one of which need be referred to, viz: that it would tend to prevent free competition, by giving a decided advantage, in bidding, to the large capitalist. Your memorialist would, therefore, suggest that the biddings should be of a sum to be annually paid to the city, for every mile, and proportionably for fractions of a mile, of the proposed railway, during the continuance of the privilege of occupying the streets; and he therefore prays that in all future acts authorizing the construction of passenger railways in the city of Philadelphia, a provision shall be inserted, directing the mayor of the city, after due notice, to cause to be exposed at public sale, in the manner just recited, the privileges conferred by the respective acts, and that the highest bidder and purchaser at such public sale, and his associates, shall be entitled to receive a charter from the Governor under such act. Such charter ought to recite the annual sum to be paid, as aforesaid, for each mile, and fraction of a mile, of the railway. Your memorialist ventures further to suggest, that the rent or annual sum thus to be paid to the city, should be made a first lien on the road and real estate of the company, and should also be recoverable by distress and sale of its cars, horses, and personal property.

Your memorialist is ready, and pledges himself to bid, for the privilege of constructing a passenger railway on Fourth and Eighth streets, with the requisite crossings to connect the tracks, the sum of one thousand dollars for every mile, and a proportionate sum for every fraction of a mile, of such railway, for every year during the continuance of such privilege, and he will make the same bid for the privilege of constructing a passenger railway on Chestnut and Walnut streets, with the like requisite crossings. He believes that such privileges will produce at public sale much larger sums.

The bidding an annual sum, as proposed by your memorialist, will obviously promote the most free competition, since such annual sum will be estimated to be paid out of the accruing profits of the railway itself, and, therefore, wealthy men will have no advantage over others in the biddings. And your memorialist will ever pray, &c.

JOSEPH HARRISON, Jr.

Washington Building, South Third Street, March 18, 1859.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. WRIGHT offered the following resolution; which was twice read, considered and adopted:

Resolved, That there be printed, for the use of the Senate, 2,000 copies of the reports of the banks of this State, as made by the Auditor General, after their first discount day in November next, as required by law; and that the Auditor General furnish copies of the statements of each bank, received at his department, to the State printer, to enable him to deliver this document at the opening of the next Legislature.

On motion of Mr. BELL, (the unanimous consent of the Senate having been obtained,) Senate bill No. 572, "Supplementary resolutions relative to a revision of the penal code," was taken up, and passed committee of the whole.

The first section of the bill being before the Senate, on second reading, as follows:

That the commissioners appointed by the Governor to prepare a revised penal code, are hereby directed to report said code complete, together with such bills as they may prepare relating to corporations and their taxation, within three days of the meeting of the next General Assembly.

Mr. SCHELL said he had voted against the bill last session, establishing this commission, and he was opposed to the extension of time asked for by the resolution.

Mr. TURNEY had also voted against the bill creating the commission; but since the State had already expended some six thousand dollars in the execution of that commission, he was not willing to take any step that would seem like an utter repudiation of the office. He was, however, opposed to the further extension of time asked for, unless the commissioners would report what progress they had made in the work of codifying the laws of the State.

He offered an amendment to the first section, requiring them to report, at the present session, what progress they had made in the performance of their duties.

Mr. BELL did not know that he was opposed to the amendment of the Senator from Westmoreland; but he thought the commission would be ready to report soon, and that the extension of time asked for was necessary to the execution of the commission.

Mr. TURNEY did not believe the committee had taken even the initiative in the performance of the commission; and before coming here and asking for this extension of time, they should give us some reasons why they were not ready to report, and what progress they had made. He was opposed to the extension asked. The understanding was, at the time the office was created, that the labor would be completed within one year, and yet, so far as the Senate was aware, they were no nearer now than they were at the time the commission was established.

Mr. FINNEY thought the Senator from Westmoreland was mistaken in saying that the understanding was that the duties were to be consummated within one year. It was asserted, at the time of its consideration, that the duties would, probably, require further time, and that an extension of time might be asked for. The duties, he said, were not such as could be performed speedily. They were important, requiring time and a great deal of research. The commission, for the performance of a similar duty, in the State of New York, were occupied for a period of three years in codifying the laws; and he did not think the failure of the commissioners to report could be construed into a neglect of duty.

Mr. BELL thought the gentlemen composing the commission were persons of high character and standing; and they would not come here, seeking to impose a deliberate falsehood upon the Senate, in stating that an extension of time was necessary for the completion of their duties.

Mr. MILLER said that the act creating the commission, specified that it was to close on the first of April, 1859, and one condition of their accepting the office, was that the duties to be performed were to be completed within that period. He instanced the extension of time for the completion of the Colonial Records from year to year, as an example of the abuse which is likely to grow out of this practice. Rather than see the commission embarrassed, however, he was disposed to see the time extended.

Mr. SCHELL further opposed the extension of time. It could result in no practical good, and the effect of it would be to entail a vast expense upon the State.

Other amendments were made and discussed, but were subsequently withdrawn.

On the adoption of the first section,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BELL and Mr. SCHELL, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Brewer, Coffey, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Palmer, Shaeffer and Cresswell, Speaker—9.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Craig, Fetter, Gregg, Marcellis, Miller, Myer, Nuremacher, Parker, Rutherford, Schell, Schindel, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Yardley—16.

So the question was determined in the negative, and the bill fell.

Mr. TURNEY offered the following resolution; which was twice read, considered and adopted:

Resolved, That the House of Representatives be requested to return to the Senate House bill No. 419, "An Act to incorporate the Layton bridge company, in Fayette county, and to authorize the commissioners of said county to make a donation to said company."

Mr. FINNEY moved that the Senate adjourn at 12 o'clock to-day.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

Senate bill No. 566, "An Act relating to executors, administrators and guardians," came up in order on third reading and passed finally.

Senate bill No. 482, "An Act to establish the Penn industrial reform school," came up in order on second reading.

On the adoption of the first section,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BREWER and Mr. WELSH, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Coffey, Craig, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Rutherford, Shaeffer, Schindel and Thompson—15.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Fetter, Marcellis, Nuremacher, Schell, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—10.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

House amendments to Senate bill No. 163, "An Act to incorporate the Uniontown gas and water company," were, on motion of Mr. TURNEY, non concurred in, and a committee of conference was ordered to be appointed.

A message was received from the Governor, stating he had approved and signed a number of bills; which was read.

The hour of 12 having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until Monday at three o'clock, P. M.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

SATURDAY, March 19, 1859.

The House was called to order at 9 o'clock, by Mr. CHASE, Speaker pro tem.

On motion of Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) the reading of the Journal was dispensed with.

On motion of Mr. HAMERSLY, House bill

No. 723, "An Act to regulate the auctions of this Commonwealth," was made the special order for next Monday.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Messrs. WARDEN and DISMANT, severally asked and obtained leave of absence for Messrs. SHIELDS and GOOD, for a few days from to-day.

Messrs. GALLEY, NEHAFFEY and BRYSON, asked, and obtained leave to withdraw certain papers.

Mr. CHURCH made an ineffectual effort to call up the resolution submitted by him a few days since, relative to the session pamphlets.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. TAYLOR, (Estates and Escheats,) with a negative recommendation, "An Act to enable Catharine Sickles, of Cherry township, Sullivan county, to sell certain real estate."

Mr. GALLEY, (same,) as committed, "An Act annexing the buildings of Wm. Bratton, of Beale township, to Juniata county."

BILLS IN PLACE.

Mr. CUSTER read in his place and presented to the Chair, "An Act to incorporate the Amity horse company," and moved that the House consider the same; which was not agreed to.

Mr. ACKER, "An Act to authorize the trustees of Glen Run Baptist church, to sell certain real estate."

Mr. ACKER made a brief statement, and moved that the bill be taken up; agreed to.

The bill was then considered and passed the House.

Mr. MILLER, "An Act authorizing the commissioners of Crawford county to make certain compromise;" ordered to be placed on next Tuesday's Calendar.

Mr. GALLEY, "An Act to repeal an act to vacate part of a State road, in Fayette county," and moved to suspend the rules to consider the bill; which was agreed to; whereupon

Said bill was taken up and passed the House.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) "An Act fixing the boundary line between the city of Reading and Alsace township, Berks county."

Mr. KINNEY, "An Act to incorporate the Penn Industrial reform school."

Mr. GRAY, "An Act to incorporate the Jacksonville and Virginia State Line turnpike road company."

Mr. PRICE, "An Act to decimalize the fee bill of the prothonotaries of the courts of common pleas of this Commonwealth."

Mr. PATTERSON, "An Act to extend the provisions of an act relating to collecting taxes in Venango county, to the county of Mifflin."

Mr. PUGHE, "An Act to incorporate the Pittston gas company."

Mr. KETCHUM, "An Act to improve the navigation of the Lehigh river, in Luzerne and Monroe counties."

Also, "An Act relating to the expenses of coroner's inquests and appeals by county commissioners in Luzerne county."

Also, "An Act relating to the election of officers of the Wyoming canal company."

Mr. PEARCE, "An Act to authorize the State Treasurer to pay the claim of R. Young, for loss sustained by fire on the Philadelphia and Columbia railroad."

On motion of Mr. SMITH, of Berks, the bill read in place by his colleague, Mr. CUSTER, "An Act to incorporate the Amity horse company," was ordered to be placed on the Private Calendar for next Tuesday."

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Senate bill, "An Act to abolish the board of health of the city and port of Philadelphia, and to provide for the appointment of commissioners of health," came up in order.

On motion of Mr. THORN, the further consideration of the same was postponed for the present.

Senate bill No. 316, "Supplement to an act to incorporate the Tuckahoe and Mount Pleasant plank road company," came up in order, and passed.

Senate bill No. 353, "An Act to authorize the payment of the claim of James Bell, of Blair county," came up in order.

Mr. STEPHENS moved that the further consideration of the bill, be postponed indefinitely.

Mr. BURLEY resisted the motion. The claim, he said, was a just and fair one. He desired to know what the reasons of the gentleman from Wayne, (Mr. STEPHENS,) are for moving to postpone this bill indefinitely.

Mr. STEPHENS said that the claim had been paid a half dozen times already.

Mr. BARLOW believed the claim to be just, and as such, it ought to be passed.

The motion was not agreed to.

Mr. HAMERSLY stated, in order to vote intelligently, he would ask the Chairman of the Committee on Claims, (Mr. WILLIAMS,) to explain the bill.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks.) It is a well known fact, sir, that men who sell to the Commonwealth fix pretty good prices for their goods.—Now, we have no doubt the wood was placed there, with the expectation the State would be the purchaser, but at the time the wood was furnished, the State officers said they did not want it, for the reason that they had sufficient for some time to come. The State officers afterwards removed the wood and used it.

I think it is a very good proposition to raze all bills of that kind a little. They will bear it.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks.) I would state, sir, having been informed, that the original claim was $640.

Mr. PINKERTON said the gentleman bringing the claim had told him that as originally made it was just and right, but that he did not care if the Committee on Claims cut it down to $200, so he even got that.

Mr. THOMPSON thought the gentleman should be paid the full amount, if the claim was just and proper.

Mr. GRITMAN called upon the chairman of the Committee on Claims (Mr. WILLIAMS) to explain.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) stated, in explanation, he thought it a great deal easier to ask than to answer questions; that he was but one of the committee referred to. He further stated that the committee had been of the opinion that this wood was given in exchange for had debts, and that said wood was not of a very superior quality, and that the gentleman was entitled to no more than the amount the committee had named.

The bill was further discussed by Messrs. KETCHUM, PINKERTON, THOMPSON, GRITMAN, WILSON and others.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass?

It was determined in the negative.

Mr. WALBORN moved that the rules be suspended in order to place a bill on the file; which was not agreed to.

FINAL ADJOURNMENT OF THE LEGISLATURE.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) moved that the House proceed to the second reading and consideration of the joint resolution fixing the day for the final adjournment of the Legislature; agreed to.

And the resolution being then before the House,

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) said that he understood it to be the opinion of a majority of the House, that they would not be able to adjourn on the 25th of this month. No doubt he would obtain the unanimous consent of the House to the motion he should now make, and that was to strike out the 25th inst., and insert "31st March." He now moved to go into committee of the whole for the purpose of special amendment.

Mr. THORN moved to amend the amendment of the gentleman from Washington, by inserting Tuesday, 5th April.

The amendment was accepted, and the modification was agreed to.

The House then resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. RAMSDALL in the Chair,) on the said resolution, and the resolution as thus amended was adopted, and the committee having reported progress, their report was agreed to.

And the question being then taken,

On the final passage of the resolution.

It was unanimously determined in the affirmative.

Senate bill No. 469, "An Act relative to orphans' courts," came up in order on third reading.

The bill was freely discussed by Messrs. NILL, THOMPSON, M'CLURE, KINNEY, HAMERSLY, GOEPP, WILSON, WILLISTON and others.

Mr. WALBORN moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present, and that it, together with one of a similar nature presented by him, be printed; which was not agreed to.

Mr. GOEPP moved that the House go into committee of the whole, for the purpose of special amendment, to add the following:

Provided, That this act shall not apply to cases wherein appeals have heretofore been taken, and are now pending from decrees of orphans' courts authorizing sales to be made on credit, or confirming sales so made; which was not agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GOEPP and Mr. WALBORN, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Boy-or, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Douds, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Graham, Gratz, Gritman, Hamersly, Hottenstine, Irish, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Maun, McHugh, Matthews, M'Clure, McCurdy, M'Dowd, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pugh, Ramsdell, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Stuart, Taylor, Thorpson, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson and Zoller—57.

NAYS—Messrs. Balliet, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Custer, Dismant, Glutz, Goepf, Neall, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Styer, Walbrun, Wolf and Woodring—15.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

House bill No. 518, "An Act to provide for a more speedy method to enforce the payment of taxes against corporations," came up in order and passed the House.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) on leave, called up House bill No. 982, "An Act to lay out a State road in Berks county;" which was considered and passed the House.

"An Act to divide the township of Quincy, Franklin county, into three districts;" came up in order and passed the House.

"Supplement to an act to incorporate the city of Philadelphia," came up in order on third reading, and passed the House.

Mr. ACKER called up Senate bill No. 495, "A supplement to an act incorporating the borough of Phoenixville;" which was considered and passed finally.

Mr. HAMERSLY called up Senate bill No. —, entitled "An Act supplementary to the act to incorporate the Chestnut Hill water company;" which was read and passed finally.

Mr. PINKERTON called up Senate bill relative to the borough of Port Carbon, in Schuylkill county; which was read and passed finally.

Mr. ECKMAN called up Senate bill relative to the Sheafferstown academy, in Lebanon county;" which was read and passed finally.

Senate amendments to a variety of bills were read and concurred in.

An extract of the Journal was read and concurred in.

Mr. KINNEY called up House bill No. 617, "An Act for the assessment and recovery of damages upon the North Branch and Wyoming canals."

The first section was read and agreed to.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to postpone the further consideration of the bill for the present.

Mr. KINNEY saw no good reason why this bill should be postponed at this time.

Mr. KETCHUM hoped the bill would be proceeded with.

Mr. JACKSON said the bill was honest, fair and just, and he hoped it would be passed at once.

The motion to postpone was not agreed to.

The bill was read the second time; and agreed to; and laid over on second reading.

A message was received from the Governor; which was read, as follows:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, March 19, 1859. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN:—I have approved and signed the following acts of the General Assembly, viz: "An Act relating to roads in West Goshen township, Chester county."

"An Act to enable the commissioners of Clarion county to erect a new court house in the borough of Clarion."

"An Act relating to the public highways, in East Bradford township, Chester county."

"An Act authorizing the trustees of the Presbyterian church, of Mechanicsburg, Cumberland county, to borrow money."

"An Act to exonerate Jas. T. Leonard, probatory of Clearfield county, from the payment of costs, taxes, &c., on his commission."

"An Act to change the name of the Keystone Lancers."

"An Act for the relief of Mary Washington, widow of an old soldier."

"An Act to incorporate the Grove cemetery, of New Brighton, Beaver county."

"An Act to incorporate the Farmers' Mutual fire insurance company of Middle Pennsylvania."

"An Act to incorporate the Farmers' market company."

"A further supplement to an act to incorporate the Venango railroad company."

WM. F. PACKER.

Mr. PEIRCE, from the Committee to Compare Bills, made report; which was read.

The hour of 12 having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

REMARKS OF MR. NILL,

On the act to abolish the Board of Revenue Commissioners.

Mr. SPEAKER:—I have given this question some consideration, and have come to the conclusion that this bill should become a law.—Since the State has no improvements, and since we have abolished the Board of Canal Commissioners, we should, in my judgment, abolish all other boards that seemed necessarily auxiliary, in some measure, to the former. The reason, if it ever did exist, for a Board of Revenue Commissioners, no longer exists. In my opinion, it was at no time productive of any good. It was a kind of subordinate legislative body, that in some cases proposed power that could not be reviewed or corrected by any other body of men. To illustrate this matter, if the Revenue Commissioners charged a county with a certain amount of taxes, for State purposes, such county had to raise the sum imposed until the next triennial assessment. I know of a case where a person died who had from forty to sixty thousand dollars at interest, on which taxes for State and county purposes were assessed. The person so taxed died in one year after the meeting of the Revenue Commissioners; under his will his money was divided among his legatees; and notwithstanding this, the county has to pay out of other funds the State taxes on such money, until the next meeting of the board. In this manner, the decisions of the board caused manifest injustice. The money given to the legatees was subjected to the payment of taxes in their hands, while the county paid the State tax on the whole sum. Again, in some cases where there was a dispute between the people of two townships as to where the line between them existed, and some two or three farms were taxed in both townships, and the owners appealed to the county commissioner and had such assessments corrected, so that the owners only paid their taxes in one township; under the decision of the Revenue Board, this injustice could not be remedied; and the result was that the county, out of the county taxes, had to pay the State taxes on such farms twice. I am satisfied that if the people had known of the unjust operations of this board, it would have been long since abolished. There is another ground for repealing the laws referred to, and that is that it costs the State at least ten or twelve thousand dollars. For continuing this large expenditure no good argument, that I am aware of, can be given. It is, I maintain, the policy of the State to lessen her appropriation, and to economize her means, so as to diminish her indebtedness, and, in a few years, be able to reduce the heavy taxation to which her citizens are subjected. It is, therefore, hoped that this act will meet with favor in this body, and become a law.

No. 630.—FILE OF THE HOUSE.

CHASE, Judiciary—March 3.

AN ACT for the protection of real estate.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That after the passage of this act it shall not be lawful to keep or put in operation, any laboratory or chemical works for the manufacture of such chemicals as are unpleasant, offensive or injurious to the health of the inhabitants of that section or neighborhood in which said works are located, to the injury or depreciation of property in the Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, Nineteenth and Twentieth wards, or the thickly settled portions of the First, Twenty first, Twenty second, Twenty-third and Twenty fourth wards of the city of Philadelphia; and if such laboratory or chemical works shall continue to manufacture such chemicals as are unpleasant, offensive or injurious to the inhabitants of said wards, upon the application of six persons, property-holders, in any of the above wards or portion of said wards, shall appear before any alderman or justice of the peace of the city of Philadelphia, on oath or affirmation say, that any laboratory or chemical works are unpleasant, offensive and injurious to their families or property; the said justice or alderman shall make return to the court, being satisfied that said laboratory or chemical works do manufacture such chemicals as are unpleasant, offensive or injurious, the said court shall order such persons owning, occupying or carrying on of such laboratory or chemical works, to cease the manufacture of such chemicals as are unpleasant, offensive or injurious, within thirty days from such order of court, under a penalty of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars per day, for every day so manufacturing such chemicals as above described; the said fine to be paid into the treasury of the city of Philadelphia.

COMMUNICATION

From the State Treasurer, on the subject of Relief Issues.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
Harrisburg, March 17, 1859. }

Hon. JOHN CRESSWELL, Jr.,

Speaker of the Senate:

Sir:—In reply to the resolution of the Senate of the 31 instant, which is as follows, viz:

Resolved, That the State Treasurer be and is hereby requested to communicate to the Senate any information he may have in regard to the amount of relief issues under the act of 1841; the amount redeemed; the amount outstanding; the amount, if any, that has been offered in payment of taxes due the Commonwealth, either for license or otherwise; the amount refused in payment of such tax or license by the treasurer or other officer; also, the amount over-issued by any of the banks of the Commonwealth, under the provisions of said act; the amount of such over-issue redeemed, and the amount outstanding, if any, and other information touching this subject within his knowledge." I submit the following reply, which contains all the information that I have on the subject, and which has been compiled from the printed public documents.

The amount of relief notes issued under the act of 1841, the amount redeemed, and the amount outstanding on the 30th November, 1858, appear in the following table, taken from the last annual report of the State Treasurer to the Legislature, and which is all to be found in the report of the Auditor General:

NOTE.—Under the construction given to the act of April 10, 1849, in accordance with the opinion of the Attorney General, many of the re issues, as they became defaced, were canceled and renewed.

* These banks, under the 11th and 12th sections of the act of May 4, 1841, issued the following sums, in addition to those here stated, and pledged to the Auditor General as security for the redemption of the same, equal amounts of five per centum State stocks, viz:

Moyamensing Bank.....$12,500 00
Bank of Middletown..... 5,050 00
Bank of Susquehanna County.. 6,200 00

Of these issues the Bank of Commerce (late Moyamensing) has redeemed 11,500, and received back the same amount of the pledged security; whilst at the State Treas-any there has been redeemed, of the Bank of Middletown, the sum of $1,645, and of the Bank of Saratoga County, $4,471, for which equal amounts of the pledged stocks have been cancelled, leaving still in circulation of these extra issues, Maysville Bank, $7,000; Bank of Middle town, $1,505, and the Bank of Saratoga County, $729.

†The Berks County Bank made an over-issue of relief notes to the amount of $28,501. For the redemption of these the Commonwealth became responsible, pursuant to the act of January 29, 1845, and has redeemed the sum of $27,408, leaving still in circulation $1,093.

Since the 30th November last, 1840 has been paid into the Treasury, at various times, the sum of $1,820 of relief notes; this will leave outstanding, at the present time, the sum of $103,530. These notes, when they reach the Treasury, are not again paid out, but cancelled as directed by the act of 19th April, 1853.

The only information I have on the subject of over-issues of relief notes by any of the banks of the Commonwealth is contained in the special report of the State Treasurer, in answer to a resolution of the Senate, made on the 15th of June, 1842, and printed in Senate Journal of that year, vol. 1, pages 853, &c., a copy of which is hereto attached.

The payment of the over-issues by the Berks County Bank to the amount of $28,501, was assumed by the Commonwealth by the act of January 29, 1845, of which sum $27,408 have been redeemed, leaving outstanding the sum of $1,093.

In a communication made by the State Treasurer to the Legislature on the 14th of February, 1844, printed in House Journal of that year, page 305, it was stated that certain officers of the Commonwealth had presented for credit, in the settlement of their accounts, over-issues of the Towanda Bank, amounting to the sum of $165. The act of March 27, 1845, directed credits to be allowed to these officers to that amount.

The foregoing contains all the information I have been able to collect, with reference to the inquiries as to the amount of over-issues; the amount redeemed, and the amount outstanding.

Frequent applications, within the last three years, have been made to me for information, with reference to the over-issues by the Towanda Bank, and in some instances, the notes in small amounts, have been sent to the Treasury for redemption. In all cases, payment has been refused. It is impossible for me to state the amount that has been offered for redemption, as no account of them was kept.

In my annual report made to the Legislature of 1858, in referring to the certain difficulties in the way of collecting licenses, &c., &c., in the city of Philadelphia, the following statement was made: "That, in other cases, brokers and others would tender in payment of licenses the relief notes illegally issued by the Towanda Bank, which were refused; that for years this system had been pursued, and as no register had been kept of the notes tendered, it is impossible to say, whether the same notes had not been tendered from year to year. Whether legally liable or not for the over-issues of the Towanda Bank, the Commonwealth is yearly losing revenue from the cause."

The system continues to be practiced in Philadelphia, and I have been informed that it has existed since the refusal of the Commonwealth to recognize the issue of these notes. But it is impossible for me to state what amount has been so offered. I have not been advised of any offers having been made to other officers of the Commonwealth of these over-issues in payment of taxes or licenses.

Very respectfully,

H. S. MAGRAW,
State Treasurer.

TREASURY OFFICE,
Harrisburg, Jan. 15, 1842. }

J. STROHM, Esq.,

Speaker of the Senate:

DEAR SIR:—You will receive herewith my answer to the resolution of the Senate of the 14th inst.

Very respectfully, yours, &c.,
JOB MANN, State Treasurer.

TREASURY OFFICE,
Harrisburg, June 15, 1842 }

To the Senate of Pennsylvania:

In reply to a resolution of your Honorable Body of the 14th June instant, which is on the following words, viz:

Resolved, That the State Treasurer be requested to inform the Senate whether the relief notes of the Towanda Bank and Berks County Bank are received in payment for dues to the Commonwealth, together with such information as he has obtained relative to the legal and fraudulent issues of said banks, or any of their officers or agents,

I beg leave to state, that the notes issued by the Berks County Bank, under the act of 4th May, 1841, called relief notes, are received in payment of dues to the Commonwealth; that there are no fraudulent issues by said bank, or any of its officers or agents, that I have any knowledge of. The circumstances connected with the notes issued by the Towanda Bank, under the act of Assembly of the 4th May, 1841, are such as to require a detailed statement in order to answer the resolution fully.

The Towanda Bank has credit on the books of this office for $37,500, the first loan taken by the bank under the act of Assembly of 4th May, 1841, and entitled to issue by virtue thereof notes under the provisions of said act to that amount. Checks or drafts from the treasury were given during last summer and fall by the treasurer on the bank to that amount, and were paid by the bank, as far as known at this office, except one check of $2,500, now in the West Branch Bank.

That bank, by a second loan to the Commonwealth, was authorized to issue one hundred thousand dollars in notes, under the act of 4th May, 1841, but as yet the bank has not any credit on the books of this office for any part of the additional loan, not having placed the notes issued under said loan, or any part of them, in the treasury, or paid them upon checks or drafts from the treasury.

It is alleged that the bank has paid the notes issued under the said additional loan, (in relief notes,) to the contractors on the North Branch canal, and sold their estimates and vouchers for work done for the Commonwealth; the accounts for which have not been settled in the treasury department.

There are notes to a large amount in circulation, and in the treasury, purporting to have been issued by order of the board of directors of the Towanda Bank, signed "J. G. Boyd, Clerk," and others, "T. Dyer, Clerk," which, on part of the bank, are alleged to be fraudulent, and unauthorized by the bank. Those gentlemen had been officers of that bank, but whether they were authorized by the bank to issue the notes, or were agents of the bank at that time, I am unable to state.

The whole amount of notes printed and delivered by the engraver to the bank, its officers and agents, including those delivered to J. G. Boyd, was $225,000.

The amount the bank would be entitled to issue under said act, being amount of loans, is $137,000, showing an excess of notes printed of $87,500.

The following sums were in the bank on the 22d March last, as appears by a statement furnished by the bank, viz:

Notes not signed, sealed up in vault, $5,000.
Notes obtained by committee of bank, from J. G. Boyd, $7,932.

Notes sent to Towanda Bank, by Pean Towanda Bank, $7,228.

Under the circumstances and difficulties in relation to the issues by this bank, under the act of 4th May, 1841, I did not consider myself justifiable in allowing the notes to be received by the different officers, in receipt of dues to the Commonwealth, and they are not now received.

The amount in the treasury on the 24th January last, in relief notes of the issues by the Towanda Bank, was $10,252, amongst which were notes signed "J. G. Boyd," and others signed "T. Dyer," to the amount of $3,721.

Shortly after I came into office, and during the winter and spring, a considerable amount of the relief issues of that bank were sent to this office, by different collectors, treasurers, &c., which I declined giving them credit for at the time, and which remained specially in the treasury vault until after the publication of the circular of the 26th April on the subject, (a copy of which is hereunto annexed;) since that time, those admitted by the bank to be legal issues have been placed as a credit to the accounts of said officers, and also those that have come in since.

"The whole amount now in the treasury purporting to be relief issues, under the act of 4th May, 1841, of the Towanda Bank, is $41,185, of which there are notes signed "J. G. Boyd," and others "T. Dyer," to the amount of $11,457, not credited to the accounts of the different officers."

TREASURY OFFICE,
Harrisburg, April 26, 1842. }

[CIRCULAR]—Notice is hereby given to collectors of tolls, county treasurers, &c., that have received in their official capacity for the use of the Commonwealth, and have now on hand notes issued by the Towanda Bank under the act of 4th May, 1841, commonly called relief notes, to send them to this office, accompanied with an affidavit as required by the resolution of the Legislature, approved 12th April, instant, and they will be allowed a credit on their respective accounts for the amount thereof.

The notes purporting to have been issued by the board of directors, and signed "J. G. Boyd, Clerk," and those signed "T. Dyer, Clerk," need not be sent, as they cannot be received at this office.

Should the whole amount of legal issues not come into the treasury in the manner above mentioned, the remainder of them (after the fact is ascertained,) will be received at this office from persons that may have payments to make directly into the office. Signed,

JOB MANN, State Treasurer.

MONDAY, March 21, 1859.

The Senate met and was called to order at 3 o'clock, P. M.

The SPEAKER in the chair.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Dr. D. X. Junkin, of Hollidaysburg, Pa.

The Journal was read and approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Mr. WRIGHT asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. KELLER for to-day.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. BALDWIN, (Roads and Bridges,) reported, as committed, House bill No. 847, "An Act relative to taxing dogs in Thornbury township, Delaware county."

Mr. FETTER, (Agriculture and Domestic Manufactures,) as committed, House bill No. 537, "An Act to prevent the hunting of deer with dogs in the counties of Sullivan and Dauphin."

Also, (same,) as committed, House bill No. 587, "A supplement to an act to protect fruit and punish trespass in this Commonwealth, approved March 16, 1856."

Also, (same,) as committed, House bill No. 646, "An Act for the better regulation of the Mercer and Allegheny counties and Shenango Valley agricultural societies."

Mr. RANDALL, (Railroads,) with amendment, House bill No. 776, "A further supplement to the act incorporating the Pennsylvania Central railroad company."

BILLS IN PLACE.

Mr. PALMER read in his place and presented to the chair, a bill, entitled "An Act to authorize the citizens of Foster township, Schuylkill county, hereafter to elect but one supervisor."

Mr. FRANCIS, "An Act authorizing the laying out of a State road in Lawrence county."

Mr. YARDLEY, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Yardleyville Delaware bridge company."

Mr. WRIGHT, "An Act to incorporate the passenger railway relief association."

Also, "An Act authorizing the Chesnut Hill railroad company to sell and dispose of certain real estate."

Mr. TURNEY, "An Act authorizing the Auditor General to correct certain accounts."

Mr. BLOOD, "A supplement to the act authorizing the commissioners of Clarion county to erect a new court house."

ORIGINAL RESOLUTIONS.

On motion of Mr. WELSH, "An Act authorizing the State Treasurer to refund certain moneys to Samuel Baird," was re-committed to the Committee on Finance.

On motion of Mr. MILLER, Senate bill No. 578, "An Act relating to the claim of James Malone, against the Philadelphia and Sunbury railroad company," was re-committed to the Committee on Judiciary.

Mr. TURNEY offered the following resolution; which was twice read and considered.

Resolved, That hereafter the Senate will meet on each morning at 9 o'clock, and at 3 o'clock each afternoon.

On motion, the resolution was amended, by striking out "9," and inserting "9½," and excepting Monday mornings and Saturday afternoons from the operation of the rule.

The resolution, as amended, was adopted.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

Senate bill No. 541, "An Act for the regulation and continuance of education by common schools in the city of Pittsburg," came up in order on second reading, and passed finally.

BILLS CONSIDERED AND PASSED.

On motion of Mr. RUTHERFORD, House bill No. 534, "An Act to prevent the destruction of fish in the Swatara river and its tributaries."

On motion of Mr. SCOFIELD, Senate bill No. 345, "An Act to confirm the title of Charles Whitney and Asa Scott to certain lands in Warren county."

(This bill was slightly amended.)

Also, a petition relating to the common school system, in Clarion county.

Mr. IRISH, a remonstrance from the board of school directors of the Ninth ward, of the city of Pittsburg, against the abolition of the high school; which, on his motion, was read.

Mr. FOSTER, one from fifty-five citizens of Pittsburg, of like import.

Mr. PUGHE, the petition of citizens of Pittston, and townships of Pittston and Jenkins, and Pittston borough, Luzerne county, praying for the passage of "An Act to authorize the school directors of said townships, to collect certain moneys bequeathed for school purposes."

Mr. KETCHUM, two from citizens of Luzerne county, for a law to take away the power of county commissioners to appoint tax collectors, and to alter the assessed valuation of property.

Also, one from citizens of same county, in favor of the repeal of so much of the exemption law as relates to all single freemen who may hereafter claim exemption under it, for any debt due by them for board or lodging; and for the passage of an act that the wages of single freemen shall be subject to attachment for board.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) one from citizens of Bucks county, for a law to make country banks keep their notes at par in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

Also, one from citizens of same county, for an act to compel votable citizens to pay their road tax annually, or otherwise to be deprived of the right of voting at such elections when supervisors of public roads and other township officers are elected.

Mr. BARNESLEY, one from citizens of Bucks county, for a law to compel country banks to keep their notes at par in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

Mr. CAMPBELL, the memorial of the trustees of the Edenhoro normal school, for the Twelfth normal school district at Edenhoro, Erie county; which, on his motion, was ordered to be printed in the Record. It is as follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Your memorialists, the trustees of the Edenhoro normal school, in behalf of the institution which they represent, and the citizens of the Twelfth normal school district, beg leave to state to your honorable bodies, the following facts:

At the time of the passage of the present normal school law, there existed a company, chartered for the purpose of establishing and conducting an academy in Edenhoro. Said company regarding the common school system as the crowning glory of our civil institutions, and believing the development of its Normal school features to be vital to its effectiveness, in the fall of 1857, resolved to secure to the Twelfth district the immediate benefits of its Normal school. It changed its name, enlarged its stock, increased the academy grounds to ten acres, and erected two additional buildings. Its present buildings, three in number, are substantially constructed in a style fitting their size and intended use, after the most approved plans; and are convenient in form and situation and imposing in appearance, and contain a hall and recitation, and model school rooms, filling the demands of the law, and facilities for boarding one hundred and fifty students, to which last, additions will be made as soon as demanded to supply scholars in attendance.

In effecting this, your memorialists found it necessary, on account of the prevailing scarcity of money, to make a debt of six thousand dollars, notwithstanding efforts enough were made to have constructed the buildings and left them free of debt, in ordinary times, for the use of our common school system.

But, as if to add to the calamity of such a debt, our institution is met with a prospect of indefinite delay, in being recognized as a State Normal school, owing to the tardiness of other districts in erecting buildings for the other three schools, necessary to apply before any shall be recognized.

In view of these facts, your memorialists ask your honorable bodies, to so amend the present Normal school law, as, in the manner by it prescribed, to allow one school in each Normal school district to be recognized as a State Normal school, whenever it shall apply, providing it shall have provided boarding facilities for at least one hundred and fifty students in its own buildings, and in all other respects filled the demands of the law as it now exists.

Also, influenced by the recommendation of His Excellency, Governor Packer, in his late annual message, that the fostering care and pecuniary aid of the State be extended to schools hundered with debt, induced by their attempt to carry out the provisions of the Normal school law, your memorialists further ask you to appropriate to the Edenhoro Normal school, such a sum of money from the State Treasury, as in your judgment may be proper, to be applied towards paying its debts, and buying a suitable library and necessary apparatus; said appropriation to be received after said school shall have been recognized as a State Normal school under the provisions of the Normal school act, amended as asked for above.

Mr. MANN, the petition of citizens of Potter and McKean counties, asking for a law to authorize them to lay out a State road.

Mr. DODDS, one from citizens of Butler county, so to alter and amend the militia law as to encourage the military of the Commonwealth.

Mr. BURLEY, one from citizens of Middle Woodbury township, Bedford county, asking to be annexed to Blair county.

Mr. OAKS, a remonstrance from one hundred and forty citizens of Northumberland county, protesting against any Legislative action tending to destroy or vacate that road known as the State road leading from Milton borough, in said county, to Limestoneville, in the county of Montour; which was read.

Also, a remonstrance from one hundred and fifteen citizens of Limestoneville Township, Montour county, of like import.

Mr. PINKERTON, the petition of citizens of Ashland, Schuylkill county, asking for a law authorizing them to elect nine, instead of five councilmen, and empowering them to assess ten mills, instead of five, on the dollar.

Mr. TAYLOR, a petition of citizens of Indiana county, that the North Branch of Twolick creek in said county, be declared a public highway.

Also, one from citizens of Blairsville, same county, for the passage of an act erecting said borough into a separate district for the support of its poor, and empowering the qualified electors of said borough and township, to elect each two overseers of the poor separately.

Also, one for the passage of an act to regulate a certain price for brackets on Canoe creek.

Mr. WILCOX, one from citizens of Shippen township, McKean county, for a law declaring the Portage Branch of the Sinnemahoning river a public highway.

Mr. WAGENSELLER, a remonstrance from citizens of Juniata county, against the repeal of the tonnage tax on the Pennsylvania railroad.

Also, two from citizens of Snyder county, of like import.

Also, the petition of citizens of Union and adjoining counties, relative to fish dams and brackets in the river Susquehanna.

Also, four remonstrances from two hundred and forty-two citizens of Snyder county, against the repeal of the tonnage tax.

Also, the remonstrance of citizens of Delaware township, Juniata county, against any change of the road laws in said county.

Mr. PALM, two petitions from citizens of Schuylkill county, for a law to make country banks keep their notes at par at Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

Mr. GLATZ, one from citizens of Peach Bottom township, York co., for a law to lay out a turnpike road from Peach Bottom Ferry to the Maryland State line, at or near the lands of Edward Edwards.

Mr. SHEPPARD, a remonstrance from property holders and residents on Front street and citizens generally of Philadelphia, against granting the use of Front street, in the former district of Kensington, to the Philadelphia and Trenton railroad company.

Also, three petitions in favor of granting the use of Howard and New Market streets in said city, to the Philadelphia and Trenton railroad company.

Mr. GLATZ, a remonstrance from citizens of York county, against the passage of an act to prevent the destruction of fish in any waters of this Commonwealth.

Mr. KINNEY, one from citizens of Bradford county, to prevent fishing with seines in the Susquehanna river, in said county.

Mr. NILL, one numerously signed by citizens of Taylor township, Fulton county, that the act authorizing the appointment of county school superintendent be repealed.

Mr. HOTTENSTINE, four remonstrances numerously signed, against annexing any part of Northumberland county to Union county."

Messrs. WOODRING, HAMERSLY and THORN presented remonstrances against granting the use of Front street, Philadelphia, to the Philadelphia and Trenton railroad company.

Mr. GRITMAN, one from citizens of Halifax township, Dauphin county, to prohibit the running of cars at a greater speed than four miles an hour over the Northern Central railroad.

Mr. JACKSON, petition of citizens of Wyoming county, for a bounty on wild cats and foxes.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. PATTERSON offered a resolution, that House bill No. 882, "An Act for the further reduction of the State tax on real and personal estate to two mills, on the dollar, he referred to a select committee of five, to be appointed by the SPEAKER. The SPEAKER appointed Messrs. PATTERSON, BARNESLEY, LAIRD, WILSON and OAKS said committee.

Mr. MILLER offered a resolution, that for the purpose of considering House bill No. 307, "An Act giving justices of the peace power with a jury of six to hear and fully determine charges for crimes of a certain character within this Commonwealth, and to lessen expenses in criminal proceedings," this House will hold a session this evening; which was adopted.

Mr. CHASE offered a resolution, that Wednesday next, immediately after the reading of the Journal, be set apart for the consideration of the act relative to the tonnage tax; which was adopted.

Mr. THORN offered a resolution, that a session be held to-morrow evening to complete the Private Calendar, if not sooner disposed of; which was adopted.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) offered a resolution, that House bill No. 303, entitled "An Act to repeal so much of the general appropriation bill of 1858, as increases the compensation of members of the Legislature from five to seven hundred dollars, be the first thing in order after the reading of the Journal to-morrow morning.

The House proceeded to the second reading of the same.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Messrs. THOMPSON, WOODRING and McDOWELL, severally asked and obtained leave of absence, for a few days from to-day, for Messrs. QUIGLEY, GOEPP and BAYARD.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. WILEY, (Militia System,) with a negative recommendation, "An Act relating to the collection and disbursement of the militia fund."

Also, as committed, "An supplement to the act regulating the militia of this Commonwealth," approved April 21, 1858.

Mr. HOTTENSTINE, (Roads and Bridges,) as committed, "An Act authorizing the laying out of a State road in Armstrong and Clarion counties;" which, on motion of Mr. FLEMING, was ordered to be placed on the Calendar for to-morrow.

Mr. MILLER, (Corporations,) as committed, "An Act to incorporate the Pittsburg gymnastic association;" which, on motion of Mr. McDOWELL, was ordered to be placed on to-morrow's Calendar of Private Bills.

Mr. PATTERSON, (Canals and Inland Navigation,) as committed, "An Act declaring Portage Branch of the Sinnemahoning river a public highway;" which, on motion of Mr. WILCOX, was placed on the Calendar for to-morrow.

BILLS IN PLACE.

Mr. FOSTER read in his place and presented to the Chair, "An Act relating to evidence."

Mr. ROHRER read in his place and presented to the Chair, the following bill:

AN ACT fixing the pay of members of the Senate and House of Representatives.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the present session, the pay of the members of the Senate and House of Representatives shall be five hundred dollars per annum, and all laws inconsistent herewith be, and the same are hereby repealed.

Mr. ROHRER moved that the rules be suspended, and that House proceed to the immediate consideration of the bill.

Mr. MCCLURE called for a division of the question.

And on the suspension of the rule,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. ROHRER and Mr. HOTTENSTINE, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Mr. WAGENSELLER, "An Act to supply the borough of Lewishurg with water."

Mr. GLATZ, "An Act to incorporate the Peach Bottom and Maryland State Line turnpike road company."

Agreeably to order, the House resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. BURLEY in the chair,) on House bill No. 723; which was read, as follows:

AN ACT to modify the existing auction laws of the Commonwealth, and to provide more effectually for the collection of the State tax or duty on auction sales.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That upon any citizen of the United States and of the State of Pennsylvania, paying into the State Treasury the sum of two thousand dollars, and giving bonds in the sum of five thousand dollars, with two or more sufficient securities, to be approved of by the judges of the court of common pleas of the city of Philadelphia, the Governor thereupon shall grant him a commission of the first class for one year, to make sales by auction or by public outcry, or on commission, of real estate, stock, vessels, loans and of any and every description of merchandize and personal property whatsoever, and to any amount, in the city of Philadelphia.

SEC. 2. That upon any citizen as aforesaid paying into the State Treasury the sum of fifteen hundred dollars, and giving bonds with securities as aforesaid, the Governor shall grant him a commission of the second class for one year, to make sales in said city by auction or by public outcry, or on commission, of real estate, stocks, loans, vessels, and of any and every description of merchandize and personal property whatsoever; providing the sales so made of merchandize and personal property in any one year does not exceed the sum of seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

SEC. 3. That upon any citizen as aforesaid paying into the State Treasury the sum of one thousand dollars, and giving bonds with securities in the sum of three thousand dollars, the Governor shall grant him a commission of the third class for one year to make sales in said city, by auction or by public outcry, or on commission, of real estate, stocks, loans, vessels and of any and every description of merchandize and personal property whatsoever; providing the sales so made of merchandize and personal property in any one year does not exceed the sum of five hundred thousand dollars.

SEC. 4. That upon any citizen as aforesaid paying into the State treasury the sum of five hundred dollars, and giving bonds as aforesaid, the Governor shall grant him a commission of the fourth class for one year, to make sale by auction or by public outcry, or on commission, of real estate, stocks, loans, vessels, and of any and every description of merchandize and personal property whatsoever; providing the sales so made of merchandize and personal property in any one year does not exceed the sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

SEC. 5. That upon any citizen as aforesaid residing and doing business not less than five miles from Independence Hall, in the city of Philadelphia, paying into the State treasury the sum of one hundred dollars, and giving bonds, with securities, in the sum of two thousand dollars, the Governor thereupon shall grant him a commission of the fifth class for one year, to make sales in said city by auction, or public outcry, or on commission, of real estate, stocks, loans, vessels, and of any and every description of merchandize and personal property whatsoever, providing the sales so made of merchandize and personal property in any one year does not exceed the sum of $50,000: Provided, That in case the sales of any auctioneer taking out a commission under the second, third or fourth class shall exceed the maximum amount authorized by this act, he shall pay into the State Treasury at the close of each year in which his sales shall so exceed said maximum, the sum of one-half of one per cent. on the amount of such surplus sales, in addition to the amount paid for his original commission.

SEC. 6. That said auctioneers shall pay into the treasury of the Commonwealth, a tax or duty of one-fourth of one per centum on all sales of loans or stocks, and shall also pay into the treasury aforesaid, a tax or duty as required by existing laws, all other sales to be made as aforesaid, except on groceries, goods wares and merchandize of American growth or manufacture, real estate, shipping or live stock; and it shall be the duty of the auctioneer having charge of such sales, to collect and pay over to the State Treasurer the said duty or tax, and give a true and correct account of the same quarterly, under oath or affirmation, in the form now required by law.

SEC. 7. That any citizen as aforesaid obtaining an auctioneer's commission of either class, shall, at the time of taking out said commission, be compelled to make oath that he will conform in all things to the true intent and meaning of the several auction laws of this Commonwealth, according to the best of his knowledge, information and belief; and shall also make return at least once each and every year to the State Treasurer of the total amount of sales made by him at auction or on commission of merchandize and personal property; the same to be a true and correct account under oath or affirmation, before an alderman of the said city of Philadelphia.

SEC. 8. That it shall not be lawful for any person or persons to make sale by auction or by public outcry in the city of Philadelphia, of real estate, stocks, loans, vessels, merchandize and personal property of any description, except as be by a duly commissioned auctioneer of the said city: Provided, That this act shall not be so construed as to interfere with any sale authorized by the courts of said city, or in consequence of any legal proceeding whatever.

SEC. 9. That any person or persons found guilty of selling at auction or public outcry in the city of Philadelphia, except a duly commissioned auctioneer, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon the conviction thereof in the court of quarter sessions of the peace of the said city and county of Philadelphia, be sentenced to pay a fine of five hundred dollars; one-half to go to the informer, and the other half to go to the public school fund of the city of Philadelphia; and for the second offence, he shall be sentenced to pay a like fine, and undergo an imprisonment in the county jail for thirty days; the fine to be applied as in the first offence.

SEC. 10. That no auctioneer in the city of Philadelphia shall at the same time have more than one house or store for the purpose of holding an auction; and every auctioneer in said city shall designate in writing such house or store, and also his partner or partners, if any, engaged with him in his said business; which said writings shall be deposited by such auctioneer with the recorder of deeds of the said city and county; and no auctioneer shall expose to sale by public auction or vendue in said city, any goods, wares or merchandize, or effects whatsoever, at any other place, than in the said houses and stores respectively, to be designated as aforesaid, except goods, wares or merchandize which shall be sold in the original package in which they are imported; domestic dry goods, in original packages, as they come from the manufacturers; stocks of dry goods, groceries, cabinet furniture, crockery and glassware at the warehouses or stores of the owners, the removal of which to the auction stores would be attended with risk and expense to the owners; goods of persons deceased, or of persons who are bona fide declining business; household furniture, musical instruments, live stock, carriages, and such like articles as have been usually sold at auction in warehouses or in public streets or wharves, or sales authorized by the courts of said city, or in consequence of any legal proceeding whatever; and if any auctioneer in said city shall enter upon the execution of his office, or shall permit any person to act in his behalf, without designating his said house or store, or his partner or partners, if any, in the manner and form herein prescribed, or shall hold any auction at any other place than the place so designated, except for the sale of the articles hereinbefore excepted, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor; and on conviction, shall be fined in a sum not exceeding three hundred dollars; and it shall be the duty of the court before whom such conviction is had, to transmit forthwith a report thereof to the Governor of the Commonwealth, who is hereby authorized, in his discretion, to inhibit the person so convicted from acting as an auctioneer so long as such inhibition shall continue.

SEC. 11. That in case the Attorney General shall have reason to believe that any person acting under a commission as an auctioneer aforesaid, has failed to make a just and full return of the amount of his sales, as required by this act, it shall be the duty of the said Attorney General, either in person or by deputy duly authorized, to call at the regular place of business of said auctioneer, and make an examination of his books and papers, for the purpose of ascertaining the true amount of said sales, and with this view said officer or his deputy shall have authority to administer oaths and examine witnesses, and it shall be his duty, immediately upon the completion of such examination, to report to the Auditor General the amount of sales thus ascertained to be made by said auctioneer during each quarter, subject to the payment of the State tax or duty, specifying the different classes of such sales, for which service the said Attorney General or his deputy shall be authorized to demand and receive from said auctioneer a fee of ten dollars in each case; and in case any auctioneer shall refuse to permit such examination, it shall be the duty of said officer to report the fact to the Governor, who shall thereupon revoke and annul the commission of such offending auctioneer.

SEC. 12. That all former auction laws, and parts of laws relating to auctions and auctioneers for the city and county of Philadelphia, conflicting with the provisions of this act, be and the same are hereby repealed.

Mr. GRITMAN offered the following new section; which was agreed to:

And provided, That the provisions of this act shall only extend to the city and county of Philadelphia.

The bill was read the second time, and agreed to; and, at the request of Mr. FOSTER, laid over on third reading.

Agreeably to order, the House proceeded to the consideration of House bill No. 617; which came up on third reading, and was passed, as follows:

AN ACT for the assessment and recovery of damages upon the North Branch and Wyoming canals.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That within three months after the passage of this act, the several courts of common pleas of the several counties in which the North Branch and Wyoming canals are located, (which are now owned by the North Branch canal company, and the Wyoming canal company respectively,) shall appoint three competent and disinterested persons, none of whom shall reside within ten miles of the line of said canals, to appraise and assess damages, and investigate other demands existing prior to the transfer of said canals from the Commonwealth, consequent upon and arising out of the location, construction, repair and use of the said canals, in pursuance of the seventh section of an act for the sale of the State canals, approved the twenty-first day of April, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, to be called the commissioners of canal claims.

SEC. 2. That notice of the appointment of the said commissioners, shall be served upon each person so appointed by the sheriff of the proper county or his deputy, within ten days after said appointment shall have been so made, for which services the said sheriff shall be allowed such fees as are by law allowed for similar services.

SEC. 3. That the said commissioners of canal claims, shall within ten days after being so notified of their appointment, meet at the prothonotary's office of the proper county, and organize by electing one of their number president, and by selecting a clerk not of their number, which clerk is hereby allowed them; and when so organized, the said commissioners shall be severally sworn or affirmed by the said prothonotary or his deputy, to well and truly praise and assess all damages, and investigate all other claims and demands which shall be brought to their notice, according to the provisions of this act, consequent upon and arising out of the location, construction, repair and use of the North Branch canal or the Wyoming canal, (as the case may be,) as provided for in this act, and a true report make to the court of common pleas of said county; and their said clerk shall be sworn or affirmed by said prothonotary or his deputy, or by the president of said board of commissioners, to keep correct minutes of all the proceedings of said commissioners, and all the evidence taken by them according to the provisions of this act; a copy of all which oaths or affirmations shall be signed by the said commissioners and clerk respectively, and filed in the said prothonotary's office: Provided, That in case of the neglect of any of the said commissioners to appear and assume the duties of his appointment as hereinbefore provided, or in case of a vacancy occurring in the said board from any cause, at any time thereafter, the said court, or a majority of the judges at chambers, shall on notice of the fact by any party interested, or by the remaining commissioner or commissioners, appoint some other person or persons to fill such vacancy or vacancies; and such person or persons before entering upon the duties of the appointment shall be qualified as hereinbefore required.

SEC. 4. That the said commissioners shall immediately, upon being so organized and qualified, give public notice through two newspapers, if there be so many, and if not, in at least one newspaper in the proper county, and by printed advertisements, put up in public and conspicuous places, of the time and place of commencing the assessment, appraisement and investigation required by this act; which time shall not be less than fifteen nor more than thirty days after being so organized; and the said commissioners shall cause a copy of such notice to be served upon the North Branch or Wyoming canal company, (as the case may be,) by leaving a copy of the same with the president, secretary, treasurer, attorney or any of the board of directors of said company, at least ten days before the time so fixed for commencing the appraisement, et cetera, aforesaid.

SEC. 5. That at the time so fixed, the said commissioners shall go upon the line of said canals, commencing at a point on the northern boundary of the proper county, and except where the same be waived by the parties by writing, filed with said commissioners, personally examine and inspect the lands, tenements and hereditaments and property of whatsoever kind claimed to have been damaged by or used in the location, construction, repair or use of the said canals; and shall, at the places hereinafter designated by name, hear and take testimony relating to the claims before said commissioners; for which purpose the said commissioners are hereby authorized to issue subpoenas and compel the attendance of witnesses and administer oaths and affirmations.

SEC. 6. That the said commissioners shall hold regular sessions for hearing testimony and investigating the cases that may arise under this act, at the following named places, and in the several counties at the places in the same order as herein named, to wit: in Bradford county, at Athens, Towanda and Wyalusing; in Wyoming county, at Laceyville and Tunkhannock; in Luzerne county, at Pittston and Wilkesbarre; in Columbia county, at Bloomsburg; in Montour county, at Danville; and in Northumberland county, at Northumberland; and the said commissioners shall remain in session, at each of the said places, for the transaction of the said business at least three days, and as much longer as the proper discharge of their duties may require: Provided, That the said commissioners may hold additional sessions at such other places along the line of said canals, and for as long a term as they may deem necessary: And provided further, That at least three days notice shall be given of the time of holding each succeeding session, or in case of postponement of any meeting, the like notice of such postponement by at least three public advertisements, put at the place of holding the same.

SEC. 7. That the said commissioners shall not be required to examine or investigate any claim under this act, unless the claimant shall, by him or herself, guardian, agent or attorney, give at least five days notice under oath or affirmation to said commissioners, or any one of them, and to the said proper canal company, of the nature and amount of said claim; and in case of claim for damages, also of the location of the premises damaged; said notice to be served on said companies as provided in the fourth section of this act; and the said parties so claiming damages, shall present their claims to said commissioners for investigation during their session, at such place hereinbefore designated by name, which shall be nearest the property claimed to have been so damaged: Provided, That claimants not residing along the line of canal, who shall have demands for materials furnished or for work or labor done, may present their said claims for investigation at any of the said places, while the said commissioners are holding sessions thereat.

SEC. 8. That in appraising and assessing damages as aforesaid, the legal and equitable rights of the parties, the advantages as well as disadvantages of the location or construction of said canals, to the property claimed to have been damaged, shall be taken into consideration by the said commissioners; and any claim for damages or other demand, which shall have been settled and paid, either by said companies or the Commonwealth, shall not be entertained by said commissioners.

SEC. 9. That the said commissioners shall proceed, investigate and decide all cases brought before them, at any of the said places of hearing, before removing to another place; and within ten days after so deciding, shall file their reports signed by themselves, or a majority of them, of all cases so decided, in the prothonotary's office of the proper county, together with all bills of costs allowed by them as hereinafter required, upon which report, unless the amount reported therein, together with costs, shall be satisfied and discharged of record within ninety days after filing the same, the said prothonotary is hereby required to enter judgment, stating upon the record the proper claimant as plaintiff, and the North Branch canal company or the Wyoming canal company, as the case may be, defendant in the suit, which judgment shall have the same effect as judgments entered upon award of arbitrators, under the compulsory arbitration act of one thousand eight hundred and thirty-six.

SEC. 10. That the parties, upon the close of the hearing and investigation of each case, shall file with the commissioners their bills of costs, verified on oath or affirmation, before said commissioners, that the costs so made were necessary to the proper investigation of the case, subject, however, to immediate re-taxation, before said commissioners, upon application of either party.

SEC. 11. That either party may appeal from the report of said commissioners to the court of common pleas of the proper county, within thirty days after the filing of said report in the prothonotary's office, in the same manner and under the same restrictions and requirements as appeals from awards of arbitrators are now allowed under the compulsory arbitration act of this State; and each case, so appealed, shall be put at issue by the prothonotary, shall be proceeded in and tried with all the rights and incidents as appeals from the awards of arbitrators: Provided, That the doctrine of legal tender by the said companies shall have its full legal effect upon all questions of costs, whether the same shall have occurred before the said commissioners or in court after appeal: And provided further, That certified extracts from the journals and books of the Canal Commissioners or former boards of appraisers, and certified copies of all papers on file in any of the departments at Harrisburg, shall, if pertinent, be received in evidence by the board of commissioners and by the courts in the investigation and adjudication of the said claims.

SEC. 12. That no statute of limitations now in force in this Commonwealth, shall be set up as a legal defence by the present or any future owners of the said North Branch or Wyoming canals, to any of the claims contemplated by this act.

SEC. 13. That stay of execution shall be allowed on all judgments, entered under the provisions of this act, subject to all the requirements of existing laws relating to stay of executions; but the said stay shall be reckoned from the time of filing the report of the commissioners in the prothonotary's office.

SEC. 14. That the said commissioners shall each receive the sum of three dollars per day, and their said clerk the sum of two dollars per day for each and every day necessarily spent by them in and about the business of their appointment, and five cents for each and every mile of necessary travel, which said per diem and mileage and the sheriff's fees for serving notices, as required by the second section of this act, shall be paid by the said canal companies without recourse in any case to the other parties, and the fees of witness and persons serving subpoenas and other process, shall be the same as now allowed by law for similar services.

SEC. 15. That the said commissioners shall complete their investigations required by this act, within the period of one year from the time of commencing the same: Provided, That the said courts of the respective counties shall have power, on cause shown, to extend the time.

Mr. RAMSDELL moved that the House resume the consideration of the following resolution:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed by the SPEAKER, to inquire into the fact whether the Philadelphia and Reading railroad company have charged more on passengers traveling over said road than they are allowed to charge by their act of incorporation.

On motion of Mr. THORN, the words "into the fact" were stricken from the resolution.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved further to amend by inserting the words "or less" after the word "more" in said resolution; which was not agreed to.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) moved to amend the resolution by adding to the end thereof "and shall also inquire whether any of the other railroad companies in the State have exceeded their respective charters in this respect."

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) said—

That from the long lapse of time since the introduction of the resolution, he had indulged the hope that it would be permitted to sleep the sleep of death. He supposed it had accomplished the purpose, and satisfied the motive for which it had been offered, and was surprised to see it thus suddenly suggested to the House. He expressed to the House his acknowledgments for the courtesy which some weeks ago had dictated the postponement of the resolution until he could be present. The indulgence was the more to be appreciated, because it was uncalled for by any peculiar relations subsisting between himself and the Philadelphia and Reading railroad company. Neither here, nor anywhere, had he, at any time, sought to be its champion. He hoped ever to be the advocate of what was right and just; and this consideration would determine his course with reference to this company, whether for or against it, upon this and all other questions. It was not the least important of the constituents he represented, and while he felt it to be his duty to uphold those rights which were essential to the object of its creation, he would also resist every encroachment beyond them. He knew nothing, except from rumor, of the motives that prompted this inquiry, but he urged upon the House to discard entirely the tempting policy which dictated to some members an indiscriminate warfare upon corporations as the best exhibition of their patriotism and public spirit. He was charitable enough to suppose that no worse spirit than this had forced the resolution upon the attention of the House at this time. Without presenting a single fact whereon to base the charge, without even a confident assertion, with confessed ignorance of the legal rights which are claimed to have been transgressed, with no specified subject of charge against the company, he could not possibly ascribe it to a better motive than this, and he would not, he trusted, be forced to ascribe it to a worse.

If the gentleman from Venango, or his coadjutor from Schuylkill, could persuade him by better evidence than mere rumor that the charge was likely to be well founded, if anything like a prima facie case were submitted to the House, the resolution would receive all the support he was capable of giving it. An investigation, under these circumstances, would be due to the company itself, no less than to the community interested in the legal management of the road, and a sense of duty would compel the Legislature to this course. He based his opposition to the resolution, therefore, distinctly upon the ground that as yet no reasonable cause had been shown to exist for the supposition that this company had, in any manner, violated its charter. He held it to be no part of their duty, nor did it comport with the dignity of the Commonwealth, to subject to the annoyance of a legislative inquiry any and all its corporate bodies, at the instance of any irresponsible parties, led on by any motive whatever, when they have utterly failed to show, or have not attempted to show, that the occasion demands it. The precedent would be an expensive one to the State, for not one of its legion of corporations could escape investigation; for against them all the same easy and frivolous pretexts for an investigation existed.

It was gratifying to him to know that upon this point the House had displayed much unanimity this session. Resolutions of inquiry had repeatedly been voted down because gentlemen had refused to place any reliance upon mere allegations, unsupported by any show of evidence. He had himself refused to vote with the mass of his own party friends, for a resolution in the case of the sitting member from Camhria, because he could see nothing to justify the proceedings, and he had a right to expect from his friends of the Opposition a consistent course upon a similar question.

He called upon the gentleman from Venango, who now assumed the sole charge of this resolution, what the legal rates of this company's fare were, and wherein they had transgressed? Whenever he laid the facts before the House, or even positively asserted them, he would show that so far from exceeding any restrictions imposed by law upon their rates of fare, no such restrictions could be found in their charter—that their tolls charged were in pursuance of their charter provisions, and that all charges beyond toll, were left to the company's discretion, which was itself the best limitation; as the numerous competing routes made it their obvious interest to abstain from the suicidal policy of exorbitant charges. He would show further, that the charges thus left to their discretion, were lower than most, and not above any of the rates established on all first class roads in the State, among which he mentioned the Pennsylvania railroad, Philadelphia and Baltimore, Northern Central, and others.

Personally he had nothing to gain or lose by the proposed investigation. But the success of this company was so intimately connected with the prosperity of his constituents, and the whole State had so largely partaken of its benefits, that he felt it to be his imperative duty to resist the first manifestations of a spirit of mere opposition, by which its usefulness might be impaired. The road had long been struggling with adverse circumstances, but he thought it now in a promising condition. The inflexible economy of its present management, which had driven off scores of expensive retainers, who had harked in the extravagant munificence of former administrations, had reassured its true friends of its power ultimately to meet its legal demands. He trusted he had satisfied the House that the resolution was entitled to no countenance at this time.

Mr. PALM said that it was an undeniable fact, that conductors charged five or ten cents extra fare if tickets were not purchased in the depots, and that passengers were ejected from the cars if this extra fare was not paid. It was true, as had been asserted, that the company run what they called a second class car attached to their trains, in which the fare was reasonable, as contemplated by the charter, but as there was only one car to each train, it was apparent that all the passengers could not be accommodated.

He continued to argue in favor of the committee of investigation, alleging that it was just and necessary.

Mr. WALBORN reported as committed, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Philadelphia and Trenton railroad company."

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. MILLER moved that the House do now adjourn; which was agreed to.

Mr. IRISH, on leave, presented the petition of the board of school directors of the Fourth and First wards of the city of Pittsburgh, in favor of the passage of a law abolishing the Pittsburgh high school.

On motion of Mr. IRISH, the same was read.

Mr. M'DOWELL, on leave, presented the petition of one hundred and ninety-one business firms and other citizens of Pittsburg, praying for a change in the school laws.

The SPEAKER adjourned the House until this evening at 7 o'clock.

No. 188.—FILE OF THE SENATE.

SCHELL, Private Claims and Damages—March 10.

AN ACT to provide for the assessment of damages and the payment of claims upon the North Branch canal.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the president judges of the Eleventh, Thirteenth and Twenty-sixth judicial districts of this Commonwealth, or a majority of them, shall, on or before the first day of June next, appoint a board of appraisers, to consist of three disinterested persons, who shall reside out of the counties of Bradford, Wyoming and Luzerne, whose duty it shall be to assess all damages and investigate and pass upon all demands which the North Branch canal company is liable to pay under the seventh section of the act, approved the twenty-first day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, entitled "An Act for the sale of the State canals," and by virtue of its purchase of said canal from the Sunbury and Erie railroad company; said board shall take into consideration the advantages as well as disadvantages to the property, claimed to have been damaged in the location, construction, repair, management or use of the canals in making their award for damages.

SEC. 2. That any person or persons, or corporation, having any claim for damages or other demands as aforesaid, shall, on or before the first day of July next, by themselves, their attorney or guardian, file in the court of common pleas of the proper county, with the prothonotary, a statement setting forth the nature and amount of said claim or claims, with a description of the property said to be damaged; all of which shall be verified by oath or affirmation; which statements so filed shall be legal notice of said claim to the North Branch canal company, for the purposes contemplated by this act; and the prothonotary of the proper county shall furnish such appraisers a certified copy of all claims filed in his office as aforesaid, all of which shall be passed and reported upon by such appraisers.

SEC. 3. That the said appraisers, after being duly qualified by oath or affirmation, faithfully, justly and impartially to decide, and a true report make concerning all matters submitted to them, shall proceed to examine the claims before them; and in cases of damages, to personally examine the lands claimed to be damaged; and either one of said appraisers may issue subpoenas, administer oaths to witnesses and issue attachments to compel the attendance of witnesses; and after they have heard the parties, their proofs and allegations, they shall proceed to estimate and determine the damages or other demands, if any, and to what amount, and to whom payable, and make a report thereof for each county through which the canal passes, of all cases arising in said county, and shall file all cases arising in said county, and shall file said the several counties of Bradford, Wyoming and Luzerne, together with the evidence; and in all cases not appealed from as hereinbefore provided, when the award is not paid within sixty days from the day of filing the same, the prothonotary of the proper county is hereby required to enter judgment; which shall have the same effect as a judgment entered upon award of arbitrators, under the compulsory arbitration act of one thousand eight hundred and thirty-six.

SEC. 4. That all certified copies of papers of the late Canal Commissioners, and their journal, and certified copies of all papers on file in any of the departments of State, shall, if pertinent, be received in evidence by the board of appraisers in adjudicating said claims; the said appraisers shall complete the investigation required by the act within one year from the time of their appointment; and shall be paid by the said canal company for their services three dollars per day for all time necessarily occupied, and ten cents per mile for all necessary travel.

SEC. 5. That in all cases either party may appeal within twenty days after the filing of said report; and the party appealing shall make an affidavit that the same is not for the purpose of delay, but that injustice has been done; and when such appeal shall have been entered, the court of common pleas of the proper county shall, in each case so appealed, appoint five or seven disinterested persons, who shall not reside within five miles of the North Branch canal, and fix a time not less than twenty nor more than forty days thereafter for said jury of viewers to meet upon the premises where the claim for damages or other demand may be alleged to have arisen, as by petition presented for previous view, of which time and place ten days' notice shall be given by the appellant to the other party; and the said jury, or a majority of them, having been first sworn or affirmed by some person competent to administer oaths, faithfully, justly and impartially to decide, and a true report make, concerning all the matters and things submitted to them, and in relation to which they are authorized to inquire; in pursuance of the provisions of this act, they shall perform all the duties, and have all the powers conferred by this act on the former board of appraisers; and, after having made a fair and just examination, they, or a majority of them, shall estimate and determine whether any, and if any, what amount of damages have been sustained, or what amount may be due on other demands, and to whom payable, and make report thereof, stating particularly therein when and how the damages were occasioned, to the court; which, if approved, shall be final; and if not satisfied of record within sixty days after approval of the same, the prothonotary shall enter judgment thereon; but if said report shall not be confirmed by the court, it may be referred back to the same jury, or others may be appointed by the same court in their stead; and in either case specific instructions shall be given by the said court to the jurors as to the mode of assessing the said damages, and making the said report; and if said jurors shall proceed in accordance with the instruction of the court, their report shall be final; but if for any cause the said report shall not be confirmed by the court, then, and in such case, on a day to be fixed by said court as early as convenient, upon all the evidence submitted to the appraisers in the case, and such other evidence as the said court shall deem necessary, the case shall be submitted to the said court; which shall hear, investigate and pass upon the claim; and the decree of said court shall be final and conclusive, and judgment shall be entered thereon; and if the amount thereof be not paid within sixty days, execution may issue as in other cases of debt for the sum so awarded: Provided, That in case of an appeal, if the party or parties so appealing shall not obtain an award more favorable than the award of the appraisers, he or they shall pay all costs on the appeal: Provided further, That said jurors shall each receive three dollars per day for all time necessarily occupied, and ten cents per mile for all necessary travel.

SEC. 6. That stay of execution shall be allowed on all judgments obtained under the provisions of this act, upon the terms and conditions of the third and fourth sections of the act of June sixteenth, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-six, relating to executions: Provided, That the stay hereby allowed shall be recovered from the date of filing the original report in the office of the prothonotary.

No. 540.—FILE OF THE SENATE.

MILLER, Education—March 2.

A FURTHER SUPPLEMENT to an act for the regulation and continuance of a system of education by common schools.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That when the directors or controllers and teachers of the several school districts in this Commonwealth shall have made the selection of books provided for in the twenty-fifth section of an act for the regulation and continuance of a system of education by common schools, approved the eighth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-four, the books so selected shall be used for a period of not less than three years, and no change or alteration shall be made within that period.

SEC. 2. That it shall not be lawful, after the passage of this act, for the directors or controllers of common schools of any school district in this Commonwealth, to employ any female as teacher in the common schools who has not attained the age of eighteen years, and no male applicant under the age of twenty years.

SEC. 3. That before any director of common schools hereafter elected shall discharge any of the duties imposed upon him by existing laws, he shall be qualified by oath or affirmation, to be administered by an acting justice of the peace or alderman, to faithfully and impartially discharge the duties of his said office.

SEC. 4. That it shall not be lawful for the school directors or controllers of the common schools of any school district in this State, in determining the amount of tax to be levied in their district for school and building purposes, to exceed eight mills on the dollar on any and all property subject to taxation by existing laws for school purposes.

SEC. 5. That all independent school districts heretofore formed, either by enactment of the Legislature or by any court of common pleas of this Commonwealth, be and the same are hereby abolished; and that it shall not be lawful for the said courts, after the passage of this act, to establish or continue any independent district for school purposes.

SEC. 6. That the qualified electors of the several cities, boroughs and counties of this Commonwealth shall, at the next general election, determine by ballot whether the office of county superintendent of common schools shall be abolished or not; and that the ballots so voted shall be for the county superintendent and against the county superintendent; and the result of said election shall be certified by the proper officers in the mode prescribed by existing laws in relation to the returns for State officers; and if a majority of the votes polled should be against the abolition of said office, then the same shall remain as provided for by existing laws; but if a majority of the votes so polled should be in favor of the abolition of the office, then the said office is to be so declared abolished by the State superintendent of common schools, to take effect on the first Monday in January next succeeding said election; notice of the same to be sent by said State superintendent to the several superintendents in the Commonwealth.

SEC. 7. That in case the people should decide in favor of the abolition of the office of county superintendent, as hereinbefore provided for, then it shall be the duty of the board of directors or controllers of common schools of the several districts of this Commonwealth to annually appoint three competent persons, who shall constitute a board of examiners, for the examination of applicants for employment as teachers, in conjunction with the aforesaid directors or controllers; and no other person, except such as shall be recommended by said examiners, shall be employed as teachers.

AN ACT authorizing the inspectors of prisons to let by contract the labor of convicts.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the inspectors of prisons are hereby authorized to let, by contract, in the manner hereinafter provided, the labor and services of such and so many of the convicts, confined in any of the prisons of this State, as they may deem for the interest of the State, to be employed at such branches of business as they may deem advisable.

SEC. 2. That whenever the inspectors shall determine to let, by contract, the labor of any such convicts, at least one month's notice of the time and place of letting such contract shall be given in the paper in which legal notices are required by law to be published in the city of, and in one newspaper printed in each city of this State, which notice shall specify the particular branch of business in which the convicts are to be employed, the length of time for which their services are to be let, not exceeding ten years, and the number of the convicts to which the contract is to be limited; such contracts shall, in all cases, be awarded to the highest bidder, who shall furnish the necessary security, and no contracts shall at any time be entered into, unless security satisfactory to the inspectors shall be given, for the hiring and letting of convicts' labor; and in every contract shall be inserted a stipulation that all payments shall be made on the first day of each month, in cash, and every such contract may with the written consent of the inspectors, or a majority of them, be declared void, by the warden of the prison in which such contract may exist, if any such payment is not made within thirty days after the same shall have become due, if deemed for the interest of the State, void the same.

SEC. 3. That all convicts, whose labor and services shall be let by contract, as aforesaid, shall be worked in gangs, and not in separate apartments; and the warden of the prison at which any such contract shall be let, shall provide, within said prison suitable workshops for the employment of such convicts, under said contract.

SEC. 4. That no inspector, warden or other officer, of either of the prisons of this State, shall be directly or indirectly interested, while such inspector, warden, or other officer, in any contract of the employment of convict labor. Any person violating this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, on conviction, be punished by a fine, in a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in a county jail not exceeding one year; and such conviction shall, at the option of the inspectors, or a majority of them, render null and void the contract in which the person so convicted may have been interested.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, March 18, 1859. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN:—A bill has been presented for my approval, entitled "An Act relating to the office of register of wills, in the county of Dauphin." The bill provides "that from and after the passage of this act the register of wills, for the county of Dauphin, shall perform all the duties and receive all the fees and emoluments pertaining to the office of clerk of the orphans' court of said county; and hereafter the qualified electors of Dauphin county shall elect one person to fill the office of recorder of deeds, and one person to fill the offices of register of wills and clerk of the orphans' court."

The effect of the proposed enactment, should it become a law, is to legislate out of office the present clerk of the orphans' court, who was elected by the people of Dauphin county, in October, 1857, and whose commission consequently does not expire until December, 1860, and to confer the office upon the register of wills, who has never been elected nor commissioned as clerk of the orphans' court. This cannot be done. There are but two methods by which a clerk of the orphans' court can be chosen in accordance with the Constitution of Pennsylvania. The one is, an election by the people, and the other an appointment by the Governor to fill a vacancy. The person who now holds the office of clerk of the orphans' court for Dauphin county, is entitled under the Constitution, and by virtue of his commission, to hold it for the term of three years from the 1st day of December, 1857, and until his successor shall be duly qualified, if he shall so long behave himself well. A successor cannot be duly qualified by being named in an act of Assembly, nor can the term be shortened by the Legislature as long as the office remains.

A bill very similar to the one now under consideration, entitled "An Act to consolidate the offices of register of wills and clerk of the orphans' court in Luzerne county," was returned to the last General Assembly without the Executive approval, and as my objections to the bill were then fully stated, I respectfully call the attention of the Legislature to that communication, which may be found in the Journal of the House of Representatives for 1858, page 949.

Believing that the General Assembly is prohibited by the Constitution from enacting the proposed law, the bill is herewith returned to the House of Representatives, where it originated, for re-consideration.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, March 17, 1859. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN:—I return herewith to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, the bill, entitled "A supplement to an act, entitled 'An Act to incorporate the Johnstown and Scalp Level turnpike road company,' approved the 17th day of April, 1856."

This bill provides that the rights, powers and privileges conferred upon and granted to the Somerset and Johnstown plank road company by the sixth section of an act of the General Assembly, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Merchants' and Mechanics' Mutual insurance company, of Philadelphia; and for other purposes," approved the 2d day of January, 1853, be and the same are hereby conferred upon and granted to the Johnstown and Scalp Level turnpike road company.

By referring to the above mentioned act, which, however, was approved on the 2d day of April, 1853, instead of the 2d day of January, 1853, it will be found that the privilege there conferred, or attempted to be conferred, on the Somerset and Johnstown plank road company, and which by this bill it is proposed to extend to the Johnstown and Scalp Level turnpike road company, was the right to collect subscriptions made to its capital stock, although no money was paid on such subscriptions to the attending commissioners, at the time the subscriptions were made.

The Johnstown and Scalp Level turnpike road company was incorporated under the general act regulating turnpike and plank road companies. The first section of which expressly provides that every person offering to subscribe to the stock of any such company, shall, at the time of subscribing, pay to the commissioners any sum not less than one dollar, nor more than five dollars, as shall be fixed and determined by the commissioners previous to the opening of books, for every share so subscribed. This payment was a condition precedent without which no valid subscription could be made. The commissioners had no power to receive a subscription unless it was accompanied by the payment of the first instalment; and any pretended subscription, without such payment, was a complete nullity, binding neither the company nor the subscriber. Neither party could enforce the contract, for in fact, no contract was made. Nor, in my opinion, has the General Assembly the power to give validity to past transactions of this character.

In a message which I had the honor to transmit to the last General Assembly, in returning a bill without the executive approval, entitled "A supplement to an act to incorporate the Fayette County railroad company," I had occasion to examine a similar question somewhat at length. The message referred to, may be found in the Journal of the House of Representatives for 1858, page 805, to which I beg leave, respectfully, to call the attention of the Legislature. For reasons therein stated, as well as those herein given, I am constrained to withhold the executive approval from the bill under consideration.

VETO MESSAGE.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, March 18, 1859. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN:—A bill has been presented for my approval, entitled "An Act to provide for the education of certain common school teachers in Westminster college, New Wilmington, Lawrence county, Pennsylvania."

After a careful examination of the several provisions of the bill, I have reluctantly come to the conclusion that it is my duty to withhold from it the Executive sanction.

The proposition is, that the Commonwealth shall appropriate to the Westminster college the sum of twelve hundred dollars annually for five years, to be applied to the payment of the salaries of the professors of the institution; and that for said appropriation there shall be taught for the same period, free from tuition fees, not less than fifty nor more than three hundred pupils, "in all the branches of English literature and science, and in the art of teaching and government," to be selected by the county superintendents and directors of the common schools from the counties of Lawrence, Beaver, Mercer, Butler and Venango.

The first objection to this bill is, that it is, in my opinion, a retrograde step in our educational career. An attempt to return to the abandoned plan of having the teachers for the common schools prepared in some subordinate department appertaining to a college. This plan was tried for nearly half a century in this State, and the result was, that, as a class of teachers of the State, they were sinking year after year into more unfitness and to a greater distance from that standard of acquirement to which the proposed college association would seem to entitle them. The fact being that no college-prepared teachers are found in the common schools, nor any having college connections, except such as are thus earning the means for a full college course with a view to some other profession. A plan which has so signally failed in the past, holds out no promise of success for the future.

But even if the project were not thus marked with past failure, it would still be more than questionable as a departure from the principle of the Normal school act of 20th May, 1857.—That law was carefully prepared, and though it expressly holds out the promise of no State aid in a pecuniary form, yet it impliedly pledges the State to the integrity of the plan to the extent of giving it a full and fair trial, without let or hindrance.

Exclusive, however, of the previous failure of the plan for educating teachers here proposed, and of its interference with the Normal school law, the bill is objectionable on account of its partial and local character. It is not believed that the counties named in this bill have strange claims on the State, or greater necessities for the training of their teachers than the rest of the Commonwealth. Other propositions of a like character, it is true, may come from other sections, but they cannot be so numerous as to embrace the entire State, and what is to be done in those portions of the State that are not so fortunate as to contain like institutions of learning? And more than this, will not the effect of this process of piece-meal legislation be most pernicious to our educational system itself—the avoidance of which, in the past, has been one great cause of its success? Any departure from the unity of the system will surely bring future evil. The worth of the teacher is the hope of the system. During nearly a quarter of a century the common school has been working its way always regularly, though mostly noiselessly, into the affections of the people, and to its place amongst the great institutions of the State. The system now stands second to none in importance, influence, cost, magnitude and consequence. But after all, it is not its two and a half millions of dollars of annual cost, its six hundred and twenty-eight thousand scholars, its ten thousand directors or its eleven thousand school houses that are to be so much regarded as its fourteen thousand teachers. If these be not rightly prepared, duly respected and properly sustained, the rest is little better than useless machinery and waste material. In this light, the qualifications and standing of the teacher assume their true magnitude. He should not be placed in the questionable, if not degraded rank, of a beneficiary amongst those who pay for their instruction, or on a footing with preparatory students, to be looked down on by those engaged in the higher branches. The teachers of the youth of the State should not enter upon their mission thus depressed in the public eye and in their own estimation; but they should rather go forth from their own professional institutions, where they had held no subordinate rank, to pour the elements of just equality and manly self reliance into the character of our youth.

Again, it is the business of the college to make scholars, not teachers. No college, as such, undertakes to train physicians, or lawyers, or divines. This is the work of the respective professional institutions. Why, then, should it assume to prepare the teacher?

There is as much actual difference between the ordinary college graduate and the school teacher, as there is between the college graduate and the doctor, the lawyer, or the clergyman. The most eminent and useful professors of a college may not be at all adapted to training students in the art of teaching, and it is this want of adaptation in the college course to the due preparation of the teacher of the common school that has caused the most liberal and intelligent governments in Europe, and the most advanced common school States of this Union, to expend vast sums of money in establishing Normal schools for the strict professional education of teachers.

It is proper, however, to say that with respect to the particular institution of learning named in the bill, I am well satisfied that it sustains a very high character for usefulness in its several departments, and that it deserves to be liberally encouraged. But for these reasons, viz: that the plan now proposed has been heretofore tried and has failed; that it is a virtual repeal of the principle of the act of the 20th of May, 1857; that it is local and partial in its nature; that it is calculated to degrade instead of elevating the profession of teaching, and that it proposes the training of teachers in institutions not adapted to the purpose, in my opinion the bill should not become a law, and accordingly I herewith return it to the House of Representatives, where it originated, for reconsideration.

HOUSE—EVENING SESSION.

SPECIAL ORDER.

The House met at 7 o'clock, and agreeably to order, resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. ACKER in the chair,) on House bill No. 307, "An Act giving justices of the peace power with a jury of six to hear and finally determine charges for crimes of a certain character within this Commonwealth, and to lessen the expenses of criminal proceedings."

The first section being before the committee, Mr. FLEMING moved to amend the same, by adding to the end thereof, "and all cases of petit larceny;" which was agreed to.

And the section as amended was adopted.

The second section was read and agreed to.

The third section was read.

Mr. MILLER moved to amend the same, by inserting after the word "shall," in the second line, the following: "if the defendant and prosecutor shall not be able to agree upon such jury;" which was agreed to.

And the section as amended was agreed to.

The fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth, fifteenth, sixteenth, seventeenth, eighteenth, nineteenth and twentieth sections were severally read and agreed to.

The twenty-first section was read.

Mr. THOMPSON moved to amend by striking from the same all after the word "sessions," and in lieu thereof, inserting the following:

"Either party shall have the right to appeal to the court of quarter sessions of the proper county, within twenty days after the rendition of judgment: Provided, The party appellant shall enter into recognizance in the same manner as is now provided by law, to prosecute or defend, as the case may be," which would make the section read as follows: "That from the judgment of a court of special sessions, &c., &c., &c."

Mr. THOMPSON said—

The bill under consideration is of too much importance, and affects too directly the rights and liberties of the people of this Commonwealth, to be passed over without due deliberation.—The friends of this measure tell us its great virtue consists in submitting matters of which it grants jurisdiction to the judgment of a justice of the peace, assisted by a jury of six men, thereby saving both cost and trouble. Now, sir, I will assert, there is no man upon this floor who will go further, within constitutional limits, than I to lessen taxation and take from our courts of law the trouble and cost incident to the trial of trivial cases, which should not be allowed a hearing before any tribunal. But is there no danger of purchasing an experiment by jeopardizing the sacred right of trial by jury—that bulwark and foundation of liberty?

This bill proposes to try men before a justice of the peace, who has called a jury of six men; and, on conviction, the justice is required to fine and imprison at his discretion, limited only by the restriction imposed upon his authority.

We are frankly told this bill does deny the right of trial by jury as it now exists, but that the Legislature has power to change that right at pleasure. This, sir, is the point in the case. This power in the Legislature I respectfully deny. This right is based upon a higher power than the Legislature of any State. It exists upon the Constitution which you and I swore to support; and while the provisions of this bill contravene the oft-repeated rights secured by that sacred instrument, I cannot, nor will I, support it. The Constitution of the United States, Section III., Article III., declares that the trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury. Here is the most solemn and emphatic guarantee of that right, of which it may be truly said, is of "inestimable value to us—formidable to tyrants only."

But we are told by another, that this bill does not abolish, but only modifies this right. To that, I reply, the constitution of your State has nobly secured to her humblest citizen the right to be tried by twelve of his peers, and so jealously is this sacred right guarded, that the highest courts in a number of the States of this Union have solemnly determined that when charged with a high offence the prisoner cannot waive this constitutional right, and that when tried and convicted by a less number than twelve, although at his own solicitation, the conviction is irregular and void. Yet in the face of these, this bill proposes innovations which no law court would for one moment sanction. But we are told again the constitution does not fix the number nor qualification of jurors. I answer it does fix the number. No man here will deny that at the adoption of the present constitution of the State of Pennsylvania, the right under law was the same as now. If so, then the prisoner was entitled to have the concurrent opinion of twelve petit jurors, that he was guilty, and this right has been planted here by the founders of his country, and guarded and protected by those whose names still shine on the page of history. Filled with liberal sentiments, and anxious to maintain intact the liberties of the citizen, the framers of your constitution, in Art. 9, section 6, declared, in language at once solemn and eloquent, that "trial by jury shall be as heretofore, and the right thereof remain inviolate." How then shall I vote in favor of a bill which declares expressly that right shall not remain as heretofore, but the same shall be changed, modified and violated.

But, sir, as if to impress us with the sacredness and importance of this right, it is reiterated again and again, and each time, if possible, in more and more emphatic language. We may be told, sir, that the crimes contemplated in this act are not of that high grade for which this right is guaranteed. Well, sir, one of them specified is the removal and destruction of monumental trees or land-marks—a crime not only so declared by civil law, but one upon which Heaven has placed the seal of infamy, and declares, "thou shalt not remove thy neighbors' landmark." Is this crime not infamous? Who, sir, will defend it from the charge, or palliate its enormity? Then, sir, I will ask the advocates of this bill, to explain how another right and incident thereto is to be protected? The trial by jury pre-supposes the exercise of another constitutional right, which this bill boldly and wickedly attempts to destroy. The Constitution of the United States—Amendments Art. 5—declares that "no person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except," &c.

Now, sir, in view of these barriers, over which I dare not leap, even to attain so desirable an object as the passage of this act, and in view of the oath under whose sanction I am acting in this matter, can I do aught else than withhold my support from this measure? I cannot, sir, inquire into the policy of this measure; I cannot inquire whether it would effect what its friends claim or not; I have promised to support the Constitution of my State, and while I entertain the opinions I now do, I cannot vote for this bill without doing violence to my oath and conscience.

But, sir, to anticipate another argument that may be used against my position, I will reply to any one who alleges the Legislature has the power to declare that the offences specified in this bill shall not be indictable, thereby, as they may tell us, removing the objections. That the Legislature, whatever power they may have in this matter, has never yet exercised it, and that as long as these remain the subject of indictment, what may or may not be done, is no argument. We are to take things as we find them, and if the constitution secures a single right this bill destroys or even diminishes, I will not support it.

Liberties, sir, such as we enjoy, and which we fondly hope will be transmitted unstained and unimpaired to the latest ages of time, well deserve the watchful care of those in whose hands they are, humorously speaking, lodged.—Let us then so conduct ourselves in public and private life, at the fireside and in the halls of Legislation, that we can each look back from the confines of that land of perfect freedom, upon a life well spent, and sustained by a conscience void of offence.

Mr. MILLER said that the gentleman from Butler, (Mr. Thompson,) seemed to have overlooked the second section of this bill, in which the consent of the defendant was required before proceedings could be had. According to the provisions of his act, it was not the intention of the friends of the bill to deprive such defendants of such trial by jury, as was guaranteed to them by the constitution, which, notwithstanding, they unquestionably had a right to have.

The amendment was not agreed to.

Mr. MILLER moved as a substitute, the following:

That from the judgment of a court of special sessions, the defendant shall have the right to appeal within twenty days from the rendition of judgment: Provided, That said defendant shall enter into a recognizance as such defendants are required by law to do; which was agreed to; and the section as amended was agreed to.

The Twenty-second, Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth sections were severally read and agreed to.

The Twenty-seventh section was read.

Mr. THOMPSON moved to amend the section so as to make it read as follows:

"That the exceptions shall be taken to the proceedings, record or jurisdiction of the court on the admission of evidence."

Which was not agreed to.

And the original section was agreed to.

The twenty-eighth section was read.

Mr. FLEMING moved to amend so as to allow jurymen seventy-five cents instead of fifty cents for their services; which was not agreed to.

And the original section was agreed to.

On motion of Mr. WILLISTON, the second and third sections were re-considered.

Mr. WILLISTON moved to amend the same by so consolidating them as to make it imperative and not optional for the defendant to be tried by a jury; which was agreed to.

Mr. MILLER moved the following proviso, to come in at the end of the second section:

Provided, That no defendant shall be tried under the provisions of this act, unless he shall consent thereto.

Mr. WILLISTON spoke in favor of the bill, alleging that its provisions were just and proper, and that the objects contemplated would conduce to the benefit of the community.

Mr. MILLER said there were two objections which had been urged against the provisions of this act, which were clearly removed by allowing the defendant the right to consent or refuse to be tried in this way, to wit: that no person could constitutionally be deprived of a trial by the common law jury of twelve, and that men are frequently elected to the office of justice of the peace who are not competent to preside over such a trial. These objections were both removed by such defendant's own consent. If the justice should be such incompetent man, then the defendant had only to refuse his consent, and he would be returned to court in the usual way.

Mr. THOMPSON reiterated the sentiments which he previously expressed.

Mr. WILSON saw many practical objections to the bill, which he would proceed to narrate at length. Under the provisions it was possible for an alderman to exercise a power which at his own option, he could wield to the detriment of his personal enemy. Dissensions and animosities would spring up from this source without number.

Another objection was that the power could not be exercised without prejudice and bias. The bill provided that if the defendant should not consent to trial before an alderman, then a venire should issue and be served by a constable. Now, if this was to be the case, certain classes of people would combine, elect their own aldermen and constables, and virtually take the law into their own hands.

It was further provided that during five days, the defendant was either to be kept under bail or in the hands of the law. Now, where could a place for his confinement be found, supposing that he was not able to procure bail? There were no lock-up houses in the townships, and the whole thing would result in a farce.

There was to be no appeal from the decisions of the alderman, unless on the ground of legal errors. Then the appeal must be carried to the county court. Who was there that did not suppose that nearly every case would be taken to the higher court? An increase of costs would naturally follow.

The bill, therefore, was impractical, and it was also, as was contended, unconstitutional.—Any judge, on the application for a habeas corpus, would grant it.

The amendment was lost.

The second section was adopted.

Mr. ROHRER moved to re-consider the first section of the bill.

Not agreed to.

The bill having passed committee of the whole, the SPEAKER resumed the chair.

Mr. CHASE suggested that the bill should go no farther this evening. He was friendly to the bill, but as many amendments had been inserted which materially changed the original features of the bill, he asked that it might be laid over.

Mr. ROHRER, by unanimous consent of the House, proposed to amend the first section, by embracing the city and county of Philadelphia within the provisions of the act.

Mr. CHASE moved that the bill be referred to a select committee of five.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) moved to modify the same, so as to require them to make report within a week; which was agreed to.

The bill having been thus disposed of, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until to-morrow morning at 9½ o'clock.

Mr. RANDALL, "An Act relative to liens of mortgages."

Mr. RUTHERFORD, "An Act relative to the claim of the State fire and marine insurance company of Pennsylvania."

Also, "An Act to incorporate the Susquehanna insurance company at Harrisburg."

ORIGINAL RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. PENNEY asked and obtained leave to withdraw certain petitions relative to school laws.

Mr. BREWER moved to discharge the Committee on Finance from the consideration of a resolution relative to the final adjournment of the Legislature.

Mr. RANDALL hoped the committee would not be discharged. There was much business yet before the Senate to be disposed of, among which was the appropriation bill, which would require considerable attention and time.

Mr. SCHELL advocated the motion to discharge. Unless some action was taken in the matter soon, the session would be prolonged until the first of May. He hoped, therefore, the committee would be discharged, and the resolution taken up and disposed of.

Mr. BELL hoped the Senate would do no such thing. The business to be disposed of was rapidly accumulating, as was seen in the message which had this morning been received from the other branch.

He could see no good to result from discharging the committee, as a discussion of the subject would consume considerable time.

Mr. BREWER said he did not make the motion to discharge the committee with any view of originating a discussion. He simply wished to bring the subject up and have it disposed of. He was willing to stay until all the business was done, and his intention was simply to give his vote upon the resolution, without saying anything further with reference to it.

Mr. SCOFIELD saw no use in letting the bill remain with the committee. It was not one which required time or investigation, and he would vote to discharge the committee, because he thought the bill was one which should be on the SPEAKER'S desk, ready to be called up at any time.

On the motion to discharge the committee, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RANDALL and Mr. SCHELL, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Fetter, Francis, Keller, Marselis, Nunemacher, Parker, Schell, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Thompson, Wright and Yardley—15.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Coffey, Craig, Finney, Gazzam, Miller, Myer, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Steele, Turney, Welsh and Cresswell, Speaker—15.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. KELLER from the Committee to Compare Bills, made a report.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

Senate bill No. 607, "An Act supplementary to the several acts heretofore passed, relative to the Dauphin and Susquehanna coal company," came up in order on third reading, and passed finally.

Senate bill No. 112, "An Act to simplify legal proceedings and facilitate the recovery of claims in the courts of law of this Commonwealth," came up in order on third reading. It is as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That personal actions, except actions of replevin and detinue, unless other process shall be especially provided, may, at the option of the plaintiff or his attorney, be commenced by a writ of summons in the following form, namely: The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, county ss:

To the sheriff of said county, greeting: We command you that you summon C D, that within ten days after the service of this writ on him, inclusive of the day of such service, he cause an appearance to be entered for him in our court of common pleas (or other court as the case may be,) of said county, in an action at the suit of A. B., and that he take notice that in default of such appearance being entered, the said A. B. may proceed therein to judgment and execution; witness, president (or as the case may be,) judge of our said court, the day of prothonotary.

SEC. 2. That upon the writ in form aforesaid, and copy of any such writ served for the payment of any debt, the amount of the debt and the costs shall be stated; and it shall be further stated that upon the payment thereof with the costs, within fourteen days, to the plaintiff or his attorney, further proceedings will be stayed; which endorsement shall be written or printed in the following form, or to the like effect: The plaintiff claims for debt, together with costs on this writ incurred, and if the amount thereof be paid to the plaintiff or his attorney, within fourteen days from the service hereof, further proceedings shall be stayed.

SEC. 3. That in case of non-appearance by the defendant, it shall and may be lawful for the plaintiff, after the writ shall have been served by the sheriff and so returned, and after the expiration of fifteen days from the day of service, including that day, on filing a declaration, exhibiting his cause of action, to sign final judgment for any sum not exceeding the sum endorsed on the writ, together with interest and costs, and the plaintiff or his attorney, may on such judgment issue execution: Provided however, That in all cases wherein the claim is for a debt or liquidated demand in money, with or without interest, arising upon a contract, express or implied; as for instance, on a bill of exchange, promissory note, check, book account or other simple contract debt, or on a bond or contract under seal, for the payment of a liquidated amount of money, or on a recognizance where the sum sought to be recovered is a fixed sum of money, or in the naturo of a debt, or on a guarantee, whether under seal or not, the plaintiff shall be at liberty to cause to be made upon the writ of summons and copy thereof, a special endorsement of the particulars of his claim, showing the time when the contract or contracts were made; and when a writ of summons has been so specially endorsed, the plaintiff, in case of non-appearance by the defendant as aforesaid, may sign judgment without a declaration: Provided also, That it shall be lawful for the court, after final judgment, to let in the defendant to defend upon an application supported by satisfactory proofs, accounting for the non-appearance, and disclosing a defence on the merits.

SEC. 4. That the plaintiff in action may plead in answer to the plea or the subsequent pleading of the defendant, as many several matters as he shall think necessary to sustain his action; and the defendant in any action may plead in answer to the replication or any subsequent pleading of the plaintiff, as many several matters as he shall think necessary for his defence.

SEC. 5. That in all cases in which a special plea or special pleas have been pleaded, and it shall appear to the court that the whole defence of the defendant may be given in evidence, under the general issue, and that justice will be more promptly or conveniently attained by a trial under a plea of the general issue, it shall be lawful for the court to order all special pleas to be stricken off and the general issue plea to be pleaded.

SEC. 6. That the parties to any cause may, by consent in writing, signed by them or their attorneys, as the case may be, leave the decision of any issue of fact to the court: Provided, That the court shall think fit to allow such trial: And provided also, That such allowance shall appear by the record, and such issue of fact may thereupon be tried and determined, and damages assessed, where necessary, in open court, by any president or law judge of any court of common pleas, with or without one or more of his associates, by any judge or judges of any district court, or by any judge of the supreme court at nisi prius; and the verdict of such judge or judges shall be of the same effect as the verdict of a jury; and the proceedings upon and after such trial as to the power of the court or judge or judges, the evidence, the opinion of the court on points of law submitted by counsel, the removal of the cause by writ of error, and in all other respects, shall be the same as in the case of a trial by jury.

Mr. PENNEY wished to hear from the Senator from Chester, some reason for the passage of the bill. He saw nothing in it which was demanded by the practice.

Mr. BELL explained the features of the bill, and the legal necessities which demanded the change contemplated by it in the practice. The intention was to keep pace, in the legal practice of our State, with other States and countries, in their improvements in law and evidence. Its object was a simplification of legal process, in certain cases, and to remedy existing defects. He entered, at some length, into an explanation of those defects, under present laws, and in support of the benefits which were contemplated by the bill.

Mr. SCOFIELD thought the change proposed would be no reform, and that if the bill were passed, it might have a tendency to embarrass greatly the practice. He submitted the following amendment to the bill, striking out all after the enacting clause, and moved that the Senate go into committee of the whole for the purpose of general amendment; which was agreed to:

That the distinction now existing between actions of trespass vi et armis and actions of trespass on the case is hereby abolished; and in such cases, where the cause of action is correctly stated in the declaration, the plaintiff shall be permitted to recover, if otherwise entitled to recover in either form of action.

Mr. TURNER offered the following amendment to the amendment, as a new section:

That where a contract or obligation under seal is executed in the name of a firm or partnership, it shall be lawful for the holder of such writing to sue the partners constituting the firm in debt or covenant, provided he can prove that all the members thereof, originally authorized the sealing of the instrument, or subsequently recognized its validity, either in writing or by parol; or the holder may, at his option, bring an action on the case or assumpsit against all of the persons constituting the firm or partnership; and if the contract or obligation is otherwise valid, and would have been binding, if not under seal, recover as well against the partner sealing the instrument as against the other members of the firm; and that in all suits by and between partners in the determination and settlement of disputes arising out of the partnership accounts, after the dissolution of the same, shall be in the form of an action on the case, subject to the form of pleading governing such cases, and not in the form of an action of account render.

Upon the amendments, (Mr. PARKER in the Chair,) there was further discussion between Messrs. BELL, SCOFIELD, PENNEY and FINNEY.

Mr. SCOFIELD said he knew the Senate had something to do beside listening to abstract discussions upon abstract questions, of which they knew very little, and cared very little about. He briefly discussed the objectionable features of the bill, as originally proposed, and the advantages which would result from the adoption of his amendment.

Mr. PENNEY seconded the views of the Senator from Warren. He had, he thought, hit precisely the defects of the bill. He entered into a brief examination of the legal operations of the bill, and the objections to which it would be liable in the practice, which he illustrated by legal examples. The bill, proposing as it does, to simplify legal proceedings, was no improvement, but may lead to confusion. He called the attention of the Senate to the last section of the bill, as the most objectionable feature. He had two or three objections to that section, which he briefly stated. The section was the most radical one of the bill, and his objections to it were principally based upon the change in practice which it proposes.

Mr. FINNEY thought the bill had not been fairly treated. He thought the objections taken to it had been special and technical, and not to the merits of the bill. The bill was simply one of convenience to parties in certain cases, and the effect of it would be to simplify the proceedings in those cases, as was designed. It was intended to do away with the mere forms of practice, which had been so much venerated, and which had so often stood in the way of the administration of justice. Although he did not think the bill as perfect in its parts as the one offered at last session, he thought it was an improvement, and he hoped to see it adopted.

The amendments were not agreed to, and the committee rose.

On the question,

Shall the report of the committee be adopted?

It was determined in the affirmative.

The question recurring, upon the original bill,

Mr. FINNEY moved to go into committee of the whole for the purpose of special amendment.

Upon this motion, a further discussion ensued between Messrs. FINNEY, TURNER, BELL, GAZZAM and STEELE, in which the general features of the bill were adverted to by Mr. TURNER at considerable length, in opposi-sition to the original propositions, and in support of the amendment proposed by him.

On the question to go into committee of the whole for the purpose of special amendment,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. FINNEY and Mr. SCOFIELD, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Gazzam, Gregg, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Palmer, Randall, Schell, Shaeffer, Schindel, Turney, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—22.

NAYS—Messrs. Coffey, Francis, Penney, Scofield, Steele, Thompson and Welsh—7.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Whereupon (Mr. PALMER in the chair,) Mr. FINNEY moved to insert in the third line of the second section, after the word "costs," the words, "and the statement of plaintiff's claim;" which was agreed to, and the committee rose.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the report of the committee?

It was determined in the affirmative.

On the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BELL and Mr. FINNEY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Craig, Finney, Gazzam, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Randall, Schell, Shaeffer, Schindel, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—15.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Fetter, Francis, Gregg, Keller, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Scofield, Steele, Thompson, Turney and Welsh—17.

So the question was determined in the negative, and the bill fell.

On leave given, Mr. WELSH read in place, a bill, entitled "An Act taxing the capital stock of the companies to whom the canals were transferred, according to the provisions of an act for the sale of the public works," approved April 21, 1858.

Mr. BLOOD, "An Act to change the place of holding elections in Porter township, Jefferson county."

On motion of Mr. GAZZAM, the Senate proceeded to consider House bill No. 431, "A further supplement to the act regulating banks."

Said bill (committee of the whole having been dispensed with,) passed various readings.

And on its final passage,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GAZZAM and Mr. MARSELIS, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Coffey, Craig, Finney, Gazzam, Gregg, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Schell, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—20.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Fetter, Keller, Marselis, Nunemacher, Turney, Welsh and Wright—9.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. SCHELL having objections to the second section of the bill, moved to re-consider the vote on its final passage.

On which,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCHELL and Mr. GAZZAM, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Fetter, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Schell, Steele, Turney, Welsh and Wright—12.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Coffey, Craig, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Shaeffer, Schindel, Thompson, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—18.

So the question was determined in the negative.

A message from the Governor was received and read. It is as follows:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, March 22, 1859. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Gentlemen—I have approved and signed the following acts of the General Assembly, viz:

"An Act to extend the charter of the Dauphin Deposit Bank."

"An Act to incorporate the Chartiers and Robinson Township turnpike road company, in Allegheny county."

"A supplement to an act to incorporate the Odd Fellows hall association of the city of Pittsburgh, and county of Allegheny."

"An Act to incorporate the Zoological society of Philadelphia."

"An Act to change the time of holding courts in Clearfield county."

"An Act relative to roads in East Marlborough and New London townships Chester county."

"A further supplement to the act incorporating the Lewisburg Centre and Spruce Creek railroad company."

"An Act to incorporate the Pennsylvania and Maryland Line turnpike road company."

"An Act to exempt certain real estate in the county of Allegheny, from the payment of the collateral inheritance tax."

"A supplement to the act to incorporate the Hanover savings fund society of the county of York."

"A further supplement to the act authorizing the Governor to incorporate the Minersville water company."

"A supplement to an act to incorporate the Hilltown turnpike road company."

"An Act relating to the overseers of the poor of the borough of Lewisburg."

"An Act to repeal an act for the protection of sheep and taxing of dogs in the county of Blair."

"An Act to extend the charter of the Forest improvement company."

"An Act relating to the Norristown academy."

"An Act to extend the power of prothonotaries and clerks to administer oaths."

"An Act to annex part of the lands of Eli Lichtenberger, in Elizabeth township, Lancaster county, to Penn township, in said county."

"A supplement to the act incorporating the Plymouth railroad company."

"An Act to authorize the Auditor General and State Treasurer, to open and re-settle the accounts of the Franklin fire insurance company of Philadelphia."

WM. F. PACKER.

On motion of Mr. SCOFIELD, the Senate resumed the consideration of House bill No. 402, "An Act to incorporate the Fall Brook railroad and coal company," on second reading.

The sixth section had been reached, when the

The first, second, third, fifth and sixth sections (the fourth having been stricken out,) were agreed to, when the hour of one having arrived the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until 3 o'clock, P. M.

SENATE.—AFTERNOON SESSION.

Agreeably to order, the Senate met at three o'clock, P. M.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

The Senate resumed consideration of House bill No. 402, "An Act to incorporate the Fall Brook railroad and coal company;" which was pending when the Senate adjourned this morning.

The seventh, eighth and ninth sections were agreed to; the title was amended by striking out the words "railroad and," and the bill passed finally.

Senate bill No. 482, "An Act to incorporate the Penn industrial reform school," came up in order on second reading, the question being upon the second section.

The second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh sections were adopted.

The eighth section being before the Senate, Mr. MARSELIS said the institution purported to be a school, when, in reality, it was a prison, and opposed the bill, as one giving too much power, perhaps to irresponsible persons. He thought the bill needed amendment, and he proposed an amendment which he thought would render it less objectionable.

His amendment was to the effect that the friends and relatives of the inmates may, at all reasonable times, have access to the institution.

Mr. SCOFIELD thought the amendment was objectionable, and briefly opposed its adoption.

Mr. MARSELIS again spoke, for a short time, in advocacy of the propriety of his amendment.

Mr. FINNEY thought the objection to the amendment might be obviated, by adding to it the words, "subject to such regulations and restrictions, compatible with the safe keeping of the inmates, as may, from time to time, be adopted."

The modification was accepted by Mr. MARSELIS; and the question recurring on the amendment, it was agreed to, as also the section as amended; and,

The bill as amended, passed finally.

On leave given, Mr. SCHELL asked that the Committee on Private Claims and Damages, be discharged from the consideration of "An Act for the relief of James Hamilton, of Carlisle, Cumberland county," and that the same be referred to the Judiciary Committee; which was agreed to.

Senate bill No. 510, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Plymouth canal company," came up in order and passed finally.

Senate bill No. 323, "An Act to incorporate the Northumberland and Juniata railroad company," lies over.

Senate bill No. 662, "An Act to equalize taxation on corporations," came up in order.

Mr. GAZZAM said this was an important bill, and he should like to hear from the Senator from Washington some reason for its passage.

Mr. MILLER explained the provisions of the bill, and the necessities which demanded its passage. Its object was to equalize taxation upon corporations, which, under existing laws, is unequal. He thought it was unnecessary to say much in defence or explanation of the bill. It explained and recommended itself, and he could not see any objection to its passage.

On its final passage,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SHAEFFER and Mr. MILLER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Palmer, Penney, Randall, Schell, Scofield, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Welsh, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—24.

NAY—Mr. Shaeffer—1.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Senate bill No. 275 lies over.

BILLS CONSIDERED AND PASSED.

On motion of Mr. FRANCIS, House bill No. 850, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Westminster collegiate institute."

On motion of Mr. GAZZAM, Senate bill No. 689, "An Act to incorporate the Pittsburg and East Liberty passenger railway company."

This bill was variously amended.

On motion of Mr. GREGG, House bill No. 474, "An Act authorizing the laying out of a public road from Shoemaker's mills to the borough of Muncy, Lycoming county."

On motion of Mr. KELLER, House bill No. 520, "An Act to incorporate the Suahury gas company."

On motion of Mr. MARSELIS, (the Committee on Corporations having been discharged from its consideration,) House bill No. 650, "An Act relating to Reed street, in the city of Philadelphia."

This bill lies over on third reading.

On motion of Mr. PALMER, Senate bill No. 678, "An Act to incorporate the Pottsville and Minersville railroad company."

On motion of Mr. RANDALL, (the Committee on the Judiciary having been discharged from its consideration,) "A supplement to the act incorporating the Locust Gap improvement company."

On motion of Mr. MILLER, (the Committee on Roads and Bridges having been discharged,) House bill No. 659, "An Act relative to roads and bridges in Washington county."

On motion of Mr. MYER, Senate bill No. 685, "An Act to incorporate the Weyssauk railroad company," was taken up.

This bill was variously amended, on motion Mr. MYER, in the committee of the whole, and being on second reading, the first five sections were agreed to.

Mr. MILLER moved to strike out the proviso in the sixth section, pending the discussion of which, (Mr. MYER having the floor,) the subject was postponed for the purpose of considering House amendments to House bill No. 330, "An Act to incorporate the Union cemetery association of the borough of Lebanon and its vicinity;" which were read, and on motion of Mr. RUTHERFORD, concurred in.

On leave given, Mr. RANDALL, from the Committee on Railroads, reported as committed, House bill No. 765, "An Act to extend the time of commencing the Coudersport, Portage and Allegheny River railroad."

Mr. SHAEFFER read in his place and presented to the chair, a bill, entitled "An Act for the relief of the late firm of Moderwell and Longnecker."

The hour of five having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until to-morrow morning at 9½ o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

TUESDAY, March 22, 1859.

The House was called to order at 9½ o'clock, by Mr. THOMPSON, Speaker pro tem.

The Clerk read the Journal of yesterday.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed the House that the Senate had non-concurred in the amendments made by the House of Representatives to the bill from the Senate, numbered and entitled as follows:

No. 163, "An Act to incorporate the Union-town gas and water company."

On motion of Mr. GALLEY, the House insisted on its amendments to said bill, and ordered that a committee of conference be appointed.

Mr. FOSTER moved that the rules be suspended, and that the House proceed to the consideration of House bill No. 995, "An Act relating to costs before magistrates in Allegheny county."

The House refused to suspend the rules, on a call for a division of the question.

CALENDAR OF PRIVATE BILLS.

Agreeably to order, the House proceeded to the consideration of bills on the Private Calendar.

The following bills were read, and no objections being made, were laid aside for second reading:

No. 18. "An Act for the relief of Catharine Keller, widow of Conrad Keller, a soldier of the Revolutionary war."

No. 720. "An Act authorizing the trustees of Aaronshurg school to sell a certain house and lot in said town."

No. 722. "An Act to prevent public auction in Freeport borough, Armstrong county."

No. 735. "An Act to increase the fees of jurors in the several districts of the city of Philadelphia."

Senate bill No. 607, relative to the Danphin and Susquehanna railroad company, having been presented to the House by the Clerk of the Senate,

Mr. MCCLURE asked but did not obtain the unanimous consent of the House to have the same placed on to-day's Calendar.

SENATE AMENDMENTS

To House bill No. 431, "A further supplement to an act regulating banks," as follows:

Sec. 2. That the twenty-third section of the act to which this is a further supplement, shall not hereafter be held to embrace actual business paper bona fide, made or drawn by, or to the order of any director, or the houses or firms with which he may be connected in the regular course of his or their private business, and offered for discount by the holder or holders thereof.

The original House bill reads as follows:

WHEREAS, It is provided by an act, entitled "An Act regulating banks," approved the sixteenth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and fifty, that no person shall be eligible as a director of any bank, for more than three years in four, except the president, who shall always be eligible:

And whereas, It is provided by the second section of a supplement to said act, approved the seventh day of May, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-five, that it shall be lawful for the board of directors of any bank to elect a vice president; therefore

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the vice president of any bank shall always be eligible as a director of such bank, in like manner as the president is eligible therefor under existing laws.

Mr. THORN moved that the House concur in Senate amendment.

A discussion here took place between Mr. NILL, who opposed the amendment, and by Messrs. THORN and M'CLURE, who advocated the same.

Mr. WALBORN moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present; which was subsequently withdrawn.

Mr. NILL moved to refer the bill, together with the amendment, to the Committee on Banks.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved that the further consideration of the same be postponed indefinitely; remarking that he made the motion in order that members might have an opportunity offered them of speaking upon the merits of the question.

Mr. WALBORN spoke briefly upon the question, and hoped that the bill would be referred to the Committee on Banks, and be presented so that members could have time to investigate it.

The question was further discussed by Messrs. M'CLURE, THORN and NILL.

The motion to commit the bills was then agreed to.

Senate amendments to a number of House bills were read and concurred in.

Agreeably to order, the House resumed the consideration of bills on the Private Calendar.

The following were read; and no objections being made, prepared for second reading:

BILLS ON PRIVATE CALENDAR.

Agreeably to order, the House resumed the consideration of bills on the Private Calendar.

Whereupon, the following were read, and no objection being made, prepared for second reading:

"An Act to incorporate the Duquesne insurance company."

"A supplement to an act, approved 5th day of April, 1858, to authorize the laying out of a State road from New Castle, in Lawrence county, to Emlenton, in Venango county."

"An Act to authorize the laying out of a State road, in the counties of Carbon and Monroe."

"An Act to incorporate the Kylertown, Morrisdale and Philipsburg plank road company."

"An Act relative to the fees of the sheriff of Crawford county."

"An Act to enable the commissioners of Crawford county to make certain compromises."

"An Act to incorporate the Jacksonville and Virginia Line clay and turnpike road company."

"A further supplement to an act to incorporate the town of Ashland, partly in Schuylkill and partly in Columbia counties, into a borough, approved February 13, 1857."

"A supplement to an act to improve the navigation of the Lehigh river, in the counties of Monroe and Luzerne."

"An Act relating to the election of officers of the Wyoming canal company."

"An Act relating to the expenses of coroner's inquests and to appeals by county commissioners, in Luzerne county."

"An Act establishing the location of the streets and alleys and lots in a certain part of the borough of Johnstown, Cambria county."

"Supplement to the act incorporating the Lehigh and Delaware plank road company."

"An Act to incorporate the Amity horse company."

"An Act to lay out a State road in Armstrong and Clarion counties."

"An Act to incorporate the Pittsburg gymnastic association."

"An Act declaring the Portage branch of the Sinnemahoning river, a public highway."

No. 1082. "An Act authorizing the laying out of a State road in Potter and M'Kean counties."

No. 1083. "An Act to incorporate the Chester, Leiperville and Darby railway company."

No. 1084. "An Act authorizing the Auditor General to examine the claim of James Bell, of Blair county, and to make report to the next Legislature."

Sen. 402. "Supplement to an act to incorporate the University of Kittanning."

No. 1085. "An Act relating to the election of overseers of the poor in the borough of Blairsville, and township of Burrell, in Indiana county."

No. 1088. "An Act to incorporate the Manayunk market company, in the city of Philadelphia."

No. 1090. "A supplement to the act incorporating the Exchange mutual insurance company of Philadelphia."

No. 1091. "An Act to incorporate Peach Bottom and Maryland turnpike road company."

Sen. 607. "An Act supplementary to an act relative to the Dauphin and Susquehanna coal company."

"A supplement to an act to alter and amend an act to erect the town of Chester and vicinity into a borough, and for other purposes therein mentioned," came up in order, and was read.

Mr. PENNELL offered a proviso "that said tax shall not exceed, in any one year, one-half of one per cent. upon such valuation;" which was agreed to.

And the bill was prepared for second reading.

"An Act to annex the buildings of Wm. Bratton to the township of Beale, in the county of Juniata."

"An Act to require the Sunbury and Pottsville railroad to fence their road in Northumberland county," came up in order, and was objected off by Mr. WILCOX."

Messrs. STEPHENS and BERTOLET severally asked to record their vote in favor of the resolution to reduce the compensation of members of the Legislature to $500, they being necessarily absent; which the House refused.

Mr. ZOLLER, having declined voting upon the bill chartering the Citizens' passenger railway, gave the following reasons; which were ordered to be placed upon the Journal:

First. That several weeks previous to the passage of said bill, he proposed to his colleagues joint meetings, to settle all personal differences on local bills, in order to appear and act as a unit before the two branches of the Legislature, and to prevent the introduction of dissensions among ourselves; that, however, this object failed.

Second. That the undersigned remained unacquainted with the various modifications which the bill underwent from time to time, and before it was submitted to the action of the House, and that he was simply required to vote for it.

Third. That the undersigned, being from a country district, and his immediate constituents having no concern in this bill, and a large portion of his city constituents being dissatisfied with the provisions of it, he thought it best to leave the bill to the judgment of his colleagues from the city, as those nearest acquainted with the circumstances and localities involved and affected by it.

Fourth. That after the vote on the first amendment offered by his colleague, (Mr. FOSTER,) the undersigned noticed the determination of a large majority of the House not to sustain any other material amendments; the vote of the undersigned, therefore, would have been ineffectual the one way, and superfluous the other way.

Fifth. That the undersigned had no time left to reflect, deliberately, on the probable extent of the effect the amendments might have produced, as they were offered and acted upon in the usual rapid parliamentary manner; and on the said bill being a local bill, he declined to vote otherwise than understandingly.

Sixth. That the undersigned is not opposed to the construction of passenger railways, if they do not injure the interests of the citizens of those localities where they are to be constructed; he, therefore, as there was no hope that any other bill would pass than the one before the House, did vote by acclamation, at its final passage, and would have voted in the affirmative, if the yeas and nays had been called.

OBJECTED BILLS.

No. 469. "An Act to incorporate the Huntingdon County Bank," was read and prepared for second reading.

No. 491. "An Act to provide for the creation of a new county out of parts of the counties of Crawford, Venango and Warren," was read and prepared for second reading.

Sen. 10. "An Act for the better securing the payment of the wages of labor in certain counties of this Commonwealth."

Mr. PINKERTON said—

Mr. SPEAKER:—We rise to advocate the passage of this bill, as framed and carefully drawn by our able and learned Senator, R. M. PALMER, Esq. From its enacting clause to the last letter, there is a principle, there is a justice and a security which should call forth the approbation of every member on this floor, and constrain him to give it his hearty approval and support. That is the protection to labor.

This bill originated in the Senate, passed that body on a call of the yeas and nays—hot 3 nays recorded against it. It has passed the inspection of two intelligent committees, composed as they are entirely of legal gentlemen, and yet not a sentence, not a word, nor even a letter has been changed, since it left the pen of the original framer.

Now, sir, in the passage of this bill, we, in the county of Schuylkill, feel deeply interested. It is loudly called for—from the press, to the most humble cottage of the laborer. Its design and its object is known to every individual in the district we represent. As it now stands upon our House and Senate file, it has been printed and spread broadcast over our county; and yet, sir, to our gratification, not even a letter, not even a petition has been read or presented against it. But here let me remind you that numbers of petitions, numerous signed in its favor, have been presented. They were signed not only by our miners, mechanics, and our laborers, but by our merchants, our operators, and our professional men, who are all interested in its passage, either directly or indirectly.

This bill, although local in its nature, yet, sir, we contend that laws protecting labor not only interest the particular district for which they are passed, but are a benefit to a nation and State. By labor, I refer to physical bodily toil. It cannot be denied but what the wealth of a nation or State tends, if rightly used, to its prosperity and advancement. If this be true, should it not be our duty, as agents of that Commonwealth, to inquire how is wealth to a State created, or in other words, from whence cometh wealth. We contend, and the history of past nations proves conclusively, that wealth is created by human labor; that is by the tilling of the ground, by raising food of raw material for manufacture, by mining coal, by our machine shops and rolling mills, by building houses and ships, and of every application of industry. Should we not then ascertain and encourage the causes which most effectually stimulate labor and frugality? The history of past nations will answer this most effectually. We are aware that many attribute the wealth and prosperity of a nation to its natural advantages; that is its genial climate, its fertile soil, its large expanse of territory or happy geographical position. But, sir, we contend and shall show that this is an erroneous idea.

Hardly two centuries ago, Spain was what Great Britain now is; one of the richest, noblest and powerful kingdoms in Europe, on whose domains the sun never set, and whose people, distinguished alike in arts, in commerce and arms, carried their flag and their renown to either pole, and encircled the earth with the golden chains of her commerce and manufactures.—Her climate to-day is the same, her soil is as fertile as it ever was, her geographical position is the same, but what is her financial condition? To what extent does she now encircle the earth with her commerce and trade? Answer echoes, she is scarcely known to the commercial world, and we have reason to believe that, unless she changes her political economy by protecting and encouraging her labor, (which is the foundation of commerce and trade,) the day is not far distant in her history when she will be no longer heard of as a nation, except among the list that once were, but are no more. The same may be said of Greece, Athens and Venice.—These countries once flourished in arts and literature, were thickly settled, and now they are the most insignificant kingdoms on the face of the globe, and with difficulty support a thinly scattered population. Would time admit, we might proceed to enumerate instance after instance of nations that have fell from positions of prosperity and wealth, not from natural causes or natural disadvantages, but wholly for the want of wholesome laws encouraging and bringing forth their labor.

If there is a nation upon the face of the globe who should protect her laborer, it is the American. We have reason to feel proud of the general industry and frugality of our people—her population, composed as it is of all the races of the earth, viz: English, Irish, Dutch, French, Welch and Spaniards, all show the American characteristic trait, viz: a disposition to toil, to dare and to save. Then, sir, as a people who are willing to toil, who are able to toil, and actually do toil, and the results of their toil and labor is daily enhancing the wealth of this great Commonwealth, in return, ought she not in justice to remunerate that toil, by protecting them from loss, and raise labor to a much higher practical point. This can only be done by the enactment of such laws as will assure to the laborer that after he has closed his daily toil, he shall receive the full amount of his wages! Unless we thus protect, the day may come in our history when we, like nations in the old world, will be heard of no more, and her now happy sons be forced to leave their native lands with her fertile soil, and she, like the fallen kingdoms of Spain and Greece, will scarcely be able to support a thinly scattered population.

But how have we, as a nation, protected our working classes for the last twelve or thirteen years? Has Congress thrown around a protection, well guarded, to the coal and iron interest? The alteration of the tariff in 1846 answers this question. On the day of the alteration, Pennsylvania alone had in blast three hundred and four furnaces, capable of making one-half million of tons annually. Within three years from its alteration, there were but one hundred and sixty-seven furnaces in blast. There were also two hundred establishments for the manufacture of wrought iron, producing annually two hundred thousand tons, and within two years after the enactment of the new tariff, their product fell off thirty-three per cent. The number of men employed in those iron works, and reckoning the hands employed in mining and transportation of coal, we have a grand total of forty-one thousand six hundred and sixteen men, one-half of whom were dismissed after the passage of the tariff act of 1846. No argument is here necessary to prove the past benefit of the American protective policy; the figures speak louder than words as to its benefit or injury to the working classes. Here we leave labor generally, and come down to the hill before us, and examine more particularly its provisions, and the individuals who are, so far as locality refers, to be benefitted.

An act similar to the one before us, was passed for Schuylkill county at the session of 1849; its benefits were reaped by the laboring classes of our county from the time of its passage to December, 1857, when some hungry landlord carried a case from our county court to the supreme court, who construed its provisions so as to make it wholly worthless to that class whom, we believe, said act was intended, at the time of its passage, to protect. The eight years the act of 1849 was in full force, many were the beneficial results flowing from its protective provision to our miners, mechanics, and laborers; under that act he felt secure for his labor; although thousands may have been due landlord, mortgage, or judgment creditors, yet at a judicial sale, come when it may, he was, as he should be, secured in the payment of his wages.

These are the provisions of the bill before us, and, sir, who can say aught against them, or who can raise his voice and, in justice, say that the laborer should not be first preferred in the small pittance of his earnings?

The next and last point that I shall call the attention of this House to, is the individuals who are to be benefitted more particularly by the passage of this bill. That is, the miner and those connected with collieries. In speaking of the difficulties and dangers of that class of men, we need not picture his difficulties, his dangers, taken from the pen of the historian; we need not refer to ideas taken from the pencil of the painter; I need but refer to scenes which have come from self observation, having toiled and labored with him side by side and witnessed daily his difficulties and dangers; and, sire, if there is a class of laborers on the face of the globe, we can with sincerity and experience say it is the miner who should be protected. In the morning, as the sun arises from behind the eastern horizon, he leaves his bosom companion and his family, and soon he is hundreds of feet within the bowels of the earth, shut out from all the pleasures, all the happiness and all the healthy atmosphere which surrounds those who have occupations, professions and trades, out from beneath the rocks and mountains.

I shall now take my seat, feeling satisfied that I have done my duty toward that class of men who have too frequently been forgotten in our House and Senate Chamber.

Mr. PALM said—

MR. SPEAKER:—It is not my intention to occupy much of the time of the House in discussing the merits of the bill now under consideration. Yet I would be recreant to my own feelings, and recreant to the wishes and interests of a large and respectable class of my constituents, was I to permit this opportunity to pass, while I remained silent, and indifferent as to the fate of the bill.

I have too much confidence in the intelligence and liberality of this House, to suppose for a moment, that the boon prayed for by thousands of the laboring classes of Schuylkill county, seconded by many of their liberal minded employers, will be refused.

It has been asked why a particular class of persons should be protected in the manner provided in the bill before this House. My answer is, because this particular class of citizens is surrounded by peculiar circumstances.

We are all familiar with the fact that the coal trade is subjected to many vicissitudes, as sudden very frequently, as they are unexpected. It will be borne in mind also, that those financial revolutions which so frequently convulse the country, are almost invariably first felt in the coal regions. It is at such times that the necessity of a law like the one now under consideration, is most keenly felt. The laboring classes, as a body, in Schuylkill county, heretofore refrained from participating in the exciting and bitter scenes of party strife. But "forbearance ceased to be a virtue" with the working men of Schuylkill county, and last fall they arose in their majesty, and in unbroken columns they marched to the polls and cast their votes for the candidates of the party which has always been, and is now, the friend of the workman. That confidence shall not be betrayed.—It is true they demanded pledges—and it is one of those pledges that we are now about to cancel. The debt has already been paid in the Senate, and it shall not fall in this House. It is true, that in the late political campaign, our ticket was stigmatized as the "professional ticket," by the now defunct wing of the Democracy in Schuylkill county. I think that by the time we shall leave these halls, we will have succeeded in convincing both friend and foe that we at least reduced to practice, a portion of that which in the past our opponents so profusely preached. How well we will have succeeded, will be for them to say.

It must be apparent to this House, that the laborers of Schuylkill county must have experienced palpable grievances in the past, when petition after petition have been and are still pouring in upon us from all parts of the county, until their names, indeed, is "legion." But the laborers, miners and mechanics come not alone! They come here bringing with them the kind wishes of many of their generous and magnanimous employers—such men as D. P. Brown, R. Heeksher, Messrs. Conner, Border, Glover, Snyder, Donaldson, Doherty and others. They come, sir, with justice and righteousness on their side, asking for this boon. Labor, after all, is the mainspring of the prosperity and greatness of our country; and, if this be so, should we not protect and advance its interests? The interests of the laborer have been too long neglected. But, sir, a new epoch is dawning upon us; henceforth let the rights of labor be respected. Why is it that the employers take so lively an interest in this matter. My answer is, because they know full well that when the heavy hand of adversity is laid upon them, all powers to save those men are at an end, and the stern and unyielding mandates of the law deprive them and those dependent upon them of their hard-earned wages. I will not attempt to describe the sufferings and miseries of the laborer when his employer is thus prostrated. It would require no very vivid imagination to paint the picture, yet I shall not attempt the task. We might take, for the background, remorseless hunger and privation. Sir, I do not exaggerate, but, on the contrary, I am conscious of my short-comings. Those who have never been to the coal mines cannot possibly know how and where the miner gains his livelihood; how, from morning until night, far down in the bowels of the earth, away from the joys and smiles of his family and the world, he toils day after day, year after year; no light by day but the flickering lamp of the mine, sufficient only to expose to his view the ghastly forms of his companions, and the dreary and dismal rocks of coal. But this is not all; he knows that he is surrounded by the elements of death on every side. When at length his "night's work" (for he indeed works by night) is done, weary and hungry he ascends to the surface, not to behold the glorious king of day, for he has already set behind the western hills. Perhaps the "queen of night" already casts his shadow, as slowly and wearily he wends his way to his humble home. His wife, who sees him come, perhaps ejaculates a prayer of thanks that her protector, and the protector of her children, is safe once more!

Those, Mr. SPEAKER, are the men who come here and ask to have their wages protected. Those are the men who will henceforth assert their rights. Those are the men who have been praying Congress to protect home industry, and those are the men who have and will make tyrants tremble.

The bill now before the House is a just one, and I do not wonder that the representatives from Northumberland, Somerset, Washington and Carbon, have had the provisions of this act extended so as to include their counties. I venture to assert that they will receive the thanks of their constituents for so doing.

With these remarks I dismiss the subject for the present, trusting that not a single vote will be recorded against the bill.

Mr. BOYER, (Schuylkill,) said—

MR. SPEAKER:—The bill under consideration is one of the most important to the interests of the large and meritorious class affected by its provisions, within the counties named, and to the people of the Commonwealth, that has commanded the attention of the present Legislature. It proposes to afford some further and better security for the payment of the wages of miners and laborers in the principal anthracite coal producing counties of Pennsylvania, than they have hitherto had. Next to the agricultural interests of the State, in importance, is that of mining; and certainly there is no class of our people more deserving of protection, and none to whom protection is more necessary, than our miners and laborers at collieries. Farmers and agricultural interests are comparatively exempt from commercial revolutions, but at every period of financial suffering of the country, our coal operators and their operatives suffer first, longest and most seriously. The business of mining coal, under the most favorable financial circumstances, is extremely hazardous, and such hazard is inseparably connected with a business which is prosecuted into the unseen and uncertain veins, hidden in the bowels of the earth. The truth of this has been sadly demonstrated by the thirty years experience of the citizens of the county of Schuylkill. Although there is no county in Pennsylvania which can boast more business talent, energy and enterprise; and although many millions of dollars have been and continue invested, as capital in railroads, canals, collieries and improvements of every description necessary to its vast coal productions, there are very few coal operators who have ever been able to retire upon a competency. On the contrary, the large list of sheriff's sales, continually recurring, show how unfortunate the majority who engage in mining are.—And when failures take place, as they so frequently do, the liabilities are often very large, and the losses fall with great and peculiar severity upon the miners and laborers. These men pursue their dangerous avocation in the darkness of the mines, and shut out, as they are, for a great portion of their lives from the light of day and the intercourse with their fellow men; they have no opportunity to learn anything of the financial condition or pecuniary difficulties of their employers. When the sheriff levies upon and sells a colliery under an execution, it falls with crushing force upon the poor operatives, uninformed and unprepared as they are. When their wages are swept away from them by a landlord's warrant or the execution of a watchful and diligent creditor, their families and themselves suffer actual want.

I most heartily approve of all the provisions of this bill. It is, Mr. Speaker, strictly, in all its provisions, what every candidate before the people last fall, in the county I have the honor partly to represent, was compelled to subscribe to, or fall before the mighty power of the ballot-box. During the contest, every candidate, no matter where or when, or of what party or division of a party he may have been a candidate, working men expected of, and demanded from him, whether he would, if successful, do something for the laboring classes; and of the nine candidates for the seats now occupied by my colleagues and myself, no one failed to pledge himself most solemnly to comply with their wishes. Not only did the candidates thus pledge themselves to the laboring classes, but the bosses of the mines, acknowledging the justice of such legislation, both by words and actions joined in; and all the candidates and the voters of the county became a unit on the subject of a further security, and a more summary mode of recovering the hard earned pay of the laboring classes.

After having said this much in favor of the passage of this bill, may I not hope, that here in this body, as in the body composing the entire people of Schuylkill county, embracing Republicans, Democrats, and all factions of both the leading parties of the day, that the bill under consideration will meet with the same favor; that no voice will be raised against the principles contained in this bill, and that ere long it will become the general law of the land, and be extended, not only to miners and laborers at the mines, but to all laborers of whatever character they may be, and thus gladden the heart of every family father, so that he can, on his return, at the end of the week, or month, say to his family, I have earned twenty-five or thirty dollars, all of which is now secured by this law, instead of being under the painful necessity on his return of saying to his wife and family, as is sometimes the case now, I have earned, and there is due to me for my labor the amount named, or even more; but the failure of my employer has swept everything from me; it has gone to pay rents, or other preferred claims.

Can we wonder that these considerations have induced the people of Schuylkill county, unanimously, to ask of the Legislature the passage of the law under consideration, and that the representatives of the other counties named in the bill, have added their counties since the bill was originally introduced. My colleagues and myself feel greatly indebted to many gentlemen in the House, who have expressed themselves in favor of the just and proper provisions of this bill, and I trust the House will add still further to the obligation by passing it by an unanimous vote.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) said unless some explanation of the bill and claim were given, he would be obliged to call the yeas and nays.

Mr. WIGTON advocated the claim, and forwarded to the Clerk's desk several positions to show the amount and kind of services rendered and materials furnished.

The bill passed final y.

"An Act relating to the collection of State and county taxes in the county of Luzerne, and for other purposes," came up in order, and was laid over under the rule.

"An Act to incorporate the Southwestern market company," came up in order, and was read the second time.

Mr. ACKER moved to amend, by locating the same in the First ward, city of Philadelphia.

Mr. CHURCH moved to amend the amendment, by locating said company south of Walnut and west of Eighth streets, Philadelphia; which was agreed to; and the bill, as amended, passed.

Messrs. LAWRENCE, of Washington, and GRITMAN, moved that the vote by which the House refused to proceed to the second reading of the act relative to insurance companies and associations, &c., be re-considered; which was agreed to.

The question recurring,

Shall the bill be postponed?

It was determined in the negative.

So the bill was laid aside for second reading.

On motion of Mr. WILSON, House bill No.—the title was so amended as to read as follows:

"An Act to extend the provisions of the manufacturing law of 1849 to the manufacturing of oils from mineral coal, in the county of Beaver."

"An Act regulating the sale of drugs and medicines in the city of Philadelphia," was read the second time, and after having been amended, a motion was made by Mr. FISHER that the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present; which was agreed to.

"An Act to incorporate a ferry over the Susquehanna river," was read the second time; and on motion Mr. OAKS, the further consideration of the same was postponed for the present.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to adjourn.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. THORN and Mr. HARDING, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Balliet, Barnsley, Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Galley, Graham, Gratz, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Jackson, Keeney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, M'Curdy, Nill, Oaks, Proudfoot, Pugh, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Stuart, Syer, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williston and Wilson—44.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Barlow, Bayard, Brodhead, Burley, Campbell, Church, Doods, Eckman, Fleming, Foster, Good, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hottensine, Irish, M'Clure, M'Dowell, Miller, Neall, Palm, Pennell, Pinkerton, Quigley, Rose, Rouse, Smead, Taylor, Thorn, Wagenseller, Williams, (Bedford,) Wolf and Lawrence, Speaker—34.

So the question was determined in the affirmative; and the House adjourned.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTION.

Mr. MYER offered the following resolution: which was twice read, considered and adopted:

Resolved, That if the House of Representatives concur, the Governor be requested to return House bill No. 6, "An Act to incorporate the Towanda water company."

House amendments to "An Act to incorporate the Union railroad company," were read, and, on motion, concurred in.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

Senate bill No. 650, "An Act relating to Reed street, in the city of Philadelphia," came up in order on third reading, and passed finally.

Senate bill No. 483, "A supplement to an act to exempt property to the value of three hundred dollars from levy and sale on execution and distress for rent, approved April 9, 1849," came up in order on second reading; when, the question being upon the second section,

Mr. SCOFIELD offered the following amendment, as a substitute for the second section:

That any person otherwise entitled to the exemption provided for in this act, and the act to which this act is a supplement, shall not be deprived thereof in consequence of any contract hereafter made, by which the right to claim such exemption shall be waived or released: Provided further, That when the property elected to be retained under the provisions of the act to which this is a supplement shall constitute, in whole or in part, the dwelling house of the person so electing, he or she being at the time a housekeeper, charged with the maintenance of a family, the amount of valuation shall be five hundred dollars, instead of three hundred, as heretofore.

Mr. PALMER moved to amend the amendment, by striking out all from the word "that," in the first line, to the word "provided," and appending the part remaining to the second section.

Mr. SCOFIELD supported the amendment, and briefly explained its effect. The amendment which had been made to the bill, by the Senator from Schuylkill, was an insidious one, and was really an enemy under the garb of friendship for the rights and interests of the poor man. The first part of it was the same as the original section; but the latter portion contemplated a change, and upon that he wished to say a few words. The policy which exempts from execution certain necessities of life, should, he thought, be extended to the roof which shelters the heads of the family. Family dwellings, or homesteads, like family portraits, although they may command or receive but little veneration from others, are peculiarly endeared to those whose youthful years have been passed beneath them, and in familiar intercourse and association with those things intimately connected with them. The tree which they have planted, and which they have watched and watered with interest and attention, has a peculiar attraction to the family, and the affections of every man cling, with peculiar force, to the spot where has passed his youthful years, and where was enacted the scenes of his childish sport; and the reverses of business life which separate him from that spot, fall with severe and crushing power.

But the policy which the amendment proposed, in securing to the family the uninterrupted possession and enjoyment of the homestead, was one in which not only the family were interested. The State has an interest in so shaping its policy, as to enlarge a class holding an interest with itself, which the protection of the household is designed to encourage. He advocated the amendment upon the grounds of its justice, as well as those of general public policy, and asserted that there was no wisdom in that policy which destroys a failing debtor at once. The advantages to a creditor are nothing by this course; for the chances of the payment of a debt are in favor of a lenient creditor, with an honest debtor.

He continued in advocacy of the amendment, and drew a picture of the benefits which would result, socially and morally, from the protection to the poor which it contemplated. He related an incident which took place upon the arrival of Jenny Lind in this country. He had not much taste for music, and the incident was about the only one he remembered. When she landed, upon a Sabbath morning, she observed that the crowd which greeted her were all dressed in their holiday attire, and that the appearance of the immense throng was that of the wealthier class in her own country, with none of that squalid poverty which characterized similar assemblages in Europe. Turning to one of those present, she asked, "Have you no poor in this country?" The difference which struck her, as peculiar in this instance, was not a chance or solitary one, but was one which resulted from the difference between our own institutions and those of Europe; and, with the extension of that protection which should be thrown around all American homes, and which his amendment contemplated, the time will come when there will be no poor, comparatively, and when the spectacle, honorable to our country and government, may still more forcibly present itself to the eye of an European stranger.

He dwelt, at some length, upon the advantages of securing to the family the protection of this law, and remarked that, although he would not vote to give to every man a homestead of five hundred dollars, he would advocate the passage of a law to assist him in acquiring it.

Mr. PALMER said he was surprised to hear the Senator from Warren say that he had no taste for music. He should suppose that any man possessing so much poetry in his composition, must also be endowed with a fair share of the love of music. While he was compelled to differ with the Senator, as to the effect of his amendment, he would not agree that there was a better or warmer friend of the poor man upon the floor of the Senate. He was surprised to hear the Senator from Warren say that the amendment proposed by him was an insidious one—an enemy in disguise. He had been pleased with the legislation of Pennsylvania in times past, for the bettering of the condition of the poor man. Among that legislation he instanced the act for the abolition of imprisonment for debt. That act had been popular with the masses, and there had been no one to come here and ask that this relic of barbarism should be re-established. Another was the act of 1849, exempting, on a landlord's warrant, three hundred dollars from execution—a law which, if carried out according to its true intent and meaning, would meet with the approbation of the people. The wife and family would be no longer subjected to distress by the sale of their household property, nor the little ones liable to that suffering which followed the pitiless seizure of even the necessities of life.

His own county, he said, was particularly unfortunate. It was one in which the financial reverses which swept over the country was first and longest felt; but he had never known, although the best men had been struck down by the crisis, of a case in which, under a landlord's warrant, the sale of household furniture was made.

That legislation which forbids a man to dispose of his property is not in accordance with the genius of our republican government. A man may carry his furniture, by piecemeal, until all is disposed of, to the pawnbrokers, but he shall not enter into writing that his property shall not be taken, except for rent of the house which shelters his family, and the necessities of life. He advocated his amendment briefly, and opposed that proposed by the Senator from Schuylkill.

Mr. MYER did not intend to occupy the attention of the Senate with anything additional to that which he had said in support of this bill, when previously under consideration. In bringing to the notice of the Senate the proposition contained in this bill, he said, I am endeavoring only to carry out what I believe to be the true intent and meaning of the Legislature of 1849, which passed the law commonly called the "three hundred dollar exemption law." By an examination into the history of the exemption laws passed at different times, I find that the great principle of humanity, upon which all exemption laws are founded, first received the attention and favorable consideration of a Pennsylvania Legislature, in the year 1814; and as an evidence of the feeling that prompted them to the action then had upon this subject, I will call your attention to the title of the act referred to. It is in these truly expressive words—"An Act to promote the comfort of the poor." A few years later in the history of our State, in the year 1821, finding, no doubt, that the operation of the act of 1814, (slight and inefficient though it was,) was favorable to the accomplishment of the object sought to be attained, the Legislature passed two other acts of like import and similar title, keeping still in view the idea, that must have then been prominently in view as before, of promoting the general happiness and prosperity of the whole people.

The acts to which I have referred are in themselves unimportant, so far as the amount of property that was really exempt from levy and sale by remorseless and unfeeling creditors was concerned, but they are of vast importance, as exhibiting the spirit that animated the hearts of the men who were called upon to conduct the affairs of State at that day, and prove that the people had really considered those measures as beneficial, slight as was the exemption that was then secured to the unfortunate debtor and those that were dependent upon him. As the good results of these laws more and more developed themselves, the people began more and more to turn their favorable regards to the subject, and in 1828 the members of this and the other House, then, as before, coming directly from the people, and in this, as in all truly republican governments, being the representatives of an enlightened public sentiment, passed a law exempting property, which cannot be put down at less than two hundred and seventy-five dollars, from levy or sale. This law, although operating unequally in conferring its benefits, was productive of great good to the people. It cast around the home of the poor and industrious citizen the shield of protection, and held out to him that inducement and incentive to action, by creating a confidence and a certain security in the enjoyment of a home surrounded by the necessary comforts of life, while seldom, if ever, failed to inspire a man with sufficient ambition to accumulate what the law permits him to hold for the benefit of himself and family, and forever on the minds of our people the justice and propriety of a liberal law of exemption. So rapid was the progress of reform in this direction, that in 1842, the odious imprisonment act, one of the relics of barbarism, was swept from the statute books, never again to be re-produced to disgrace the history of our legal proceedings. Were I disposed to travel back and instance, as could be done, the suffering and misery which were the legitimate and disgraceful results of the enforcement of this abrogation, I might draw pictures that would astonish and appal you, and make all men wonder that it had been so long permitted to disgrace the statute book of a free, humane, and enlightened Commonwealth; but it has passed away, and its baneful effects live only in the recollection of our citizens, as an evidence that the early legislation of our State was too much governed by the principles and views that obtained favor in English jurisprudence, from which we derive, in a large measure, our own laws, and it required time to break the bonds of habit, and bring our legislation, by progressive steps, into close conformity with the genius of free institutions. So firmly fixed in the minds of our people, however, had at length become the policy of our laws in this direction, that the Legislature, in 1846, passed a still further law upon this subject, exempting a yoke of oxen or a horse, not exceeding in value fifty dollars, from execution in certain cases, running the value of exempted property up to at least three hundred and twenty-five dollars. Thus again the people speak, through their representatives, in confirmation of the well-settled policy of the State, and of their approval of the beneficent operation of the law on the subject. In tracing the history of legislation upon this important question, I am now brought down in scale of time to the passage of the law of 1849, the act to which the bill now pending is a supplement. The causes which led to the passage of this law, known as the three hundred dollar exemption law, it may not be out of place to refer to.

The operation of former laws upon this question was found to be unequal. It will be readily perceived by any one who chooses to examine the act of 1828, that any person living in a town or city was deprived of many of the benefits of that law, from the fact that it was impossible for him to keep many of the articles enumerated. For instance, he could not keep a cow or sheep, and of course did not need the necessary feed to support them, while to a man living in the country these things were of great value. Again, all a man's wearing apparel was exempt, and while the upstart popinjay in the city or town might have two or three, or even five hundred dollars' worth of clothing to strut in the street with, the honest mechanic, whose family it would have conferred a blessing upon to have been able to retain an equal amount in value of the necessary articles, was, by the provisions of this law, deprived of them. It therefore became the duty of the Legislature to so alter or amend the law as to make it operate as nearly equal as possible. It was with this view, and for the accomplishment of so desirable a result as this, that the change was made, and all former acts repealed, and the law of 1849 enacted in their stead. The provisions of the bill now under consideration, as they appear upon its face, are designed to cure certain supposed defects in the original law, made really so by the decision of our supreme court, of which it is said of late there is but one thing remarkable, and that is, that, as if by chance, they sometimes decide questions of law twice in the same way.

However, in this case, they lost sight of the real objects for which the law was passed; which were not only designed for the benefit of men, but more particularly, like all preceding acts relating to the same matter, for the benefit of families; for it would be preposterous to suppose that the Legislature had no other object in view, in the passage of the law, except to throw around that portion of our community that are most able to take care of themselves, the protecting arm of the law; and yet the decision of the supreme court has, in a measure, produced this effect, and has placed in the hands of the exacting creditor the power to pauperize many a family, and cast them out of house and home, upon the cold charities of the world.

While Pennsylvania has been moving slowly, but surely, on this good work of reform, many of her sister States have made far more rapid strides in the same direction. Connecticut, New York and Massachusetts, were among the first States that led off in this reform. Ohio, Indiana and Maine, are also among the numbers that have acted wisely, and legislated liberally upon this question; but all the States named have been far outstripped by some of the more western States. Some of these have laws exempting property to the amount of one thousand dollars. The propriety of so large an exemption as this, is doubtful policy; nor is our own State ready to try it at this time; but there is no excuse or reason why we should not make the small amount of property, reserved by the law of 1849, to her citizens, secure beyond any contingency. Any other course will continue to work hereafter, as it has heretofore, incalculable mischief and wrong, while its benefits would be slight and doubtful.

A custom has grown up, since the passage of the law referred to, under the decision of the supreme court, of exacting from the more unfortunate and ignorant portion of our people, a certain kind of notes, waiving all exemption laws, stay of execution, right of inquisition on real estate, with a confession of judgment, &c., thus binding a man hand and foot; and I have sometimes thought these "Shylocks" would get them, if it were possible, by deception or otherwise, to waive their right to a future existence for the most trifling sum, provided they could make any money out of it. Now, sir, I do not pretend to say, that any considerable portion of our business men take these kind of obligations, because they desire or expect to take advantage of and use the extreme power which they are able to exercise with the unfortunate debtor, because the nature of the obligation they hold against him permits it; yet if he has been so pressed by present necessities as to be obliged to give this kind of an obligation to some unprincipled wretch, whose god is Mammon, he may be stripped of every article of property that he owns, and himself and family be reduced to abject misery and want in a single day; while the honest business man who has trusted him, upon his faith in his integrity, as much as from the nature of the obligation he holds, and has been giving him credit, to aid him in supporting his family, and accumulating something to make himself, and those dependent upon him, comfortable, is cheated out of what is due him, and which he would, at some future day, have obtained, had the individual been protected in the enjoyment of what he had, until sufficient time had elapsed to have enabled him to overcome present misfortunes.

The whole operation of this law, as it now stands, is bad. It induces men of doubtful integrity to resort to deception and fraud, to get others to give them obligations containing a waiver of exemptions, by promising them all the time they may desire, even after the debt shall become due; (such promises are generally made in the private counting room, where there is no witness present, and if there should be, he is apt to be some deaf clerk, who did not hear any bargain except what was "nominated in the bond," and that before it was signed; and while it cannot be denied that it is a temptation to men of easy virtue, it is a down-right license to villains to make paupers of our people. Hence it is, the law should be complete, and the full and free enjoyment of these exemptions secured to the debtor in such a manner that he may not be either overawed or entrapped in to stripping himself of it; and that is what the bill under consideration proposes to do. Where are the beneficent results of the law as it is now? Will it be pretended for one moment that the collection of a few dollars from a poor debtor, and the small amount of advantage it affords to the rich creditor, are to be put in the scale against the misery produced by bringing a whole family to want and destitution? Nor is this often the end of the sad misfortune. Not unfrequently is it the case, that under such circumstances the kindest husband and father, driven to desperation, falls into habits of dissipation and drunkenness; is led on from indulgence in that one master vice to a participation in others, until at last, in an evil hour, under the influence of the maddening bowl, he commits some offence against the criminal law, (it may be to keep the issue of his own loins from starvation,) and is consigned to prison. Thus the once respectable and honest citizen, with a family around him, under the operation of inhuman laws, has been made forever an outcast in the community, a spotted felon, shunned like a leper, and lost to his family, his friends, society and the Commonwealth. The sons, too, having witnessed the degradation of the father, feel themselves to be alike outcasts, and find enjoyment only by indulgence in the same vices; while the daughters may be growing up to maturity, exposed to the many dangers that surround the humble and unprotected female; and after being constantly in the way of temptation, from infancy up to womanhood, at last yield themselves victims to the vice that always incurs certain and enduring disgrace. All this degradation may be brought upon a family to gratify the avarice of a man without a heart. It may be said that such cases are rare. It is to be hoped that they are; yet I fear, could we penetrate the secrets of all the trials and difficulties, the sorrows and suffering, the vice and crimes that have been brought upon our people by the abuse of misplaced confidence under this law, we would have a list that would astonish ourselves. A single instance would be amply sufficient to justify the passage of this bill into a law at this time; and if even that could not be adduced, the fact that it would be a legitimate consequence of existing practice under the law, as now construed and carried out, would demand the enactment of a remedial measure. Although drunkenness, crime and misery, the legitimate results of unjust and iniquitous laws, in this case they are not the only great evils that can be remedied, in a great degree, by the enactment of a law such as the one contemplated by this bill. One of the many good results that would follow the passage of this bill, would be that it would make every man an independent freeman, who can exercise the right of suffrage, without danger of being sold out of house and home. The theory of our institutions is, that elections should be free; the voter should go to the polls untrammelled by apprehensions, lest some individual who may hold a claim against him, should punish him for the exercise of the elective franchise in accordance with his convictions, by suit, exaction and the expulsion of his family from their home, penniless, deprived of every comfort, and stripped even of all the necessities of life. Beautiful as is this theory, is it not often nullified in practice? Is it not perfectly apparent that it may be? And shall the freemen of this Commonwealth be left by the Legislature liable to the operation of illegitimate influences of this kind? It is the interest of the State, that the spirit of her institutions should be fully carried out in this respect. To that end she has surrounded the voter with many immunities. He is safe in going to, remaining at, and returning from the polls. He cannot be arrested on any civil process. He is protected from the overawing presence of armed and embodied troops, while exercising his part of the popular sovereignty anywhere in this Commonwealth. Shall then the mean and mercenary fear of the "almighty dollar," be permitted to deprive the State of the honest, unbought and generous expression of the popular will, under the operation of existing law, which places this injurious power in the hands of those who are unscrupulous enough to use it? Let the original object of the exemption law be truly attained by depriving the debtor of all right to waive a privilege which the humanity of the law has conferred upon him, not merely for his benefit, but as a protection for his family, and secure great public objects, and he becomes a freeman, not merely in opinion, but in action, and need fear the rich man's contumely and threats, and actions of punishment through an abuse of legal process, as little as the proud man's scorn or the aristocrat's oppression.

To encourage industry, economy, and the acquisition of competent property by the people, is one of the first interests of a State. A freehold estate in the soil, small, though it may be, is a strong additional motive to good citizenship, besides those more unsubstantial sentiments which float in the mind, and are liable to more or less exaltation, according to the mood of the moment. The possession of land, or even of goods and chattels, and credits, enhances a man's good opinion of himself, and causes him to feel a responsibility, even an obligation of duty to others, not cherished by the homeless, houseless wanderer, scowled upon by the well-to-do in the world, and often degraded by his vices, just because he has no ties, and is not encouraged to form them, which bind him to his fellows, or give him a sense of common interest with them. Even in a pecuniary point of view, the State is concerned that her people should have some of the comforts of property, and to encourage its improvement and increase, because from that source she derives her revenues, and a prosperous people make a flush treasury, alike for the benefit of officeholders, and the noble enterprises of fiscal improvement and intellectual culture, which are among the leading objects of government.

The home and the family are the most valuable institution of the Commonwealth; there are nurtured the domestic virtues, which are the germ from which flow the social charities, and the sense of public duty. Destroy these nurseries, and extinguish the hearth-fires; break down the roof-tree; scatter husband and wife, parent and child, brother and sister, through the unsheltered pathways, under the cold sky of an unsympathizing world, and all the firm pillars of the State will be shaken. Trade may increase, wealth accumulate, luxury and splendor dazzle, but the glittering buildings, standing on the shifting sands of mere external prosperity, must fall, because it is not founded on the immovable rocks of home-bred virtue.

"Princes and kings may flourish and may fade.
A breath can make them as a breath has made;
But a bold peasantry, its country's pride,
When once destroyed can never be supplied."

Here we have no class of persons, and we are fortunate in the fact, which correspond with the peasantry of Europe. But we have the industrious mechanic and the hard handed laborer, who ply their task in obscure streets, or far away among the hills and valleys of the country; whose daily toil earns their daily bread, and they produce more of the real wealth of the nation than its most skilled financiers, and all the bulls and bears of the stock market, who dwell in "marble halls," and whose overgrown and unstable riches are the spoils of the less ornamental but vastly more useful classes of the community. These small people deserve the consideration of their representatives, who are sedulous to seek their favor and support on the election day. They should not be surrendered a prey to unavoidable misfortune. They should not be handed over to the tender mercies, which are cruel, of the grasping money dealer, who estimates a man at just what he can make out of him. A home, and the necessary comforts of a home, should be secured to them; and the pittance of three hundred dollars, in whatever form of property they may desire, inalienable either by recklessness, inconsideration or simplicity, is surely little enough to constitute them stable members of society, with a stake in the Commonwealth; safe under the protection of her laws; free to discharge all the duties of citizenship, without challenge from any quarter, and able to look around on wives and children, with the satisfaction that, so long as life shall last, they cannot be dis severed from them. Supported thus in his personal dignity, secure in his civil rights, safe in his domestic relations, he possesses the strongest inducement to improve his condition. He

"Aspires to test the proud and manly joy,
That springs from holding in his own dear right,
The land he plows, the home he seeks at night."

It is to encourage such efforts, to contribute in its measure to the accomplishment of such results, that the bill now under consideration has been drawn, and its passage urged. I do not believe it to be possible that a Pennsylvania Senate can reject a proposition, sustained by so many motives of humanity, of private advantage and sound public policy; but confidently expect its passage by a vote worthy of the highest branch of the Legislature of a free, intelligent and mighty Commonwealth.

Mr. TURNER opposed the whole thing of exemption, as wrong, and briefly argued against the bill and amendment.

Mr. PENNEY had intended to let the bill pass without saying a word with reference to the question involved in it, but he could not conscientiously avoid expressing his opposition. It seemed to him that the Senate would be doing a very singular thing to pass this law. He agreed with the Senator from Westmoreland, that the whole thing was wrong, and entered into a brief discussion of its legal effects, and the inconveniences which would result from its passage. Its operations, he contended, would be injurious to the poor man, which he illustrated by the case of a man owning three hundred dollars' worth of personal property, who could claim an exemption of only that amount; while the man who owned a house worth only two hundred dollars, could claim, in addition to that, the exemption of three hundred dollars' worth of personal property. The discrimination made by the bill was unjust; that because a man has a real property, he should have more.

Another objection which he made to the bill was, that it offered a premium to the poor man to be dishonest, by saying that the contract he put his hand to, in good faith, is not legally binding upon him, and therefore he will not comply with that which he had morally bound himself to do. He believed that the old law was better, and the rights and interests of parties better subserved, when there was no waiver, and when the sheriff went into a man's house, the law pointed out to him what he should take under his execution.

Mr. FRANCIS observed that it had been said, one fact was worth one thousand theories. He had seen the practical operations of the exemption law, in his own county, some six months ago. A poor man had died, leaving a wife and family. He was indebted to an inexorable creditor, who came to demand his pound of flesh.—The family were in great distress, and were only saved from absolute destitution by the exercise of that right which the law gave them, of exempting from execution their little household goods. He did not know precisely how he should vote upon the question. He was in favor of the bill, but he would much rather make the exemption positive, without any waiver on the part of the husband. The question was one which appeals to every man of common sense, and which should enlist all their finer feelings. It was simply to provide for every man a home, where his wife and little nestlings may rest in peace and safety; and he did not see any propriety in the cry which had been raised, that the passage of the bill would be invading the precincts of personal liberty. But he would say nothing more upon the subject. It was one which had been sufficiently and ably discussed, and the Senate were, no doubt, prepared to act upon it intelligibly.

The amendment to the amendment was agreed to.

The question recurring,

Upon the amendment as amended.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCOFIELD and Mr. MYER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Coffey, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gregg, Keller, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Scofield, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—21.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Brewer, Gazzam, Marselis, Nunemacher, Penney, Thompson and Yardley—8.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On the section as amended,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. TURNEY and Mr. MYER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Coffey, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—18.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Craig, Keller, Nunemacher, Penney, Thompson, Turney and Yardley—10.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The title was amended, on motion of Mr. FINNEY, so as to read, "An Act relative to an exemption of $300, and to widows and children of decedents," and as thus amended was agreed to.

On the motion to suspend the rule which prohibits the reading of bills twice on the same day,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PENNEY and Mr. SCOFIELD, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Brewer, Coffey, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Keller, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—24.

NAYS—Messrs. Craig, Marselis, Nunemacher, Penney and Thompson—5.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The bill being on its final passage,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCOFIELD and Mr. MYER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Coffey, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gregg, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Welsh, Wright and Yardley—19.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Craig, Gazzam, Keller, Nunemacher, Penney, Rutherford, Thompson, Turney and Cresswell, Speaker—12.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Senate bill No 685, "An Act to incorporate the Weyssauking railroad company," came up in order.

The question being, upon the motion of Mr. MILLER, to strike out the proviso in the sixth section,

Mr. MILLER briefly advocated the propriety of striking out the proviso, contending that there was no reason why this company should be exempted more than any others.

Mr. MYER opposed striking out the proviso, and explained the necessities which required the exemption proposed.

Mr. BELL would be compelled to vote against the proviso, unless the Senator from Bradford could convince him that a similar one was contained in all bills of like character.

Mr. FINNEY said the proviso simply placed this company upon an equality with all other corporations.

Mr. MYER said the whole subject turned upon the simple question, whether the Senate would allow this company to pay interest upon the stock subscribed or not?

On the motion to strike out the proviso,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MILLER and Mr. MYER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Fetter, Gazzam, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Palmer, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—15.

NAYS—Messrs. Finney, Gregg, Myer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford and Shaeffer—7.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And the bill passed finally.

A message from the Governor was received and read. It is as follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN:—I have approved and signed the following acts of the General Assembly, viz:

"A supplement to an act, approved Feb. 16, 1849, entitled 'A supplement to an act, approved April 8, 1855, entitled 'An Act regulating boroughs, so far as relates to the borough of Phoenixville.'"

"An Act to incorporate the Citizens' passenger railway company of the city of Pittsburgh."

"An Act authorizing the State Treasurer to settle the account of the president judge of the 20th judicial district."

"An Act to abolish the office of sealer of weights and measures in certain counties of this Commonwealth."

"An Act extending the time for the commencement and completion of the Schuylkill Haven and Lehigh railroad."

"An Act to provide for the payment of the claim of Peter S. McCullough."

"A supplement to an act to incorporate the Quakake railroad company."

"An Act authorizing the Auditor General and State Treasurer to examine and report upon the claim of the bail of Henry P. Rodarmel, late supervisor of the Susquehanna division of the Pennsylvania canal."

"An Act providing for the election of supervisors in Cross creek township, Washington county."

"An Act to incorporate the village of Corsica, in the county of Jefferson, into a borough."

"An Act relative to orphans' courts."

"A supplement to an act to incorporate the village of Port Carbon into a borough, approved 23d April, 1862."

"An Act to incorporate the Johnstown and Ashtola tram road and railroad company."

"A supplement to an act to incorporate the Chesnut Hill water company," approved April 24, 1856.

"An Act authorizing the Germantown passenger railway company, and the Green and Conies Street Philadelphia passenger railway company jointly to lay a single track on Fourth and Eighth streets, Philadelphia."

"An Act to incorporate the Union Evangelical Lutheran congregation of the borough of York."

"An Act to pay the claim of Charles Fisher."

WM F. PACKER.

On leave given, Mr. TURNEY, from the Committee on Finance, reported with amendment, "A resolution relative to the final adjournment of the Legislature;" and on motion of Mr. SHAEFFER, said resolution was taken up.

(It provides for a final adjournment on the 12th of April next.)

The Senate having resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. SCHINDEL in the chair,) on this resolution,

Mr. MYER moved to strike out "twelve" and insert "thirteen," which was agreed to.

Whereupon, the committee rose, and the chairman reported the same with amendment.

On motion, the Senate proceeded to second reading, when Mr. BREWER moved to amend, by striking out "thirteen" and inserting "seven."

Mr. BELL moved to amend the amendment, by striking out "seven" and inserting "fifteen."

Mr. BELL thought there was some propriety in the amendment. When the members of the Legislature received three dollars per day, they were required to sit one hundred days; and it was certainly no more than proper that they should serve the State for an equal length of time when they receive seven hundred dollars per session.

Mr. BREWER inquired of the Senator from Chester whether there was any law of Pennsylvania, requiring the Legislature to sit one hundred days, or limiting it to any period. He saw no propriety in remaining here longer than the fifth or seventh, and the sooner they get through with the business and go home, the more satisfaction it will give to their constituents.

Upon the adoption of the amendment to the amendment,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BELL and Mr. BREWER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Gazzam, Miller, Myer, Randall, Schindel and Cresswell, Speaker—7.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gregg, Marselis, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaeffer, Thompson, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Yardley—22.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. MILLER moved to amend the amendment, by striking out "seven" and inserting "fourteen."

Upon which,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MILLER and Mr. BREWER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Coffey, Gazzam, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Randall, Rutherford, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—15.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gregg, Nunemacher, Parker, Penney, Scofield, Shaeffer, Thompson, Welsh and Yardley—15.

So the question was determined in the negative.

LEGISLATIVE RECORD.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE LEGISLATURE OF PENNSYLVANIA.

FOR THE SESSION OF 1859.

No. 61.

On motion of Mr. FINNEY, the Senate reconsidered the vote just taken, and the amendment to the amendment (offered by Mr. MILLER,) being again before the Senate,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BREWER and Mr. MILLER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Coffey, Craig, Finney, Gazzam, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—19.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Brewer, Fetter, Francis, Gregg, Nunemacher, Penney, Scofield, Shaeffer, Thompson, Welsh and Yardley—12.

So the question was determined in the affirmative; and the resolution as amended, passed finally.

BILLS CONSIDERED.

On motion of Mr. WRIGHT, Senate bill No. 702, "An Act to authorize the ministers, elders, trustees and deacons of the German Reformed congregation of the city of Philadelphia, in the province of Pennsylvania, to sell and convey certain real estate."

On motion of Mr. CRAIG, Senate bill No. 790, "An Act to incorporate the Paeker iron company."

[A substitute for the seventh section was presented by Mr. CRAIG, and adopted.]

On motion of Mr. COFFEY, Senate bill No. 712, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Ligonier bridge company."

[This bill was amended.]

On motion of Mr. GAZZAM, Senate bill No. 268, "An Act to incorporate the Commercial Bank of Pittsburg."

The bill being upon second reading,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WRIGHT and Mr. GAZZAM, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Coffey, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Shaeffer, Schindel and Thompson—12.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Fetter, Finney, Keller, Marselis, Myer, Nunemacher, Randall, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—11.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

[This bill lies over on third reading.]

On motion of Mr. FINNEY, Senate bill No. 674, "An Act for the appointment of policemen in the borough of Meadville, and for the settlement of the claims on account of the poor in said borough."

[The title of this bill was so amended to read "A supplement to the act incorporating the borough of Meadville."]

On motion of Mr. FRANCIS, House bill No. 646, "An Act for the better regulation of the Mercer County, Montour County, Allegheny County and Shenango Valley agricultural societies."

On motion of Mr. GREGG, House bill No. 493, "An Act to authorize John Ranson to erect a sheer boom in Loyalsock creek."

On motion of Mr. PENNEY, Senate bill No. 680, "An Act to incorporate the Pittsburg, Allegheny and Manchester passenger railway company," was taken up.

Eight sections of the bill were agreed to in committee of the whole, (Mr. PENNEY in the Chair,) when

Mr. MYER moved that the committee rise, report progress and ask leave to sit again; which was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the committee have leave to sit again?

It was determined in the negative.

An extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, was received and read. It is as follows:

Resolved, That the Senate be requested to return to the House of Representatives "An Act authorizing the widening and extension of Market street, in Bloomsburg, Columbia county."

On motion, the extract was concurred in.

Mr. PARKER moved that the Senate hold a session this evening, commencing at 7 o'clock.

On which,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. COFFEY and Mr. WRIGHT, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Gregg, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Scofield, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—21.

YEAS—Messrs. Francis, Gazzam, Marselis, Nunemacher, Penney, Thompson and Wright—7.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The hour of five having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until 7 o'clock this evening.

SENATE—EVENING SESSION.

The Senate met, agreeably to order, at 7 o'clock.

On motion, the Senate receded from its amendments to Senate bill No. 163, "An Act to incorporate the Uniontown gas and water company."

The Senate resumed consideration of Senate bill No. 680, "An Act to incorporate the Pittsburgh, Allegheny and Manchester passenger railway," which was on second reading.

The several original and new sections were agreed to, and the bill as amended, passed finally.

On leave given, Mr. RANDALL, (Railroads,) reported as committed, House bill No. 508, "A further supplement to an act to incorporate the Beaver Mountain railroad company, and for other purposes."

Also, (same,) as committed, "An Act to incorporate the Passenger Railway relief association."

Also, (same,) as committed, House bill No. 404, "A further supplement to the act incorporating the Philadelphia and Reading railroad company."

Also, (same,) with amendment, House bill No. 274, "An Act relative to Passenger railway companies, in the city of Philadelphia."

Also, (same,) with a negative recommendation, "An Act incorporating the South City passenger railway company."

Also, (same,) as committed, "A further supplement to the act incorporating the Fairmount and Arch Street City passenger railway company."

Also, (same,) with amendment, House bill No. 709, "An Act to incorporate the Ridge Avenue and Mannyunk passenger railway company."

Mr. COFFEY, (same,) as committed, House bill No. 712, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Cottawissa and Towanda railroad company."

Also, (same,) with a negative recommendation, "A further supplement to the act incorporating the Navigation railroad company."

Also, (same,) as committed, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Sinnemahoning and Pittsburgh railroad company."

Mr. CRAIG, (same,) with amendment, House bill No. 752, "An Act to incorporate the Richmond and Schuylkill passenger railway company."

Also, (same,) as committed, House bill No. 509, "A further supplement to the act incorporating the Navigation railroad company."

Also, (same,) with a negative recommendation, "An Act relative to the sale of the property of the Dauphin and Susquehanna coal company."

Mr. PARKER moved that the Committee on Railroads be discharged from the consideration of House bill No. 1097, "An Act to incorporate the Philadelphia City passenger railway company," and that the Senate proceed to consider the same; which was agreed to.

Whereupon, the Senate resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. COFFEY in the chair.)

After some time, the committee rose, and the chairman reported the bill as committed.

On motion, the Senate proceeded to second reading; when

Mr. MARSELIS moved that the bill be postponed and printed.

Mr. MARSELIS briefly advocated the motion to postpone and print, in order that Senators may intelligibly act upon the matter.

Mr. GAZZAM seconded, in a few remarks, the views of the Senator from the city of Philadelphia, (Mr. MARSELIS.) How could the Senate, he asked, not intelligibly with reference to this bill, without having time and opportunity to examine it?

Mr. RANDALL said that the question was a settled one, that a railroad would be constructed on these streets, whether the Legislature passed the bill or not. He was opposed to the laying down of a railroad on these streets, but he could not shut his eyes to the fact that it must eventually be done, and he was in favor of such a policy as would secure to the city of Philadelphia the best bonus. Being opposed to the construction of a road on these streets, he would vote against the bill; yet he preferred the one under consideration to the one before councils.

Mr. MARSELIS replied to the remarks of his colleague in support of the policy to the city in granting the charter. His bonus to the city was a mere hubble—a mere sugar-coated pill, and the city would spurn the sum of fifty thousand dollars which was offered as a bonus.

Mr. FINNEY explained that the bonus contemplated by the bill was one hundred thousand dollars.

On the motion to postpone and print, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RANDALL and Mr. WRIGHT, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Francis, Gazzam, Marselis, Nunemacher, Penney and Wright—6.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Scofield, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—23.

So the question was determined in the negative.

On the adoption of the first section, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WRIGHT and Mr. PARKER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Rutherford, Scofield, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—22.

NAYS—Messrs. Francis, Gazzam, Marselis, Nunemacher, Penney, Randall and Wright—7.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The second and third sections were agreed to.

The fourth section being before the Senate.

Mr. MARSELIS moved to amend by inserting the words "a portion of," after the word "use."

On which motion, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WRIGHT and Mr. RANDALL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Francis, Marselis, Nunemacher, Penney and Wright—5.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Scofield, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—24.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. WRIGHT offered the following proviso: Provided, That said railroad shall not be constructed on Chestnut and Walnut streets, until said bridge is constructed and ready for use.

On which, The yeas and nays were required by Mr.

WRIGHT and Mr. PARKER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Marselis, Nunemacher, Penney and Wright—4.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Scofield, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—23.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. GAZZAM offered a proviso, which is in substance as follows:

Provided, That said company shall pay five per centum of the gross receipts into the city treasury semi annually,

On which, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MARSELIS and Mr. GAZZAM, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Gazzam, Marselis, Nunemacher, Penney and Wright—5.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Scofield, Schindel, Turney, Welsh, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—22.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring upon the adoption of the fourth section,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RANDALL and Mr. PARKER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Scofield, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—27.

NAYS—None.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth sections were agreed to.

The ninth section being before the Senate, Mr. WRIGHT offered the following proviso:

Provided, That the said company shall annually pay into the city treasury the sum of fifty dollars for every car regularly running upon said railway.

The proviso was not agreed to.

The remaining sections of the bill were adopted, as also the title.

Upon the various amendments offered to the bill, there were running discussions between Messrs. WRIGHT, MYER, FINNEY, RANDALL, MARSELLIS, GAZZAM, PARKER and TURNEY.

On its final passage,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WRIGHT and Mr. PARKER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Rutherford, Scofield, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—22.

NAYS—Messrs. Francis, Gazzam, Marselis, Nunemacher, Penney, Randall and Wright—7.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. TURNEY, the Senate resumed the consideration of House bill No. 676, "A further supplement to the act incorporating the Pennsylvania Central railroad company," on second reading.

And on its final passage,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PENNEY and Mr. TURNEY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Finney, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Marselis, Miller, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Scogeld Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh and Cresswell, Speaker—20.

NAYS—Messrs. Gazzam, Nunemacher, Penney and Wright—4.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On motion, the Senate adjourned until tomorrow morning at 9½ o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WEDNESDAY, March 23, 1859.

The SPEAKER called the House to order at 9½ A. M.

Prayer by Rev. Dr. Hay, of Lutheran church of Harrisburg.

Mr. RAMSDELL moved to dispense with reading of Journal.

Objected to.

The Clerk read the Journal of yesterday.

Mr. HAMERSLY offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the special order be suspended until after reading of bills in place, original resolutions, reports of committees, &c., be gone through with.

A division of the question was called for, and on the first division, viz; will the House suspend the special order?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. FOSTER and Mr. ZOLLER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Burley, Campbell, Evans, Fearon, Good, Gratz, Hamersly, Harding, Keneagy, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, Matthews, Neall, Palm, Patterson, Pughe, Rouse, Smead, Styer, Taylor, Walborn, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wolf, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—32.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schnylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Graham, Gray, Green, Hill, Hottentstine, Irish, Jackson, Mann, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rose, Shafer, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Wiley, Wilson and Zoller—55.

So the question was determined in the negative; two-thirds not voting in the affirmative.

Mr. THOMPSON moved to reconsider the vote just taken on the first division of the resolution.

The motion to re-consider was withdrawn.

Mr. IRISH presented a petition of bonds of school directors of First, Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth wards of the city of Pittsburg and others, in favor of an act for the better regulation and continuance of education by common schools in Pittsburg.

Senate amendments to House bill No. 659 were concurred in.

Mr. GLATZ called up Senate bill No. 528, relative to the limits of the borough of Wrightsville, in the county of York.

The bill being on final passage.

It passed finally.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

The special order of the morning was called up, viz: House bill No. 740, "Resolutions relative to the tonnage tax on the Pennsylvania railroad."

Mr. GRAHAM took the Chair.

The bill was read, as follows:

WHEREAS, In and by the twenty-second section of the act, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Pennsylvania railroad company," approved the thirteenth day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and forty-six, it is provided that all tonnage, of whatsoever kind and description, except the ordinary baggage of passengers, loaded or received at Harrisburg or Pittsburg, or at any intermediate point, and carried or conveyed over said railroad more than twenty miles, between the tenth day of March and the first day of December, in each and every year, shall be subject to a toll or duty, for the use of the Commonwealth, at the rate of five mills per mile for each ton of two thousand pounds:

And whereas, In and by the first section of the act, entitled "A further supplement to an act to incorporate the Pennsylvania railroad company," approved the twenty-seventh day of March, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and forty-eight, it is provided that the tax on tonnage, of five mills per ton per mile, from the tenth day of March to the first of December, payable to the State treasury, under the provisions of the twenty-second section of the act to which this is a supplement, be commuted to a tax of three mills per ton per mile during the whole year, said tax to cover all freight carried over the road more than twenty miles, which said tax was made payable by the said railroad company on the thirtieth day of July and the tenth day of December of each year:

And whereas, There was due to the Commonwealth, from the said Pennsylvania railroad company, on the tenth day of December last, on account of said tax on freight carried over said railroad, about ninety thousand dollars, which sum the said company has neglected and refused to pay:

And whereas, The agreement on the part of said company to pay said tonnage tax formed an essential part of the contract between the Commonwealth and the company; therefore,

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the Attorney General of this Commonwealth is hereby instructed to commence and prosecute, in the supreme court of the State, the necessary suit or suits to ascertain whether the said railroad company, by its refusal aforesaid, has not forfeited its chartered privileges, and to take all necessary steps to procure a decree of forfeiture, in said suit or suits so instituted.

Resolved, That the Auditor General and State Treasurer are hereby instructed to charge said Pennsylvania railroad company at the rate of five per centum per month for any delay that may hereafter occur in the payment of the tonnage tax now over due, and at the same rate for any delay in the payment of the said tax which may hereafter become due.

Mr. THOMPSON moved to amend by striking out all in the first resolution which authorized the Attorney General to take steps to forfeit the charter.

The amendment was withdrawn.

Mr. GRATZ moved to amend the amendment by striking out all after "whereas," and inserting as follows:

WHEREAS, It does not appear that the Pennsylvania railroad company withheld the tax upon tonnage passing over its road, with any view to avoid its ultimate payment, if it has been legally imposed: And whereas, It is not the desire of the Commonwealth to exact any illegal dues from any of its citizens or others; therefore he it

Resolved, That the Attorney General he and he is hereby instructed to afford every facility to bring the question of the constitutionality of the act imposing the tax on tonnage passing over said road, before the courts of this State or the United States, with a view to its early determination.

Mr. CHASE said that he was astonished that the friends of the repeal of the tonnage tax should have resisted the passage of his bill. They certainly wanted the matter settled, and if the act passed it would come before the courts for adjustment.

The amendment of the gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. GRATZ,) was ambiguous, and if it was adopted there would be nothing imperative on the Attorney General to prosecute suits; perhaps, indeed, sufficient authority was not granted.

The intention of the original resolution was to have the matter argued, decided, and the tax collected.

Mr. WILLISTON said that his first impression had been that the bill of Mr. CHASE was right, but on a re-view of it, he discovered that it would be necessary to offer an amendment.—The courts, to which it was proposed to refer the subject, had nothing to do with it. The Legislature of the State had granted the original charter of the company, and the same body had full power to declare it void. He considered that it was imprudent for the House to put the power out of its own hands, and confer it upon the courts.

Mr. THOMPSON did not believe that the resolution, if it passed, would effect its object. The matter certainly did not rest with the Attorney General, but with the House. If it was considered that an investigation was necessary, a committee should be appointed, and if they found that the Pennsylvania company had forfeited its charter, they could so report to the House, who would take appropriate action.

The general act relative to corporations, provided that the Legislature should have power to revoke all rights and privileges in case of misdemeanor. Vide Purdon. The Legislature was, therefore, perfectly competent in this case to annul the charter, if it had been violated.

He would vote against any transfer of the rights of the Legislature to the Attorney General.

Mr. NILL was surprised that the gentleman from Butler, (Mr. THOMPSON,) seemed to think that there was but one remedy against the corporation, viz: the forfeiture of its charter. Had not the Commonwealth a right to bring suit against the company for the back dues?

He wanted the gentleman who took the part of the Pennsylvania railroad company against the Commonwealth, to show their hands, and place themselves upon record. He desired to see whether that corporation was more powerful than the Commonwealth, by whom it was created.

Mr. HAMERSLY and NEALL objected to remarks of this nature, which were evidently intended to cast reflections upon members on the floor of the House.

Mr. NILL had not reflected upon any one, but he wished the question finally decided.

Mr. CHURCH in reply to the intimation of the gentleman from Franklin, that members were more influenced by the Pennsylvania company than by the Commonwealth, desired to quote Shakspeare:

"Suspicion haunts each guilty mind,
The guilty wretch doth fear each bush an officer."

Mr. NILL was willing to allow the gentleman to display his elocution and knowledge of Shakspeare. He only repeated his former sentiment, that the question might be fairly tested.

Mr. NEALL defined his position, and declared himself to be one of the few who believed the tonnage tax to be unconstitutional. Entertaining these views, he insisted on his right to advocate the repeal whenever so disposed, without having his motives impugned by any man.

Now if the tax was unconstitutional, as he and others alleged, why not let the question go into the courts and be there decided. Who else was to be judge of its constitutionality? Was this Legislature, who had imposed the tax, to decide upon its own acts? He hoped that the amendment of Mr. GRATZ would be adopted.

He concluded, by the assertion, that the people of the Commonwealth would soon make themselves felt, upon this question, in favor of the side which he sustained.

Mr. HAMERSLY said that it might be that there were gentlemen upon the floor, who believed the imposition of the tonnage tax to be unconstitutional, and who on this ground would vote in favor of its repeal. No one had a right to question or impugn their motives.

But he could not see why the Pennsylvania railroad was to be made any exception, and especially singled out for notice by the gentleman from Susquehanna, (Mr. CHASE,) when that same gentleman, as chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means, had, only the other day, introduced and had a bill passed, which authorized the institution of legal proceedings against all corporations which were indebted to the Commonwealth. The Pennsylvania railroad company had not been mentioned in that act, but, of course, it could be easily reached by the general provisions.

He was in favor of authorizing such legal proceedings as would effect a full investigation of this mooted question of the tonnage tax, for he believed that this would meet the views of both the people of the Commonwealth and the company. He should vote for this, but could not consent to advocate such measures as would authorize the Attorney General to take steps to forfeit the charter of the company. It would be unusual and unjust to do so, unless indeed a general act was introduced, forfeiting the charters of all companies indebted to the Commonwealth, and refusing to pay their dues. There must be consistency.

He continued further in defence of the position assumed, and enlarging the scope of the argument, spoke of the tonnage tax as injurious to the interests of trade, and the prosperity of the Commonwealth and her metropolis.

Mr. GRATZ withdrew his amendment.

Mr. HAMERSLY offered an amendment, striking out all that relates to a forfeiture of charter, so as to make the first resolution read as follows:

Resolved, That the Attorney General of this Commonwealth is hereby instructed to commence and prosecute, in the supreme court of the State, the necessary suit or suits against the said company for any amount of tax now due by said company to the Commonwealth.

Mr. THORN did not believe the tax to be unconstitutional. It was not on the productions of other States, but had been originally imposed as a bonus to the State for certain privileges which she accorded.

There should be no attempt to disturb the franchises of so important and valuable a company as the Pennsylvania Central, and one effect of the passage of the resolution, if no other, would be to reduce the stock.

He did not care whether gentlemen were or were not controlled by the company, when a bill came up before the House that corporations were a party to, and when these corporations were designated as "powerful" and "great," the probabilities were that, either justly or unjustly, reflections would be cast upon members who enlisted in the subject. His own line of policy was to do whatever would protect alike the State, its citizens and corporations. In carrying out these views, he had but recently opposed what some of his colleagues considered to be a project tending to benefit the Pennsylvania Central corporation.

Why was the forfeiture of the charter disallowed? If the company owed money, it would be sufficient for the interests of the State if that money was paid. Why not then go into the courts and institute proceedings? The charter could not be forfeited by the Legislature. That required another tribunal.

Let the whole question be determined, as it should be, in the courts. The plan of threatening to forfeit charters had been tried before by the Legislature, with no other result than that of putting money into the hands of speculators and stock jobbers.

Mr. CHURCH moved an amendment to the amendment pending, by inserting the words "now alleged to be due."

This was withdrawn.

The question recurring,

On the amendment of Mr. HAMERSLY.

Mr. CHASE acknowledged that perhaps the amendment would accomplish the desired object, but was nevertheless of the opinion, that, under the circumstances, no resolution could be couched in terms too severe. The Pennsylvania Central company had made a contract with the Commonwealth for the right to traverse the State, and had bound themselves to certain restrictions and to pay certain sums. In 1857, the main line was sold and passed into the possession of the Pennsylvania company, by an act which also provided that if that company paid one and one half millions of dollars in addition to the purchase money, they would be released from the payment of taxes. Yet now this company was making every effort to have this tax repealed, not directly perhaps, for no bill to that effect had been offered this winter, yet by strong influences brought to bear upon the people through every possible channel. In this contest the company had the advantage, for they had money, and a large work, with many collateral interests. Yet acknowledging this power, he held that it was the duty of the Legislature to pass as stringent an act as possible.

Mr. THORN desired to know whether it was not proper and legal for the Attorney General to commence suits, on the requisition of the accounting officers of the Commonwealth.

Mr. CHASE had no doubt but that the Attorney General might pursue such a course, but he did doubt whether that official could take measures to annul the charter without a bill instructing him to that effect.

Mr. THORN wished to inquire what the result would be if it was decided that the Pennsylvania railroad had forfeited its charter.—Two or three attempts of this kind had been already made by Legislatures of the State, and once a certain road was actually taken, put in the hands of a receiver, and after the lapse of a year given back by the next Legislature.

The only way for the Commonwealth to obtain redress, in the present instance, was by collecting her money by courts of law, or otherwise.

He then alluded to the fact that the city of Philadelphia owned five million of dollars worth of the stock of the Pennsylvania railroad, and that it ought to be made to sell it. The investment had never been intended to be a permanent one.

Mr. HAMERSLY wanted to know whether the bill of the gentleman from Susquehanna, (Mr. CHASE,) which was the other day passed, would not serve every purpose. As for talking about the "power" of the Pennsylvania railroad, did the gentleman believe that they could corrupt the supreme court, the Attorney General, or any member on the floor?

Mr. CHASE explained. If the gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. HAMERSLY,) had understood him as having intimated that the corporation could corrupt any member, he was mistaken. He did not believe that one man on the floor could be unduly influenced.

Mr. HAMERSLY. Then what did the gentleman mean by laying such especial emphasis on the "power" of the company?

Mr. CHASE alleged, in explanation, that it was a great corporation, having many collateral issues, and in that manner influenced popular opinion to a great extent.

Mr. IRISH moved to amend the amendment, by adding to the amendment of Mr. HAMERSLY, the part which that gentleman had proposed to strike out.

This was withdrawn.

On the amendment of Mr. HAMERSLY, the yeas were 20, the nays 64.

So the amendment was lost.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) moved that the committee rise, report progress, and ask leave to sit again.

The committee rose.

On the question,

Shall the committee have leave to sit again?

It was determined in the negative.

The SPEAKER resumed the chair, and the House proceeded to the consideration of the bill.

The first section being before the House,

Mr. HAMERSLY offered the amendment which he had previously offered.

Mr. IRISH renewed his amendment to the amendment; which was not agreed to.

On the amendment of Mr. HAMERSLY,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAMERSLY and Mr. FOSTER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Burley, Church, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Matthews, Neall, Price, Sheppard, Styer, Thorn, Walhorn, Wigton and Wiley—19.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bortolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Bryson, Campbell, Chase, Custer, Disman, Dodds, Durhoraw, Eckman, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Good, Graham, Gray, Gritman, Hill, Hottentuin, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mahaffey, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Pennell, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stonehack, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—71.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. IRISH offered an amendment similar in substance to the one he had before presented—the wording being slightly modified.

The question being on this amendment; it was agreed to.

Mr. WALBORN offered an amendment to the first resolution, as follows:

And the Attorney General is hereby authorized and directed to bring similar suits against each and every railroad company holding chartered privileges in this Commonwealth, that may be, or shall be hereafter indebted to the said Commonwealth.

Mr. HAMERSLY offered an amendment to the amendment, to add the words, "to ascertain whether the said railroad company, by its refusal aforesaid, has not forfeited its chartered privileges, and to take all necessary steps to procure a decree of forfeiture in said suit or suits so instituted."

The amendment to the amendment was accepted by Mr. WALBORN.

Mr. WILLISTON was not aware of any other companies who were indebted to the Commonwealth, and alleged that the amendment was offered to embarrass action on the original bill.

Mr. WALBORN denied this. He believed that the resolutions would pass, and he wished, by his amendment, to ascertain whether the House would extend equal justice, and treat other companies as they contemplated treating the Pennsylvania Central. His motive also was to do justice to the State, and to test the apparent interest in her welfare, evinced by some of the members.

Only yesterday, the chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means, (Mr. CHASE,) had taken a report from the House (relative to the New York and Erie railroad,) and held it longer in committee.

Mr. CHASE wished to know whether the Railroad Committee had had evidence that the New York and Erie, and Pittsburg and Connellsville railroad had refused to pay their tax?

Mr. WALBORN had information to that effect.

Mr. CHASE said there was where the Railroad Committee did wrong. They should have had evidence. The Pennsylvania road, it was certain, had refused to pay, by action of their board of directors.

Mr. WILLISTON reiterated the assertion that he believed the amendment was offered for purposes of embarrassment. He did not know whether other companies in the Commonwealth were indebted, but if so, it was only to a trifling amount. The Pennsylvania railroad alone had attempted to beard the Commonwealth.

Mr. NILL was surprised that the amendment had not been made to include turnpike companies, which had never refused to pay what they owed. No other company than the Pennsylvania had set up any right to oppose the State.

He continued to argue that the refusal of the Pennsylvania company to pay, entitled the Commonwealth to take the most stringent measures against them. He declined expressing any opinion as to the constitutionality of the tax, leaving that for a higher tribunal to adjust.—He referred to the power of the corporation, as illustrated by a single act, viz: the clause relative to damages, sustained on the State works, in the bill by which the property was sold. This clause was so worded as to relieve the company of all liability. In other words, it provided that the corporation should be liable if the Commonwealth was, and everybody knew that the Commonwealth could not be sued for its indebtedness.

Mr. HAMERSLY did not advocate the removal of the tax because it was oppressive to the company. That same company paid all other taxes, both on her property, stock, and dividends. But he did object to the tonnage tax, on the ground that he had before asserted, viz: that it was a restriction upon the trade of Philadelphia.

Mr. NILL denied any intention of having said that so slight a tax would be oppressive to so great a corporation. He reiterated the hope that the amendment of the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. WALBORN) would not pass, and while giving that gentleman full credit for sincerity, thought that he had erred. The effect of the amendment would be to destroy the bill, for no one supposed that the Attorney General would go over the State, on a kind of Quixotic errand, hunting up companies against whom to bring suit. The Pennsylvania company was peculiar, for it was the only one of those indebted to the Commonwealth which had positively refused to pay.

Mr. WALBORN would ask the gentleman (Mr. CHASE) if he knew whether the last annuity of the New York and Erie railroad, for right of way, was paid?

Mr. CHASE inferred, from the Report of the Auditor General, that it was not.

Mr. WALBORN inquired whether the tonnage tax on the Pittsburg and Connellsville railroad, as imposed by the act of 1843, had been paid; also, whether the tax on the stock of that company, as required by the act of 1847, had ever been paid.

Mr. CHASE had no knowledge.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to amend the amendment of Mr. WALBORN, by making it the duty of the Attorney General to institute proceedings, with a view of forfeiting the charters of the New York and Erie, Pittsburg and Connellsville, and any other companies indebted to the Commonwealth.

Mr. WALBORN accepted the amendment to his amendment.

Mr. WALBORN would assert upon the floor (and demand substantial evidence in contradiction,) that the New York and Erie railroad company had not paid their annuity, and that the Pittsburg and Connellsville company had paid neither the tax upon their tonnage or stock.

It was very plain that the House was going to pass the resolutions of the gentleman from Susquehanna, (Mr. CHASE,) and knowing this, he only desired to ask one thing for the Pennsylvania railroad company, and that was, that they might be treated with equal and exact justice. That was all. If the charter of the Pennsylvania company was to be liable to forfeiture, it was only right that the "New York and Erie" and "Pittsburg and Connellsville," should meet the same penalty. The laws of 1847, which he held in his hand, provided that if a connection should be formed between the Pittsburg and Connellsville and Pennsylvania Central roads at any point east of Pittsburg, then tonnage passing over that part of the road, should be subjected to the same rate of tax as provided for in the act, taxing the Pennsylvania company.

Now, he ventured to predict, that the amount due from the Pittsburg and Connellsville railroad was not less than $200,000; at least double the present indebtedness of the Pennsylvania company.

He declared his intention of calling the yeas and nays on his amendment in order to test the apparent devotion of gentlemen for the interests of the Commonwealth.

Mr. FOSTER explained. The gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. WALBORN,) if he examined, would find that no tax was imposed for tonnage carried less than twenty miles, and this poor little one-horse Connellsville road was only completed for twelve miles.

Mr. NILL wished to know exactly how many miles were finished.

Mr. WALBORN did not know exactly, but believed the road was completed nearly to Cumberland.

Mr. NEALL held that the question before the House was whether the Attorney General should proceed to take such measures as would result in the forfeiture of the charter of the Pennsylvania company. Now, the query arose in his mind, what would be the result if this charter was forfeited? Upon whose shoulders would fall the right of way? A gentleman behind him said that it would be hard to distinguish among the applicants, but he held that there could be no applicants. This was a question for the courts to decide. Would it be proper, moreover, for these valuable works to fall into the hands of the State authorities.

If the few last lines of the first resolution were omitted, he would vote in its favor.

Mr. ROSE called the previous question.

The call was withdrawn for the present.

Mr. THORN was opposed to the tonnage tax, and reviewed at length the arguments in favor of its repeal. He said that the State was annually giving to the Williamsport and Elmira railroad every cent of tonnage which passed downward on the Susquehanna canal.

Mr. ROSE renewed his call of the previous question.

Which was sustained by Messrs. WILCOX, BARNESLEY, PUGHE, ROUSE, KENEAGY, PATTERSON, FLEMING, CUSTER, BOYER, (Clearfield,) MEHAFFEY, DISMANT, BERTOLET, ECKMAN, &c.

The question being,

Shall the main question now be put?

It was determined in the affirmative.

The question being on the amendment of Mr. WALBORN,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WALKER and Mr. STYER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Barlow, Boyer, (Clearfield,)

Burley, Church, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Ketchum, Matthews, Palm, Patterson, Price, Proudfoot, Quigley, Shafer, Sheppard, Stuart, Styer, Thorn, Wagenseiler, Walborn, Wigton and Wiley—26.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Barnsley, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durbin, Eckman, Fearon, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Good, Graham, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Maun, Mahaffey, McClure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Peirce, Pinkerton, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rose, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Thompson, Walker, Warden, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—59.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. NEALL voted against the amendment for the same reasons that he should vote against the resolutions, namely: that the Auditor General already has the power to proceed against those companies for the collection of taxes due the Commonwealth, and should the intention of those resolutions be carried out, it would throw a right of responsibility upon the Commonwealth, (in assuming the control of those companies, and the right of way over those routes,) which would be fearful in its consequences, and disastrous to the interests of this Commonwealth.

Mr. BAYARD said—

Mr. SPEAKER:—I desire to assign the reasons for my vote. I vote No, for the reason that the Pittsburg and Connellsville railroad company has never refused to pay, so far as I know, any dues to the State. Whenever it does, I shall vote for a similar resolution in regard to it.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) desired to say in explanation of his vote that he opposed the amendment because he believed its object was to embarrass the resolutions; because it was not germane to the preamble, which recited only facts connected with the Pennsylvania railroad company, and because no facts had been stated to the House to authorize the belief that the companies mentioned, or any of them, had refused to pay their just and legal obligations to the State.

Mr. JACKSON adopted the reasons assigned by Mr. SMITH for his vote.

Mr. GOOD concurred in the same views.

Mr. MAHAFFEY also concurred.

Messrs. CUSTER, BERTOLET and STONEBACK adopted the same reasons.

Mr. BOYER, (Clearfield,) said—

I vote yea on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. WALBORN) because it is well understood that certain railroad companies in this State have failed to discharge their obligations to the State, although I do not appreciate the seeming object which the gentleman offering it has in view, which, I fear, is to embarrass the passage of the original resolution.

Mr. PRICE said,

Mr. SPEAKER:—My reasons for giving my vote as I intend is, that I believe that the Attorney General already has power vested in him to collect all moneys due the Commonwealth, from corporations and otherwise, and that it is not necessary to duplicate that power by this resolution; therefore, I vote no.

Mr. HOTTENSTINE said—

My reasons for voting against the amendment of the gentleman from Philadelphia is because he has frequently expressed himself that he is opposed to all or any taxes on railroads; therefore his amendment was, in my opinion, simply to embarrass the passage of any act or resolution having for its object that purpose.

On the final passage of the first resolution, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAMERSLY and Mr. WILSON, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eekman, Fearon, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Good, Graham, Gray, Gritman, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, McHaffey, McClure, McCurdy, McDowell, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—74.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Burley, Church, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Matthews, Neall, Price, Quigley, Sheppard, Styer, Thorn, Walborn, Wigton and Wiley—20.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. GRATZ, before voting, said:

Mr. SPEAKER: In assigning my reasons for the vote I am about to cast upon these resolutions, I would say, that while it is my wish and duty to look to the interests of the State, it is also my earnest desire to have justice done to a company which certainly is deserving of the kindest consideration at our hands. The Pennsylvania railroad company was organized, and its road constructed, not with a view to individual gain, but for the purpose of saving our State from the immense loss of trade which she must otherwise have sustained in consequence of the successful competition of the rival railroad lines of our sister States, and with the sole intent of enhancing our commercial interests and promoting our prosperity. Having this laudable object presented to them as the reason for the incorporation of the Pennsylvania railroad company, the Legislature of that day nevertheless saw fit to attach to the charter of that company an odious provision, which trammelled its operations, and tended in a very great measure to defeat that consummation so devoutly wished for by the originators of the enterprise. Their reason for so doing was an apprehension that the operations of this company would conflict with the business of the main line owned by the State, and diminish the amount of revenue derived from that portion of the public works. But actual experiment proved that these fears were groundless, and that the State was actually benefitted by the Pennsylvania railroad company. At all events, the reason for the imposition of the tax has ceased to exist with the sale of the main line; and, although wise public policy demanded that the burden thus imposed should be removed; although the pernicious results of the continuance of the tax upon the tonnage passing over this road were so self evident, the Legislature refused, and still refuses, to repeal a provision which discriminates against our own State, and works such an injury, indirect though it be, to our citizens. For a long time the company has been enduring the weight of this most unjust burden, struggling to bear up against the disadvantages and the improper and unwise oppressions with which it is forced to contend, for as long as possible, it would endeavor to carry out those aims for which its organization was effected. At last, unable longer to compete with its favored rivals, who are encouraged by every means within the power of the legislative bodies of those States through which they run, and which they so incalculably benefit, the Pennsylvania railroad company appeals to the judiciary of our State for a determination of the constitutionality of the provision which lays a tax upon its tonnage; and withholds, until the adjudication of this question, the payment of a certain amount of money claimed by the State, on account of that tax. Is not the company justified in demanding a legal determination of this question?

There is no evidence that the company has any intention or wish to withhold from the State the amount of tax thus due, provided the court decides that it has been legally imposed. And if the tax is decided to be unconstitutional, surely the State should not wish to exact it, at the cost of the forfeiture of the franchises of the company, on the ground of its non-compliance with the contract contained in the act of incorporation. The company has seen fit to adopt this plan of testing the constitutionality of the tax upon its tonnage coming from adjoining States; and a resolution is now introduced into this House, instructing the Attorney General of this Commonwealth "to commence and prosecute, in the supreme court of the State, the necessary suit or suits to ascertain whether the said railroad company, by its refusal aforesaid, has not forfeited its chartered privileges, and to take all necessary steps to procure a decree of forfeiture in said suit or suits so instituted." It certainly is proper enough to pass a resolution instructing the Attorney General to bring suit for the recovery of the money thus alleged to be due the State; but I cannot agree to support the resolution now before us, couched, as it is, in language so unnecessarily hostile to the Pennsylvania railroad company, and contemplating that which, to my mind, is not only unnecessary, but impolitic, improper, and wrong. I therefore vote "No."

Mr. ZOLLER said—

Mr. SPEAKER: If it be true that several other railroad companies have failed to pay their dues to the Commonwealth, they can be compelled to pay by separate and special laws, strictly applying to their respective cases; but the present resolutions should not be encumbered by the amendment in question, which would tend to defeat the object. I, therefore, vote "aye."

Mr. ELLMAKER said—

Mr. SPEAKER: My reasons for voting against the resolution is, that whilst I am here, instructed to vote against the repeal of the tonnage tax, I am opposed to imposing such penalties upon the Pennsylvania railroad company as are contained in the resolution; believing, as I do, that it would be pre-judging their whole case; believing it to be the right of every citizen and every corporation to appeal to the courts.

Mr. HAMERSLY said—

I shall vote against this resolution, Mr. Speaker, because this House, with a full knowledge that other railroad companies have neglected or refused to pay taxes due to the Commonwealth—with a full knowledge that they are at this moment in default—has refused to direct the Attorney General to commence proceedings against them, and has singled out this company alone as an object for persecution and oppression.

Mr. PATTERSON gave the following as his reasons for voting aye:

Mr. SPEAKER: I cast my vote in favor of these resolutions, because I think they are right, and in justice to the tax-payers, and in obedience to the pledge I made to my constituents. The company refuses to pay the tonnage tax, and these resolutions will compel them to do it, which is a duty required of every citizen, and should be as strictly demanded of corporations.

Mr. KENEAGY said—

I vote for this resolution in order to carry out, as far as I can, the instructions upon this subject of the convention which placed me in nomination.

Mr. WAGENSELLER said—

Mr. SPEAKER: I vote aye on this resolution, because I believe it to be right, and in so doing I carry out what I believe to be the unanimous desire of the people I, in part, have the honor to represent, and because we passed a bill a day or two ago, instructing the Attorney General of the State to collect all moneys due by other railroad companies.

The second resolution was read.

An amendment being offered, the SPEAKER decided that the previous question (which had been called on the first resolution) cut off all amendment and debate on both resolutions.

Mr. THORN appealed from this decision.

The SPEAKER, after a careful review of the facts, withdrew his decision.

Mr. CHURCH asked the unanimous consent of the House to offer a resolution; which was not agreed to.

The resolution was in these words:

Resolved, That the Pennsylvania railroad must be made to "pony up," while other roads in the State can go "scot free."

On the second resolution.

Mr. ROSE called the previous question; sustained.

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. FISHER and Mr. NEALL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Balliet, Barnsley, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Campbell, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eekman, Fearon, Galley, Glatz, Good, Gray, Gritman, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) McHaffey, McClure, McCurdy, McDowell, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Pughe, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—55.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Burley, Chase, Church, Dodds, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Foster, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Mann, Matthews, Neall, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Quigley, Ramsdell, Shafer, Sheppard, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Walhorn, Wigton, Wiley and Williston—35.

So the question was determined in the affirmative, and the resolution passed finally.

Mr. EVANS offered a resolution, as follows:

Resolved, That this House will hold a special session this afternoon, between three and five o'clock, for the consideration of bills on the Private Calendar.

It was moved to amend by inserting "Public" Calendar.

Which was not agreed to.

Mr. WALBORN moved to amend by inserting "for the reception of reports of committees, &c." This motion was withdrawn.

Mr. ROHRER called for a division of the question.

On the first division, viz:

Will the House hold an afternoon session.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. ROHRER and Mr. FISHER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eekman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Good, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,)

Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—87.

YAYS—Messrs. Price and Styer—2.
So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The resolution passed finally.

The hour of one having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until 3 P. M.

HOUSE—AFTERNOON SESSION.

The House met again at three o'clock, and was called to order by the SPEAKER.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented two messages from the Governor, which was read, as follows, viz:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, March 23, 1859. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN—I return herewith to the House of Representatives, where it originated, a bill, entitled "An Act relative to Whitney street, in the city of Philadelphia."

The bill declares that Whitney street, in the Second ward of the city of Philadelphia, shall be extended to the width of thirty feet from the north line of said street, as laid down in the original survey, with a provision, that in the opening of the street the city of Philadelphia shall not be liable to any expense.

I can only repeat the objections, which I have heretofore frequently stated, to legislation of this character.

Whether particular streets in the city of Philadelphia should be opened, vacated, extended or widened, is a question which peculiarly belongs to the local tribunals of the city. Full power has been given to the court of quarter sessions of Philadelphia city and county to widen streets, upon a proper application being made, and any interference in particular cases by special acts of Assembly, is not only unnecessary, but almost certain to prove injurious to the interests of the public, by disarranging the general plan for regulating streets adopted by the city authorities.

There is a special objection to this bill, growing out of the provision that the city shall be at no expense in widening said street. And as there is no provision made for ascertaining or paying any damages which might be occasioned by the change in the width of the street, it would appear to authorize the taking of private property for public use, without making compensation to the owner.

For these reasons, I am induced to withhold the Executive approval from the bill, and return it for re-consideration.

WM. F. PACKER.

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the House proceeded to the re-consideration of said bill.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass?

Agreeably to order, the further consideration of the same was postponed.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, March 23, 1859 }

GENTLEMEN—I have approved and signed the following acts of the General Assembly, viz:

"A supplement to an act, approved Feb. 16, 1849, entitled 'A supplement to an act, approved April 3, 1856, entitled 'An Act regulating boroughs, so far as relates to the borough of Phoenixville.'"

"An Act to incorporate the Citizens' passenger railway company of the city of Pittsburg."

"An Act authorizing the State Treasurer to settle the account of the president judge of the 20th judicial district."

"An Act to abolish the office of sealer of weights and measures in certain counties of this Commonwealth."

"An Act extending the time for the commencement and completion of the Schuylkill Haven and Lehigh railroad."

"An Act to provide for the payment of the claim of Peter S. M'Cullough."

"A supplement to an act to incorporate the Quakake railroad company."

"An Act authorizing the Auditor General and State Treasurer to examine and report upon the claim of the bail of Henry P. Rodearmel, late supervisor of the Susquehanna division of the Pennsylvania canal."

"An Act providing for the election of supervisors in Cross creek township, Washington county."

"An Act to incorporate the village of Corsica, in the county of Jefferson, into a borough."

"An Act relative to orphans' courts."

"A supplement to an act to incorporate the village of Port Carbon into a borough, approved 23d April, 1852."

"An Act to incorporate the Johnstown and Ashtola tram road and railroad company."

"A supplement to an act to incorporate the Chesnut Hill water company," approved April 24, 1856

"An Act authorizing the Germantown passenger railway company, and the Green and Coates Street Philadelphia passenger railway company jointly to lay a single track on Fourth and Eighth streets, Philadelphia."

"An Act to incorporate the Union Evangelical Lutheran congregation of the borough of York."

"An Act to pay the claim of Charles Fisher."

WM. F. PACKER.

The SPEAKER laid before the House the annual report of the Delaware coal company, and the Mount Carbon railroad company.

An extract from the Journal of the Senate was read and concurred in.

REPORT OF A COMMITTEE.

Mr. STYER, on leave, from the Committee on Railroads, reported with amendments, the act incorporating the Chestnut and Walnut Streets passenger railroad company; and on his motion, said bill was taken up, read the second and third time, considered and agreed to.

And on the question,

Shall the bill pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. NEALL and Mr. ROSE, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Good, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Jackson, Kenegy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Dowell, Miller, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Pughe, Rohrer, Rouse, Sheppard, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—68.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Dodds, Durbarow, Foster, Graham, Gratz, Neall, Nill, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rose, Shafer, Warden, Wiley, Williston and Wilson—16.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Messrs. ABBOTT, THORN, WILEY, WILLIAMS, of Bucks, and WILLISTON, severally gave their reasons for their votes.

Mr. HARDING declined to vote for reasons which he gave.

Mr. HAMERSLY gave the following reasons for his vote:

Mr. SPEAKER:—A bill similar to the one now under consideration, passed the Legislature at its last session, after a very full and free examination and discussion of the question. The councils of the city, for reasons known only to themselves, have, time and again, postponed the consideration of the bill, and up to this moment have never taken a direct vote upon it. I believe that a majority of the people are in favor of it—that the necessities of the public demand it—that the interests of the city will be promoted by it—and so believing, I shall vote for the bill.

There is another reason, Mr. SPEAKER, which will influence me in the vote which I am about to cast. The new bill requires the company, incorporated under its provisions, to pay one hundred thousand dollars toward the erection of another bridge over the Schuylkill; a structure that is much needed, and which will greatly add to the convenience of the citizens of Philadelphia. For these reasons I shall vote "aye."

Mr. NEALL said that he could not agree with his colleague, (Mr. HAMERSLY), nor did he agree with his colleague, (Mr. HARDING), but should vote against the bill now before the House, and wished to explain his reasons for so doing. The bill had been sprung upon the House by its friends, and he deemed it necessary to vote against the measure from the fact that the Legislature had passed a bill last session, and the immediate representatives of the people of Philadelphia, had time and again set their seal of condemnation upon it. And the present proposition was, in his opinion, more infamous than that of last year; and if this House was going to pass a bill of this kind, he wanted to record his vote against the same, and let the world know, and this House know, that he could not be gulled into the support of such a proposition as was now pending. It was infamous in the extreme. Look at the manner in which it was called before this House, and tell the House whether the project was sufficiently honorable to meet with a careful scrutiny.

Mr. WILEY gave notice that he would move a re-consideration of the vote within six days.

Messrs. HAMERSLY and PATTERSON moved that the House re-consider the vote just taken; which was agreed to.

And the question again recurring,

Shall the bill pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. ROSE and Mr. WILEY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Good, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Jackson, Kenegy, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Dowell, Miller, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Pughe, Rohrer, Rouse, Sheppard, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—70.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Durbarow, Foster, Graham, Gratz, Ketchum, Neall, Nill, Quigley, Rose, Warden, Williston and Wilson—11.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication from the Chief Clerk; which was read.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTION.

Mr. THOMPSON offered a resolution, that the use of the Hall be granted to Prof. Gardner, this evening, for the purpose of delivering a lecture.

Mr. THORN moved to amend the same, by striking out "Prof." and inserting "the," so as to make it read, the Gardner.

The House refused to proceed to the second reading of the resolution.

Mr. HAMERSLY, on leave, from the Committee on Divorces, reported as committed, "An Act to annul the marriage contract between Horace B. Fry and Emily L., his wife, as follows:

AN ACT to annul the marriage contract between Horace B. Fry and Emily L., his wife.

WHEREAS, on the 2d day of August, 1858, a marriage was contracted between Horace B. Fry and Emily L. Grigg, both of the city of Philadelphia, and the said parties did, within a few weeks thereafter, separate, and have since lived apart; And whereas, The state of hostility between the said parties, and the opinions which they avow they have formed of each other, are such as must forever preclude a reconciliation; and it being the judgment of this Legislature that all confidence and affection have been destroyed between them, that they can never live together as husband and wife, according to the object of the institution of marriage; and that the happiness of the parties, the interest of the public, and the morals of society, will alike be promoted by dissolving the bonds of matrimony between the said Horace and said Emily; therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the marriage contract entered into between Horace B. Fry and Emily L. his wife, of the city of Philadelphia, on the 2d day of August, A. D. 1858, be, and the same is hereby annulled and made void, and the parties released and discharged from said contract; and from all duties, rights, and obligations arising therefrom, as fully and effectually, and absolutely in all respects as if they had never been joined in marriage.

Mr. FOSTER, (from the same committee,) made a minority report, which, on motion of Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) was ordered to be printed in the Legislative Record, as follows:

The undersigned, minority of the Committee on Divorces, to whom was referred the petition of Emily L. Fry, of Philadelphia, praying to be divorced from her husband, Horace B. Fry, together with the answer of said Horace B. Fry, the memorial of John Grigg, father of the petitioner, and many other papers relating to the application mentioned, begs leave to report:

That after careful examination of the various papers in the case, he has found himself unable to concur in the action of the committee in reporting a bill in accordance with the prayer of the petitioner, for the following, among other reasons:

The petitioner, Emily L. Fry, charges her husband with swearing at and cursing her on various occasions; with having treated her at other times with great personal violence; with having once seized and slung her from a chair, and with having twice thrown chairs at her; indeed, with having carried his violence to such an extent as to have caused hemorrhage of the lungs. Other acts of almost equal outrage are also set forth in her petition, in that, while at a public hotel, on their wedding tour, at West Point, he locked their room door, threatened to shoot her, cursed and swore at her for some two hours; and on another occasion, in the city of their residence, he informed her that if she said another word on a certain subject, he would shoot her without hesitation, telling her his temper was so ungovernable that he was not responsible for his actions; that he then locked the door, went to his trunk, took out a pistol, and (pointing it at his wife) said he would shoot her.

Other acts of brutality and tyranny on his part toward her are referred to in the petition, all of which, taken together, (when it is remembered that they are charged with having been perpetrated within the short space of one month after marriage,) present a case of marital cruelty and barbarity almost without a parallel.

To all these charges, Mr. Fry responds by an unqualified and circumstantial denial, under oath. Had Mrs. Fry furnished any evidence to sustain her charge, the case would have been embraced so completely within the jurisdiction conferred upon the courts by act of Assembly, that the very strength of the evidence would prove the necessary defeat of the application; as proofs of such acts of tyranny and brutality could not fail to satisfy any court and jury, that the condition of a wife, subjected to such indignities to her person, would be indeed rendered "intolerable," and her "life burdensome"—even if they did not endanger its existence.

No one can doubt, for a moment, that a woman subjected to such barbarous treatment as is alleged, might abandon her husband's home, and successfully appeal to our legal tribunals for relief from his dominion.

To the courts alone, however, can she appeal—as, under the Constitution of Pennsylvania, the Legislature are expressly precluded from the consideration of such a case as Mrs. Fry presents. By the 14th section of the 1st article of the Constitution of Pennsylvania it is provided, "that the Legislature shall not have power to enact laws annulling the contract of marriage in any case where, by law, the courts of this Commonwealth are, or may hereafter be, empowered to decree divorce."

If Mrs. Fry's allegations are true, or if she can prove them by her own showing, the courts of law, under the Constitution, are the proper tribunals for her to invoke; if they are not true, or cannot be proved, on what principle of law or morality, or of common sense, could the Legislature found a decree of divorce?

The minority of your Committee might be content, under this view of the law, in simply recommending that the prayer of the petitioner be refused. But it would not be doing entire justice to dismiss a case in this summary manner, which has excited so much interest. As the merits of the case were elaborately argued by the counsel (selected from leading members of the profession, not only of our own, but of a sister State,) who were permitted to address the Committee, and it is to be presumed that every view, both in favor of granting the prayer of the petitioner and of refusing it, was presented for their consideration, it may not be considered out of place to comment upon the intrinsic merits of the case, as presented by the petitions, answers and accompanying documents.

To the various acts of insult, cruelty, and personal violence, alleged by Mrs. Fry to have been committed by her husband, he has interposed a positive denial, under oath. No single one of them was proved. It was only attempted to be proved that he had sent, anonymously, to her father's house, a paper containing reflections upon the petitioner; the sending of which Mr. Fry proves was by a third party, unknown to him, and without any knowledge or desire on his part. Mr. Fry also produced evidence that about the same time, nay, on the very day, Mr. Fry was not only solicitous, but successful in suppressing the publication, in another New York paper, of somewhat similar reflections upon the conduct of his wife when at West Point, although the article alluded to was an emphatic condemnation of her conduct, and a justification of his own.

Another of her allegations—the affair at the wharf at Philadelphia—has also been disproved by him by affidavits which seem conclusive. It was, however, for her to prove the grounds, if the application were true, and not for him to disprove them; at least, not until some effort had been made by the petitioner to substantiate her assertion—which Mrs. Fry has not done in any single particular. In fact no substantial effort has been made to advocate the divorce on the original grounds of the application. Your committee was urged, on quite other grounds, to report in favor of the petitioner.

Before further allusion to these, it might be well to call attention to evidence brought to the notice of your committee within a few days past, and which has not been presented to the House, or printed for its perusal.

In the memorial of Mr. Grigg, he states that he "can prove, by a highly respectable citizen of Philadelphia," that Dr. Moore, of West Point, "has distinctly stated to that citizen, that he attended Mrs. Fry for hemorrhage from the lungs, that this was the nature of her complaint," &c. Mr. Grigg only swears that he has been so informed. Dr. Moore states, in a letter forwarded to the committee, that he informed the citizen alluded to, that he "was called to see Mrs. Fry, who, it was said, had hemorrhage of the lungs."

The assertion of Dr. Moore himself, seems to be, in the absence of any other evidence than "hearsay," the better evidence of what he stated on the occasion referred. His letter, contradicting the assertions of Mr. Grigg's informant, would scarcely have been written, had he believed Mrs. Fry laboring under the very dangerous malady alluded to.

Within a few days past, Mr. Fry has placed in possession of your committee the strongest testimonials, from those in whose employ he has been for years, not only of good character, but of that amiability of temper so well calculated to render a married life one of felicity.—That such a man should be guilty of the almost fiendish acts charged upon him, should not be believed without some testimony to sustain allegations so improbable, if not incredible.

Had the charges of cruelty at West Point, made by the petitioner against her husband, been well founded, it is scarcely to be supposed that she would have desired to prolong a bridal tour so inauspiciously commenced at the Philadelphia wharf. Yet your committee have had presented to their notice the evidence of an unimpeached witness, that their stay was prolonged by the request of Mr. Grigg, at the solicitation of the petitioner, and contrary to the desire of Mr. Fry; although Mr. Grigg stated, as early as August 28th, (what many who have examined this case will admit,) that West Point was "a place unfit for a young married woman." It appears, from this witness, that, at the time Mrs. Fry alleges she was threatening to write to her father to come for her, she was begging him to allow her to remain at West Point—although, in the language of Mr. Grigg, "Mr. Fry intended to leave West Point sooner," and, it appears, from the evidence, would have done so, but for the solicitations of his father-in-law.

There is one feature in this case over which the undersigned would fain draw the veil of charity, while justice demands that it should at least be alluded to—the letter of Mrs. Fry to a West Point Cadet, dated at Philadelphia on the 5th of September. That a woman of ordinary sense and of virtuous inclinations, when residing with her husband within a hundred yards of her father's door, and less than five weeks after swearing eternal fidelity to the husband of her choice, should pen such an epistle, cannot be believed. That it was the emanation of a feeble intellect, rather than the product of a corrupt heart, is to be hoped; but it certainly was not extraordinary that the discovery, by the husband of a month, of a letter from his wife proposing an elopement with the acquaintance of a fortnight, to whom she had already forwarded her miniature, would have excited indignation, and it is not one of the least extraordinary circumstances of this most extraordinary case that, in all that confidential epistle to a confiding lover, there is not one intimation on the part of the petitioner that her new born affection for the buttons and epaulette of the cadet arose from any ill-treatment on the part of her husband.

It is a reply to a letter from that cadet, which had been intercepted by her husband, and which was returned to the writer, and every copy destroyed, by an agreement with him, and upon the promise on his part to hold no further communication with the petitioner.

That letter, it is a legal presumption, remains in possession of the author. The only evidence we have of its contents is in a recent affidavit of Mr. Fry, upon whose memory it would naturally be graven in indelible characters. He tells us it comprised some seven pages of closely written note paper, addressed his wife as his "dearest Emily," expressed excessive grief at their being parted—a distress even greater than the writer had anticipated; dilated upon their romantic conversations at West Point; a prospective union which they had so frequently discussed and hoped for; doubts of their accomplishing it; pictured the reverse, with a soldier's grave in the prospective; discussed a separation from her husband, its consequences to his "dearest Emily," if effected in a manner to damage her reputation; counseled her to be governed by her parents, with an intimation to follow her own inclinations in the end, and assured her of the writer's "abiding love," which nothing could change. Like the answer to it, this epistle, so disgraceful to all concerned, contained no intimation of ill-treatment on the part of her husband as an excuse, however miserable, for an amatory correspondence with another. It concluded, if we are to believe the positive oath of Mr. Fry, with the strongest assurances of the writer's devotion to another man's wife! When their written correspondence was of the character proven by the evidence in the case, what confidence can we place in the bare assertion of the author of such a letter, that their personal intercourse "was such as might freely occur between a gentleman and a lady, and was governed by principles of friendship and honor!"

While endeavoring to take her case beyond the jurisdiction of our courts, by the statement that the acts charged against her husband, "bad as they are," were not "so cruel and barbarous as to endanger her life," because she "never believed he had the courage to risk his own life by executing his threats against hers," she does not hesitate to express, in a letter to her West Point correspondent, a fear that he would encounter a double risk in attacking him—indeed, she "burst into tears," with a shriek "which almost frightened him," when that husband expresses an intention to revenge his injuries upon the man who has engaged in a correspondence endangering his wife's honor.

It was insisted, before your committee, that it was evident, as well from Mrs. Fry's petition as from the answer of her husband, that no reconciliation was to be hoped for; that the while the wife was before the Legislature seeking a separation, and the husband was here opposing it, his opposition was not so much for the purpose of retaining his wife as from a perverse spirit—as he had himself avowed his intention to apply to the legal tribunals, hereafter, with a like purpose, on the ground of desertion; that they were irreconcilable, and could never live together again as man and wife; and that being aware of this, humanity demanded we should free this couple at once from a burdensome obligation, with the conditions of which they never would comply, and from which they would inevitably be released at some future day.

The husband denies that he has ever expressed his unalterable determination to seek a divorce hereafter; and whatever he may have said, neither he nor any other husband who charges his wife with no other criminal act than deserting him, can maintain a suit for divorce on the ground of desertion, in case the erring wife chooses to return to her deserted husband within a specified time—which (under the humane provisions of our acts of Assembly, authorizing courts to grant divorces for desertion,) she may do at any time within two years from her abandonment of his roof. Why, then, should we, by hasty and inconsiderate action, interpose an insuperable barrier to a consummation so devoutly to be wished by all Christian men, as that a young and erring, but not wholly criminal wife, should (before the expiration of the two years allowed for reflection and retraction) return to the arms and protection of her deserted husband—all of whose conduct, so far as it has been exhibited by the documents which have been produced and the facts which have been admitted, proves him to have been one (when not thwarted by parental authority) well qualified to guide the steps and to protect the honor of an inexperienced and thoughtless wife.

It was also urged with great earnestness that the scandals of these proceedings, and the unprotected condition of the petitioner, were causes of deep and heart-breaking distress to her father, who was represented to be an aged and respectable citizen; and his age, his infirmities, and his distress, were most eloquently pressed upon us as reasons for granting his and his daughter's prayer.

Such an appeal was altogether outside of the merits of the case, but the proposition, in its nakedness, to divorce a woman from her husband merely in order to give solace to that woman's father, however exemplary the character of that father may be supposed to be, is one the undersigned can neither entertain nor recommend to this House.

From all the evidence in the case it appears that a young and fickle woman, regardless of her duty to her husband, a few weeks after marriage, encountered another man whom she prefers. Governed by no respect for that husband, herself, or the vows she had so lately taken, she is found, in one short month, engaged in an active correspondence with the new object of her volatile affection, sending him her daguerrotypes, writing him and receiving from him, without her husband's knowledge, letters of an amatory character.

Detected in her correspondence and cut off from all opportunity of its continuance, by the interposition of her husband, apparently unrepentant, certainly unrelenting toward the husband she had so wronged, we find her a petitioner here to be divorced from him on the ground of alleged acts of cruelty and enormity inflicted upon her of a character rarely heard of in civilized communities. Not only were none of these proved, but no substantial effort whatever was made to prove them, and the application to the Legislature is simply that of a wife (who is herself clearly convicted by the testimony before your committee of grave impropriety), asking to be divorced from a husband, who proves an amiability of temper and an irreproachable character, utterly irreconcilable with the truths of her charges, and against whom she does not even make an effort to substantiate a serious complaint to any kind—and whom she has deserted.

The guilty wife asks redress at your hands against the innocent husband whom she has so cruelly wronged. To grant her prayer would be an act of wanton power not to be expected from honest and intelligent representatives of any free people in a Christian land.

The undersigned cannot refrain from expressing the opinion that, had the parties to the marriage we are invoked to annul moved in an humbler sphere of life, legislative interposition would never have been asked. The whole story of the petition, with the memorial of the father, are rank with the insolence of wealth, and imbued with the most sordid spirit and views.—The petitioner declares (in which she is successfully contradicted) that her father furnished her husband with money for the wedding tour. His money—her money—money, money gleam all through the petition and memorial, while even her letter to her West Point admirer jingles the current coin of the Republic.

It is not pretended, in the report of the majority of your committee, that Mrs. Fry's allegations of cruelty toward her on the part of her husband are sustained by evidence, or that her averments are not fully and broadly met by his positive, sworn denials.

It is not denied that the case presented by the petitioner, if true, would be clearly within the jurisdiction of the court of common pleas of Philadelphia, and that, therefore, a legislative act of divorce would be a violation of the explicit provision of the Constitution upon the subject.

These important considerations are entirely ignored, and the only cause or reason for the divorce, as set out in the preamble of the bill reported to divorce the petitioner from her husband is, that "a state of hostility exists between the parties, and the opinions which they have formed of each other are such as must forever preclude a reconciliation."

If these considerations are of sufficient weight to bring the Legislature to the conclusion therein expressed, that "the happiness of the parties, the interests of the public, and the morals of society, will alike be promoted," by dissolving their marriage contract, it ought to follow that the existence of similar reasons would be sufficient to warrant similar action in all cases of application for divorce, and that the Legislature ought, by general law, to authorize the courts of the Commonwealth to grant divorces for such causes.

And yet, if it was proposed to declare, by such general enactment, that hereafter the courts of common pleas throughout Pennsylvania, should pronounce decrees divorcing husband and wife "in all cases where it was shown to them that separation had taken place between the parties, resulting in irreconcilable hostility," there is probably not a single member of the Legislature who would consider such a law promotive of "the interests of the public," or the "morals of society," or who would venture to cast an affirmative vote.

Yet why should this be made an exception to all common rules of right action in similar cases? If "free love" doctrines are to prevail as true in one case, why not permit all married parties, who see proper to "separate and become irreconcilably hostile," to do so, and seek their "affinities"—spiritual or otherwise.

It cannot be that it is proposed to make the conditions in life or the circumstance of the wealth or poverty of the parties, the governing considerations by which the rules of law and the action of the Legislature are to be determined, and, if the bare statement of the reason, set out in the preamble to the bill reported by the majority of your committee in this case, would, as a general proposition, shock the moral sense of every thinking man, it is difficult to comprehend how those reasons can be sustained in this particular case. Certainly, in the view of the minority, it would be difficult to conceive a doctrine more thoroughly subversive of all "the objects of the institution of marriage," of "the happiness of married parties," "the interests of the public, and the morals of society," than that embodied in the preamble to the bill reported by the majority, if generally established.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. HERON FOSTER.

Mr. FOSTER also presented a memorial from Horace B. Fry, (which was ordered to be printed in the Record.) as follows:

The memorial of Horace B. Fry, of the city of Philadelphia, to the honorable the House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania:

WHEREAS, The Divorce Committee of your honorable body, has reported with a preamble, a bill for the divorce of myself and my wife Emily L. Fry, I submit this, my solemn protest, against that action.

I protest against the said preamble, inasmuch as it takes no specific cognizance of the petition of Mrs. Emily L. Fry, referred by your honorable body to the Divorce Committee, and upon the allegations of which, being the only sworn causes for the divorce prayed for by her, it was a duty reasonably expected of the committee to report, while assigning any causes whatever therefor. The committee, by ignoring the grave matters recited in Mrs. E. L. Fry's petition; have ignored the record confided to them by your honorable body; an assumption of power, as I humbly submit, contrary to parliamentary usage; a violation of personal rights in this instance, and as a precedent, fraught with danger to the public interests. The allegations in that petition are either true or false. If true, your honorable body as the arbiter, and myself as the party affected by them, require positive evidence of their truth. If they are false, both the petition and the object sought by it, inevitably fall together.

I protest against the assertion in the said preamble, that my happiness will be promoted by a divorce, under the circumstances of the case.

I respectfully, but emphatically, deny the right of a committee of the Legislature to constitute itself a judge of what will promote my happiness, and to impose upon me the consequences of its judgment.

I protest against the assertion, as untrue—I, and I alone, being the judge of the secrets of my own heart; which, while I am a free citizen of this Commonwealth, and guiltless of crime, there is no power under the Constitution competent to determine, and to use as the basis of a proceeding, affecting my character and my domestic relations.

I aver most solemnly,—an averment which no one has any warrant to gainsay,—that so far from my happiness being promoted by your act, divorcing my wife and myself, it will be the most grievous affliction which the exercise of your will can impose upon me.

Further, do I protest that, so far from "the interests of the public and the morals of society" being promoted, as the preamble alleges, by such an act of the Legislature; it will strike at the very root of both,—at the integrity of that holy compact, upon which not only the morals, but the existence of society depend. I pray that it be remembered, that my wife has made certain very serious charges against me, as a husband, not one of which is it pretended has been borne out by any plausible testimony whatever; while to a great extent they are utterly improbable; in part clearly self-contradictory; and in some instances proven to be wilfully and wickedly false by unimpeached witnesses. While, too, your Halls have been polluted with anonymous libels upon me, printed and laid upon your desks, insulting alike to your sense of decency and justice, and designed by the most infamous suggestions to assist the attempt, against which I am defending all that is dear to me; while this is the fact, I am yet denied any process to compel the production of testimony, which I have assured your committee, who present this act of divorce, is within your jurisdiction, and sufficient to make evident whatever justice may demand in this case. I am thus denied, I say, the right, accorded even to a criminal, to have whatever may be alleged against me, substantiated by the best possible proof, and similarly rebutted.

Yet, under all these unprecedented disadvantages, I have proved beyond any contradiction, that the wife who presents herself before you, impeaching my marital conduct, had formed an illicit attachment for another man, only two weeks after her marriage with me; and held, while under my own roof, a surreptitious and amatory correspondence with him, of the most shameful nature. That her only supporter in her present proceeding against me, is a father, who, by his own confession, makes a merit of having offered no obstacle to that correspondence; and her only witness, that very clandestine lover, proved to be such, alike under his hand and her own. This is the true state of the case before your honorable body.

I submit the question, that if my wife had gone to the utmost extent of criminality, and had then applied for a divorce, on grounds identical with those now before you; and even if it were admitted by both of us, that we could not again live together—I submit the question, and I entreat your serious consideration of it in all its bearings, whether you would, in such an extreme case as that be competent to affirm that my happiness would be promoted by a divorce, and that, therefore, it should be granted at her instance, and contrary to my opposition? If this be a reason for divorcing a man, against his consent—that the Legislature thinks his happiness would be thereby promoted—who is any longer safe in his married relation? It is only needful for a faithless wife to desert her husband, as mine has done, present charges against him, not one proved true, and some proved false, and then your honorable body becomes qualified to decide that the husband's happiness requires a divorce, and you grant it in opposition to his most solemn remonstrance! What, I ask, is conjugal security, faith or honor; what are the morals of the family circle, or of the great public, to gain, by such a principle and such a proceeding as this?

Further: I protest against the very first sentence of the said preamble, as opposed to undisputed facts. It is asserted that within a few weeks after my marriage, myself and my wife "did separate." The word separate, as therein used, conveys the meaning of a mutual parting, which is not true. We did not separate. My wife abandoned me, against my prohibition. She fled from my home, while I was absent at my daily labor. She deserted me; and she continued that desertion, though I continued to live in that same home. Thus, we did not separate, as the preamble asserts; and the assertion cannot stand in it, without perverting truth, denied no where else, and by no body—no! not even by my wife herself.

Further: I protest against the assertion in the said preamble, that my wife and myself can never be reconciled. So far as it refers to me, it is gratuitous, since I alone am competent to speak for myself in this regard. It can hardly be said that any man out of the Legislature can affirm for me, that our differences are irreconcilable; and if so, there is nothing in the office of a legislator which enables him to do so. It may be true. But this probability is no warrant whatever for the practical conclusion that a divorce should now be enforced upon me.

Lastly: I protest against the principle and practice announced in the said preamble. They have no precedent in the statutes of this Commonwealth. No analogies, either in the spirit or the forms of justice, legislative or judicial.

No pretext in reason. No color of right. It is the first instance, in any civilized community, and God grant it may be the last, in which the doctrine has been announced, much less urged for the adoption of a body of law-makers, that wrong is its own proper and ultimate justification; and that the sacred sanction of law shall crown the purposes of the wrong-doer, endorse patent perjuries and purify reputation stained by wanton shames; while it operates to asperse the character and crush the claims of the innocent.

HORACE B. FRY.

PHILADELPHIA, March 12th, 1850.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved that the rules be suspended, in order to enable him to introduce the following resolution:

Resolved, That the House will hold a session on Thursday evening, commencing at seven o'clock, for the purpose of considering bill No. 1098, "An Act to annul the marriage contract between Horace B. Fry and Emily L. his wife," and that the House will hold a session on Friday evening, commencing at the same hour, for the same purpose, unless said bill be sooner disposed of.

On the suspension of the rule,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WARDEN and Mr. WILSON, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Burley, Campbell, Fisher, Good, Gratz, Gray, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Hottelstine, Ketchum, Mann, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Neall, Oaks, Patterson, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pugh, Sheppard, Stuart, Taylor, Walker, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) and Woodring—31.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Balliett, Barnsley, Bertolet, Bryson, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eekman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Graham, Green, Harding, Keneagy, Kinney, Laird, M'Dowell, Nill, Peirce, Price, Quigley, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Styer, Walborn, Warden, Witman, Wiley, Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—43.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. SHEPPARD, from the Committee appointed to Compare Bills, and present them to the Governor for his approbation, made report; which was read as follows, viz:

That in conjunction with a similar committee from the Senate, they have compared, and on yesterday presented to the Governor for his approbation, the bills as follow, to wit:

"An Act to incorporate the Anderson Creek public road and navigation company."

"An Act to pay the claim of Charles Fisher."

"An Act authorizing the Auditor General and State Treasurer to examine and report upon the claim of the bail of Henry D. Rodermel, late supervisor of the Susquehanna Division of the Pennsylvania canal."

"An Act to change the place of holding elections in Liberty township, Montour county."

"An Act to incorporate the Johnstown and Ashtola tram road and railroad company."

"A supplement to an act incorporating the Sheafferstown academy, in the county of Lebanon."

"An Act relating to orphans' courts."

"A supplement to an act to incorporate the village of Port Carbon into a borough, approved April 23, A. D. 1852."

"A supplement to an act to incorporate the Chestnut Hill water company, approved April 24, 1856."

"An Act to incorporate the Union Evangelical Lutheran congregation of the borough of York."

On the 19th instant:

"An Act relating to roads in East Marlboro' and New London townships, Chester county."

"Supplement to an act, approved February 16th, 1859, entitled 'A supplement to an act approved 3d April, 1857,' entitled 'An Act regulating boroughs, so far as relates to the borough of Phoenixville.'"

"An Act to extend the charter of the Dauphin Deposit Bank."

"An Act to incorporate the Zoological society of Philadelphia."

"An Act to change the time of holding the courts of Clearfield county."

"An Act in reference to certain mortgages therein stated."

"An Act to incorporate the Quicksilver mining company."

"A further supplement to an act to incorporate the Lewisburg Centre and Spruce Creek railroad company."

"A further supplement to an act authorizing the Governor to incorporate the Minersville water company."

"A supplement to the act to incorporate the Hanover savings fund society, of the county of York."

"An Act to exempt certain real estate in the county of Allegheny from the payment of the collateral inheritance tax."

"An Act to incorporate the Mont Alto iron company."

"An Act to incorporate the Pennsylvania and Maryland Line turnpike company."

On the 21st instant:

"A supplement to an act to incorporate the Quakake railroad company."

"An Act extending the time for the commencement and completion of the Schuylkill Haven railroad company."

"An Act to repeal an act for the protection of sheep and taxing of dogs in the county of Blair."

"An Act to widen the eastern extension of Third street, in the town of Bloomsburg, Columbia county."

"An Act relating to overseers of the poor of Lewisburg, Union county."

"An Act authorizing the State Treasurer to settle the account of the president judge of the Twentieth judicial district."

"An Act to incorporate the Citizens' passenger railway company, of the city of Pittsburg."

On to-day:

"An Act repealing certain supplements to the Wellsboro' and Tioga plank road company."

"An Act for the appointment of a sequestrator on the Washington and Pittsburg turnpike road."

"Supplement to an act to incorporate the Lock Haven and Flemington plank road and turnpike company, approved the 6th day of February, A. D. 1856."

"An Act to authorize the election of two additional supervisors in Washington and Richhill townships, Greene county."

"An Act to repeal an act regulating the manner of voting at the general election in the counties of Wayne and Schuylkill, so far as said act relates to the county of Schuylkill."

"An Act to incorporate the California seminary, of Washington county."

"An Act for the relief of Rachel George, widow of an old soldier."

"An Act abolishing the separate school district erected out of a portion of the township of Upper Salford, in the county of Montgomery."

"An Act changing the name of Prescott Packard Peck."

"An Act to incorporate the Millport turnpike road company."

"An Act to repeal former acts relating to the borough of Schuylkill Haven, in the county of Schuylkill, and extending the general features of an act regulating boroughs, approved third April, A. D. 1851, to said borough."

Mr. OAKS offered a resolution that the Senate be requested to return to the House, House bill No. 684, "An Act authorizing the widening and extension of Third street, Bloomsburg," for further consideration; which was adopted.

Mr. WILEY again gave notice that he would move a re consideration of the final vote on the Chestnut and Walnut Streets passenger railway company.

The CHAIR ruled the motion out of order, as it was his impression that as the vote had already been re-considered, it could not again be entertained.

Mr. McCURE, from the select committee, to whom was referred the items of expenses of the committee on the Binksted election case, of the Third Representative district, made report; which was adopted.

Mr. WILSON, on leave, read in his place and presented to the Chair, "An Act to allow the treasurer of Beaver county a credit for certain balances of militia fund, collected by him and paid bona fide to the uniformed militia of said county, for duty done according to law;" which, on his motion, was ordered on next Tuesday's Calendar.

Mr. PINKERTON, "A further supplement to an act to incorporate the Donaldson improvement and railroad company;" and, on his motion, the same was taken up, and passed the House.

Mr. McDOWELL, "An Act repealing an act relating to executors against corporations."

Mr. WILLIAMS, (of Bucks,) "An Act repealing the fifty-seventh section of the act relative to boroughs, so far as the same relates to the borough of New Hope, in Bucks county;" which, on his motion, was taken up, and passed the House.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) (from the Committee on Banks,) reported, as committed, Senate amendment to House bill No. 431, "A further supplement to an act regulating banks," with the recommendation that the same be adopted by the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the report?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. NILL and Mr. PIERCE, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Bryson, Durboraw, Ellmaker, Foster, Harding, Irish, Lawrence, (Washington,) McDowell, Miller, Neall, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Price, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Thompson, Witman, Wilcox and Williams, (Bucks,)—25.

NAYS—Messrs. Balliet, Barnsley, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Campbell, Custer, Dismant, Eckman, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Good, Graham, Gratz, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Mann, Matthews, McCurdy, Nill, Oaks, Proudfoot, Ramsdell, Rose, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thoru, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Willision, Wilson, Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—50.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the following bills, returned to the House without the approval of the Governor.

"An Act relating to the office of register of wills in Dauphin county."

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER.

Harrisburg, March 18, 1859.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN:—A bill has been presented for my approval, entitled "An Act relating to the office of register of wills, in the county of Dauphin." The bill provides "that from and after the passage of this act the register of wills, for the county of Dauphin, shall perform all the duties and receive all the fees and emoluments pertaining to the office of clerk of the orphans' court of said county; and hereafter the qualified electors of Dauphin county shall elect one person to fill the office of recorder of deeds, and one person to fill the offices of register of wills and clerk of the orphans' court.

The effect of the proposed enactment, should it become a law, is to legislate out of office the present clerk of the orphans' court, who was elected by the people of Dauphin county, in October, 1857, and whose commission consequently does not expire until December, 1860, and to confer the office upon the register of wills, who has never been elected nor commissioned as clerk of the orphans' court. This cannot be done. There are but two methods by which a clerk of the orphans' court can be chosen in accordance with the Constitution of Pennsylvania. The one is, an election by the people, and the other an appointment by the Governor to fill a vacancy. The person who now holds the office of clerk of the orphans' court for Dauphin county, is entitled under the Constitution, and by virtue of his commission, to hold it for the term of three years from the 1st day of December, 1857, and until his successor shall be duly qualified, if he shall so long behave himself well. A successor cannot be duly qualified by being named in an act of Assembly, nor can the term be shortened by the Legislature as long as the office remains.

A bill very similar to the one now under consideration, entitled "An Act to consolidate the offices of register of wills and clerk of the orphans' court in Luzerne county," was returned to the last General Assembly without the Executive approval, and as my objections to the bill were then fully stated, I respectfully call the attention of the Legislature to that communication, which may be found in the Journal of the House of Representatives for 1858, page 949.

Believing that the General Assembly is prohibited by the Constitution from enacting the proposed law, the bill is herewith returned to the House of Representatives, where it originated, for re-consideration.

WM. F. PACKER.

On the question,

Shall the above bill become a law, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

The yeas and nays were required, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—None.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Barnsley, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Campbell, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Evans, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Graham, Gritman, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Laird, Mann, Mehaffey, McCurdy, Miller, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rohrer, Rose, Shafer, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—62.

So the question was determined in the negative.

"A supplement to an act to incorporate the Johnstown and Scalp Level turnpike road company."

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, March 17, 1859.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:—

GENTLEMEN:—I return herewith to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, the bill, entitled "A supplement to an act, entitled 'An Act to incorporate the Johnstown and Scalp Level turnpike road company,' approved the 17th day of April, 1856."

This bill provides that the rights, powers and privileges conferred upon and granted to the Somerset and Johnstown plank road company by the sixth section of an act of the General Assembly, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Merchants' and Mechanics' Mutual insurance company, of Philadelphia, and for other purposes," approved the 2d day of January, 1853, be and the same are hereby conferred upon and granted to the Johnstown and Scalp Level turnpike road company.

By referring to the above mentioned act, which, however, was approved on the 2d day of April, 1853, instead of the 2d day of January, 1853, it will be found that the privilege there conferred, or attempted to be conferred, on the Somerset and Johnstown plank road company, and which by this bill it is proposed to extend to the Johnstown and Scalp Level turnpike road company, was the right to collect subscriptions made to its capital stock, although no money was paid on such subscriptions to the attending commissioners, at the time the subscriptions were made.

The Johnstown and Scalp Level turnpike road company was incorporated under the general act regulating turnpike and plank road companies. The first section of which expressly provides that every person offering to subscribe to the stock of any such company, shall, at the time of subscribing, pay to the commissioners any sum not less than one dollar, nor more than five dollars, as shall be fixed and determined by the commissioners previous to the opening of books, for every share so subscribed. This payment was a condition precedent without which no valid subscription could be made. The commissioners had no power to receive a subscription unless it was accompanied by the payment of the first instalment; and any pretended subscription, without such payment, was a complete nullity, binding neither the company nor the subscriber. Neither party could enforce the contract, for in fact, no contract was made. Nor, in my opinion, has the General Assembly the power to give validity to past transactions of this character.

In a message which I had the honor to transmit to the last General Assembly, in returning a bill without the executive approval, entitled "A supplement to an act to incorporate the Fayette County railroad company," I had occasion to examine a similar question somewhat at length. The message referred to, may be found in the Journal of the House of Representatives for 1858, page 805, to which I beg leave, respectfully, to call the attention of the Legislature. For reasons therein stated, as well as those herein given, I am constrained to withhold the executive approval from the bill under consideration.

WM. F. PACKER.

And on the question,

Shall the same become a law notwithstanding the objections of the Governor.

The yeas and nays were required, and were as follow, viz :

YEAS—None.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Church, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Good, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Kinney, Mann, Mehaffey, M'Dowell, Miller, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rohrer, Rose, Shafer, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow, Wolf, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—68.

So the question was determined in the negative.

"An Act to provide for the education of certain common school teachers in Westminster college, New Wilmington, Lawrence county, Pa."

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, March 18, 1859. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania :

GENTLEMEN :—A bill has been presented for my approval, entitled "An Act to provide for the education of certain common school teachers in Westminster college, New Wilmington, Lawrence county, Pennsylvania."

After a careful examination of the several provisions of the bill, I have reluctantly come to the conclusion that it is my duty to withhold from it the Executive sanction.

The proposition is, that the Commonwealth shall appropriate to the Westminster college the sum of twelve hundred dollars annually for five years, to be applied to the payment of the salaries of the professors of the institution; and that for said appropriation there shall be taught for the same period, free from tuition fees, not less than fifty nor more than three hundred pupils, "in all the branches of English literature and science, and in the art of teaching and government," to be selected by the county superintendents and directors of the common schools from the counties of Lawrence, Beaver, Mercer, Butler and Venango.

The first objection to this bill is, that it is, in my opinion, a retrograde step in our educational career. An attempt to return to the abandoned plan of having the teachers for the common schools prepared in some subordinate department appertaining to a college. This plan was tried for nearly half a century in this State, and the result was, that, as a class of teachers of the State, they were sinking year after year into more unfitness and to a greater distance from that standard of acquirement to which the proposed college association would seem to entitle them. The fact being that no college-prepared teachers are found in the common schools, nor any having college connections, except such as are thus earning the means for a full college course with a view to some other profession. A plan which has so signally failed in the past, holds out no promise of success for the future.

But even if the project were not thus marked with past failure, it would still be more than questionable as a departure from the principle of the Normal school act of 20th May, 1857.—That law was carefully prepared, and though it expressly holds out the promise of no State aid in a pecuniary form, yet it impliedly pledges the State to the integrity of the plan to the extent of giving it a full and fair trial, without let or hindrance.

Exclusive, however, of the previous failure of the plan for educating teachers here proposed, and of its interference with the Normal school law, the bill is objectionable on account of its partial and local character. It is not believed that the counties named in this bill have strange claims on the State, or greater necessities for the training of their teachers than the rest of the Commonwealth. Other propositions of a like character, it is true, may come from other sections, but they cannot be so numerous as to embrace the entire State, and what is to be done in those portions of the State that are not so fortunate as to contain like institutions of learning? And more than this, will not the effect of this process of piece meal legislation be most pernicious to our educational system itself—the avoidance of which, in the past, has been one great cause of its success? Any departure from the unity of the system will surely bring future evil. The worth of the teacher is the hope of the system. During nearly a quarter of a century the common school has been working its way always regularly, though mostly noiselessly, into the affections of the people, and to its place amongst the great institutions of the State. The system now stands second to none in importance, influence, cost, magnitude and consequence. But after all, it is not its two and a half millions of dollars of annual cost, its six hundred and twenty-eight thousand scholars, its ten thousand directors or its eleven thousand school houses that are to be so much regarded as its fourteen thousand teachers. If these be not rightly prepared, duly respected and properly sustained, the rest is little better than useless machinery and waste material. In this light, the qualifications and standing of the teacher assume their true magnitude. He should not be placed in the questionable, if not degraded rank, of a beneficiary amongst those who pay for their instruction, or on a footing with preparatory students, to be looked down on by those engaged in the higher branches. The teachers of the youth of the State should not enter upon their mission thus depressed in the public eye and in their own estimation; but they should rather go forth from their own professional institutions, where they had held no subordinate rank, to pour the elements of just equality and manly self-reliance into the character of our youth.

Again, it is the business of the college to make scholars, not teachers. No college, as such, undertakes to train physicians, or lawyers, or divines. This is the work of the respective professional institutions. Why, then, should it assume to prepare the teacher?

There is as much actual difference between the ordinary college graduate and the school teacher, as there is between the college graduate and the doctor, the lawyer, or the clergyman. The most eminent and useful professors of a college may not be at all adapted to training students in the art of teaching, and it is this want of adaptation in the college course to the due preparation of the teacher of the common school that has caused the most liberal and intelligent governments in Europe, and the most advanced common school States of this Union, to expend vast sums of money in establishing Normal schools for the strict professional education of teachers.

It is proper, however, to say that with respect to the particular institution of learning named in the bill, I am well satisfied that it sustains a very high character for usefulness in its several departments, and that it deserves to be liberally encouraged. But for these reasons, viz: that the plan now proposed has been heretofore tried and has failed; that it is a virtual repeal of the principle of the act of the 20th of May, 1857; that it is local and partial in its nature; that it is calculated to degrade instead of elevating the profession of teaching, and that it proposes the training of teachers in institutions not adapted to the purpose, in my opinion the bill should not become a law, and accordingly I herewith return it to the House of Representatives, where it originated, for reconsideration.

WM. F. PACKER.

And on the question,

Shall the above bill become a law notwithstanding the objections of the Governor.

Mr. RAMSDELL said—

Mr. SPEAKER, were I to consult the promptings of modesty, rather than those of duty, I should refrain from expressing my views in reference to the veto message now before this House. In most of the veto messages which our Executive has submitted to this body, I have cheerfully and heartily acquiesced. When any constitutional provision has been infringed upon, as sometimes happens in the haste with which business is dispatched here, the duty of a member is plain. In all such cases, sir, I have voted to sustain vetoes, and shall continue to do so. In the present case, no such objections are urged. The bill passed this body by a large majority, after much discussion. It went to the Senate and there received a two-thirds majority. It finds its way to the Executive Chamber, and there, after a stay of about ten days, is sent to this House, in which it originated, accompanied with the veto message referred to. Such is the history of this bill.

The reasons on which the Governor predicates his objections, are substantially these:

First—That the plan now proposed to educate teachers has been heretofore tried and failed.

Second—That it is a repeal of the act of 1857.

Third—That it is local and partial.

Fourth—That it proposes the training of teachers in an institution not adapted to the purpose.

As to the first reason (?) of the Executive that the plan now proposed, has been heretofore tried and failed. Sir, I have ever been in the main, a friend to the present common school system. I have watched its workings and its results. I have endeavored to become familiar with its operations; but, sir, in all my reading and observation, I have never heard of a "similar plan proposed." Where was the college located? When did it have an existence that proposed to educate a certain number of teachers for a given sum? I say it reluctantly, sir, but I say it nevertheless, the premise is unsupported by the facts.

The second objection, that it repeals the act of 1857, appears to me equally fallacious. Sir, there is no repealing section in this bill. How can it be said to conflict with the Normal school act? But if it does so conflict, I cannot think it wrong. For what was that act (the Normal school act,) instituted? Certainly not for this age, or this generation. The name sounds well; but, sir, when I characterize it as a "colossal humbug," I only express what two-thirds of the people in the rural districts of the State believe it to be—a high-sounding name, but an impracticable and hollow theory, which can never succeed, save by direct aid from the State.

When the news of the passage of this bill reached the different localities of the State, all the pigmy subordinates of an endangered system send up a howl against it. Supposing that it would prevent large appropriations to the idol of their future hopes, they, of one accord, exclaim, like Micah of old, "Ye have taken away my gods! What have I more?"

Sir, I do not say that this influence, or any other, induced this veto, but if the signs of the times indicate anything, it is, that some modification of the present system is demanded by public opinion. No Executive, no corps of superintendents, can long resist the tide which the people are sending forth.

Pending the remarks of the gentleman from Venango,

The hour of five having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until to-morrow morning at 9½ o'clock.

BILLS IN PLACE.

Mr. GAZZAM read in his place and presented to the Chair, a bill, entitled "An Act to regulate the charges of railroad companies."

Mr. THOMPSON, "An Act to incorporate the Valley Forge military academy."

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

Senate bill No. 275, "An Act to authorize the execution of process in certain cases in equity, concerning property within the jurisdiction of the court on defendants not resident or found therein," came up in order, on second reading.

The first section being before the Senate,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCOFIELD and Mr. BELL, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs Baldwin, Bell, Blood, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Parker, Rutherford, Scofield, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—21.

NAYS—Messrs. Coffey, Gregg, Harris, Palmer, Penney and Welsh—6.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The remaining sections of the bill were agreed to; as, also, the title; when, by request, the bill was permitted to lie over.

House bill No. 233, "An Act authorizing the State treasurer to pay Nathaniel White for damages sustained by him from the Commonwealth," came up in order.

The first section being before the Senate,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCOFIELD and Mr. WELSH, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Fetter, Finney, Palmer, Parker, Rutherford, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Welsh and Wright—11.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Gazzam, Gregg, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Penney, Scofield, Thompson, Turney and Cresswell, Speaker—16.

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the bill fell.

Senate bill No. 540, "A further supplement to an act for the regulation and continuance of a system of education by common schools," came up in order on second reading, the question being upon the amendment offered by Mr. HARRIS to the sixth section.

The amendment was not agreed to.

Mr. SCOFIELD moved to strike out the words, "cities; boroughs and," after the word "several," in the first line.

Upon which amendment,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCOFIELD and Mr. HARRIS, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Coffey, Craig, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Randall, Rutherford, Scofield, Thompson, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—14.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Brewer, Fetter, Finney, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Palmer, Penney, Shaeffer, Steele, Turney and Welsh—16.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. FINNEY moved to insert after the word "electors," in the first line, the words, "of the several election districts of this Commonwealth;" which was agreed to.

Mr. SCOFIELD moved further to amend, by striking out all after the word "officers;" which was pending, when

Mr. TURNEY moved to postpone consideration of the same for the present.

Mr. BALDWIN moved to amend, by postponing indefinitely.

Upon which,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. TURNEY and Mr. BLOOD, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Brewer, Finney, Gazzam, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Penney, Rutherford, Shaeffer, Schindel and Cresswell, Speaker—13.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Nunemacher, Randall, Scofield, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Yardley—17.

So the question was determined in the negative, and the motion to postpone for the present was agreed to.

On leave given, Mr. WELSH, (from the Committee on Finance,) reported, with amendment, "An Act to tax the capital stock of the companies to whom the canals were transferred, agreeably to the provisions of an act for the sale of the public works."

Mr. WELSH moved that when the Senate adjourn it adjourn to meet at 9½ o'clock to-morrow morning; which was not agreed to.

BILLS CONSIDERED AND PASSED.

On motion of Mr. SCOFIELD, House bill No. 765, "A further supplement to the act incorporating the Coudersport, Portage and Allegheny River railroad company."

On motion of Mr. SCHINDEL, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Sancona iron company."

On motion of Mr. RUTHERFORD, House bill No. 696, "An Act authorizing the laying out of a public park in the borough of Harrisburg, to be called Harris park."

On motion of Mr. PARKER, House bill No. 405, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Fairmount and Arch Street passenger railway company."

Upon suspending the rule,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PARKER and Mr. RANDALL, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS.—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Blood, Coffey, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaeffer, Steele, Thompson, Wright and Yardley—21.

NAYS.—Messrs. Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Miller, Nunemacher, Randall, Schindel, Welsh and Cresswell, Speaker—9.

Mr. ELLMAKER moved that the rules be suspended, and that the House proceed to the consideration of Senate bill No. 122, "A further supplement to an act relative to a State road in Lancaster and Chester counties."

Mr. PEIRCE called for a division of the question.

On the first division—the suspension of the rule,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. ACKER and Mr. BERTOLET, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS.—Messrs. Abbott, Barnsley, Bayard, Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Galley, Good, Gratz, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Keneagy, Ketchum, Matthews, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Palm, Patterson, Pinkerton, Price, Pughe, Quigley, Smead, Styer, Thompson, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wilson, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—41.

NAVS—Messrs. Acker, Bertolet, Boyer, (Cleagfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Chase, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Fleming, Foster, Graham, Irish, Jackson, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Nill, Oaks, Peirce, Proudfoot, Rose, Shafer, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thorn, Wagonseller, Warden, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams (Bucks,) and Zoller—37.

So the question was determined in the negative, two-thirds not voting affirmatively.

PETITIONS, &c.

The following petitions, &c., were presented and referred to their appropriate committees:

Mr. KINNEY, the petition of citizens of Bradford county, praying for such amendment to the State Constitution as will give to colored citizens equal rights with the whites.

Mr. PROUDFOOT, one from citizens of Cambria county, praying for a tax on dogs.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) one from citizens of Washington county, in favor of a law to abolish the office of sealer of weights and measures in said county.

Mr. WILLISTON asked, but did not obtain leave, to introduce a bill.

BILLS CALLED UP.

Mr. MANN called up House bill No. 1082, "An Act to lay out a State road in Potter and M'Kean counties;" which was considered and passed, and sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. MATTHEWS called up House bill No. 976, "A further supplement to the act to incorporate the Philadelphia and Trenton railroad company."

An amendment was offered by Mr. FISHER; which was agreed to.

Mr. NEALL offered an amendment, as follows:

Provided, That no steam power be used for the transit of passengers or freight over said road, from Front and Harrison to Third and Willow Streets; which was agreed to.

Mr. WILEY contended that time was unnecessary for the people living on the proposed route, to forward their remonstrances. There was no necessity for hurrying its passage. It had only been a few days since the House passed a bill without the knowledge or assent of the people; and a bill too, which the chairman of the Railroad Committee had kept locked up in his desk, until within a short time of its being brought up for consideration.

Mr. WALBORN denied utterly that he had kept the bill locked up for any special purpose, and explained that he had only received it on the morning of the day on which it was offered.

Mr. WILEY, alluding to the merits of the bill before the House, said that the extension of the Philadelphia and Trenton railroad was not needed, inasmuch as the City passenger railroad cars fulfilled every desired purpose. There was no necessity for the new road.

Mr. THORN said that a few years ago, the constituents of the gentleman who had just spoken, had desired a railroad to enable them to hold communication with the thickly built portions of Philadelphia. Their petition was granted, and the Frankford and Southwark railroad was constructed. The gentleman (Mr. WILEY,) now refused the very boon which a preceding Legislature had bestowed upon his constituents.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) was in favor of the passage of the bill, and would even be willing to vote to extend its provisions, so as to enable the company to run their cars into the depots of the Baltimore or Pennsylvania Central companies. He had occasion, when visiting his home, about once every two weeks, to pass over the Philadelphia and Trenton railroad for twenty miles, and he had invariably found it more trouble and expensive to proceed from the Kensington depot to the Pennsylvania Central depot in Philadelphia, than over this whole distance.

The charges made that the Camden and Amboy railroad were at the bottom of this movement, were not worthy of consideration, and amounted to nothing at all. That corporation was great and beneficial, and he was one of its friends. It was of immense utility in sustaining the government of New Jersey, and controlled the machinery of legislation in that State.

Mr. NILL inquired whether the city passengers had not kept the machinery of legislation active in Pennsylvania.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) replied that they probably had, with the assistance of a good deal of grease.

Mr. WILEY said the gentleman from Bucks had been mistaken about the expense of passing through Philadelphia. By merely walking about two squares it was possible to reach the Kensington depot for six and a quarter cents by either the Second and Third or Fifth and Sixth Street passenger railroads.

Already there were railroads constructed on nearly all of the streets running parallel with the Delaware river below Broad street, and the people of the district through which it was contemplated to take this Philadelphia and Trenton extension, were naturally and justly opposed to it. There had been no petitions in its favor, and no evidence that it was desired by anybody but the company. As for the allegation that it was not a move of the Camden and Amboy, he had only to say that the Philadelphia and Trenton road, in point of fact, belonged to that corporation. Gentlemen might say what they pleased on this head, but everybody knew how the matter really stood.

No doubt the Camden and Amboy had proved of incalculable benefit to New Jersey, inasmuch as it owned the State. For the very reason that its powers were already so extensive, he was opposed to increasing them, by giving the company any further privileges in Pennsylvania.

Mr. KENEAGY moved to postpone the bill for the present.

Mr. PRICE opposed the postponement, on the ground that it was needless. The merits or demerits of the act were apparent to everybody, and if it was postponed the only sufferers would be the traveling community. He knew from personal experience that the extension was absolutely needed. He had arrived at Kensington depot one night last summer in the rain, and had been obliged to pay an extortionate price to get into the heart of the city. This inconvenience would be remedied by the extension.

Mr. WILEY wished to know whether passenger railroads had been constructed at that time.

Mr. PRICE said that they were partially constructed. The whole object of postponement, he would further say, was to defeat the bill.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) said that it was singular that gentlemen wanted the bill postponed, on the ground that they did not understand it. The question was not at all complicated, and he thought that any one with ordinary intelligence might see through it in a moment. The whole issue was whether passengers should be put to inconvenience and expense in getting into the city, or whether they should be taken there in the cars of the Philadelphia and Trenton company. Now some time since, he had visited Pittsburg, and was agreeably surprised to find himself carried into the very heart of the city. Why not adopt the same course in Philadelphia?

It was certainly unjust that the tens of thousands of travelers should be incommoded on account of the opposition of a few citizens. As for postponement, let the bill either stand or fall now by its own merits.

Mr. GRITMAN said that it was quite cheering to witness the interest which the gentleman from Bucks took in the affairs of Philadelphia; and it was, moreover, amusing to see how, apparently, he considered that the whole city was intended expressly for his use, free of charge.

He continued, further, and without expressing any decided opinion on the subject, thought that the people of Philadelphia ought themselves to determine upon the subject of the extension of the Philadelphia and Trenton railroad. They could more appropriately review objections which might be urged, such as the existence of numerous public schools upon the streets to be used, &c.

Mr. WALBORN thought that all who were acquainted with Philadelphia, the objects of the bill, and who understood the relation which those objects bore to the welfare of the metropolis, would vote for the extension of the Philadelphia and Trenton railroad.

A few days ago, a bill had passed the House, which provided for the construction of a tunnel nearly two miles and a half long, under one of the streets of Philadelphia. The project was one of the greatest ever attempted in this or any other country. The bill now before the House was a link in the chain, and would facilitate the connection of all railroads centering in Philadelphia.

Mr. PRICE wanted to know whether it would ever be determined where the depot of the underground railroad was to be located.

Mr. WALBORN said that he had seen drawings of the depots, and plans and sketches of every detail of the project.

Six years ago he had offered in councils, in the city of Philadelphia, a resolution relative to tunnelling the streets. That resolution had given rise to this very bill; and he was proud, after having overcome the opposition which he had encountered, and after having been denounced as a madman, to stand here to day and claim to be the originator of this great design, a design which had received the sanction of such eminent engineers as J. Edgar Thompson, and the members of the United States corps.

Now, this act was simply to allow the Philadelphia and Trenton railroad company to become a party to the union project, and to connect with other roads without recourse to outside conveyances or means. The result would show that the popular voice sanctioned the improvement.

The Camden and Amboy terminated opposite the city, and the trade which now flowed over that road would naturally come by the Philadelphia and Trenton railroad extension, directly into the heart of the city.

The course of some of the members of the House was hard to understand. Only a few days ago, and a portion of them had given the right of way to the extension of the Lebanon Valley railroad, which was directly calculated to take trade through the State. Now, they wanted to injure Philadelphia. It was very apparent that many of them knew nothing of the railroad interests of the city.

Mr. KENEAGY said that this was a reason for postponing the question until they could understand the interests.

Mr. WALBORN said that there seemed to be a disposition on the part of gentlemen to use the argument of ignorance, in order to procure a postponement.

Mr. CHURCH did not say that he would not finally vote in favor of the bill, but desired to have some more light on the subject, and to hear the opinion of the people who were interested. He was informed by the member from the Thirteenth District, (Mr. EVANS,) that there was considerable opposition to it.

Mr. FISHER said that the road only proceeded for a square and a half through that district.

Mr. CHURCH said that, moreover, there were public schools in one of the streets. This might be a serious objection.

He continued further to discuss the subject, alleging that he had been the firm friend of the Union tunnel project.

Mr. NILL wished to know whether it would result like the Atlantic Telegraph Cable.

Mr. NEALL considered that the remarks of the gentleman from Bucks, (Mr. WILLIAMS,) had been ill-timed and ill-natured. He had cast an imputation on travel through Philadelphia.

He continued further to defend Philadelphia, and to refute allegations and intimations against the intentions of her legislators and people.

Mr. THORN believed that the interests of the city and the people, required the road to be extended as provided by the act.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to postpone indefinitely, in order to allow debate. He considered that the question simply was, whether travelers should be conveyed directly to their destination, or be subjected to the extortionate demands of hack-drivers.

Mr. EVANS acknowledged, as Mr. FISHER had asserted, that but a small portion of the road passed through his district. The gentleman (Mr. FISHER,) nevertheless, knew that many of his own constituents were opposed to the bill.

Mr. FISHER said that no remonstrances had been presented against the road, except as far as regarded Front street, which it was not proposed to use.

Mr. EVANS knew that the people had tore up track there years ago. He wished to inform the House, moreover, that New Market street, which it was intended to use, was only twenty-six feet wide, and contained three public schools within four squares.

Mr. KETCHUM made an amusing speech reviewing the Union tunnel project.

The motion to postpone indefinitely was withdrawn.

On the motion to postpone for the present, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. EVANS and Mr. CHURCH, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS.—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Bertelet, Chase, Church, Cnster, Dismant, Dodds, Evans, Fleming, Galley, Gray, Gritman, Hottenstine, Keneagy, Ketchum, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) McDowell, Palm, Pinkerton, Ramsdell, Rose, Shields, Stephens, Stoneback, Stnart, Taylor, Thompson, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—37.

NAYS.—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Bayard, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fisher, Foster, Glatz, Good, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Kinney, Mann, Mahaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Miller, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Patterson, Pennell, Peirce, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Shafer, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Styer, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson and Wolf—50.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. EVANS moved that the House go into committee of the whole, for the purpose of special amendment, as follows:

Provided, That the consent of the councils of the city of Philadelphia shall be first had and obtained, before said company shall lay their track or use and occupy any part or portions of the street aforesaid: And provided, The said company shall pay into the State treasury the sum of three mills per ton per mile on all freight passing over the portion of their road lying within the limits of the State of Pennsylvania, and the sum of twenty-five cents for each and every passenger over the same portion of their road.

Mr. WALBORN hoped that the House would not consent to go into committee of the whole for any such object. He strenuously opposed the imposition of this tonnage tax.

Mr. CHURCH favored the amendment. It had been alleged that money had been brought here to push through this bill. He did not believe it.

Mr. ABBOTT said that the matter should be referred to the councils of Philadelphia, as was provided in one of the amendments.

Mr. HAMERSLY rejected the insinuations which had been thrown out against the members of the House by Mr. CHURCH. If corruption had been attempted anywhere, it was just as likely to have been urged in the committee of which the gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. CHURCH,) was a member, as anywhere.

Mr. CHURCH denied having cast any reflections.

Mr. HAMERSLY wished to know, then, what the gentleman had meant by referring to an expenditure of money.

Mr. CHURCH had referred to an expenditure, but had, at the same time, said that he did not believe the members could be bribed.

Mr. HAMERSLY said that it was cowardly to make general insinuations, and still more cowardly to back down from them.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) wanted to know what the rumors of bribery were that Mr. CHURCH had referred to.

Messrs. CHURCH, HAMERSLY and McCLURE spoke further.

On the motion to go into committee of the whole,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. EVANS and Mr. CHURCH, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS.—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Bertelet, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Church, Custer, Dodds, Evans, Fleming, Galley, Good, Graham, Gratz, Gritman, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mahaffey, Nill, Oaks, Patterson, Pinkerton, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Shields, Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Wolf, Woodring and Zoller—46.

NAYS.—Messrs. Acker, Bayard, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Dnrboraw, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fisher, Foster, Green, Hamersly, Irish, Mann, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Miller, Neall, Palm, Pennell, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Shafer,

LEGISLATIVE RECORD.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE LEGISLATURE OF PENNSYLVANIA.

FOR THE SESSION OF 1859.

No. 62.

Smith, (Berks,) Styer, Taylor, Thorn, Walborn, Wilcox, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson and Lawrence, Speaker—88.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. KINNEY paired off with Mr. SMEAD.

The House accordingly resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. LAWRENCE, of Washington, in the chair,) on the above amendments; which were read and agreed to.

The committee rose, and the chairman reported the same to the House as committed.

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. HAMERSLY moved that the House go into committee of the whole for the purpose of general amendment; which was agreed to.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) was called to the chair.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to amend the bill, by striking from the same the amendments just adopted by the House, and introduced by Mr. EVANS.

Mr. HAMERSLY said that the effect of the tax would be to divert trade to the other side of the river.

Mr. KENEAGY moved to amend the amendment, by striking out the resolution relative to the tonnage tax.

Not agreed to.

The amendment of Mr. HAMERSLY was agreed to.

Mr. THORN moved that the committee rise and report the bill.

Agreed to.

Mr. THORN called the previous question; which was sustained.

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. EVANS and Mr. ZOLLER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Barnsley, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Eokman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fisher, Glatz, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, Ketohum, Mann, Matthews, McClure, McCurdy, McDowell, Miller, Palm, Patterson, Pennell, Peirce, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Shafer, Styer, Taylor, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Wilcox, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson and Lawrence, Speaker—37.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Evans, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Good, Graham, Gray, Gritman, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Kinney, Lint, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mobaffey, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Pinkerton, Rohrer, Rose, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Wolf, Woodring and Zoller—47.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The hour of 1 having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

SENATE—AFTERNOON SESSION.

THURSDAY, March 24, 1859.

Agreeably to order the Senate met at three o'clock.

Mr. SCOFIELD moved that the Senate do now adjourn.

On which,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr.

WELSH and Mr. GREGG, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Scofield and Cresswell, Speaker—2.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gregg, Miller, Myer, Nuemacher, Palmer, Randall, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Welsh, Wright and Yardley—20.

So the question was determined in the negative.

On motion of Mr. GREGG, the Senate reconsidered the vote on House bill No. 233, "An Act authorizing the State Treasurer to pay Nathaniel White, for damages sustained by him from the Commonwealth," and consideration of the same was postponed.

On motion of Mr. GREGG, House bill No. 435, "An Act to authorize A. H. M'Henry, guardian of the minor children of Thomas Babb, to invest certain moneys belonging to such minor children in real estate," was re-committed to the Committee on Estates and Escheats.

On leave given, Mr. WRIGHT, (Corporations,) reported with amendment, House bill No. 700, "An Act to incorporate the Roxborough Odd Fellows' Hall association;" which, on motion of the same Senator, was taken up; and after being duly considered, passed finally.

Mr. BLOOD, on leave given, read in place and presented to the Chair, a bill, entitled "An Act authorizing the Surveyor General to sell certain land."

Mr. GREGG, (Finance,) reported as committed, "An Act authorizing the State Treasurer to refund certain money to Samuel Baird."

On motion of Mr. FETTER, Senate bill No. 875, "An Act relative to the high sheriff of Mifflin county," was taken up, and after being duly considered, was negative.

On motion of Mr. MYER, the Senate reconsidered its vote on the final passage of Senate bill No. 6, "An Act to incorporate the Towanda water company," (which had been returned by the Governor in compliance with the request of the Senate,) and the bill being again before the Senate, on motion of Mr. MYER, it was amended, and, as amended, passed finally.

BILLS CONSIDERED AND PASSED.

On motion of Mr. THOMPSON, House bill No. 652, "A further supplement to the act incorporating the Royersford bridge company, and the several supplements thereto."

On motion of Mr. PENNEY, (for the SPEAKER) Senate bill No. 868, "An Act relative to lists of assessment in Cambria county."

WM. F. PACKER

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed the House that the Senate amended the House resolution relative to the final adjournment of the Legislature, by extending the time from the 5th to the 14th day of April proximo.

And on the question,
Will the House concur?

Mr. CHASE moved its reference to the Committee on Ways and Means.

This raised some discussion, which was participated in by Messrs. M'CLURE, CHASE, NILL, WILLISTON, HAMERSLY, ROSE, THOMPSON, WALBORN and MILLER; whereupon the motion to commit was withdrawn.

Mr. WILCOX moved that the House concur in the Senate amendment.

Mr. WILLISTON moved to amend, by referring the same to the Committee on Ways and Means; which was not agreed to.

The question recurring,

Will the House concur in the Senate amendment, to adjourn on the 14th day of April?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. M'CLURE and Mr. PINKERTON, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Church, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Good, Graham, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Mehafeey, Matthews, M'Curdy, Miller, Oaks, Patterson, Peirce, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stonehack, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Wolf, Woodring and Zoller—69.

NAYS—Messrs. Chase, Fearon, Fisher, Foster, Gratz, Gritman, Irish, Keneagy, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, M'Clure, M'Dowell, Neall, Nill, Palm, Pennell, Pinkerton, Stuart, Styer, Thorn, Witman, Wigton, Williston and Lawrence, Speaker—24.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Senate amendments to various bills were read and concurred in.

The House resumed the consideration of House bill No. 976, "A further supplement to the act incorporating the Philadelphia and Trenton railroad, approved the 23d day of February, 1832."

The question being,

Will the House agree to the report of the committee?

Mr. ABBOTT, asked, and obtained, the unanimous consent of the House to insert a proviso in the bill—"that said company must have the consent of the councils of Philadelphia before laying said track or tracks."

Mr. EVANS moved that the House go into committee of the whole, for the purpose of special amendment. That said company, in consideration of the occupancy of said streets, shall pay annually into the city and State treasury the sum of five thousand dollars each.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the motion to go into committee of the whole?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. EVANS and Mr. ROSE, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Eckman, Evans, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Good, Gray, Gritman, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Kinney, Laird, M'Curdy, Oaks, Palm, Pinkerton, Rohrer, Rose, Shields, Smead, Stephens, Stonehack, Stuart, Thompson, Warden, Witman, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Wolf and Woodring—43.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Durboraw, Ellmaker, Fisher, Glatz, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, Ketchum, Mann, M'Dowell, Miller, Neall, Peirce, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Shafer, Styer, Thorn, Walborn, Wilcox, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson and Lawrence, Speaker—32.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The House accordingly went into committee of the whole, (Mr. HILL in the Chair,) and the amendment was inserted.

The question being on the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. EVANS and Mr. WILEY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Bayer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Good, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehafeey, Matthews, McDowell, Miller, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Pughe, Quigley, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Shields, Smead, Stephens, Stonehack, Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Wolf, Woodring and Zoller—73.

NAYS—Messrs. Burley, Chase, Church, Keneagy, M'Curdy, Neall, Nill, Proudfoot, Rose and Lawrence, Speaker—10.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. WILCOX asked and obtained the unanimous consent of the House to refer the act concerning the removal of the seat of justice from Clearfield to Curwensville, in the county of Clearfield.

CITIZENS' PASSENGER RAILWAY.

Mr. MEHAFFEY called up House bill No. 796, "A supplement to an act to incorporate the Citizens' passenger railway."

Several amendments were offered by Messrs. HARDING and EVANS, and were agreed to.

Mr. WALBORN moved further to amend the bill, providing that said company shall extend their road further than Ridge avenue; which was not agreed to.

The question being on the section as amended,

Mr. WALBORN moved to amend, by adding to the end thereof the following proviso:

That said company shall pay the sum of one thousand dollars per mile annually, the whole length of their road, into the city treasury, for the aforesaid privileges.

Mr. GRITMAN moved to strike out "city treasury," and insert "State Treasury;" which was not agreed to.

A rambling discussion here ensued;

When Mr. EVANS called for the previous question; which was sustained.

And on the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. CHURCH and Mr. HARDING, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barnsley, Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Campbell, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Good, Gratz, Gray, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehafeey, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Rohrer, Shafer, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stonehack, Stuart, Styer, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—68.

YAYS—Messrs. Bayard, Burley, Chase, Church, Foster, Graham, Green, Mann, Ramsdell, Rose, Taylor, Thorn, Witman, Wilcox and Wolf—15.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. WALBORN'S amendment was then put to the House, and lost.

The section as amended was agreed to.

And on the question,

Shall the bill pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WALBORN and Mr. CHURCH, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bertolet, Boyer, (Schnylkill,) Brodhead, Campbell, Custer, Dismant, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Gileley, Glutz, Good Gratz, Gray, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Hottensine, Jackson, Keneagy, Lord, Mehafeey, M'Clure, M'Dowell, Miller, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Patterson, Peirce, Plakerton, Price, Pughe, Quigley, Rohrer, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Siver, Thompson, Thora, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Wiley, Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—54.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bayer, (Clearfield,) Burley, Church, Dodds, Durbin, Graham, Green, Harding, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mana, Matthews, M'Curry, Palm, Rose, Smend, Taylor, Walborn, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) and Wilson—26.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The bill as amended is as follows:

"That the Citizens' passenger railway company be, and the same is hereby authorized, to extend their railway, by laying a single track with sufficient turnouts or sidings, along Poplar street from Tenth street to Nineteenth street; and shall have the right to connect the tracks already laid, by a single track along Columbia avenue, from Tenth to Eleventh streets, conforming to the established grades of said streets."

The hour of five having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until to-morrow morning at 9½ o'clock.

SENATE.

FRIDAY, March 25, 1859.

The Senate was called to order by the SPEAKER at the usual hour.

The Journal was partly read; when,

On motion of Mr. HARRIS, its further reading was dispensed with.

PETITIONS, MEMORIALS, &c.

Mr. WRIGHT presented the petition of citizens of Frankford and vicinity, praying for a modification of the Sunday laws.

Mr. MARSELIS, a memorial of the president and directors of the City Bank of Philadelphia, for a change of the location of said bank.

Mr. CRAIG, two remonstrances of citizens of Monroe county, against the repeal of the tonnage tax.

Mr. YARDLEY, a petition of the officers and directors of the Farmers' Bank of Bucks County, for the passage of a law compelling banks to keep their notes at par in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

Also, two petitions of citizens of Bucks county, of similar import.

Mr. HARRIS, a petition of citizens of Butler county, for a revision of the militia law.

Mr. FRANCIS, a petition of two hundred and four citizens of Lawrence county, praying for the abolition of the office of county superintendent of common schools.

Mr. PENNEY, a remonstrance of citizens of Pittsburgh, against any change in the school laws.

Also, a petition of citizens of Bradford county, praying for such an alteration of the Constitution of the State as will allow negroes to vote.

Mr. GAZZAM, a petition of citizens of Allegheny city and Sharpsburg, in favor of "An Act to incorporate the Allegheny and Sharpsburg passenger railway company."

Also, a petition of six hundred and twenty-five citizens of Allegheny county, in favor of the passage of House bill No. 555, establishing a work-house in said county."

Mr. SHAEFFER, a remonstrance of citizens of Lancaster city, against any branch of the Columbia Bank being located in said city.

REPORT OF A COMMITTEE.

Mr. FRANCIS, (Vice and Immorality,) with amendment, House bill No. 555, "An Act for the reformation of drunkards, vagrants, &c., in Allegheny county."

BILLS IN PLACE.

Mr. MARSELIS read in his place and presented to the Chair, a bill, entitled "A supplement to the act incorporating the City Bank of Philadelphia."

Also, "An Act to increase the number of aldermen in the Eleventh ward of the city of Philadelphia."

Mr. PARKER, "An Act to reduce the number of common councilmen in Philadelphia."

Mr. PENNEY, (for the SPEAKER.) "A further supplement to the act regulating lateral railroads."

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

Senate bill No. 268, "An Act to incorporate the Commercial Bank of Pittsburg," came up in order on third reading, and after the first section had been read,

On motion of Mr. GAZZAM, consideration of the same was postponed for the present.

Senate bill No. 275, "An Act to authorize execution of process in certain cases in equity, concerning property within the jurisdiction of the court on defendants not resident or found therein," came up in order on third reading; whereupon, the first section being before the Senate,

Mr. BELL moved to go into committee of the whole, for the purpose of amending, by inserting after the word "hereditaments" in the seventh line, the words, "or for the perpetuation of testimony concerning any land, tenements, et cetera."

The motion was agreed to, and the Senate resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. SHAEFFER in the Chair.)

The proposed amendment was agreed to, and the committee rose.

On the question,

Shall the report of the committee be adopted?

It was determined in the affirmative.

The several sections of the bill were agreed to.

On its final passage,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCOTFIELD and Mr. BELL, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Craig, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—18.

NAYS—Messrs. Brewer, Gregg, Harris, Scofield and Welsh—5.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

BILLS CONSIDERED.

On motion of Mr. BELL, the Senate proceeded to the consideration of Senate bill No. 346, "An Act to authorize the appointment of boards of visitors to the several houses of employment, and for the support of the poor of this Commonwealth."

The first section of the bill being before the Senate,

Mr. BREWER moved to strike out the words, "and graduate of some known medical school," after the word "physician," in the ninth line.

Upon which motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BREWER and Mr. MILLER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Fetter, Finney, Keller, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Scofield, Steele, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—15.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Francis, Marselis, Miller, Thompson and Yardley—6.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The section, as amended, was adopted; as also the remaining sections; and the bill lies over on third reading.

Mr. BREWER called up Senate bill No. 280, "An Act relating to costs," on second reading.

Upon the question,

Will the Senate agree to the first section?

It was determined in the negative, and the bill fell.

On motion of Mr. PENNEY, the Senate proceeded to consider House bill No. 86, "An Act relating to costs in certain cases."

Upon the first section of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BELL and Mr. PENNEY, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Coffey, Craig, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Thompson and Yardley—14.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Blood, Brewer, Fetter, Keller, Marselis, Nunemacher, Randall, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—15.

So the question was determined in the negative, and the bill fell.

On motion of Mr. RANDALL, House bill No. 598, "A supplement to an act to give jurisdiction in equity to the supreme court and the court of common pleas in the county of Philadelphia, in cases of disputed boundaries," was taken up, and after being duly considered, passed finally.

Mr. BELL called up Senate bill No. 4, "An Act to alter the districts of the supreme court," on second reading.

The first section being before the Senate,

Mr. BREWER moved to amend, by striking out all after the enacting clause, and inserting the following:

"That the Eastern, Western and Northern districts of the supreme court are abolished, but the prothonotary of the Eastern district shall continue as prothonotary of the nisi prius court."

SEC. 2. That all records and papers relating to any cause pending and undetermined in either of said districts, shall be transferred to the custody of the prothonotary of said court at Harrisburg.

SEC. 3. That the regular sessions of said court in banc, shall be held in the capitol at Harrisburg.

SEC. 4. That the judges, if they think it necessary, may sit elsewhere to hear arguments; but all final orders, judgments and decrees shall be made and recorded at Harrisburg; and all writs shall issue from thence.

SEC. 5. That the ordinary and proper expenses of said court at Harrisburg, shall be paid by the Commonwealth upon legal appropriations; but when the judges hear arguments elsewhere, the expenses shall be paid by the proper county, as heretofore.

SEC. 6. That the court shall meet at Harrisburg on the first Monday of May, in each year, and sit by continued session as long as may be necessary.

SEC. 7. That the court shall have power, as heretofore, to fix the return days of writs for the respective counties, and the time for hearing the causes therefrom.

SEC. 8. That this act shall take effect on the first Monday of May next; but nevertheless, the regular September term for one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine, shall be held at Pittsburg, as heretofore; and all acts inconsistent herewith, shall be and are hereby repealed.

On which amendment,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BREWER and Mr. MILLER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Brewer, Fetter, Finney, Gregg, Myer, Palmer, Scofield, Shaeffer, Steele, Welsh and Cresswell, Speaker—12.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Coffey, Craig, Francis, Gazzam, Harris, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Parker, Penney, Randall, Schindel, Thompson, Wright and Yardley—18.

So the question was determined in the negative.

On motion of Mr. COFFEY, Blair county was attached to the Western district.

And on motion of Mr. FINNEY, Erie county was added to the Eastern district.

Upon the first section of the bill, as amended,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RANDALL and Mr. SHAEFFER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Coffey, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Harris, Marselis, Miller, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Scofield, Schindel, Thompson and Wright—15.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Gregg, Keller, Myer, Nunemacher, Penney, Shaeffer, Steele, Welsh, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—15.

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the bill fell.

Mr. FINNEY called up Senate bill No. 5, "An Act to make the sessions of the supreme court permanent at Harrisburg," which was so amended (in committee of the whole,) as to simply abolish the Northern district of the supreme court, and attach it to the Middle district.

The bill, as amended, went through its various readings.

The title was amended, so as to read, "An Act to abolish the Northern district of the supreme court;" and, as thus amended, was agreed to.

Mr. KELLER said, every Senator appeared to cling with great pertinacity to his own district; and it appeared that his own little district is the only one to be slaughtered. Now, Mr. SPEAKER, said Mr. KELLER, I can see no just cause for this; and I hope the Senate will not pass this bill. I consider it unjust and unfair, for there is no cause for this disposition to lay under the ban of censorship my little locality. Our beautiful town of Sunbury is situated on the banks of the Susquehanna—a site unequalled for beautiful scenery, healthiness or advantages. Independent of these advantages, the accommodations are unsurpassed, and the citizens are kind and hospitable. But there are other inducements in its favor. The town of Sunbury is convenient of access, being only two hours' ride from the capital of the State. I can, therefore, see no just cause for abolishing the district; and I hope the Senate will do not only itself, but the district which I represent justice, by voting down the bill.

On its final passage,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr.

KELLER and Mr. FINNEY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Scofield, Shaeffer, Steele, Thompson, Welsh, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—26.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Harris, Keller, and Schindel—4.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. SCOFIELD, the Senate proceeded to consider House bill No. 784, "An Act to authorize the overseers of the poor in the counties of Tioga, Potter and Northumberland to levy a poor tax on unseated lands."

Said bill went through its various readings, and passed finally.

Mr. KELLER called up House bill No. 728, "An Act to pay the clerk and sergeant-at-arms employed by the committee appointed to investigate the condition of certain banks of this Commonwealth," upon which the Senate resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. PENNEY in the chair.)

Mr. RANDALL moved to amend, by striking out all after the enacting clause, and inserting: "That said clerk and sergeant-at-arms shall receive two hundred dollars each."

Which was agreed to.

After some time, the committee rose, and the chairman reported the bill as amended.

On motion, the Senate proceeded to second reading; when

Mr. WELSH moved to strike out "two hundred dollars," and insert "one hundred and fifty."

Upon which,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RANDALL and Mr. WELSH, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Coffey, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Miller, Nunemacher, Penney, Scofield, Welsh, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—12.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Brewer, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Marselis, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson and Wright—16.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Upon its final passage,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GREGG and Mr. WELSH, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Brewer, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Marselis, Myer, Parker, Randall, Shaeffer, Schindel, Thompson and Wright—14.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Gregg, Harris, Nunemacher, Penney, Scofield, Steele, Welsh, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—10.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On leave given, Mr. GAZZAM moved that when the Senate adjourns it adjourn to meet to-morrow morning at 9½ o'clock; upon which,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GAZZAM and Mr. COFFEY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Gazzam, Marselis, Miller, Penney, Shaeffer, Schindel, Welsh and Cresswell, Speaker—9.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Myer, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Scofield, Steele, Thompson, Wright and Yardley—20.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. MILLER moved that the Senate take up Senate bill No. 285, "An Act relative to brokers," which was agreed to; and the bill having passed committee of the whole, lies over.

On motion of Mr. YARDLEY, Senate bill No.

715, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Attleboro, Hulmeville and Bristol turnpike road company," was taken up, and after being duly considered, passed finally.

Mr. SCHINDEL called up House bill No. 752, "An Act to incorporate the Richmond and Schuylkill passenger railway company."

Said bill went through its various readings and passed finally.

Mr. GAZZAM moved that the Senate resume the consideration of Senate bill No. 268, "An Act to incorporate the Commercial Bank of Pittsburg."

Upon which motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GAZZAM and Mr. RANDALL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Coffey, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Shaeffer, Thompson and Yardley—11.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Brewer, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Randall, Steele, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—13.

So the question was determined in the negative.

On motion of Mr. STEELE, (the Committee on Canals and Inland Navigation having been discharged from its consideration,) the Senate proceeded to consider House bill No. 1062, "A supplement to an act to improve the navigation of the Lehigh river, in the counties of Monroe and Luzerne."

On motion of Mr. YARDLEY, (after the first section had been read,) the consideration of the same was postponed for the present.

Mr. THOMPSON called up Senate bill No. 710, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Spinnerstown and Goshenhoppen turnpike road company."

This bill passed finally.

On motion of Mr. BELL, Senate bill No. 169, "An Act relative to commissions of justices of the peace and aldermen," was brought before the Senate.

This bill passed its various readings; when, after some discussion upon its merits, on motion of Mr. BELL, it was postponed for the present.

On leave given, Mr. RANDALL read in place, "A further supplement to the act incorporating the Schuylkill railroad company."

On motion of Mr. MYER, House bill No. 876, "An Act to authorize the town council of the borough of Towanda to levy a special money tax" was taken up and passed finally.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented a message from the Governor; which was read, as follows, viz:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, March 25, 1859. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN—I have approved and signed the following acts of the General Assembly, viz:

"A supplement to an act entitled, 'An Act to incorporate the Big Mountain improvement company, approved April, 12th, 1851.'"

"An Act authorizing the directors of the poor in the county of Cumberland to re-build the barn and other buildings destroyed by fire."

"An Act relating to taxing dogs in West Nottingham township, Chester county."

"An Act to provide for the election of an additional supervisor in Wayne township, Mifflin county."

"An Act extending the provisions of an act concerning the apportionment of road viewers and road damages in Northampton county, to the county of Monroe," passed 22d April, 1858.

"An Act to change the lines of the borough of California, in the county of Washington."

"A supplement to the act incorporating the Clinton County coal company, authorizing the bondholders to re-organize a company, under the name, style and title of the Eagleton coal company."

"A supplement to an act to incorporate the Fairmount and Arch Street passenger railway company," approved April 16, 1858.

"An Act authorizing a change of the name, style and title of the Allegheny and Bald Eagle railroad, coal and iron company, in Centre county."

"An Act to encourage the destruction of foxes in the county of Beaver."

"A supplement to an act to incorporate the Milton Saving Bank."

"An Act to provide for the collection of additional taxes in the township of Bingham, in the county of Potter."

"Supplement to the charter of the borough of Harrisburg."

"An Act to incorporate the members of the Olivet Methodist Episcopal church, in the village of Coatesville, Chester county."

"An Act to incorporate the Clearfield gas company."

"An Act supplementary to an act relating to roads, highways and bridges, in the counties of Warren, Venango and Mifflin, approved 9th April, 1844."

"An Act relative to passenger railway companies in the city of Philadelphia."

"Joint resolution to direct the Surveyor General to issue a patent to John Williams, Jr."

WM. F. PACKER.

The hour of one having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

SENATE.—AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Senate met and was called to order at 3 o'clock. A quorum of Senators was present.

On motion of Messrs. MYER and YARDLEY, the vote on Senate bill No. 572, "Resolutions supplementary to an act relative to a revised penal code of Pennsylvania," was reconsidered, and consideration of the same was postponed for the present.

Mr. PALMER, on leave given, read in his place and presented to the chair, a bill, entitled "A supplement to an act to repeal former acts relative to the borough of Schuylkill Haven;" and, on his motion, (the Committee on Corporations having been discharged from its consideration,) said bill was taken up, and after being duly considered, passed finally.

Mr. BELL called up House bill No. 1056, "An Act to authorize the trustees of the Glen Run church to sell and convey certain real estate;" which, (the Committee on Estates and Escheats having been discharged from its consideration,) passed to second reading; when, on motion of Mr. SHAEFFER, it was re-committed.

Mr. FRANCIS, from the Committee to Compare Bills, made a report; which was read.

The following bill passed to third reading:

On motion of Mr. BLOOD, (for the SPEAKER) House bill No. 437, "An Act to abolish the office of sealer of weights and measures in Clearfield county."

[On motion of Mr. SHAEFFER, the counties of Lancaster and Dauphin were stricken from the bill.]

BILLS CONSIDERED AND PASSED.

On motion of Mr. WRIGHT, (the Committee on Corporations having been discharged from its consideration,) House bill No. 821, "An Act to incorporate the Passenger Railroad relief association of Philadelphia."

On motion of Mr. YARDLEY, House bill No. 632, "An Act for the relief of Anna Stackhouse, a widow of a soldier in the Revolutionary war."

On motion of Mr. PARKER, House bill No. 694, "An Act to incorporate the Northern market company."

On motion of Mr. WRIGHT, (the Committee on Corporations having been discharged from its consideration,) House bill No. 530, "A further supplement to the act consolidating the city of Philadelphia."

On motion of Mr. MYER, House bill No. 495, "An Act to repeal an act to establish a ferry over the Susquehanna river, at or near Ulster, Bradford county, and the several supplements thereto."

On motion of Mr. FINNEY, House bill No. 1009, "An Act to amend the act regulating boroughs, so far as the same relates to the borough of Edenhoro', in Erie county."

On motion of Mr. FRANCIS, (the Committee on Roads and Bridges having been discharged from its consideration,) House bill No. 838, "An Act to empower the electors of Pollock township, Lawrence county, to elect supervisors of highways and overseers of the poor for said township."

On motion of Mr. PARKER, the Senate proceeded, agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, to the reconsideration of House bill No. 1097, "An Act to incorporate the Philadelphia City passenger railway company;" which was returned by the Governor with his objections thereto.

Mr. BELL moved to postpone consideration of the bill for the present; which motion he briefly supported, as a mark of respect due the Governor.

Upon the motion to postpone,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WRIGHT and Mr. BELL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Marselis, Nunemacher, Penney and Wright—5.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Keller, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Welsh, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—23.

So the question was determined in the negative.

A discussion upon the merits of the bill and the objections of the Governor ensued, participated in by Messrs. MARSELIS, PENNEY and WRIGHT, in favor of the ground taken by the Governor, and Mr. GAZZAM against it.

Pending this discussion, Mr. FINNEY moved to postpone consideration of the bill for the present.

And upon this motion called the previous question, being seconded by Messrs. GREGG, COFFEY and MYER.

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WRIGHT and Mr. BELL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Finney, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Welsh, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—28.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Marselis, Nunemacher, Penney and Wright—5.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

When the hour of five having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until 9½ o'clock to-morrow morning.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

FRIDAY, March 25, 1859.

The House was called to order at 9½ o'clock. SPEAKER in the Chair.

The Clerk read the Journal of yesterday.

RULES SUSPENDED.

Mr. CHASE moved that for the purpose of receiving reports from committees, and reading bills in place, the rules be suspended.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to amend, by embracing original resolutions; which was accepted.

Mr. THORN resisted the amendment, as thereby bills without status now, might by resolution take precedence over bills on third reading, by creating special orders for the consideration of such bills.

Mr. CHASE modified his motion, by striking out that portion of the same relating to original resolutions.

Mr. M'CLURE moved to amend, by restoring the same; which was not agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the original motion?

It was determined in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. ABBOTT, bills on the Private Calendar undisposed of, were made the special order for to-morrow morning.

BILL PASSED.

On motion of Mr. WAGENSELLER, (the Committee on Roads and Bridges having been discharged from the further consideration of the same,) "A further supplement to an act incorporating the Selinsgrove bridge company," was taken up and passed the House.

Mr. HAMERSLY, (same,) with amendment, "An Act to incorporate the Philadelphia Ocean steamship company."

Also, as committed, "An Act to incorporate the City and County insurance company of the city of Allegheny."

Mr. MILLER, as committed, "An Act for the appointment of policemen in the borough of Meadville, and for the settlement of claims on account of the poor of said borough."

Also, as committed, "An Act to incorporate the farmers and mechanics' mutual insurance company."

Also, with a negative recommendation, "An Act incorporating the borough of Johnstown."

Mr. GRATZ, (same,) as committed, Senate bill No. 440, "An Act to incorporate the Pittsburg park association."

Also, with amendment, "An Act to incorporate the Allen rolling mill."

Mr. WALBORN, (Railroads,) as committed, "An Act authorizing the Pennsylvania railroad company to obtain a better supply of water for the use of their road."

On motion of Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary.

Mr. ROSE, (Pensions and Gratuities,) as committed, "An Act for the relief of Margaret Coldwater, widow of Thomas Coldwater, a soldier of the Revolutionary war."

On motion of Mr. CHURCH, Senate bill No. 431, "An Act declaratory of an act to apportion the city of Philadelphia," was recommitted to the Committee on the Judiciary System.

Mr. PENNELL, (Roads and Bridges,) as committed, "A supplement to an act to incorporate the Lewisburg and Youngmans town turnpike road."

Mr. GOEPP introduced, on leave given, a resolution, setting apart next Monday afternoon for the consideration of House bill No. 182, "An Act to confer on certain associations of the citizens of this Commonwealth, the powers and immunities of corporations and bodies politic in law, and to confirm charters heretofore granted," which was adopted.

Mr. WILLISTON, from the special committee to whom was referred the subject, reported, as committed, "An Act establishing a general banking law."

Mr. GRITMAN, on leave given, introduced a resolution, that the House proceed to the consideration of said bill, and moved that the rules be suspended for that purpose.

Mr. CHASE moved to modify the same, by placing it at the top of the Calendar of Public bills for to-day.

Mr. THORN moved to amend the resolution, by substituting House bill No. 445, "An Act in reference to promissory notes, &c.," not agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion made by Mr. CHASE?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BARNESLEY and Mr. IRISH, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Foster, Glatz, Good, Graham, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, Keneagy, Ketchum, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Miller, Palm, Patterson, Pennell, Peirce, Pinkerton, Pugh, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rose, Rense, Shafer, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walborn, Witman, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wolf and Zeller—56.

NAYS—Messrs. Barnsley, Bayard, Custer, Disman, Durborow, Fearon, Fleming, Galley, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Kinney, Mehafeey, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Price, Preudfoot, Rohrer, Shields, Stoneback, Stuart, Thorn, Walker, Warden, Wigton, Wilson and Lawrence, Speaker—28.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) moved that when this House adjourn it do so to meet again at 3 o'clock this afternoon; which was agreed to.

On motion of Mr. PRICE, the Committee on Claims was discharged from the further consideration of a certain bill.

BILLS IN PLACE.

Mr. WILSON read in his place and presented to the Chair, "An Act repealing so much of the act of 29th April, 1841, as allows the State Treasurer to abate five per cent. on amounts of State tax paid in by counties fifteen days previous to the first of August annually."

Also, "An Act to authorize the Governor to appoint an auctioneer for Beaver county."

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) "A supplement to the act regulating the militia of this Commonwealth."

Mr. BERTOLET, "An Act to authorize the laying out of a State road from Wernersville, to Bechtel's mill, in Lancaster county."

Mr. THOMPSON, "An Act authorizing the appointment of commissioners to sell the Northwestern railroad company." On motion of Mr. HAMERSLY, referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. SHAFER, "An Act to divide the borough of West Chester into two election districts."

Mr. PEIRCE, "An Act relative to the supervisors in New London and East Marlboro' townships, Chester county."

Mr. ACKER, "An Act to change the manner of appointing revenue commissioners."

Mr. WITMAN, "An Act relating to the fees of aldermen, justices of the peace and constables."

Mr. PENNELL, "An Act relative to the borough of Chester, Delaware county."

Mr. GRAY, on leave given, from the Committee on Divorces, reported as committed, "An Act to annul the marriage contract between Charles A. Girard, of Green county, and Louisa, his wife."

Mr. ROSE, "A further supplement to an act authorizing the citizens of the borough of Mercer to erect a Union school house in said borough."

Also, "An Act relative to vendors of patent medicines in the county of Mercer."

Mr. BURLEY, "An Act authorizing the payment of the claim of Jesse Herbert, of Blair county."

Mr. BRYSON, "An Act to erect an independent school district in Slippery Rock township, Lawrence county."

On motion of Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) the "Act authorizing the appointment of a notary public for Canonsburg" was referred to the Committee on Banks.

Also, "An Act relative to the Berks and Dauphin turnpike road company."

Mr. ECKMAN, "An Act authorizing the laying out of a State road in Lebanon county."

Mr. QUIGLEY, "An Act to incorporate the board of directors of the fire department of Philadelphia."

Mr. GRATZ, "An Act to vacate a part of Wallace street, Philadelphia."

On motion of Mr. HAMERSLY, the above bill of Mr. QUIGLEY'S was referred to the Select Committee composed of the Philadelphia delegation.

Mr. THORN, "An Act to widen Market street, in the Ninth ward, Philadelphia."

Also, one to authorize the Butler House hotel company to change their corporate name.

Also, one to incorporate the Firemen's Fund insurance company of Philadelphia."

Mr. NEALL, "An Act relating to Tulip street, Philadelphia."

Mr. HARDING, "An Act to incorporate the Union manufacturing company of Philadelphia."

Also, one to incorporate the Moyamensing insurance company."

Also, one to incorporate the Schuylkill Haven company."

Mr. EVANS, "An Act to increase the number of aldermen in the Eleventh ward, Philadelphia."

Mr. ABBOTT, "A further supplement to the act consolidating the city of Philadelphia."

Mr. WILLISTON, "An Act for the relief of Wm. Rose and others."

Mr. RAMSDELL, "An Act directing the supervisors of the township of Heath, Jefferson county, and the supervisors of the township of Millstone, in Forrest county, to pay the expenses of opening a certain road in said townships."

Mr. STEPHENS, "An Act for the protection of the rights of the people of Wayne county."

Mr. WOLF, "An Act to incorporate the Wrightsville steam ferry company."

Mr. GOOD, "An Act authorizing the Allen Rifles to erect an armory."

Mr. PRICE, "An Act to create commissioners to lay out and open an alley in Elizabethtown, Lancaster county."

Also, "A further supplement to the act regulating the sale of intoxicating drinks."

Mr. PATTERSON, a remonstrance from citizens of Juniata county, against a law taxing dogs in said county."

Mr. MATTHEWS, "An Act to incorporate the board of directors of the fire department of the city of Philadelphia."

Mr. KETCHUM, "An Act to incorporate the Wilkesbarre and Kingston passenger railway company."

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) "An Act to protect the wages of labor in Berke county."

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) said that the bill, which was of considerable importance, was entirely local in its character, and by its prompt passage, would be the means of saving several thousands of dollars to the laboring men of his county, the loss of which was apprehended. The particulars of the case he did not just feel at liberty to state, but would respectfully ask the House to take up and pass the bill.

The bill was then taken up, and after having been modified by Messrs. WILCOX, WILLISTON, BOYER, (Clearfield,) GOOD and MANN, so as to extend the provisions of said act to the counties of M'Kean, Elk, Tioga, Clearfield, Lehigh and Potter, the bill was passed by the House.

Mr. WIGTON, "An Act relative to the claim of Robert C. Magill and Magill & Cross."

Mr. PRICE, a remonstrance from citizens of Lancaster, against the proposed establishment of a branch of the Columbia Bank in the city of Lancaster."

On motion of Mr. THORN, the House took up and passed House bill No. 553, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Philadelphia and Trenton railroad company, authorizing said company to hold some river front in Philadelphia."

Mr. KENEAGY, on leave given, offered a resolution, that a session be held on Monday evening next, commencing at 7 o'clock, to consider House bill No. 883, "An Act to prevent frauds at elections;" which was read the second time.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to amend, by including House bill No. 129, "An Act to secure to the people of Philadelphia the right of free travel over certain highways;" which was accepted.

It having been stated that there was already a special order for Monday evening.

Mr. KENEAGY so modified his resolution as to make it read Wednesday evening.

Mr. WALBORN moved to amend the resolution, by striking therefrom all which relates to bill No. 129; which was not agreed to.

Mr. FOSTER moved to amend the resolution, by adding House bill No. 1132, relating to contested election cases of members of the Legislature; which was agreed to.

And the resolution as amended was adopted.

Mr. HAMERSLY, on leave given, from the Committee on Corporations, reported, as committed, "An Act to incorporate the Diligent insurance company."

Also, as committed, "An Act to incorporate the Tylersville water company."

Also, as committed, "An Act to incorporate the Elm Tree fire insurance company of Philadelphia."

Also, as committed, "An Act relative to North Lebanon borough, Lebanon county."

Mr. WAGENSELLER made a statement. There was on the Private Calendar of to-morrow, a bill in which his constituents were interested, viz: House bill No. 707, "An Act relative to ferridge over Shamokin dam." He would be obliged to be absent when the Private Calendar was taken up, and therefore called up the bill now.

The bill was taken up by the House.

Mr. HOTTENSTINE moved to postpone.

Not agreed to.

The bill was read the second and third time And being on final passage.

Mr. HOTTENSTINE opposed the bill, and said that the matter to which it pertained, should properly go to the courts for adjustment.

Mr. KINNEY considered that the bill deserved attention on the part of the members before it was thus abruptly passed.

Mr. WAGENSELLER reviewed the facts of the cases. The Susquehanna river at this point is wide, and there are two ferries here, one on either side of the river. One of these ferries, that of the eastern shore, belonged to the borough of Sunbury, and the other one on the western shore, had been for upwards of eighty years past in the hands of Dr. Hottenstine and his predecessors. In 1828 the canal was made, and in its construction the landing of Dr. Hottenstine was destroyed, but in consideration he was granted another point for a landing. This act was now intended simply to define his rights.

The canal runs for nearly a quarter of a mile through land of Dr. Hottenstine, and he had never charged and never would charge, one cent for damages. This bill is just and right, and is simply to prevent other parties from interfering with the rights of Dr. Hottenstine.

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HOTTENSTINE and Mr. BERTOLET, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Barlow, Bayard, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Burley, Chase, Dodds, Durbin, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fleming, Glatz, Graham, Green, Harding, Jackson, Kinney, Matthews, McClure, McDowell, Miller, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Price, Pughe, Rose, Shaffer, Smith, (Berks,) Styer, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wolf, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—44.

NAYS—Messrs. Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Custer, Dismant, Galley, Good, Gray, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Laird, Mann, Shields, Smend, Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart and Warden—18.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

A message was received from the Governor, vetoing the bill incorporating the Chestnut and Walnut Streets passenger railway company.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) moved that the rules be suspended, and that the House proceed to the consideration of the veto message just read.

Mr. THORN moved an adjournment.

Not agreed to.

The motion to suspend the rules was agreed to.

And the question being,

Shall said bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

Mr. WARDEN moved that the vote by which the rules were suspended in this case be reconsidered.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Bertolet, Chase, Church, Dismant, Dodds, Galley, Graham, Glatz, Harding, Neall, Pennell, Ramsdell, Shields, Stoneback, Thompson, Thorn, Warden, Wiley, Williams, (Bucks,) Williston and Willson—23.

NAYS—Messrs. Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Burley, Campbell, Custer, Durbin, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Glatz, Goepf, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Kenagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mahaffey, Matthews, McClure, McDowell, Miller, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rohrer, Rouse, Shaffer, Sheppard, Smend, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stuart, Styer, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Wolf, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—62.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The hour of one having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until this afternoon at three o'clock.

HOUSE—AFTERNOON SESSION.

The House was called to order at three o'clock.

SPEAKER in the Chair.

In pursuance of a resolution of the House, the Senate returned House bill No. 864, to the House, for re-consideration.

Mr. JACKSON moved that the House reconsider the vote on House bill No. 864, "An Act authorizing the widening and extension of Market street, in Bloomsburg, Columbia county;" which was agreed to.

Mr. JACKSON said—

I am opposed to any hasty action upon a matter of so much importance to the citizens and tax payers of Columbia county. It is due to them that they have an opportunity of being heard upon the subject, and I therefore move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present; which was agreed to.

Senate amendments to Senate bill No. 6, were read and concurred in.

Senate amendments to House bill No. 801, relative to hunting deer with dogs, were read and concurred in.

Senate amendments to House bill No. 709, relative to the Ridge avenue railroad company, were read and concurred in.

Senate amendments to House bill No. 700, relative to the Roxboro' Old Fellows hall association, were read and concurred in.

Senate amendments to House bill No. 278, "An Act to revive the charter of the Lancaster, Lebanon and Pine Grove railroad company," were read and concurred in.

The House resumed the consideration of House bill relative to the Chestnut and Walnut streets passenger railway company, and vetoed by the Governor.

Mr. THORN did not presume to think that anything that he could say would interest the House, or convince members that it was necessary to pursue any particular course of action. Nevertheless he felt it to be due to himself, before casting his vote against the veto of the Governor, to give his reasons.

There was, perhaps, no man in the House in exactly the same position as himself as regarded this question. He had spent time and even money (and in saying this he only wished to be understood as referring to the legitimate expenses incurred in traveling and hotel expenses,) in obtaining the privilege of constructing a railroad on Chestnut and Walnut streets, in the city of Philadelphia.

One year ago, as now, he had believed that the question was only one of time as to when the road should be commenced, and one of privilege as to the hands in which it should be placed.

He would vote in favor of the bill, in opposition to the veto of the Governor, because the principal argument which the Executive had advanced was, that the councils of Philadelphia had control of the matter, applied just as well to the charters which had been granted to the Fourth and Eighth street companies, as to the Chestnut and Walnut, and as well to the Arch street as to any of them.

The Governor also alleged that there was in the bill no provision that councils should first acquiesce in the provisions of the bill. True. But councils could, if they were so disposed, protect themselves and the people, by the imposition of taxes on cars, or otherwise.

Now, this Legislature, last year, granted a charter to another set of commissioners to lay a railroad track on Chestnut and Walnut streets, in the city of Philadelphia, and that charter provided that councils should first give their assent. These municipal authorities, however, after having had the subject brought before them, postponed its consideration indefinitely. The bill, under these circumstances, remained in that legislature (for the city council was, in effect, a legislature, equal in numbers and importance, to that of the State,) for one year, and without any action.

One ground alleged by the Governor in his veto message was, that councils should consent to allow the streets to be used for railroad purposes. No later than yesterday, information was received, (unofficial, it is true,) that the municipal authorities had given their assent to the occupancy of the thoroughfares, according to the provisions of the charter of 1858.

He would repeat, that it was merely a question as to who should have the privilege. His own interests had been connected with the first project. When that was broached, he had been a mere citizen, with clear and undoubted rights to engage in any legitimate enterprise. Willingly, therefore, he lent his assistance in the plan. The bill, as he had said, had been passed by the Legislature, and placed in the hands of councils, who had kept huckstering it until yesterday, when, with marvellous and unexplained haste, they had affirmed it. Moreover, those bodies, in the discussion which they had had, listened to the remark which was made, "that it was no use to send a committee to Harrisburg to remonstrate against the passage of the new bill, unless they took with them fifty thousand dollars." He would repel any such insinuation thus unfairly and unjustly made.

FOR THE SESSION OF 1859.

No. 63.

Why was it, he would ask, (and he was talking now to the people, and not to the Legislature,) that the first bill containing a proviso requiring the assent of councils to render it valid, had been indefinitely postponed—allowed to linger for one year, and then brought up almost in a moment and passed? Councils met at three o'clock, and at eight he had received a telegraphic dispatch that the act had received the sanction of both branches and been signed by the Governor. Let those interested say why all this had been done. For his own part, he would simply reiterate the facts that a bill, after laying for one year, had been brought up and hurried through at a particular juncture, by a body of men, who, at the same time, gave vent to considerable virtuous indignation.

He was here ready to vote for the bill against the veto, because the only point in the message which was really worth consideration, viz: that the councils of Philadelphia should control their own thoroughfares, was refuted by the fact that the streets of Philadelphia, under the grant of William Penn, were actually subject to the authority of the Legislature of the Commonwealth. Perhaps no other city in the State was thus peculiarly situated.

Again, the fact was indisputable that the argument of the Governor, relative to councils controlling the right of way, had been just as applicable to Arch and Fourth and Eighth streets as to Chestnut and Walnut. It was to be remembered, and he would state, that the original Arch street charter, which had passed both branches, and received the countenance of all necessary departments of the government had been declared null by the supreme court. The authority over the streets of Philadelphia, under the charter of Penn, rests in the Commonwealth. This, perhaps, is not the case with reference to any other city in the Union.

As regarded the franchise granted to the first company, the question was, was there any, and where did it exist? Under the former bill, commissioners were appointed to sell stock, but as councils did not consummate the act of incorporation by giving it their sanction, of course, no stock was legally sold and no vested rights accrued. Now, however, they had passed the old bill, and the question arose, had the Legislature a right to repeal it? Clearly, this was not in the province of that body to determine. The Governor supposed that there was a doubt of the authority of the Legislature to repeal, but the fact was apparent that the question must be otherwise adjusted by tribunals that alone had the right.

In view of the circumstance that a year had elapsed—that several combinations had been formed to occupy the same streets—that the councils and mayor had signified their willingness to allow the occupancy of those thoroughfares—that councils elected by the same constituents as the members of the Legislature, had attempted to cast reproach on the body, he felt constrained to vote for the bill in opposition to the veto of the Governor, which he would do.

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

Mr. SMITH asked to have the message again read.

The Clerk again read the message.

And the question again recurring,

Shall the bill pass?

Agreeably to the provisions of the twenty-third section of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were called, with the following result:

YEAS—Messrs. Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durhoraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Glatz, Goepf, Good, Graham, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Dowell, Miller, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Pennell, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rouse, Sheppard, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stonehack, Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wolf, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—75.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Church, Foster, Galley, Gratz, Quigley, Rose, Shafer, Wiley and Williston—11.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. WARDEN paired off with Mr. BRODHEAD.

Senate amendments to the act incorporating the Richmond and Schuylkill passenger railway company, were read and concurred in.

The House resumed the consideration of House bill No. 241, "An Act to establish a Normal school in connection with Westminster college, New Wilmington, Lawrence county, Pa., vetoed by the Governor.

Mr. RAMSDELL spoke briefly against the position assumed by the Governor, and hoped the bill would pass, notwithstanding his objections.

Further discussion ensued between Messrs. KETCHUM, WILLISTON, KINNEY, RAMSDELL, GOEPP, ABBOTT, GRITMAN and HAMERSLY.

The question being, shall the bill pass notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

In accordance with the twenty-third section of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken, with the following result:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Bryson, Church, Graham, Gratz, Hamersly, Harding, Mann, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Dowell, Miller, Neall, Ramsdell, Rose, Taylor, Thorn, Walhorn, Wilcox, Wiley, Williston, Wilson Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—24.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Goepf, Good, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hill, Hottentstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Mehaffey, Oaks, Patterson, Pennell, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rohrer, Shafer, Shields, Smead, Smith (Berks,) Stephens, Stonehack, Stuart, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Witman, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) and Wolf—62.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Messrs. THOMPSON and DODDS said—

We vote to sustain the Governor's veto, because we believe appropriations of this description are impolitic; and, because the people we represent, and whose will we shall always be proud to obey, demand that we should do so.

Our constituents, sir, are the friends of education, but demand it shall be conducted upon a basis just and equitable. They believe they should be allowed to make such rules and regulations relative to education, especially by common schools, as they may think best adapted to their particular wants and requirements. For these reasons, they deem an effort to compel the tax payers of this State to assume the payment of even the sum mentioned in this bill, for the purposes therein specified, unjust and at war with that principle which recognizes the right of each man to dispose of his own, as he shall think proper. Are these views not well founded? Our constituents will educate their teachers and children, and educate well, and all they ask is, that they may be allowed to select and adopt their own plan. For these reasons, we vote No.

Mr. GRATZ moved that the Committee on Railroads be discharged from the further consideration of the act to incorporate the Thirtieth and Fifteenth Streets passenger railway company.

Mr. WALBORN opposed the motion.

Mr. THORN favored it.

Mr. PINKERTON said he would vote for the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. GRATZ) as he had a bill in the same committee relating to the security of property in the town of Tremont, and in which many of his constituents were deeply interested. He had read the bill in place six or eight weeks ago, met with the committee once and has never heard the whereabouts of the bill since. He would, therefore, vote to take the bill out of the committee.

And on the question.

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. PENNELL, on leave, offered a resolution that there be a session this evening, and that when the House adjourns then, it will meet again at three o'clock on Monday afternoon.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) moved to amend by meeting at seven and adjourning at nine o'clock, for the purpose of considering the bills on the Private Calendar, remaining undisposed of.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to amend by meeting this evening to consider the free banking law.

And on the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GRITMAN and Mr. HAMERSLY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Campbell, Chase, Church, Ellmaker, Fisher, Foster, Good, Graham, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, Neall, Palm, Pennell, Peirce, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Walborn, Witman, Wilcox, Wiley and Williston—39.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Bryson, Burley, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durhoraw, Eckman, Fearon, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Goepf, Gratz, Green, Hill, Hottentstine, Kinney, Laird, M'Dowell, Miller, Oaks, Patterson, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Shields, Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Walker, Warden, Wigton, Williams, (Bedford,) Wilson, Wolf, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—46.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. M'CLURE moved that the House do now adjourn.

And on the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. THORN and Mr. M'DOWELL, and were as follow, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Campbell, Chase, Dodds, Durboraw, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Galley, Good, Graham, Green, Hamersly, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, M'Clure, Neall, Patterson, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Rose, Rouse, Smead, Thompson, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wiliston, Wilson, Zoller Lawrence, Speaker—40.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Burley, Church, Custer, Dismant, Eekman, Foster, Glatz, Goepf, Gratz, Gritman, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Mehaffey, Matthews, McDowell, Miller, Oaks, Palm, Pennell, Peirce, Price, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thorn, Wilcox, Wiley and Wolf—46.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to Mr. SMITH'S amendment?

Mr. WILLISTON moved that the further consideration of the question be postponed indefinitely.

And on the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WILLISTON and Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) and were as follow, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Good, Graham, Green, Hamersly, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, McClure, Neall, Palm, Patterson, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Rose, Rouse, Smead, Thompson, Thorn, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Wilson, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—45.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Beretlet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Custer, Dismant, Foster, Glatz, Goepf, Gratz, Gritman, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Miller, Oaks, Pennell, Peirce, Price, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Warden, Williams, (Bucks,) and Wolf—31.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Senate amendments to House resolution relative to the pay of the Clerk and Sergeant-at-Arms, for services rendered the bank investigation committee, were read and concurred in.

On motion of Mr. PATTERSON, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until to-morrow morning at 9½ o'clock.

SENATE.

SATURDAY, March 26, 1869.

The Senate met and was called to order by the SPEAKER at 9½ o'clock, A. M.

The Journal was read and approved.

The SPEAKER presented an abstract of the accounts of the Lehigh Valley railroad company.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Mr. BREWER asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. FETTER, for to-day.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. RANDALL, (Railroads,) reported as committed, House bill No. 796, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Citizens' passenger railway company."

Also, (same,) as committed, House bill No. 976, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Philadelphia and Trenton railroad company."

ORIGINAL RESOLUTION.

Mr. COFFEY moved that when the Senate adjourns to day, it adjourn at 12 o'clock; which was considered and adopted.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

The re-consideration of House bill No. 1097, "An Act to incorporate the Philadelphia City passenger railway company," which was pending when the Senate adjourned yesterday afternoon, came up in order,

The question being,

Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

Agreeably to the provisions of the twenty-third section of the first article of the Constitution, the SPEAKER ordered the yeas and nays, which were as follow, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Welsh, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—25.

NAYS—Messrs. Marselis, Nunemacher, Penney and Wright—4.

Two-thirds having voted in the affirmative, the bill passed.

Messrs. COFFEY, FRANCIS, MYER, RANDALL and GREGG gave brief explanations of the reasons which controlled their votes upon this question. They had each voted to sustain the previous question, under the impression that the design was simply to ont off discussion upon the motion to postpone for the present, and not upon the merits of the bill or the propriety of the veto.

Mr. RANDALL gave notice, in connection with his statement, that he would place upon the record what he would have said upon the merits of this question, had not the ruling of the SPEAKER precluded.

Mr. COFFEY, in making his statement of the reasons which induced him to sustain the previous question, said he had labored under the impression that it did not apply to the bill itself, but simply to the motion to postpone.—He had desired to extend the time for the discussion of the veto, and to participate in that discussion himself. An examination of the authorities, however, had convinced him that the ruling of the SPEAKER was correct.

Mr. WRIGHT also arose to make a statement with reference to the subject, but the SPEAKER having ruled him out of order, unless his statement was confined to the reasons for his vote upon the question of sustaining or overruling the veto, he was prevented doing so.

An extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives was received and read, as follows :

Resolved, That if the Senate concur, House bill No. 760, "An Act to incorporate the Richmond and Schuylkill passenger railway company," be amended, by adding to the end thereof the following section :

SEC. 6. That the said company shall be subject to the provisions of ordinances heretofore passed by the councils of the city of Philadelphia, regulating passenger railways in said city.

On motion, the extract was concurred in.

On motion of Mr. PALMER, the Senate concurred in House amendments to Senate bill No. 10, "An Act for the better securing the payment of wages of labor in certain counties of this Commonwealth."

On motion of Mr. PENNEY, the Senate receded from its amendment to Senate bill No. 431, "A further supplement to the act regulating banks," in which the House of Representatives had refused to concur.

On motion of Mr. GREGG, the Senate concurred in House amendments to Senate bill No. 14, "An Act to lay out a State road from Shroyer's Gap to M'Call's mills."

House amendments to Senate bill No. 321, "An Act to incorporate the Philadelphia and Olney passenger railway company," were, on motion, concurred in.

On motion of Mr. BELL, (the Committee on Estates and Escheats having been discharged from its consideration,) the Senate proceeded to consider Senate bill No. 346, "An Act to authorize the appointment of boards of visitors to the several houses of employment and for the support of the poor of this Commonwealth."

The first section of the bill being before the Senate,

Mr. MARSELIS did not know but the bill was applicable to the city of Philadelphia. He asked the Senator from Chester whether such was the case?

Mr. BELL replied, not at all.

Mr. MARSELIS said the bill, at best, was a very foolish thing, and briefly opposed it, as objectionable in many of its features.

Mr. BELL again replied that the bill did not apply to Philadelphia; and although that fact was apparent upon the face of the bill, he had no objection to inserting a provision, that it shall not apply to the cities of Philadelphia and Lancaster.

Objection being made to the amendment offered, to that effect, by Mr. MARSELIS,

On motion of Mr. RANDALL, the Senate went into committee of the whole, for the purpose of special amendment, adding the proviso above alluded to.

The bill was reported as amended; when

The question recurring upon the bill as amended,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RANDALL and Mr. BELL, and were as follow, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Blood, Coffey, Craig, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Harris, Miller, Palmer, Parker, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Welsh, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—20.

NAYS—Messrs. Brewer, Marselis, Nunemacher, Penney, Rutherford and Scofield—6.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And the bill passed.

BILLS CONSIDERED.

On motion of Mr. RANDALL, the Senate proceeded to consider House bill No. 796, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Citizens' passenger railway company."

Said bill went through its various readings, and on its final passage,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WRIGHT and Mr. RANDALL, and were as follow, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Finney, Gazzam, Harris, Keller, Marselis, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Welsh and Cresswell, Speaker—23.

NAYS—Messrs. Miller, Nunemacher and Wright—3.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On leave given, Mr. COFFEY read in his place and presented to the Chair, a bill, entitled "An Act to regulate the sales of railroads and canals under mortgages."

On motion of Mr. GREGG, House bill No. 693, "An Act to define the limits of the borough of Lock Haven," was taken up and passed finally.

On motion of Mr. BELL, (the Committee on Estates and Escheats having been discharged from its consideration,) the Senate proceeded to consider House bill No. 1056, "An Act to authorize the trustees of Glen Run Baptist church to sell certain real estate."

Mr. HARRIS moved that the Committee on the Judiciary be discharged from the consideration of House bill No. 893, "An Act to extend the provisions of the manufacturing law of 1849, to the manufacture of oils from mineral coal in Mercer county," and that the Senate proceed to consider the same; which was agreed to, and the bill, after being duly considered, passed finally.

Mr. MARSELIS called up Senate bill No. 792, "An Act to incorporate the Western library association of the city of Philadelphia," which went through its various readings, and passed finally.

On motion of Mr. NUNEMACHER, (the Committee on corporations having been discharged from its consideration,) House bill No. 466, "An Act to incorporate the Philomathean institute of Union township, Berks county," was taken up, and after being considered, passed finally.

House bill No. 976, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Philadelphia and Trenton railroad company," was taken up, on motion of Mr. PARKER, whereupon the Senate resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. WRIGHT in the chair.)

On motion of Mr. PARKER, the proviso requiring consent of councils, as also the proviso requiring $5,000 to be paid annually to the State, and the same amount to the city of Philadelphia, were stricken out, and the Chairman reported the bill as amended.

On motion, the Senate proceeded to second reading and consideration; when,

Mr. MILLER moved to insert the provisos stricken out in committee of the whole; which was not agreed to.

And upon its final passage,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RANDALL and Mr. WRIGHT, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Marselis, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Welsh, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—23.

NAY—Mr. Wright—1.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. MYER moved that the Senate proceed to consider House bill No. 714, "An Act to compel the Williamsport and Elmira railroad company to fence their road."

Upon which motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RANDALL and Mr. MYER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Brewer, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Marselis, Myer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Steele, Welsh and Yardley—13.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Miller, Nunemacher, Palmer, Randall, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—11.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And the Senate resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. YARDLEY in the Chair.)

After sometime the committee rose, and the Chairman reported the bill, as committed; when, on motion of Mr. MYER, the Senate proceeded to second reading.

Mr. RANDALL moved to amend, by striking out the words "Williamsport and Elmira railroad company," and inserting the words, "all railroad companies within the limits of this Commonwealth."

Upon the amendment, Mr. RANDALL made a brief statement, contending that the principle should be made applicable to all roads.

Mr. MYER objected to the amendment as unjust.

Mr. GAZZAM thought the proviso should be applied to all roads in the Commonwealth, but it was almost too early to take that step at present.

Mr. GREGG condemned the amendment, and entered into the peculiar circumstances connected with this road, which called for the fencing of it through the cleared portions.

It was demanded by the farmers in the localities named, and it was the only means by which their property could be protected. He thought the omnibus amendment proposed by the Senator from Philadelphia was a covert one, and was an unmanly way of defeating a bill.

Mr. RANDALL said if the principle was correct, that one company should be compelled to fence their road, it was justly applicable to all.

Mr. GREGG replied that he was opposed to fencing all the roads in Pennsylvania, for it would be entailing upon those which were crippled, a weight which they cannot carry.

Mr. CRESSWELL had always been opposed to compelling railroad companies to fence their roads. The experience of all roads has established the fact that there is more property destroyed on roads which are fenced, than on those which are not. There would be an injustice in compelling all the companies of the State to fence their roads, and he was opposed to its passage.

Mr. MYER regarded the amendment, if adopted, as fatal to the bill. He presented two affidavits from citizens residing along the line, in support of the position that there was an express agreement, upon the part of the company, when the right of way was granted, to fence, in a good and substantial manner, their road, or portions of it. It was upon their agreement to do so, that he advocated the passage of the bill. The inducements held out to property holders through which the road runs, to grant the right of way, was this promise to fence. There was nothing more than simple justice in the demand; and he could not, for the life of him, see why they should not be compelled to comply with their contract.

Mr. SCOFIELD said the people who resided along the line of this road had grown wealthy, while the company has become poorer; and although the poor farmers, whose property, it had been alleged, was liable to destruction, had been benefitted, they would not take one dollar's worth of stock at anything like the sum it cost them. There might, possibly, be portions of the road which required fencing, and many others, possibly, which did not. He did not like to see this disposition manifested to characterize all railroad companies as monopolies, and to advocate the exaction of hitherto duties upon them upon that ground.

Mr. MYER again took the floor in advocacy of the bill, but the hour of 12 o'clock having arrived, the SPEAKER requested him to withhold his remarks, and adjourned the Senate until Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

SATURDAY, March 27, 1859.

The SPEAKER called the House to order at 9½ o'clock.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. J. Green Miles, of the Baptist church.

The Clerk read the Journal of yesterday.

On leave given, Mr. ECKMAN read in his place and presented to the Chair, the following bills:

"An Act to lay out a State road from a point on a public road leading from Jonestown, Lebanon county, to Woleherstown, Berks county, at or near Philip Batdorf's house, in the township of Jackson, Lebanon county, to the public road leading from Myerstown, Lebanon county, to Freystown, Berks county, at or near Daniel Batdorf's house, in Tulpehocken township, Berks county."

"An Act supplementary to an act to revive and continue the act, entitled 'An Act authorizing the Governor to incorporate a company for making an artificial road from the river Schuylkill, at Reading, Berks county, to or near Hummelstown, in the county of Dauphin.'"

And, on his motion, said bills were ordered to be placed on next Tuesday's Private Calendar.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTION.

Mr. STYER, on leave given, offered a joint resolution so to amend the act incorporating the Richmond and Schuylkill passenger railroad company, as to subject it to the provisions of the ordinances of city councils now in force or hereafter to be enacted, regulating city passenger railways in said city; which was adopted.

BILLS CONSIDERED.

Mr. WITMAN moved a suspension of the rules, in order to call up Senate bill No. 183, "Supplement to an act in reference to the running of locomotive engines and cars on connecting railroads;" which was agreed to.

Whereupon, said bill was taken up and considered.

Mr. FOSTER moved to postpone further consideration of the bill for the present; which was not agreed to.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. FOSTER and Mr. ZOLLER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Beriolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Durbin, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fisher, Galley, Goepf, Good, Graham, Glatz, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Keneagy, Lawrence, (Washington,) Matthews, M'Clure, Miller, Neall, Nil, Oaks, Pennell, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pugh, Ramsdell, Saffer, Shepard, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Sturari, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Wilson and Lawrence, Speaker—59.

NAYS—Messrs. Foster, Glatz, Hottenstine, Kinney, Mann, Palm, Rose, Shields, Smead, Warden, Wolf and Zoller—12.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. PRICE moved that the House proceed to the consideration of House bill No. 147, "An Act regulating the fees of aldermen, justices of the peace and constables, relative to poor and indigent persons in Lancaster county;" which was agreed to; whereupon said bill was taken up, considered and passed finally; and ordered that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. BAYARD called up Senate bill No. 440 "An Act to incorporate the Pittsburg park association;" which was considered and passed finally.

Mr. CHASE, on leave given, read "A supplement to an act to incorporate the Philadelphia City passenger railway company;" and, on his motion, said bill was taken up and considered.

[The bill repeals the provision of the general railroad law, requiring twenty days' notice of the opening of books of subscription to the stock of railroad companies, so far as relates to the Philadelphia City (Chestnut and Walnut street) passenger railroad company, passed this day.]

Mr. WILEY moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

On the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WILEY and Mr. WILLISTON, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Church, Foster, Galley, Gratz, Neall, Nill, Rose, Shafer, Shields, Warden, Witman, Wiley and Williston—18.

NAYS—Messrs. Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Chase, Custer, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Fleming, Glatz, Goepf, Good, Graham, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kiuney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, Miller, Oaks, Palm, Pennell, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rouse, Sheppard, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stuart, Styer, Thompson, Walborn, Walker, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Wilson, Wolf, Zoller and Lawrence. Speaker—62.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass?

Debate took place between Messrs. WILLISTON, CHASE and HAMERSLY,

When Mr. WILLISTON moved the indefinite postponement of the further consideration of the question.

Symptoms of a further discussion manifesting itself,

Mr. WALBORN called for the previous question; which was sustained.

And on the question,

Shall the main question now be put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. NILL and Mr. NEALL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Custer, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fleming, Glatz, Good, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, Miller, Oaks, Palm, Pennell, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rohrer, Rouse, Sheppard, Shields, Smead, Stephens, Stuart, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Wilson, Wolf and Zoller—57.

NAYS—Messrs. Church, Foster, Galley, Graham, Gratz, Hottenstine, Neall, Nill, Rose, Shafer, Warden, Wiley and Williston—13.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. NILL and Mr. ROSE, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fleming, Glatz, Goepf, Good, Graham, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Dowell, Miller, Oaks, Palm, Pennell, Peirce, Price, Pughe, Rohrer, Rouse, Sheppard, Smead, Stephens, Styer, Thompson, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Wolf, Zoller and Lawrence. Speaker—60.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Church, Foster, Galley, Gratz, Hottenstine, Neall, Nill, Proudfoot, Rose, Shields, Warden, Wiley, Williston and Wilson—16.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On the question,

Will the House suspend the rules and read the bill a third time by its title?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. FOSTER and Mr. NILL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fleming, Glatz, Good, Graham, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Jackson, Keneagy, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, McDowell, Miller, Oaks, Palm, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rouse, Sheppard, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Wolf, Zoller and Lawrence. Speaker—60.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Church, Dismant, Foster, Galley, Gratz, Hottenstine, Neall, Nill, Rose Shafer, Shields, Warden, Wiley, Williston Wilson—16.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. FOSTER and Mr. ROSE, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fleming, Glatz, Good, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Dowell, Miller, Oaks, Palm, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Pughe, Rohrer, Rouse, Sheppard, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Styer, Thorn, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Wolf, Zoller and Lawrence. Speaker—57.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Church, Foster, Galley, Graham, Gratz, Neall, Nill, Proudfoot, Rose, Shafer, Shields, Warden, Wiley, Williston and Wilson—17.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. McCLURE moved that bill No. 598, "Supplement to an act to incorporate the West Philadelphia passenger railroad company," be re-committed to the Judiciary Committee; which was agreed to.

Mr. McCLURE moved to suspend the rules to offer a resolution, that this House will adjourn to day, and meet again on Monday at 3 o'clock, P. M.

On the suspension of the rule.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. McCLURE and Mr. FLEMING, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Glatz, Goepf, Good, Gratz, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, Miller, Oaks, Palm, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Thorn, Walborn, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Wiley, Williston, Zoller and Lawrence. Speaker—57.

NAYS—Messrs. Bryson, Burley, Chase, Church, Eckman, Fearon, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Graham, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) M'Dowell, Neall, Nill, Rose, Rouse, Stephens, Walker, Wigton, Williams, (Bedford,) Wilson and Wolf—23.

So the question was determined in the affirmative—two-thirds having so voted.

Mr. McCLURE then introduced the above resolution; which was read the second time:

And on the question,

Shall the same pass?

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) moved to amend, by meeting on Monday at 9 o'clock.

And on the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) and Mr. GRAMHAM, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Barlow, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Fearon, Foster, Galley, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) M'Dowell, Neall, Rose, Rouse, Walker, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Wilson and Wolf—27.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Custer, Dismant, Ellmaker, Fleming, Glatz, Goepf, Good, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Pierce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rohrer, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Walborn, Warden, Witman, Wiley, Williston, Zoller and Lawrence. Speaker—50.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring,

Shall the resolution pass?

It was opposed by Mr. KINNEY, on the ground that adjournment was unnecessary.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) contended that the House was already three hundred and fifty bills ahead of the Senate, and that there was no actual necessity for the session either of Saturday afternoon or of Monday morning.

The resolution passed finally.

Senate amendments to the supplement to the act incorporating the Philadelphia and Trenton railroad company were read.

The Senate amended by striking the two provisions inserted by the House in the original bill, viz: one requiring the company to pay a bonus of ten thousand dollars, and the other requiring the assent of city councils.

Mr. THORN moved to concur, and called the previous question on his motion, which was sustained.

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WILEY and Mr. LAIRD, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Bayard, Campbell, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fisher, Glatz, Graham, Gratz, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Keneagy, Ketchum, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Dowell, Miller, Palm, Peirce, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Styer, Thorn, Walborn, Wilcox, Wilson and Lawrence. Speaker—39.

NAYS—Messrs. Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Good, Hottenstine, Jackson, Kinney, Laird, Neall, Nill, Pinkerton, Rose, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Thompson, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Wolf and Zoller—31.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The question now recurring,

Will the House agree to the Senate amendments.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WILEY and Mr. NEALL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Bayard, Campbell, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fisher, Foster, Glatz, Graham, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Keneagy, Ketchum, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Dowell, Miller, Neall, Nill, Palm, Peirce, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Styer, Thorn, Walborn, Wilcox, Wilson, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—40.

YAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Bryson, Burley, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Fleming, Galley, Good, Gratz, Hottenstine, Jackson, Kinney, Laird, Pinkerton, Rose, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Thompson, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wiley and Wolf—29.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On the above two votes, Mr. WILLISTON informed the House that he had paired off with Mr. GOEPP, who would have voted aye had he been present.

Messrs. PROUDFOOT and PUGHE moved to re-consider the final vote had on the bill incorporating the Ebensburg and Cresson railroad company; which was agreed to; and, after having been amended by Mr. PROUDFOOT, was again passed finally.

The hour of twelve having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

NETO MESSAGE.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, March 25, 1859. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN:—A bill has been presented for the Executive approval, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Philadelphia City Passenger Railway Company."

The bill proposes to authorize the incorporation of a Company with power to construct passenger railways upon Chestnut and Walnut streets, in the city of Philadelphia, upon certain terms and conditions set forth in the bill.

The streets named are well known to be of the greatest importance to the city of Philadelphia, and any legislation affecting them should be carefully considered, well matured, and only adopted upon the clearest evidence that it is in accordance with the wishes of the people of the city, and particularly of those directly and immediately interested in these great thoroughfares. Unlike nearly all of the bills which have become laws in reference to passenger railways in the city of Philadelphia, the one under consideration does not require to its validity the assent of the local legislature of the city. The exclusion of this wise provision from the most important bill of the class, is of more than doubtful propriety.

But the principal objection, in my opinion, is that the General Assembly, at its last session, passed an act incorporating a company with power to occupy the streets referred to for a like purpose. The act, however, contains a provision that it should not go into operation until the assent of city councils had been first had and obtained.

Now, if this assent had been withheld, it is clear evidence that the body whose province it is more immediately to regulate and control the streets of the city, are unfavorable to this grant of power.

Whilst, on the other hand, if the consent of the councils has been obtained, and the former act has thereby gone into operation, I know of no reason why that act should be repealed and the proposed one substituted in its place and stead.

For these reasons, I am constrained to refuse to this bill the Executive approval, and herewith return it for re-consideration to the House of Representatives, where it originated.

WM. F. PACKER

No. 1076.—FILE OF THE HOUSE.

WILEY, Militia System—March 21.

A SUPPLEMENT to an act for the better regulation of the militia of this Commonwealth, approved the twenty-first day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That hereafter the pay of uniformed militia men, as provided for in the twenty-fourth clause of the ninth section of the act to which this is a supplement, shall be, for each officer, non-commissioned officer, musician and private of any uniformed company or troop, one dollar for every day actually on duty; and for each horse used by them, fifty cents per day; but no officer or member shall receive pay for parading oftener than four times in any one year.

SEC. 2. That hereafter the fines imposed by the third clause of the thirteenth section of the act aforesaid, shall be one dollar for every non-commissioned officer, musician and private; and that it shall be the duty of the court of inquiry or appeal, after having ascertained the amount of the fines aforesaid, to place the same in the hands of the constables residing near or convenient to the rendezvous, or regular parading ground of each of the respective companies constituting the brigade, whose duty it shall be to collect the same, deducting therefrom ten per cent. as commission for collecting, and paying over the remainder to the proper treasurer of the county, to be placed to the credit of the military fund; but in all cases where persons against whom such fines have been charged shall refuse to pay the same on demand, after due notice has been given according to the requirements of the law to which this a supplement, then it shall be the duty of the constables aforesaid, to collect such fines in the same manner as they are authorized to collect any debt upon civil process, together with lawful costs; but in no case shall absence or neglect to appear for the performance of military duty work a forfeiture of pay, except when upon a fair and impartial trial before the court of inquiry or appeal, the party so charged shall have been found guilty of willfully and without lawful excuse absenting himself from the regularly called parades of his company, regiment, brigade or division; but any refusal to appear after due notice has been given to answer such charge, either in person, or by affidavit duly sworn to and attested before a proper justice of the peace, shall be taken as evidence of willful neglect, and work a forfeiture of pay accordingly.

SEC. 3. That in all cases where calls shall be made for encampments, either by the Governor or the commanding officer of any division or brigade or regiment, no company shall go into camp before Tuesday morning, or remain longer than Saturday morning of the same week.

SEC. 4. That hereafter it shall be lawful for the Adjutant General to furnish each of the regularly organized companies of this Commonwealth with the requisite number of tents and equipments for camping purposes, under the same provisions and requirements of law as apply to arms and other equipments.

SEC. 5. That it shall be the duty of the several county treasurers of this Commonwealth to prepare annually a statement of the receipts and expenditures of the military fund of their respective counties, setting forth the amount received from each collector separately, and the amount paid each person to whom money may be due; which statement, after being examined and passed by the county auditors, shall be published in the same manner that the other accounts of the said county treasurer are by law directed to be published; the expenses whereof to be paid out of the military fund of said county, and a statement of the same forwarded by the county treasurers to the State Treasurer of this Commonwealth, on or before the first day of February in each and every year.

SEC. 6. That the State Treasurer is hereby authorized and required to pay out of the aggregate military fund now accumulated, or that may hereafter accumulate, to the several county treasurers, any deficiencies of the county military expenses, wherein statements have been duly transmitted, agreeably to the fifth section of this supplement.

CHURCH, Corporations—March 3.

AN ACT to incorporate the Industrial Home for girls.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That Andrew Cheeseman, William Harris, James T. Shinn, Samuel Dickson, Edmund C. Pechin and David W. Dennison, all of the city and county of Philadelphia, and their associates, at present managers of the institution heretofore known as the Industrial Home for the instruction of girls in the arts of housewifery and sewing, and their successors, shall be, and they are hereby declared to be, a body politic and corporate, by the name and style of the Industrial Home for girls; and by the same name they shall have perpetual succession, with power to have a common seal, and the same to change at pleasure; to sue and be sued: to plead and be impleaded; to take, hold and dispose of all real and personal estate whatsoever; to purchase or erect such building or buildings as may be necessary for the purposes of said institution, and to do all and singular the things necessary, proper and lawful to be done for the well being of the said institution, and the due management and well ordering of the affairs thereof: Provided nevertheless, That the clear yearly income of the real and personal estate held by the said corporation within this Commonwealth shall not exceed the sum of five thousand dollars.

SEC. 2. That the object and design of this institution shall be to afford a home, clothing, schooling, and instruction in the arts of housewifery and sewing, for poor orphan girls, or such girls as may be neglected or deserted by their parents; the said children having in all cases attained the age of twelve years before admission.

SEC. 3. That the said trustees shall hold their first meeting on the second Tuesday in May next in the city of Philadelphia, at such time and hour as they, or a majority of them, shall designate; and they, or their successors, shall meet annually in January in each succeeding year, at such time and place as by their by-laws shall appoint; and they shall have power at the meetings so to be holden, in connection with the life-members of this institution, to elect trustees in the place of those who may be removed by death, resign, cease to act, or otherwise relinquish the said trust.

SEC. 4. That the said trustees and their successors shall have power to make all by-laws necessary or proper for the government of their own proceedings, and for the management of the said institution: Provided, That the same be not inconsistent with the constitution and laws of this Commonwealth; also, to appoint a president, treasurer, secretary, and such other officers as the convenient management of the affairs of the said corporation may require.

SEC. 5. That the said trustees and their successors shall have power also to meet from time to time, whenever and so often as the interests of the said institution may require, in such manner and according to such regulations as they may by their by-laws direct; and they shall have power, at any meeting convened as aforesaid, to appoint such teachers, managers, visitors and caretakers as may be necessary or proper for the instruction, control and care of the children received into the said institution; and to attain, in the best manner, the objects of the same; and to do all such other business as the proper management of the funds and general interests and concerns of said corporation may require.

SEC. 6. That the said trustees shall have power to receive and to retain under their control all such poor girls over the age of twelve years as may be brought to the said institution for the purpose of being received into the same, by the father of such children, if he be living; or if he be dead, by the mother of said children; also, such orphan girls, and all such other girls as may be neglected or deserted by their parents, or their surviving parent, which shall be brought to them for the purpose aforesaid; subject nevertheless, in these last mentioned cases, to the approval of a judge of a court of record for the city and county of Philadelphia aforesaid; and the said girls, when so received, to detain, maintain, educate and control, until proper persons can be found who may be willing to receive them as apprentices to some useful art, trade, calling or employment: and thereupon the said trustees, or a committee of their board appointed for that purpose, shall have power, with the assent of any alderman or judge of a court of record of the said city or county as aforesaid, to bind by indenture, either in or out of the Commonwealth aforesaid, the said girls, or any of them, as apprentices as aforesaid, until the age of eighteen years; stipulating and agreeing nevertheless, on behalf of the child, in every such indenture, that the master or mistress shall provide meat, medicine, clothing, lodging, instruction, and all other things necessary, usual or proper, for the comfort and support of the children to be bound, for their well being and advancement in life; which indenture so made shall be of full force and effect for all and singular the purposes therein specified as aforesaid.

SEC. 7. That no misnomer of said corporation shall defeat or annul any gift, grant, devise or bequest of the said corporation: Provided, That it shall sufficiently appear by the will, gift, grant, or other writing, that the party making the same intended to give or pass thereby to the said corporation, the interest or estate therein expressed or described.

AN ACT to protect the wages of labor.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That in all assignments of property, whether real or personal, which may hereafter be made by any person or persons, firm, company or association, whether chartered or not, to trustees or assignees, on account of inability or pretended inability at the time of such assignment to pay his, her, their or its debts, the wages and salaries of persons employed by such person or persons, firm, company or association shall be preferred and paid by such assignees or trustees, before any other creditors of such assignor or assignors.

SEC. 2. That in case of the death of any person resident within this Commonwealth, the wages or salaries of any person employed by him shall be first paid out of his estate before any other debts, except necessary funeral expenses, and medicine, and attendance, furnished in the last sickness; and in case of the dissolution of any firm, company or association, as aforesaid, or of the private sale, or transfer, or any determination whatsoever of the business of such firm, company or association, the wages and salaries of persons employed by them, shall be a lien upon their property, and shall be first paid out of the estate, effects and assets of such firm or company.

SEC. 3. That in all cases of executions, landlord's warrants, attachments, venditioni exponas, levavi facias, and writs of a like nature, hereafter to be issued for the sale of real or personal property, against any person or persons, firm, company or association as aforesaid, it shall be the duty of the sheriff, or other officer executing such writ, to give to the persons employed by the defendant in said writ notice of the issuing thereof by twenty printed handbills, put up in public places in the neighborhood of the property to be sold, at least two weeks before the proposed sale, requiring them to make known to him at least five days before the sale of said property, the kind and amount of their respective claims against such defendant; and when the claims shall have been so made known it shall be the duty of the sheriff or other officer to pay out of the proceeds of the sale under said writ the amount due to each of the persons so employed.

SEC. 4. That it shall and may be lawful for any person or persons to whom claims on account of wages or salaries may be due, from any person, firm, company or association, as aforesaid, when any such claim amounts to the sum of twenty-five dollars, to proceed to collect the same by distraining therefor in the same manner as is provided for the collection of rent, under the first section of the act of twenty-first March, Anno Domini one thousand seven hundred and seventy-two, giving a remedy by distress for rent: Provided, That the property of the actual debtor shall alone be liable to such distress.

SEC. 5. That the claims for wages, or on account of salaries mentioned in the foregoing sections, shall be a lien on the real estate of the persons, firm, company or association, liable to pay the same, prior and superior to all other liens upon said real estate, except the liens of judgments and mortgages, given for the purchase money of the property on which they are liens, and the liens of mechanics and materialmen, filed under the act of sixteenth of June, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-six, and its supplements, and except as may be in the foregoing sections excepted: Provided, That the persons who may be required to pay the claims intended to be preferred by the provisions of this act, shall, in every case, first exhaust the proceeds of the personalty, if there be such, before resorting to the realty, and that no one claim so preferred, or hereby made a lien, shall exceed the sum of one hundred dollars.

GOEPP, Judiciary—March 7.

AN ACT to preserve the lien of mortgages in certain cases.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That where the lien of a mortgage upon real estate is, or shall be prior to all other liens upon the same property, except other mortgages, ground rents, or the purchase money due to the Commonwealth, the lien of such mortgage shall not be destroyed or in any way affected by any sale made under or by virtue of the order or decree of any court of this Commonwealth, unless such court shall so expressly order upon petition of any creditor or party interested after due notice to the holder of such mortgage being the mortgagee, his executors or administrators, or any assignee thereof, by assignment duly recorded.

SEC. 2. That the notice required by the first section of this act, shall be by citation served upon the holder of such mortgage as aforesaid, whether he shall reside within the jurisdiction of such court or otherwise, or if he shall not reside within the jurisdiction aforesaid; also, upon any agent or attorney by him appointed to receive the interest upon such mortgage, in such manner as the court shall direct; and no order for the discharge of the lien of any mortgage shall be made as aforesaid, until due proof shall be made to the satisfaction of the court, that such service has been made as directed.

SEC. 3. That where any such order for the discharge of the lien of a mortgage shall be made as aforesaid, it shall be the duty of the party obtaining such order, within ten days thereafter to have a duly certified copy thereof recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds for the proper county, which shall be indexed by the recorder under the name of the original mortgagor, which being done, no person after such sale shall have been confirmed, shall be thenceforth heard to question the validity of such order or the fact of due service of the notice above required having been made.

SEC. 4. That the estate, lien or charge of the widow of a decedent under the intestate laws of the Commonwealth, or upon proceedings in partition of an intestate's estate, shall not be deemed and taken to be a prior lien to any mortgage within the meaning of this or of any other act of Assembly of this Commonwealth, so as to cause the discharge of such mortgage by any judicial sale, where the lien thereof would otherwise be preserved thereby.

AN ACT relative to the manner of payment of coupons.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That all coupons heretofore issued by any county, city, borough or other municipal corporation within this Commonwealth, for interest due or to become due on any railroad bonds issued to any railroad company, or for any other purpose under the laws of this Commonwealth, or in payment of subscriptions to the capital stock of any such railroad company, shall as they become due and payable, be a legal tender in payment of taxes due or to become due to such county, city, borough or other municipal corporation which may have issued, or authorized the issue of such coupons or bonds; and it shall be the duty of the collectors of such taxes, and the treasurers of said county, city, borough or other municipal corporations, to receive said coupons in payment of such taxes, and to receipt for the same in like manner as if said taxes were paid in cash.

SEC. 2. That in all cases when the sum of money mentioned in said coupons, shall exceed the sum or amount of taxes due and payable by the person or persons holding and tendering such coupons in payment of taxes as aforesaid, then and in such cases, it shall be the duty of collectors and treasurers aforesaid, to receive such coupon or coupons in payment of taxes due, and for the excess or amount overpaid, to execute and deliver as such collector or treasurer in behalf of such corporation to the holder of such coupon or coupons, a warrant stating the sum or amount so overpaid and due thereon; which warrant so executed shall be a lawful tender pro tanto for the payment of any future taxes which may become due and payable by the holder thereof, to any such municipal corporation.

SEC. 3. That all coupons so redeemed and received in payment of taxes, shall be returned by the collectors to the proper treasurer of such county, city, borough or other municipal corporation; and in all cases where warrants shall be issued as aforesaid, such warrants shall be noted and designated by number, date and amount endorsed on the coupon or coupons for which they may have been given or exchanged, by the proper collector or treasurer who issued the same.

SEC. 4. That all coupons aforesaid, shall be a legal tender in payment of any and all debts due by the holder or holders thereof to any such city, county, borough or other municipal corporation which may have issued or authorized the issue of the same: Provided however, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to deprive any city, county, borough or other municipal corporation, of any right which they now possess, to obtain the decree of a court of equity declaring any such bond in whole or in part void, by reason of fraud or illegality in the issue thereof.

BELL, Judiciary—March 8.

AN ACT in relation to writs of error, appeals and certioraries in the Supreme Court, and abolishing the court of nisi prius.

WHEREAS, It often occurs in cases pending in the supreme court, on writs of error, appeals and certioraries, that by reason of an equal division of the judges of the supreme court hearing the same, the judgments of the courts below are affirmed, and it is obvious in such cases that there has not been such trial and decision as is contemplated by the judiciary system of the Commonwealth, and to which suitors are entitled; therefore

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this act, no entry made upon the record, in any writ of error, appeal or certiorari pending in the supreme court of this Commonwealth, shall have the force and effect of a final judgment or decision in the same by reason of an equal division of the judges, but the same shall remain pending and undetermined until heard and decided by a majority of the judges of the said court.

SEC. 2. That the court of nisi prius be, and the same is hereby abolished; and that the records, papers, and unfinished business of said court of nisi prius be, and the same are hereby transferred to the district court; the cases pending and undisposed of to be proceeded with in said district court as if they had been therein originated.

COFFEY, Finance—March 22

AN ACT to provide a mode of levying tax against delinquent municipalities.

WHEREAS, Sundry cities and counties of this Commonwealth have failed to levy taxes to meet the interest upon their just debts; therefore.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That whenever any county, city or other municipality of this State, shall fail for two successive years to levy the taxes necessary to meet the interest upon any bonds issued by it under authority of acts of the General Assembly of this Commonwealth, it shall be the duty of the Auditor General to add to the rate of State taxes to be paid by said municipalities, or the people thereof, to the extent necessary to pay the interest upon said bonds, and require the amount collected as other State taxes are collected and paid into the treasury of this State.

SEC. 2. That when the amount thus levied is collected and paid into the State Treasury, it shall be the duty of the treasurer to give notice to the holders of said bonds, that he will pay the interest on the same, or as much of it as he may have received funds from this source to pay.

SEC. 3. That when any person or persons shall refuse to pay the tax thus assessed for a longer period than six months, it shall be the duty of the State Treasurer to sell any real or personal estate that the said party may be possessed of at the borough of Harrisburg, on giving thirty days' notice of the time and place of the sale, in one or more newspapers published in Pittsburg, or by handbill duly posted in said city.

SENATE.

MONDAY, March 28, 1859.

The Senate was called to order by the SPEAKER at 3 o'clock, P. M.

The Journal of Saturday's proceedings was read and approved.

An extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives was received and read, as follows:

Resolved, That if the Senate concur, House bill No. 709, "An Act to incorporate the Ridge Avenue and Manayunk passenger railway company," be amended, by adding at the end of the eighth section, "that the said company shall be subject to the provisions of ordinances of city councils now in force or hereafter to be enacted, regulating passenger railways in said city."

On motion of Mr. PARKER, said extract was concurred in.

House amendment to "An Act to incorporate the Pittsburgh park association" was twice read and considered.

On the question,

Will the Senate concur?

It was determined in the negative.

Also, the petitions of John Merwine and William Wolf, Esqs., of the late will and testament of Godfrey Greenwich, deceased, to be exonerated from the payment of certain collateral inheritance tax.

Also, a petition to incorporate the Harmony anthracite coal company.

Also, one to prevent fishing and trespass in the townships of Bethlehem and Hanover.

Mr. MANN, one from citizens of the counties of Potter and McKean, in favor of a State road.

Mr. HAMERSLY, the memorial of General Duff Green, relative to the bill to incorporate the Pennsylvania fiscal agency; which, on his motion, was read, as follow:

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The undersigned would respectfully represent, that the value of American railroad and other American securities in the European market, is at present regulated, in a great degree, by a very few wealthy European bankers, who use the control which they have obtained over such securities greatly to the injury of the United States, and especially to the injury of the manufacture of iron, and of the local interests and prosperity of this State. To remedy this state of things, he, with others, desires to organize an incorporated company with sufficient capital to enable them to make advances of money and of credit to railroad and other improvement companies, and also to aid, in like manner, contractors and manufacturers. Their plan of operations is indicated in the bill, as amended in the Senate, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Pennsylvania fiscal agency." The purpose of this bill is to enable them to obtain, by subscription in the United States and in Europe, a fund, to be invested in such securities as are negotiable, which securities being held by the European agencies of the company, will be the basis of a credit on which the company may, from time to time, draw bills of exchange, from the proceeds of such bills of exchange the company can make advances of money to railroad companies, contractors, &c., and inasmuch as interest in the European market always rates much below the charge in this country, such agencies, by availing themselves of the credit created by their capital invested for that purpose, can at all times obtain funds in Europe on terms more favorable than they can be had here, and thus aid in the development of our system of improvements, and especially the coal and iron interests of Pennsylvania.

As the rate of interest charged will depend on the character of the security given, the bill proposes that the company may receive and hold in trust the property pledged for the payment of the bonds; which will be a guarantee that the money advanced will be properly applied, and due provision made for the payment of the interest and principal of the debts created through their agency.

As the bill now reads, the company will be a simple agency for the sale of American securities, with power to hold the property pledged for the payment in trust, and to use the credit created by such trust and their own capital, to borrow money in Europe, where the rate of interest is low, to be loaned to our improvement companies at less than they could otherwise obtain it.

The business of the negotiation of American securities in the European market, is now virtually monopolized by two European houses; and the only means of competing with these houses is to create by subscription a company with sufficient capital to create the requisite credit, to enable them to make the requisite advances. If one such company is successfully established, others will soon be created, for the field is large and remunerative.

DUFF GREEN.

Mr. SHEPPARD, two memorials from citizens of Philadelphia, relative to City passenger railways.

Mr. WOLF, a remonstrance from forty citizens of the borough of York, against the repeal of the office of county school superintendent.

Mr. GLATZ, two from citizens of same, of like import.

Mr. JACKSON, two remonstrances numerously signed by citizens of Columbia county, against the passage of any act for widening and extension of Market street, in Bloomsburg, at the expense of the county.

Mr. DODDS, one from citizens of Butler county, relative to the fees of M. F. White, late prothonotary of said county.

EVENING SESSION.

Mr. ROUSE asked, but did not obtain leave, to offer a resolution.

Mr. PRICE, on leave given, from the Committee on Corporations, reported as committed, "An Act to incorporate the Wrightsville steam ferry company."

Agreeably to order, the House resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. _____ in the chair,) on House bill No. 182.

AN ACT to confer on certain associations of the citizens of this Commonwealth the powers and immunities of corporations and bodies politic in law, and to confirm charters heretofore granted.

WHEREAS, The Legislature of Pennsylvania, by an act passed the twenty-second day of April, one thousand eight hundred and fifty, authorized and fully empowered the court of common pleas for the city and county of Philadelphia to grant acts or charters of incorporation to citizens of this Commonwealth, desirous of forming mutual savings fund, land and building associations, and by several supplements thereto have enlarged said authority, thereby encouraging citizens to form and invest their savings in said associations:

And whereas, The said act and its said several supplements have, by various other acts of the said General Assembly, been extended to various other counties of this Commonwealth:

And whereas, The authority thus granted has been freely exercised, and by such encouragement and by allowing members of said associations to adopt such constitutions or articles of association as to them might seem most beneficial, and by allowing parents to sign the constitutions for and on behalf of their minor children, a large and constantly increasing interest has been created, such associations affording to the indigent an opportunity to save and profitably invest their savings, thus inducing the people to form habits of economy and self-denial, by setting apart periodically a portion of their earnings, enabling them to purchase or build their own homes, increasing the number of small real estate owners, and thereby enriching and strengthening the Commonwealth:

And whereas, Such associations are meritorious and deserving the care of the State; therefore

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That at any time, when ten or more persons may desire to form a mutual saving fund, loan or building association under the provisions of this act, they shall make application to the court of common pleas of the proper county, in the manner and at such times as are prescribed by the thirteenth section of an act passed the thirteenth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty, entitled "An Act relating to orphans' courts and for other purposes," and upon compliance with the provisions of the said section of said act, the said court shall be and hereby is fully empowered to grant acts or charters of incorporation to said associations; and the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth sections of the aforesaid act of Assembly are hereby extended to and made a part of this act, with regard to said associations, corporations, or bodies politic in law: Provided, That no charter granted under or by virtue of the provisions of this act be for a longer period than twenty years.

SEC. 2. That the capital stock of any corporation created by virtue of this act shall at no time consist of more than two thousand five hundred shares of two hundred dollars each, the instalments on which stock are to be paid at such time and place as the by-laws shall appoint; no periodical payment to be made exceeding two dollars on each share; and if any stockholder shall neglect or refuse to make payment of instalments on stock or interest on loans, as directed by the by-laws, such stockholder, his assignee or legal representative, shall pay such fines for every neglect or refusal as the by-laws shall provide; all stockholders being six months in arrears in payment of their instalments shall be liable to a forfeiture of membership in the said corporation, when they shall be entitled to receive therefrom the same amount as a member withdrawing, as hereinafter provided; new shares of stock may be issued, in lieu of the shares withdrawn or forfeited; the stock may be issued in one or in successive series, in such amount as the board of directors or the stockholders may determine: Provided, That if the holder of matured stock desires to let the money due him or her remain in the said corporation, it shall be lawful to declare semi-annual dividends out of the profits of the business thereof on such matured stock; and any stockholder wishing to withdraw from the said corporation shall have power to do so, by giving thirty days' notice of his or her intention to withdraw, when he or she shall be entitled to receive the amount paid in by him or her, and such proportion of the profits as the by-laws may determine, less all fines and other charges: Provided, That at no time shall more than one-half of the funds in the treasury of the corporation be appropriable to the demands of withdrawing stockholders, without the consent of the board of directors; and that no stockholder shall be entitled to withdraw whose stock is held in pledge for security; upon the death of a stockholder, his or her legal representatives shall be entitled to receive the full amount paid in by him or her, and legal interest thereon, first deducting all charges that may be due on the stock; no fees shall be charged to a deceased member's account from and after his or her decease, unless his legal representatives of such decedent assume the future payments on the stock.

SEC. 3. That the number, titles, functions and compensation of the officers of any corporation created by virtue of this act, their terms of office, the times of their election, as well as the qualifications of electors and the ratio and manner of voting, and the periodical meetings of the said corporation, shall be determined by the by laws.

SEC. 4. That the said officers shall hold stated meetings, at which the money in the treasury, if over two hundred dollars, shall be offered for loan in open meeting, and the stockholder who shall bid the highest premium for the preference or priority of loan shall be entitled to receive a loan of two hundred dollars or more for each share of stock held by such stockholder: Provided, That a stockholder may borrow such fractional part of two hundred dollars as the by-laws may provide; and good and ample security shall be given by the borrower to secure the re-payment of the loan; in case the borrower shall neglect to offer security, or shall offer security that is not approved by the board of directors, he or she shall be charged with one month's interest, together with any expenses incurred, and the money shall be re-sold at the next stated meeting; in case of non-payment of instalments or interest by borrowing stockholders, for the space of six months, payment of principal and interest may be enforced by proceeding on their securities according to law.

SEC. 5. That a borrower may re-pay a loan at any time, and in case of the re-payment thereof before the expiration of the eighth year after the organization of the corporation, there shall be refunded to such borrower one-eighth of the premium paid for every year of the said eight years then unexpired; and in case of recovery of loans by process of law, when the amount collected by or distributed to the said corporation shall exceed the amount of loan taken by the borrower with interest and charges, the money shall be re-loaned at the next stated meeting, and the excess recovered beyond the amount required to pay the loan with interest and charges, shall be returned to the borrower from whom the money was collected, or his or her legal representative: Provided, That in case the said corporation shall have issued its stock in series, such re loan shall be made only to the stockholders of the same series: And provided, That if the premium offered for the re-loan shall be greater than that originally given by the defaulting borrower, the amount of the original premium only shall be paid over by the said corporation: And provided, That such defaulting borrower may at any time after the said re-lending, demand from the said corporation the amount required to be paid to a stockholder withdrawing his stock, saving and excepting, however, to the said corporation, the right to retain so much, or the whole thereof, as may be requisite to save it from loss, in case the amount recovered shall not suffice to pay the re-loan.

SEC. 6. That no premiums, fees or interest on such premiums that may accrue to the said corporation, according to the provisions of this act, shall not be deemed usurious, and the same may be collected as debts of like amount are now by law collected in this Commonwealth.

SEC. 7. That no corporation or association created under this act shall cease or expire from neglect on the part of the corporators to elect officers at the time mentioned in their charter or by-laws; and all officers elected by such corporation shall hold their offices until their successors are duly elected.

SEC. 8. That the charters of incorporation heretofore granted by the courts of common pleas of the several counties of the Commonwealth to mutual saving fund, loan, land and building associations, under the authority of the act of twenty-second of April, one thousand eight hundred and fifty, entitled "A supplement to an act entitled 'An Act to prevent waste in certain cases within this Commonwealth, passed the twenty-ninth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-two; to land and building associations, giving the court of Susquehanna county jurisdiction in a certain case; relative to the service of process in certain cases; to party walls in West Philadelphia; to the proof of a certain will; to the sale and purchase of certain burial grounds in Philadelphia; to the laying of gas pipes in the district of Moyamensing; to the release of certain surties in Erie county; to the State Innatic hospital; relative to the service of process against sheriffs; to the rights of married women; to ground rents; and relating to foreign insurance companies,'" and its supplements, are hereby declared to be legal and valid; and it is hereby declared that the true intent and meaning of the said acts was to authorize the incorporation of companies or associations, with power to loan or advance to stockholders thereof the moneys accumulated from time to time, and to secure the re-payment of such moneys, and the performance of the other conditions upon which said loans were made, by bond and mortgage or other security, as well as with power to purchase or erect houses for the benefit of their stockholders; and that the premiums taken by the said associations for the preference or priority of such loans should not be deemed usurious: Provided, That nothing herein contained should be construed to affect cases adjudicated under the said acts.

SEC. 9. That any saving fund, loan or building association, incorporated by or under this or any other act or acts of Assembly of this Commonwealth, is hereby authorized and empowered to purchase, at any sheriffs' or other judicial sale, or at any other sale, public or private, any real estate upon which such association may have or hold any mortgage, judgment, lien or other incumbrance or ground-rent, or in which said association may have an interest; and the real estate so purchased, or any other that such association may hold or be entitled to at the passage of this act, to sell, convey, lease or mortgage at pleasure, to any person or persons whatsoever; and all sales of real estate heretofore made by such associations to any person or persons not members of the association so selling, are hereby confirmed and made valid.

Mr. GOEPP moved to strike out all after the word "share" in the fifth line down to the word "new" in the twelfth line, and insert the following:

"Every share of stock shall be subject to a lien for the payment of unpaid instalments and other charges incurred thereon, and that under the provisions of the by-laws there may be prescribed the form and manner of enforcing such lien;" which was agreed to.

Mr. ABBOTT moved the following amendment; which was agreed to.

To strike out all after the word "determine" in the fifteenth line, to the word "and," in the eighteenth line.

Numerous other amendments to the bill were made.

Mr. LAIRD moved to amend the sixth section, by adding the following proviso:

Provided, That the same shall not exceed the rate of six per cent. per annum.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. LAIRD and Mr. EVANS, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bryson, Campbell, Custer, Dis-mant, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Good, Gritman, Hot-tenstine, Kencagy, Ketchum, Laird, Mann, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Proudfoot, Rouse, Stuart, Wagenseller, Warden, Wigton, Williams, (Bedford,) Wilson and Wolf—28.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Bayard, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Chase, Church, Dnrboraw, Eck-man, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fleming, Goepp, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, Neall, Nill, Peirce, Price, Pughe, Ramsdell, Sbafer, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Syer, Thorn, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wilcox, Wil-liston and Zoller—38.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The eighth section being under consideration, Mr. THOMPSON moved that the House do now adjourn; which was agreed to; whereupon, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until this evening at seven o'clock.

REMARKS OF MR. NILL,

On the passage of the bill to require the Pennsylvania railroad to pay the tonnage tax.

Mr. NILL said—

Mr. SPEAKER: Some of the gentlemen who have discussed this bill have attempted to create the impression that all who advocate this measure are inimical to the Pennsylvania railroad and its interests; that we are actuated by hostile feelings. I can assure the gentleman that such is not the case with me. I am willing to give my support, whatever it may be worth, to said railroad and its interests, as far as its chartered powers go. I give the corporation credit for its aid and influence in developing the resources of the State, and for the facilities it furnishes her citizens in sending their products to market. Thus far none here will more decidedly uphold said road in her rights. It must be borne in mind that all the franchises and privileges of this railroad were obtained from the State. She, by her power, created this wealthy and influential corporation. The corporators were desirous of obtaining the charter on the express condition of paying the tonnage tax. The State had an interest in having such a provision in said act. Her citizens have still a deep interest in requiring this part of the charter to be complied with. It is a part of the contract, and should be enforced. This road now owns the main line of the State improvements, which the tonnage tax was designed to protect, and for that line it paid nothing as a compensation for a release of this tax. Gentlemen say that corporations like this, with its millions of capital, and its more than a million of annual income, have no influence with the legislative bodies of the Commonwealth. Does our experience in our sales of the public works prove what is alleged? If so, how did it happen that when this railroad in 1857 agreed to pay one million and a half of dollars for the relinquishment of the tonnage tax, the enactment was connected with an unconstitutional provision that forever exempted its real and personal property from all kinds of taxation? Did that show that legislators were more mindful of State interests than of the welfare of this railroad? By this bill, we only propose to compel this work to comply with its charter. We are, however, told with a flourish of trumpets, by the gentleman from the city, (Mr. WALBORN,) that he desires all railroads to pay, and that his amendment must be attached to this act, or he will hold us responsible before the people for a dereliction of duty. None of the other railroads have raised the arm of rebellion against the power that created them. They can be reached under our present laws; and for one, I will take the responsibility of voting against his amendment. I have no notion of sending the Attorney General and other State officers on a quixotic expedition after other railroads, some of which are unfinished, and others insolvent. It is our duty to compel this road to observe its obligations and keep its promises. If it disregards the stipulations it entered into with the State to obtain its charter, it would be a reproach to us, not to take back privileges and franchises that have been so unworthily bestowed. It is, however, said that this small tonnage tax interfered with its business operations. This is gravely given by wise legislators on this floor as a sound reason for releasing said tax. I ask what tax or license has ever been imposed that has not, to some extent, operated against the business of those from whom it was exacted? Are not your farmers, mechanics, laboring men, merchants and professional men burdened with heavy taxes to maintain the interest and honor of the Commonwealth, and to support the needful expenditures of counties, boroughs and townships? When crops fail, the taxes of the farmers are oppressive. They are almost equal to a small rent. The poor man who has a small house and lot of ground, or the widow who has not property much over the value of three hundred dollars, has to pay all the taxes demanded by the laws. No proposition is made to release them, yet we are asked to exempt this great and opulent corporation from the payment of this tonnage tax. Such unjust sentiments meet with no favorable response from me. I trust, nay, I know that the people will never sanction such a wrong. It is our duty to ourselves and to the Commonwealth to adhere to our rights, and not to abandon this very important and growing branch of revenue.

But another objection rises to our vision. It is asserted that this tonnage tax is unconstitutional. This is seriously argued by the gentleman from the city, (Mr. NEALL.) On this question I believe all of the seventeen members from the city, with the single exception of Mr. THORN, agree. I must take it for granted that they have thoroughly investigated and carefully considered this profound subject, because they have come to the conclusion stated. It would be unkind and uncharitable to them to think otherwise.

Here, Mr. HAMERSLY said that he had not so decided.

Mr. NILL replied that he was glad to find two who had not said the law was unconstitutional.

Mr. HAMERSLY explained by saying he had come to no conclusion either way.

Mr. NILL said, then I will leave the gentleman on the non-committal list. It is not my purpose to discuss the constitutionality of this tax, nor to reply to the arguments advanced by any of the gentlemen from the city. I will submit that to a more competent tribunal. If the tax is not paid, and the Commonwealth has to institute suit, our courts can dispose of this question.

Again, we are entreated not to pass this act to require not this defaulting, but this rebellious railway company, to pay what is justly owing to the State under contract, for the astonishing reason that our conduct may cause its bonds and stock to fall in the money market. We are supplicated to indulge its president and managers in their resolutions, setting the State authorities at defiance, and after so doing, to desist from any proceedings on part of the Commonwealth, which tends to enforce the laws—This is a modest request!! The State dare not claim the money due, lest the bonds and stocks of the road should be diminished in value!!—

We are quietly to submit to a yearly loss of revenue exceeding two hundred and thirty thousand dollars, for the mere reason that this corporation claims to substantially nullify the law. It would not suit to legislate on the matter, lest her welfare would suffer as to bonds and stocks. If these securities should depreciate, because of the difficulty between the corporation and the State, who is to blame? Certainly not the Commonwealth, for had the company performed in good faith its chartered stipulations, there would have been no cause of complaint. When the company have defied the State, and the latter proceeds by law to enforce its demands, if the final result should be the forfeiture of its charter, it can trace its disaster to the right cause, which is the temerity and the inordinate desire of gain in its managers. Let not this deter us from performing our duty and faithfully enacting such remedial laws as will tend to vindicate the honor and interests of this great Commonwealth. Let us show these and all other corporations that the time has not yet come in which a creature of the public, whose vitality had its origin in State authority, can control State legislation and trample the laws in the dust. But we are also told that there is no occasion for further enactment. That under existing laws corporations can be made pay their dues. It is true that from such bodies money can be collected. None, however, have taken the bold stand that this one has done.—All others, if tardy in making payments, acknowledge their indebtedness. For them additional laws are unnecessary, but for this railroad, considering their defiant conduct, it is but right that this act should be passed, directing that proceedings should be instituted—and that if the tonnage tax is not paid, there should be no cessation until a forfeiture of charter is obtained. For if the charter is only good against the State for the privileges granted the company, and invalid in favor of the State, for the reservations for the public benefit, it is time that it should be known.

NO. 1076.—FILE OF THE HOUSE.

WILEY, Militia System—March 21.

A SUPPLEMENT to an act for the better regulation of the militia of this Commonwealth, approved the twenty-first day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.

hereafter the pay of uniformed militia men, as provided for in the twenty-fourth clause of the ninth section of the act to which this is a supplement, shall be, for each officer, non-commissioned officer, musician and private of any uniformed company or troop, one dollar for every day actually on duty; and for each horse used by them, fifty cents per day; but no officer or member shall receive pay for parading oftener than four times in any one year.

SEC. 2. That hereafter the fines imposed by the third clause of the thirteenth section of the act aforesaid, shall be one dollar for every non-commissioned officer, musician and private; and that it shall be the duty of the court of inquiry or appeal, after having ascertained the amount of the fines aforesaid, to place the same in the hands of the constables residing near or convenient to the rendezvous, or regular parading ground of each of the respective companies constituting the brigade, whose duty it shall be to collect the same, deducting therefrom ten per cent. as commission for collecting, and paying over the remainder to the proper treasurer of the county, to be placed to the credit of the military fund; but in all cases where persons against whom such fines have been charged shall refuse to pay the same on demand, after due notice has been given according to the requirements of the law to which this a supplement, then it shall be the duty of the constables aforesaid, to collect such fines in the same manner as they are authorized to collect any debt upon civil process, together with lawful costs; but in no case shall absence or neglect to appear for the performance of military duty work a forfeiture of pay, except when upon a fair and impartial trial before the court of inquiry or appeal, the party so charged shall have been found guilty of willfully and without lawful excuse absenting himself from the regularly called parades of his company, regiment, brigade or division; but any refusal to appear after due notice has been given to answer such charge, either in person, or by affidavit duly sworn to and attested before a proper justice of the peace, shall be taken as evidence of willful neglect, and work a forfeiture of pay accordingly.

SEC. 3. That in all cases where calls shall be made for encampments, either by the Governor or the commanding officer of any division or brigade or regiment, no company shall go into camp before Tuesday morning, or remain longer than Saturday morning of the same week.

SEC. 4. That hereafter it shall be lawful for the Adjutant General to furnish each of the regularly organized companies of this Commonwealth with the requisite number of tents and equipments for camping purposes, under the same provisions and requirements of law as apply to arms and other equipments.

SEC. 5. That it shall be the duty of the several county treasurers of this Commonwealth to prepare annually a statement of the receipts and expenditures of the military fund of their respective counties, setting forth the amount received from each collector separately, and the amount paid each person to whom money may be due; which statement, after being examined and passed by the county auditors, shall be published in the same manner that the other accounts of the said county treasurer are by law directed to be published; the expenses whereof to be paid out of the military fund of said county, and a statement of the same forwarded by the county treasurers to the State Treasurer of this Commonwealth, on or before the first day of February in each and every year.

SEC. 6. That the State Treasurer is hereby authorized and required to pay out of the aggregate military fund now accumulated, or that may hereafter accumulate, to the several county treasurers, any deficiencies of the county military expenses, wherein statements have been duly transmitted, agreeably to the fifth section of this supplement.

SEC. 7. That so much of the provisions of the act to which this is a supplement as are inconsistent with the provisions of this act be and the same are hereby repealed.

GOEPP, Judiciary—March 7.

AN ACT to preserve the lien of mortgages in certain cases.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That where the lien of a mortgage upon real estate is, or shall be prior to all other liens upon the same property, except other mortgages, ground

rents, or the purchase money due to the Commonwealth, the lien of such mortgage shall not be destroyed or in any way affected by any sale made under or by virtue of the order or decree of any court of this Commonwealth, unless such court shall so expressly order upon petition of any creditor or party interested after due notice to the holder of such mortgage being the mortgagee, his executors or administrators, or any assignee thereof, by assignment duly recorded.

SEC. 2. That the notice required by the first section of this act, shall be by citation served upon the holder of such mortgage as aforesaid, whether he shall reside within the jurisdiction of such court or otherwise, or if he shall not reside within the jurisdiction aforesaid; also, upon any agent or attorney by him appointed to receive the interest upon such mortgage, in such manner as the court shall direct; and no order for the discharge of the lien of any mortgage shall be made as aforesaid, until due proof shall be made to the satisfaction of the court, that such service has been made as directed.

SEC. 3. That where any such order for the discharge of the lien of a mortgage shall be made as aforesaid, it shall be the duty of the party obtaining such order, within ten days thereafter to have a duly certified copy thereof recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds for the proper county, which shall be indexed by the recorder under the name of the original mortgagor, which being done, no person after such sale shall have been confirmed, shall be thenceforth heard to question the validity of such order or the fact of due service of the notice above required having been made.

SEC. 4. That the estate, lien or charge of the widow of a decedent under the intestate laws of the Commonwealth, or upon proceedings in partition of an intestate's estate, shall not be deemed and taken to be a prior lien to any mortgage within the meaning of this or of any other act of Assembly of this Commonwealth, so as to cause the discharge of such mortgage by any judicial sale, where the lien thereof would otherwise be preserved thereby.

BREWER, Militia—Feb. 11.

A SUPPLEMENT to an act, entitled "An Act for the regulation of the militia of this Commonwealth," approved April twenty-first, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That it shall be the duty of the several county treasurers of this Commonwealth, to prepare annually a statement of the receipts and expenditures of the military fund of their respective counties, setting forth the amount received from each collector separately, and the amount paid each person to whom money may be due; which statement, after being examined and passed by the county auditors, shall be published in the same manner that the other accounts of the said county treasurer are by law directed to be published; the expenses whereof to be paid out of the military fund of said county, and a statement of the same forwarded by the county treasurers to the State Treasurer of this Commonwealth, on or before the first day of February in each and every year.

SEC. 2. That the State Treasurer is hereby authorized and required to pay out of the aggregate military fund, now accumulated or that may hereafter accumulate, to the several county treasurers, any deficiencies of the county military expenses wherein statements have been duly transmitted agreeably to the first section of this supplement.

SEC. 3. That so much of the fourteenth section of this act, to which this is a supplement, as prohibits the paying any money out of the general military fund, except for the salary of the Adjutant General, his assistant and clerk, be and the same is hereby repealed.

CHASE, Judiciary—March 3.

AN ACT for the preservation of growing timber.

WHEREAS, In many parts of this State, persons who have no timber of their own, are in the habit of cutting timber and hoop-poles off the lands of others, and of selling the same as hewed logs, staves, shingles, rails and hoop-poles to purchasers in their vicinity; therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That where any person or persons own land, and such owner or owners have reason to believe that any other person or persons are in the habit of cutting timber or hoop-poles growing on their lands, and of selling the hoop-poles, and of making the timber into staves, shingles, rails or hewed logs, and then of selling or trading the same to any storekeeper or storekeepers, or to any other person or persons who may purchase or trade for the same, it shall be lawful for the owner or owners of lands from which such hoop-poles or timber may be cut, to give notice in writing to such storekeeper or storekeepers, or other persons who purchase or trade for the above mentioned articles, warning them not to purchase the same from such suspected person or persons named in said notice; and if, after such notice is given, any storekeeper or storekeepers, or other persons purchasing or trading for timber, shall buy or trade for any hoop-poles, staves, shingles or hewed logs that shall have been taken by such person or persons who have disposed of the same, from the lands of the owner or owners who have given such notice; such person or persons who have purchased or traded for the same, shall be liable to the owner or owners, in an action on the case, to be instituted in the court of common pleas of the proper county, for damages to four times the value of the said articles purchased or traded for: Provided however, That the time for commencing suit under this act shall not extend beyond one year.

No. 494.—FILE OF THE SENATE.

BELL, Judiciary—March 2.

AN ACT to regulate the practice and fees of sheriffs in cases of attachments.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That in all cases of the attachment of a debt, obligation, duty or sum of money due and owing by a garnishee to the defendant, whether such attachment be made by virtue of a writ of foreign attachment or of a writ of attachment issued on a judgment, it shall not be lawful for the sheriff or other officer to whom such writ is or shall be directed, or his deputy, to require any bond or other security, to indemnify him against the execution of such writ or any fee therefor, nor any other or greater sum or fee for executing such writ, than is by law allowed for serving a writ of scire facias.

SEC. 2. That whenever the sheriff or other officer to whom any writ shall be directed, may by law demand a bond or obligation of indemnity before executing the same, it shall be lawful for such officer to demand or receive as a fee for preparing such bond or obligation, one dollar, and no more.

HOUSE.—EVENING SESSION.

MONDAY, March 28, 1859.

Mr. IRISH, having obtained leave to make a statement, said that while out of his seat this afternoon, a resolution had passed the House substituting another bill in place of the special order for this evening, which was House bill No. 432, entitled "An Act for the better security of personal liberty, &c." As the yeas and nays were not called on the resolution, and he had no opportunity of recording his vote on it, he rose for the purpose of asking the Chair whether a motion to re-consider the resolution would be in order?

The SPEAKER decided that the motion would not be in order now.

Mr. IRISH stated that he introduced that bill in good faith, and he intended to act towards it in good faith throughout, and did not wish to be understood as consenting to its postponement for the consideration of any other bill whatever. He made this statement for the purpose of placing himself right on the record.

GENERAL BANKING LAW.

Agreeably to order, the House resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. LAIRD in the chair,) on Senate bill No. 18, entitled "An Act to establish a general banking law."

The first section was read and agreed to.

The second section being before the committee,

Mr. GOOD moved so to amend the same, as to make the office of superintendent of the banking department elective.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) moved, as a modification of the amendment submitted by Mr. GOOD, the following:

"He shall be appointed by the Governor, by and with the advice of the Senate," and inserting in lieu thereof the words, "he shall be elected at the first general election held after the passage of this act, and every three years thereafter."

Mr. HAMERSLY. I do not know that I would object to that amendment, were it not that it would delay the operation of this bill for six or nine months. If the gentleman would modify it, I might vote for it.

Mr. NEALL. I do not think it is going to take us till next October to make this bill a law.

Mr. KENEAGY. I would have a stronger objection to the adoption of the amendment of the gentleman from Berks, (Mr. SMITH,) and I think the House will agree with me; that is, to keep this matter out of the hands of politicians. To make the chief clerk to be elected by the people would place that officer in the power of politicians. I do not think he ought to be elected at all.

Mr. NEALL. I would ask the gentleman from Lancaster, (Mr. KENEAGY,) if the section remains as it is, whether it would keep this matter out of politics.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks.) It is well enough to talk about keeping this matter out of politics, but it is impossible to do it. I am certain, sir, if this person be elected by one of the political parties, it will be no more a matter of politics than to give the power of appointment to the Governor. I am not, sir, one of those persons who think the Governor ought to do everything. Sir, no subject has excited the popular attention in this State more than this subject of banking. There is nothing in which the popular mind has been more exercised than on this subject, and I think, sir, it is safer to allow the people to choose for themselves; those people whom we know are desirous of having a radical reform in the present system of banking; those people who know the inconvenience of a bad banking system; we should leave it to them to say who shall be this superintendent. This amendment strikes me as being eminently proper at this time. We should not allow a man to be appointed to this office, whose prejudices may be excited against the bill we are now about to pass. Let the people decide that question for themselves; who has that administrative faculty and who has those qualities of heart, that integrity and unquestioned honesty that alone can faithfully discharge the duties of that office. There is no use of talking about keeping the matter aloof from politics. You cannot do it, and I do not know that such a consummation, if effected, would be desirable.

Mr. WILSON. I concur heartily with the remark of the gentleman from Berks, that it would be impossible to keep this matter out of politics. Now, sir, we are met at the very outset with an objection which, to my mind, should at once persuade us to abandon this proposition in the bill. It is said, sir, if we make this controller elective, we throw the whole matter into politics. Now, sir, the election of the Governor of this Commonwealth is in the machinery of politics, and he has, according to the provisions of this bill, the appointment of the controller. Now, what is the difference between the people electing the controller, and electing the Governor who appoints the controller, and perhaps all politicians knowing upon whom that appointment is to light? Now, sir, in doing this, you unite the banking power with the executive power of this Commonwealth, and I defy gentlemen, with all their reason, to show that it does not effectually do so. It will be the union of the executive influence with the control of the money power—the union of the purse and the sword. I think this objection quite sufficient for any candid mind to come to this conclusion, that we should not adopt the provision of this bill with reference to this matter. There are other objections, and I will mention one of them; it is this: The proposition is to place here the basis of this system upon the debt of this Commonwealth. How is that to be done? Why, it is done by preferring one set of creditors in the Commonwealth to that of the other. It is making the bonds which one man owns and has purchased, of more value than that of other men of equal value. Now, by this course of legislation, we undertake to create and stamp upon the bonds of the Commonwealth a value which is not inherent therein, because the market value of our bonds is five or six per cent. only. Well, sir, then we undertake to legislate here a banking value, and attach it to these bonds which they do not inherit. Now, sir, that cannot be done with equal and fair justice towards other men who hold bonds of similar value, and just in proportion as you enhance the value of these bonds, in the same proportion do you depress similar bonds or money belonging to other people. Another reason is, that we all—whether of the Republican or of the Democratic party—stand pledged to the people, and the people of this Commonwealth, or nine-tenths of them, are anxious, and look with eager eyes to that day, when the debt of this Commonwealth shall be wiped out. What is the argument afforded by the adoption of this bill? Why, sir, it is that the debt of this Commonwealth shall be made perpetual. The argument will be, sir, not only in favor of the perpetuity of the debt of this Commonwealth, but it will go strongly in favor of the expansion of it; the argument will be now increase of debt; for certainly if a small debt of twenty-eight, as some may render it, or forty millions dollars, as others may render it, is beneficial to the government, a larger one will be more so. Then, sir, by enacting this bill into a law, we establish an argument not only for the perpetuity of the debt of this Commonwealth but for its increase. I ask the gentlemen present, the representatives of the people of this Commonwealth, are you prepared for such a proposition? Sir, the debt of this Commonwealth is upon this body politic, like an ulcer upon the system, which we are all striving to cut away as speedily as possible. Yet that very ulcer is to be made the basis of a perpetual banking system.

Mr. HAMERSLY. I would ask the gentleman from Beaver (Mr. WILSON) how this matter is going to increase the State debt in any way.

Mr. WILSON. I said, Mr. Chairman, it would be an argument in favor of its perpetuity and also of its increase. Sir, this matter stands so. We will make the basis of our system similar to that which is the basis of the banking system of England, and are the people of Pennsylvania prepared for that step? Sir, the Constitution of Pennsylvania, as now amended, requires that the debt of this Commonwealth shall be reduced two hundred and fifty thousand dollars annually. Under the operation of the Constitution, which is the law of the land, we look to a day when this basis will be entirely swept away. What then will become of this banking system, under the operation of the existing laws? I contend that the Legislature has no right to make anything else than gold or silver the basis of our banking system, and yet, by this act, they will be required to keep but twelve and a-half per cent. of all their basis in gold or silver. Under the operations of this law, any man who owns fifty thousand dollars can establish a bank worth that amount on its face, though it may really be worth less than that.

Mr. ROSE I would ask the gentleman a question: whether the Bank of Beaver county has sufficient specie on hand to keep going?

Mr. WILSON. They are bound to have sufficient to redeem their money, and I can say to the gentleman, too, that they can, and will, pay and redeem all notes brought into them; but it appears to me the gentleman alludes to rather a side issue. I would state I have no interest in that or any other bank in this country, and never had. Now, sir, I ask the members of this House if they are ready to make this change; whether they are ready to adopt the English system of banking; whether they are ready to invest in the Executive an influence with the money power of the country which this bill will effectually do?

Mr. ROSE said—

Mr. SPEAKER: It is not my intention at this time to discuss the merits of a paper currency, or to speak in detail of the provisions of this bill.

I may, before the vote is taken upon its final passage, give my views on this subject. But at present, I desire simply, in answer to some remarks of the gentleman from Beaver, (Mr. WILSON,) to call the attention of the House to one particular feature of the bill, and that is, its general application. This I regard as one of the strongest arguments in its favor.

This State has been afflicted with two great evils. The first is special legislation, and the second is, too much legislation, which is a consequence of the first. One year we pass a law, and the next we repeal it, or amend it, or add a supplement, without even waiting to test its wisdom or try its soundness. We enact laws for a particular township or county, or for the benefit of particular individuals, granting them chartered privileges, until each county and district has become a little municipality, "a kingdom within a kingdom." So extensive has been our legislation in this regard, that the laws of each session are sufficient to fill a large volume, and this volume seems to be increasing in dimensions every year, although it contains but few laws of a general application. It might, in truth, be said of our laws now, as Blackstone says of the Roman laws before the compilations of Hermogenes Gregorius and Papirius, "that they were computed to be many camels' loads."

The multiplicity of our laws, and this tendency to over-legislation, originates mainly from the evils of special legislation. This whole system, of granting special privileges to one man, or to a set of men, is not only wrong in principle, but is in contravention of the very object of government, which is the protection of our rights; not the rights of a few individuals composing a corporation, but the rights of all. A privilege, from its very definition, implies that it cannot be conferred upon any particular class of men, without militating more or less against the rights of all others who have not been thus highly favored. The Legislature should act only for the general good, and unless the community at large would be benefited by the passage of a law, it should never find a place upon the statute book. We are sent here to represent the interests of the State at large, and not the selfish interests of a few individuals or of a particular district. We are sent here not to grant monopolies or exclusive privileges to a few political favorites or "pets," but to guard and protect the rights of all. The poor are as much entitled to our legislative protection as the opulent, and those who perform the most menial services are as much an object of favor as those who sit in high places. In this respect, we are all placed upon a common level; and this is the distinguishing feature of our republican form of government. And here, I do not wish to be understood as being opposed to all corporations, for a great deal of credit is due to these institutions as a class. Public companies have done a great deal towards the physical improvement of this and all other countries, and in fact occupy a very important place in the economy of our government. By their combinations of wealth and effort, they have succeeded in developing the resources of our country, and in advancing the physical condition of man to a degree that never could have been accomplished by individual effort alone. It is to public companies that we are indebted, in a great measure, for our railroads, canals, steamboats, docks, harbors, roads, bridges, fuel, light, commerce, and in fact for nearly all the comforts and luxuries of life. And I think it is not too much to say, that if such companies had never been organized, the world to-day would be but little removed from barbarism. Far be it from me, then, to detract one iota from the credit due to those companies, for the benefits that have resulted to the human race, from their organization.

Sir, to these mighty engines of human progress, I willingly accord that praise and honor to which they are justly entitled. It is not the public companies I object to; it is the mode by which they are incorporated; it is the granting of special privileges to these companies to the exclusion of everybody else. What interest is there, commercial, manufacturing, banking, navigation or railroad, that could not be as well secured and encouraged by general laws—laws which will place all upon the same footing, and allow any company of men, without regard to locality or circumstance, after complying with those restrictions which are necessary for the security of the public from imposition and fraud, to organize themselves, for the purpose of carrying on any branch of business?

Take, for instance, the business of banking. If we must have a paper currency—if the commercial interests of our Government demand it—if the business wants of the community require such a medium of exchange—why can it not be carried on just as well under the provisions of a general law? If the system of banking is wrong in principle, then no act of the Legislature granting a special charter, can legalize that wrong, and make it right for any class of men to engage in it. But if the system of banking is right in principle, then one man has just as good a right to embark in it as another; and if the public interests are not endangered by extending this privilege to a few men, who are able to give the requisite security, it cannot be any more dangerous to extend the privilege to all who are able to comply with the limitations and restrictions which are necessary for the safety of the community.

But this principle is no more true of banking than of any other branch of business. Railroad companies, navigation companies, insurance companies, coal and iron companies, gas companies, plank road companies, charitable companies, companies for the advancement of the arts and sciences, and all other kinds of companies, could, as well, and far better, be regulated by general laws, prescribing the mode by which they may obtain a charter, and limiting and defining their franchises and privileges. In this way, the public interests would be much better guarded; for it is the legislative experience of the world, that errors are far more likely to creep into special laws than laws of a general nature, and this for very obvious reasons; and so far as a tendency to excess in any branch of business is concerned, under the operations of this system, it would be left free to regulate itself, as the business wants of the community should require. If the Legislature were to adopt this system of general legislation, it would do away with many other evils which necessarily follow in the wake of special legislation. While ever this body will countenance and encourage these companies, by granting them special favors, and by taking up three-fourths of every session as heretofore, legislating for their especial benefit, as a matter of course they will be here, "thick as the plagues of Egypt," either in personam, or by their agents or brokers, watching every opportunity to slip through some little supplement, or some little one-horse bill, drawn up by some astute and cunning lawyer, and which at first view may seem reasonable enough, but which embodies some enormous power, some gigantic privilege, couched in such ambiguous and obscure terms that it is impossible to detect it, upon mere cursory examination. These polite and courteous gentlemen will of course resort to every artifice, and betake themselves to every trick and device, for the purpose of making you believe it is all right. They will watch it, and nurse it, and foster and encourage it, in every stage of its proceedings, from its inception to its final passage; and by this process, these seemingly innocent little creatures are smuggled through the Legislature; but the moment they are hatched, they begin to thrust out their forked tongues, and indicate the propensities of a full grown serpent.

The applications for such favors are so numerous, that, in order to give all an equal chance, legislation must be done up with railroad speed, and members have neither the time nor the inclination to give these bills and supplements that attention which their own safety and the safety of their constituents absolutely require.

I ask gentlemen who have had some legislative experience in these halls, if such is not the case? I ask them if bills have not passed the House in this hurried manner, granting some monstrous privilege or licensing some flagrant wrong, and the error never detected, until after the bill had been returned with amendments from the Senate; or, perhaps, after it had passed that body, and been vetoed by the Governor? I will not presume that bills of this nature could receive the sanction of his excellency, the Governor; for, by a maxim of the ancient common law, "the King can do no wrong." But every day's experience in this House, proves what I have said to be true; and I do not say it out of any disrespect for the members of this body; for the fault is not in their want of attention, but in the present system of special, and, as a consequence, hasty legislation. By an examination of the House file of the session of 1857, it will be seen that 1335 bills were introduced in the House, all of which had to be acted upon by the Legislature; and, in addition to this, the Senate file shows that 1233 bills originated in that body, making in all 2568 bills presented for the consideration of the Legislature during that session. In 1858, there were 1002 bills introduced in the House and 939 introduced in the Senate, amounting in all to 1941 bills which were acted upon by the Legislature at its last session. At the present session, 1097 bills have been placed on file in the House up to this date, and 857 bills have been placed on file in the Senate, amounting in all, to nineteen hundred and fifty-four bills, and judging from the number recently read in place, and the number yet in the hands of committees, in both Houses, this amount will, in all probability, be swelled to the enormous sum of twenty-five hundred or three thousand, before the close of the session. Now, sir, I say it boldly, that no living man, I care not what his talents, or acquirements, or legislative experience, can, in a three or four months session, give these bills that thorough examination, which is necessary that he may vote upon them intelligently. And if this Legislature were to remain in session for six months or a year to come, I have no doubt, but that bills would accumulate on our files as rapidly as they have done for the last three months, and we would be no nearer through with the business then, than we are now. And why? Because every man who wants to start a bank or to construct a railroad, or to build a house, or to organize a gas company, a coal company, an iron company or insurance company, a navigation company, or any other kind of a company, comes here and asks for a special charter. It is this hasty and indiscriminate legislation that has given birth to so many rotten banks and mammoth corporations, and it will continue to curse this State with monetary revulsions and general bankruptcy, until there is a radical reform. But how is the government to reform in this respect, while it tolerates this system of special legislation? Every year only increases the difficulty. The more of these companies you organize, the more numerous will be their applications for an extension or renewal of their privileges. You cannot blame them for coming here and pressing their claims, because you invite them and encourage them, by recognizing in them the right to ask these favors, and by acceding to their exorbitant demands.

It would be exceedingly impolite and discourteous to insult them or drive them away from these Halls, after encouraging them by such caressing attentions.

Gentlemen may make "buncombe" speeches about "borers," and ridicule these amiable and gaudy gentry, but that will not remedy the difficulty, so long as they minister to their wants and feed them with legislative crumbs. The only way to reform this growing evil, is to cease special legislation and pass none but general laws—bestow no favors, but place all upon the same broad platform of equality. That alone will banish corruption from the halls of legislation, and prevent the wealth and power of the State from being concentrated in the hands of the few to the detriment of the masses. For these reasons I am in favor, not only of a general banking law, but a general law regulating corporations of every description.

Mr. THORN. The gentleman from Mercer (Mr. ROSE) stated, a while ago, that the friends of this bill did not want to talk about it but to pass it; accordingly he made a speech, in which he said nothing about the amendment before the House or the bill itself. Now, I would only make one suggestion, that this is not an act to establish a general banking law at all; it had better have been denominated, under its terms, "An Act for the gradual but certain extinguishment of the banking system of Pennsylvania;" for that is just what its provisions will effect, under the operations of itself and the constitution which provides for the gradual but certain extinguishment of the debt of the State, which is the only basis upon which this system is to rest.

Mr. HAMERSLY. I hope the reason given by my colleague, (Mr. THORN,) will commend this bill to the attention of our Democratic friends. They have long been anxious to wipe out our present banking system, and in that endeavor I am willing to join them, and then if they wish to come in under the new system, let them come. The State debt will be paid at some time I hope, now not far distant, though I may not live to see it.

Mr. GRITMAN moved to modify the amendment, so as to give the Governor the power of appointing such superintendent until the next general election, after the passage of this act.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved the following as a substitute, which was accepted as a modification:

"He shall be chosen at the next general election, and shall hold office for three years; and the Governor shall appoint, immediately after the passage of this act, a superintendent of the banking department, until the first Monday of February next, and until his successor has been duly elected and qualified."

Mr. THORN moved further to amend the bill, by requiring the bond of the superintendent to be approved by the supreme court, instead of the Governor; which was agreed to.

Mr. WILLISTON. I would suggest to the gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. THORN,) to allow the word "Governor" to remain where it is, and insert the words, "and judges of the supreme court."

Mr. GRITMAN. Now if the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. THORN, is opposed to or desires to embarrass this bill, let him just say so. There is a certain degree of fairness in everything. Now it is but a small matter of detail about this subject. I am willing to let it be the supreme court, or the Governor, or any other person placed in an official capacity. I see no particular reason why judges of the supreme court should be placed in the bill instead of the Governor, unless it is to embarrass us in regard to this bill. I cannot see that in any way this is going to tend to our benefit. The question before us now, is to change the present system of banking in the whole State.

Mr. THORN. I should not have risen again but for what the gentleman (Mr. GRITMAN,) has said this moment, that there was a certain degree of fairness in everything. If he had acted according to that principle, he would not have impugned my motive. He, this morning, heard me say I was in favor of the bill. Now, I just claim the privilege here, of offering an amendment when I choose. If the bill, in its details commends itself to my judgment, I will vote for it; if not, I will not. I have voted the whole session for the free banking law, and had I thought that bill was coming before the House at this time, I should have taken more pains to examine it, but it will hardly do for the gentlemen who are so clamorous about a free banking law, who call an evening session for its consideration, when a man gets up to offer an amendment, which in his mind is an improvement, to raise a holy horror of him for so doing.

Mr. GOEPP. The remarks of the gentleman from Luzerne, (Mr. GRITMAN,) have left me in a state of uncertainty from which I desire to be relieved. He finds fault—professing to be one of the special champions of the bill—with one of the gentlemen from Philadelphia, (Mr. THORN,) for offering that amendment, and in the same breath the gentleman tells us it is entirely immaterial whether this bill is approved of by the Governor or the supreme court. I really do not know how to vote on this amendment, so far as voting against or for the object of the friends of the bill is concerned. The gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. THORN,) and the gentleman from Luzerne, (Mr. GRITMAN,) though both friends of the bill, voted differently and in opposition to each other.

Mr. NEALL moved to amend the section further, by requiring said superintendent to give a bond in the penal sum of thirty instead of fifty thousand dollars.

Mr. NILL moved to amend the amendment, by increasing the amount to two hundred thousand dollars.

Mr. WILLISTON. I have refrained from participating in the discussion of amendments as they came up. I do not regard the minutiae of this bill as of any consequence whatever; whether the oath shall be taken before the Governor or the supreme court, or the oath given by the one or other as not of the slightest consequence; whether he shall be appointed by the people or the Legislature, as of little more consequence. The essence of this system is the security of the bill-holder. There lies the virtue of this bill, but I do not intend to discuss it at this time. Those who do not understand the deficiencies of the present system could not be enlightened in the discussion of an evening. I might here remark that the term, free banking law, is a misnomer of the bill, but I am wandering. It is true that the provision to require a person to present a bond of two hundred thousand dollars would startle almost any one from attempting to give bail, but I am astonished that one of the most experienced legislators in this hall objects to the amount of bail, because such an immense amount of money will pass through his hands. Now, I say he would not have the control of one dollar.— Though millions be issued, he does not disburse one dollar in money. True, he issues the bills, but they are not money until they have gone into the hands of the bank. In looking at the matter, at the first glance, you might think this office was all-important—that the person filling it holds within his grasp untold thousands of dollars, whereas, he does not hold one dollar.— Now, I care little whether this matter be fixed at two or two hundred thousand, but the friends of the bill, on this floor, do not regard the bill as perfect in all its details; but they do regard it as perfect, in many particulars, as compared with the present system; and I do ask the persons who have the bill in charge, to pass it without too many amendments. Suppose there are fifty friends to the bill, on this floor; one may desire one thing, another a different thing, and if they differ, in regard to the minutiae, we never will have the bill. This is but the start.— This bill is not to remain intact forever. May the Heavens speed the day when the public debt of Pennsylvania will be blotted out. It may be left for those who come after us, to devise a system more secure than any yet thought of, but so long as the system proposed is of value for the present, and better than the one we now have, let us adopt it. I rose simply to dispel the apparently honest opinion the gentleman who has just taken his seat (Mr. NILL,) entertained.

This gave rise to considerable debate between Messrs. NEALL, NILL, HAMERSLY and WILLISTON.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment offered by Mr. NILL?

It was negatived.

Mr. THOMPSON moved to amend the amendment by increasing the penalty to $300,000.

Pending its consideration,

Mr. CHASE moved that the committee rise, report progress and ask leave to sit again; which was agreed to. Whereupon the committee rose, and the Speaker resumed the chair.

And on the question, shall the committee have leave to sit again,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GOEPP and Mr. NEALL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Bayard, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Evans, Fearon, Fleming, Galley, Goepp, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Mehaffey, McClure, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Pinkerton, Peirce, Proudfoot, Rohrer, Shafer, Shields, Stuart, Walker, Warden, Wigton, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Wolf and Zoller—34.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Campbell, Chase, Church, Dodds, Eokman, Ellmaker, Foster, Good, Graham, Gratz, Gritman, Hamersly, Irish, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, McCurdy, McDowell, Miller, Palm, Patterson, Pugh, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Witman, Wilcox, Williston and Lawrence, Speaker—43.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The bill being before the House on second reading,

Mr. M'CLURE moved that the amendments adopted in committee of the whole be considered parts of the bill; which was agreed to.

The first section was then read and agreed to.

The second section was read as follows:

"That the chief officer of the said department shall be denominated the superintendent of the banking department. He shall be chosen at the next general election, and shall hold office for three years; and the Governor shall appoint immediately after the passage of this act a superintendent of the banking department, until the first Monday of February next, and until his successor has been duly elected and qualified," &c., &c.

Mr. WALBORN moved to amend the section, so that the superintendent of the banking department shall be chosen by the Senate and House of Representatives in the same manner as the State Treasurer is now elected.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment.

Mr. NILL moved that the further consideration of the question be postponed indefinitely.

Mr. NILL said—

Mr. SPEAKER:—I shall embrace this opportunity of advancing my views on this bill, in opposition to its passage. I hold the opinion that it is the duty of the Legislature to regulate the banking institutions with the intention of giving the people a good currency. My opinion on banks and on the manner in which they should be established, are in accordance with the writings of the political economists. Their arguments are to my mind conclusive. In the first place, men who wish to bank should, in my judgment, have money to lend; they should not be borrowers. The whole capital ought to be paid in in gold and silver, in honesty and good faith. Then this capital should be used in discounting good business paper, that has from sixty to ninety days to run. Paper that has been given for the valuable products of the country. Under this system notes of borrowers would be constantly maturing; in this way there would always be money on hand to meet the demands for the redemption of the circulation. Manage banks with integrity and intelligence, in conformity to these principles, and there will be a sound circulating medium that will give general satisfaction.

I regret that I have to urge that, in my judgment, this bill is unconstitutional. It gives the superintendent, when certificates that notice has been given by advertisement for six months, a right to create banking corporations. He has no limit to the number which he may call into existence. He can make one or one hundred in a day, if the applications require it. The legislative authority is delegated to him for the purpose. This power is almost monarchical. Now, I believe that the clear interpretation of the constitution is, that banks can only be created by the law-making power of the State. That the framers of the constitution never intended that this authority should be exercised by power deputed to one or more individuals. The constitution on this subject reads thus: "No corporate body shall be hereafter created, renewed or extended, with banking or discounting privileges, without six months previous public notice of the intended application for the same, in such manner as shall be prescribed by law; nor shall any charter for the purposes aforesaid, be granted for a longer period than twenty years; and every such charter shall contain a clause reserving to the Legislature the power to alter, revoke, or annul the same whenever in their opinion it may injurious to the citizens of the Commonwealth, in such manner, however, that no injustice shall be done to the corporators. No law hereafter enacted shall create, renew or extend the charter of more than one corporation."

The reason for permitting only one corporation of the kind to be created by one law, was to avoid the evil effects of combinations in the Legislature, with the object of carrying through several corporate acts at one time.

I respectfully submit, whether, under this act of Assembly, not only one, but several hundred may not be created. By conferring the authority to pass on corporations to the superintendent, we make void this constitutional restriction.

This bill also gives to the superintendent of banking the power now exercised over the banks of the State by the Auditor General. It entrusts him with control over the millions of State bonds that may be deposited with him as the basis of banking under this act, and gives him power to surrender the bonds so deposited on receiving other evidence of the debt of the State, as an equivalent therefor. He can, in the event of a certain contingency, collect the interest on the bonds; and when complaint is made that an institution is not safely managed, he can appoint a committee of three, at five dollars per day, to investigate the affairs of such bank; and if the report of such committee is unfavorable to such bank, he appoints a receiver, who takes possession of "the books, records, money, choses in action and property of such association of every description, including the securities deposited with the superintendent. The receiver is to receive five dollars per day and traveling expenses. He is also to convert all such effects into money, and pay the debts, and hand over the balance, if any, to the stockholders. This superintendent, with all this authority, is required to give security in the small sum of fifty thousand dollars. He controls and manages millions, and this is his guaranty for the faithful performance of his duty!

The gentleman from Mercer, (Mr. ROSE,) says, pass this bill, and your legislative halls will be cleared of the lobby. He alleges that corruption will leave her; I, with deference, disagree with him. If under this act, we get a dishonest and corrupt superintendent, and the temptations are great, what a fertile field would be furnished for festering corruption. The probability is that we would have our pecuniary institutions overwhelmed with fraud, and dripping with corruption. The principle of banking on the debts of the Commonwealth is unsound. Stocks in times of panic and pressure are first affected. Depreciation in value first reaches them. They are to be nearly the only security for the notes issued. Notes to the par value of the stock deposited, if I correctly understand this bill, can be put in circulation to redeem these notes, but all  $12\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. in gold and silver is, at the commencement of the bank, to be on hand. Is this sufficient to redeem the issues? I am convinced that it will prove lamentably deficient.

[Here Mr. GRITMAN asked Mr. NILL if he was not the attorney of a bank and a stockholder. He replied he was not the attorney of any bank, but that he was a stockholder in the Bank of Chambersburg, and likewise, a stockholder in a free bank in the State of Indiana, at Evansville, and that his experience had proved that the free banking system was not a reliable one.]

It was said by the gentlemen from Philadelphia, (Mr. THORN,) that this bill contemplated retaining the banking system in this State only until her debt was paid, because when the debt was extinguished the basis of the capital would cease. To me this is a singular position. Well would it be for the people if his prediction should be verified. I would, however, predict, that before one million of dollars of the debt is paid, this whole system will explode, and the greater part of the banks that come into being under it, will be insolvent. It is not in the nature of things that such a system can last. The capital to start a bank on is too small. It is only fifty thousand dollars; one hundred thousand would not be large enough. What a number of banks forty millions of debt would furnish a basis of capital for. I believe there are thousands of substantial farmers whose obligations, bearing six per cent. interest, would be a safer foundation for banking than State bonds. They could be collected easier, and would sell for as much or more in the market. Yet who would dream of banking on the debts of individuals as a capital. It was but one year last September when monetary difficulties, attended by a suspension of the banks, some of which were insolvent, overspread the nation. Business was almost paralyzed; among all classes suffering existed. The laborers were deeply affected; many of the poor scarcely know where to find the necessities of life. Employment was scarce; and now, when all kinds of business is reviving, we are called upon to pass this bill, which may bring into existence two or three hundred banks. They will be found located in boroughs and townships in every county in the Commonwealth. They will issue notes from places that none but a person well versed in the geography of the State, can find or designate. The multiplicity of banks will cause their issues to be distrusted. Old and well established banking institutions will refuse to take such notes on deposit—These causes will occasion a depreciation in the notes. They will be disposed of at ruinous discounts, and a worse panic and more disastrous times than those of 1857, will befall our monetary matters; and more than this, this Legislature will be held accountable for all the ruinous consequences that will ensue. Three years hence the party now largely in the majority in this Hall, will occupy the place in numbers, that the Democrats now do. These are my views frankly given, and if this body is determined to make this bill a law, let them do it, and let those who aid in so doing, be responsible for the injuries which such legislation will inflict on the people by the currency created.—There seems to be a fretful anxiety on the part of the gentleman from the city (Mr. HAMERSLY) and others, to have this measure hurried through without discussion. Indeed, he appears to complain because this long bill has not been passed this evening, in a two hour's session. Such is the course of its supporters, after having let it slumber until near the end of the session. It ill becomes them to censure those who have not had an opportunity to read the bill until it was called up for consideration. Not more than one-half of the members have the bill, we are called on to pass, on their files. Such was my own condition, and had not the gentleman from Snquehanna (Mr. CHASE) kindly furnished me with his file, I would have had no opportunity of reading it. To me it appears unaccountably strange that the party which oppose the Democratic party, no matter by what name they may be called, should, with untiring energy, at all times, be the supporters of a paper currency. Their great panacea for all monetary ills is paper money. The lessons of experience, in opposition to the maxim that "experience teaches," is lost on them. I have now urged all the arguments which time will permit, and therefore, I shall conclude, and let the majority do as seems to them proper.

Mr. GOEPP hoped the vote on the indefinite postponement would not be pressed to-night. Whilst he was in favor of the principles of free banking, he was hardly prepared to cast his vote on a bill which he had had no opportunity of examining. He therefore moved that the House do now adjourn.

And on the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WILSON and Mr. GRITMAN, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Bayard, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eckman, Evans, Fearon, Fleming, Galley, Goepp, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Laird, Mehaffey, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Patterson, Pinkerton, Rohrer, Shafer, Shields, Stoneback, Stuart, Wagonseller, Walker, Warden, Witman, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Wolf, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—41.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Dodds, Ellmaker, Foster, Graham, Gratz, Gritman, Hamersly, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, M'Clure, Miller, Palm, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Walborn, Wigton, Wilcox and Williston—36.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Whereupon, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

SENATE.

Mr. PALMER, "A further supplement to an act relative to a burial ground and school lot in the borough of Pottsville."

ORIGINAL RESOLUTION.

On motion of Mr. PENNEY, the Senate reconsidered its vote on the final passage of House bill No. 576, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Western transportation company;" and the bill being again before the Senate, Mr. PENNEY moved to add the following proviso:

Provided further, That no bonds shall be issued for a less sum than one hundred dollars.

The amendment was agreed to; and the bill, as amended, passed finally.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

The Senate resumed the consideration of House bill No. 714, "An Act to compel the Williamsport and Elmira railroad company to fence their road," which was pending when the Senate adjourned on Saturday last.

The question being upon the amendment offered by Mr. RANDALL, to include all railroad companies within this Commonwealth,

Mr. RANDALL had nothing additional to add to what he had said upon the subject, when it was last under consideration. He thought the justness of the principle would be conceded, that if one company is compelled to fence their road, that all should be.

Mr. MYER had no desire to controvert the general principle laid down by the Senator from Philadelphia, as to the justness of compelling all companies to fence their roads. Many important roads have been fenced, but there are others, and among them the Williamsport and Elmira, which are not provided with sufficient guards for the safety of life or property. That road had, he said, obtained subscriptions to its construction, as well as grants of the right of way, which could not have been done had not the inducement been held out that they were compelled, by the charter of their company, to fence their road.

In continuation of the subject, he argued the necessity of compelling this company to construct a fence along the line of their road. Experience has proved that not only property, but life, is safer where roads are fenced, than where they are not; and there was no principle of justice or right upon which a railroad company should be exempt from throwing these safeguards around their roads, any more than private individuals should be from fencing their lands. He did not go for imposing upon them unjust burthens, but he advocated the propriety of the passage of the bill, as originally reported, upon the ground that the Williamsport and Elmira company should be compelled to comply with their implied contract, which had been fully established by the following affidavits, which he had requested the Clerk to read, when the question was previously under discussion:

I, S. H. Newman, of Clinton, Bradford county, Pennsylvania, depose and say, that I traveled with and assisted for some days S. L. Gillet, agent for the Williamsport and Elmira railroad company, whose duty it was to buy or otherwise get possession of lands through which the said railroad company had located their road. The inducements held out to the land holders by the said agent, for the purpose of procuring on the most favorable terms possible, the right of way for said road was, that the said company would immediately upon taking possession of the said lands, fence, or cause to be fenced, in a good or substantial manner, the said road, and that they would also build, whenever it was necessary for the convenience of the said land holders, good road-crossings and cattle guards; and I further depose and say, that property to a large amount has been destroyed by the trains running over the said road, which, according to the best of my knowledge and belief, might have been avoided had the pledges of the said company been properly adhered to.

S. H. NEWMAN.

On this 23d day of March, 1859, before me, the subscriber, a justice of the peace in and for the county of Bradford, personally appeared S. H. Newman, and being duly sworn, says the above is just and true, to the best of his knowledge and belief.

J. W. VANDYKE, J. P.

We, the undersigned, living along the line of the Williamsport and Elmira railroad, and who ceded to the company the right of way for said railroad, do depose and say, that it was the agreement between the Williamsport and Elmira railroad company and themselves, that the company should fence, and keep fenced, the railroad, and put proper cattle guards at the crossings, and that it was a part of the consideration for the cession of land for said railroad; and to some of us it was represented by the agent of the company for procuring the right of way that the company were by law obliged to do so.

J. W. Griffin,

Personally appeared before me, the above named, who being duly sworn doth depose and say that the above statement is just and true to the best of their judgment and belief.

J. W. VANDYKE, J. P.

CANTON, March 24, 1859.

It would be seen that it was upon the express understanding that the company were to fence their road, that the right of way was granted. He did not know whether the bill would pass, but he hoped that the sense of justice existing in the Senate would accord to these property-holders, along the line of the road, that protection which they were induced to expect, and which they have now the right to demand.

Mr. RANDALL said that if there was an existing contract to the effect indicated by the Senator from Bradford, the court have the power to enforce it, and is the proper tribunal to which to apply. He did not feel disposed to assist in imposing an improper and unjust burthen upon any road; and if one road was compelled to fence, it was but just that all should be. The Pennsylvania road was fenced nearly its entire length. Who did it? Not the company, but the property owners along the line. He had no feeling upon the matter, but he opposed the bill on the principle that a burthen should not be imposed upon a company who have lost all their stock in the construction of a road, while the people and property holders have been benefited.

Mr. MILLER would vote for the bill; but for no reason which had been urged by the Senator from Bradford. He would vote for it upon what he regarded as a principle, and no other motive influenced him. The simple question is the right to compel railroads to fence their roads, for the protection of the lives and property of our citizens. His position was, that any person engaged in a business which is dangerous in its character, either to life or property, should be compelled to throw around it every necessary safeguard; and the common law would compel them to do so. Such he regarded, to a certain extent, railroads, and spoke of the law with reference to their liability to damages for the destruction of life and property, and contended that it was not their duty, but to their own interest to free the track of every obstruction, which would have a tendency to endanger either.

Mr. BELL thought the introduction of this general principle was made without due reflection. The bill, as introduced by the Senator from Bradford, included only the Williamsport and Elmira road, which, as had been contended, had received the right of way upon easier terms than they could have done, had not certain inducements been held out. But the bill was objectionable. He found, upon examining it, that it includes every portion of the road; and if the amendment prevailed, it would impose a burthen upon perhaps every road in the State, which would make them bankrupt. He was not prepared to vote for the amendment, although he was generally in favor of compelling these companies to protect life and property by every possible safeguard. He hoped the Senate would not act upon the matter without mature reflection and deliberation.

Upon the adoption of the amendment,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BLOOD and Mr. MYER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Harris, Marselis, Miller, Penney, Randall, Scofield, Wright and Yardley—9.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Keller, Myer, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Rutherford, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh and Cresswell, Speaker—21.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. BELL moved to postpone consideration of the bill until to-morrow.

Upon which motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MYER and Mr. BELL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Brewer, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Myer, Parker, Penney, Thompson, Welsh and Yardley—14.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Palmer, Randall, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Turney, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—16.

So the question was determined in the negative.

On motion of Mr. MYER, the following proviso was added:

Provided, That this company shall not be compelled to fence that portion of their road through lands not cleared."

Upon the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RANDALL and Mr. MYER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Brewer, Fetter, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Miller, Myer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Steele, Thompson and Yardley—15.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Coffey, Craig, Gazzam, Marselis, Nunemacher, Palmer, Randall, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—15.

So the question was determined in the negative.

On motion of Mr. TURNER, the Senate proceeded to consider Senate bill No. 840, "An Act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Government, and other general and special appropriations."

Whereupon the Senate resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. WRIGHT in the chair.)

The first, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth sections were agreed to as follow:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the following sums be, and the same are hereby specifically appropriated to the several objects hereinafter mentioned, for the year commencing on the first day of June, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine, to be paid out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

SEC. 2. For the salary of the Governor of the Commonwealth, four thousand dollars.

For the salary of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, seventeen hundred dollars.

For the salary of the Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth, one thousand five hundred dollars.

For the salary of the Auditor General, one thousand seven hundred dollars.

For the salary of the Surveyor General, one thousand six hundred dollars.

For the salary of the Attorney General, three thousand dollars.

For the salary of the Adjutant General, six hundred dollars.

For the salary of the Superintendent of Common Schools, one thousand five hundred dollars.

For the salary of the State Librarian, eight hundred dollars.

For the salary of the State Treasurer, inclusive of his compensation as commissioner of the sinking fund, one thousand seven hundred dollars: Provided, That the foregoing salaries shall be paid quarterly at the office of the State Treasurer.

SEC. 3. For clerk and messenger hire, in the Executive and State departments, six thousand dollars.

For contingent expenses in the Executive and State departments, as follows: postage and telegraphic dispatches, one thousand seven hundred dollars; stationery, four hundred and fifty dollars; fuel and lights, one hundred and twenty-five dollars; cleaning offices, fifty dollars; blank books, fifty dollars; repairs, one hundred dollars; geological survey, freights and packages, one hundred and fifty dollars; new carpets in Executive chamber, two hundred dollars; miscellaneous expenses, one hundred and fifty dollars.

For clerk and messenger hire in the Auditor General's office, eight thousand six hundred dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary.

For contingent expenses, as follows: postage and telegraphic dispatches, five hundred dollars; stationery, three hundred and fifty dollars; fuel, seventy-five dollars; miscellaneous, seventy-five dollars.

For clerk and message hire in the Surveyor General's office, eight thousand one hundred dollars.

For contingent expenses, as follows: postage, four hundred dollars; stationery, two hundred dollars; fuel, seventy dollars; stove and repairs, sixty dollars; white-washing and scrubbing, fifty dollars; miscellaneous, fifty dollars, and for stationery furnished in one thousand eight hundred and fifty seven, by George Bergner, not heretofore provided for, fifty-seven dollars and eighty-six cents.

For clerk hire in the Attorney General's office, eight hundred dollars; and hereafter the Attorney General shall be allowed eight hundred dollars annually for clerk hire.

For clerk and message hire in the school department, three thousand nine hundred dollars.

For contingent expenses, as follows: stationery and blank books, three hundred and fifty dollars; postage, including telegraphic dispatches, one thousand two hundred dollars; fuel, light, and cleaning office, sixty dollars; packing and distributing blank forms, laws and decisions, reports, et cetera, to the several districts, six hundred dollars; miscellaneous, fifty dollars.

For clerks, messenger and night-watch in the Treasurer's office, including compensation of clerk to commissioners of the sinking fund, five thousand four hundred and fifty dollars.

For contingent expenses, as follows: postage and telegraphic dispatches, four hundred and seventy-five dollars; express charges, one hundred dollars; stationery and blank books, two hundred and fifty dollars; fuel and light, seventy-five dollars; miscellaneous, one hundred and fifty dollars.

For miscellaneous expenses of the State Library as follows: repairing telescope, forty dollars; making fires, postage, freight, stationery, expenses of purchasing books, cleaning and whitewashing library room, two hundred and fifty dollars; binding and lettering books, one hundred dollars; purchasing law books, six hundred dollars; miscellaneous books, three hundred dollars; for exchanges, three hundred and twenty dollars; and assistant, one hundred dollars.

SEC. 4. For the payment of the expenses of the Legislature, including the pay and mileage of the members, clerks and officers thereof, and the amount authorized by law for stationery, newspapers and lights, the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

SEC. 5. For packing and distributing the laws and journals of the Legislature, to be performed under the direction of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, seven hundred dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary.

SEC. 6. For the public printing, folding stitching and binding, thirty thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary on the settlement of the account of the contractor under his contract entered into in pursuance of the act approved the ninth day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six, entitled "An Act in relation to public printing."

SEC. 7. For the payment to the borough of Harrisburg, for supplying the public buildings with water, as per act of twenty-eighth day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and forty, six hundred dollars.

For payment to the Harrisburg gas company, for gas for public buildings and walks, two thousand dollars, or so much thereof as shall be found due by the Auditor General, under the contract with the company, in pursuance of the charter of said company and its supplement, to be paid on the warrant of the Governor.

SEC. 8. For miscellaneous expenses, to be accounted for in the usual manner, three thousand dollars.

The ninth section was amended on motion of Mr. BELL, so as to read,

SEC. 9. For the support of the common schools, to be paid on warrants drawn by the superintendent in favor of the several school districts of the Commonwealth, in proportion to the number of taxables therein, two hundred and eighty thousand dollars, inclusive of the salaries of the county superintendents to be accounted for in the usual manner: Provided, That the basis of distribution of the said sum shall be the number of the taxables of the several counties, respectively, as reported at the septennial enumeration to the Legislature of one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven: And provided further, That the city of Philadelphia shall be entitled to a proportion on the above basis without contributing to the salaries of the county superintendents.

A motion was made by Mr. COFFEY, to further amend by striking out two hundred and eighty thousand dollars, and inserting three hundred thousand dollars.

Mr. COFFEY said he offered this amendment asking an increase of the State appropriation to the common schools, because he was convinced of its propriety. The present appropriation was $280,000, but out of this was taken for the salaries of county superintendents about $38,000, leaving about $250,000 for actual distribution among the public schools. He believed it to be the true policy of the Commonwealth gradually to increase this sum, from time to time, as the extension of the system progressed. He need not say that it is one of the chief duties of government to provide facilities, at the public expense, for the education of those who were hereafter to be the sovereign people, clothed with the rights and dignity of citizens, and responsible for the success and perpetuity of Republican institutions. This office of government was recognized in the establishment and maintenance of our noble educational system, and he might add that the admirable results of the system thus far had fully justified the wise efforts of its founders.

But the point he desired to make was, that, in the poorer and more sparsely populated districts of the State, the burden of local taxation for the support of the common school system, was most grievous, and nothing but the popular devotion to education had reconciled the tax-payers to it. In some of the western and northern counties, the rate of taxation for school purposes reached nearly three per cent. upon the valuation of property, and in all of them it was most oppressive. In some parts of his own county, the school tax, when added to the road, poor, county and State taxes, makes a fair interest upon the cash value of the property on which it is levied. This heavy school tax results from the fact that the districts are large and often thinly populated, and many school houses and schools are required to accommodate the people. He was in favor of any measure which will diminish this burden upon the tax-payers, and yet maintain the efficiency of the school system. The amendment which he had offered, proposes this relief, by taking from the State Treasury a part of what you now take from the people's pockets. The effect of it is, that the richer and more populous localities aid the poorer and more thinly settled neighborhoods to educate their children; that the counties which levy from two to ten mills school tax, shall contribute a portion to the relief of the counties which pay from fifteen to thirty mills. He was sure, that if Senators will reflect upon it, they would agree with him, that it is eminently just and right.

Consider that it is the interest of the whole State, that all her children should have the benefits of common school training. The welfare and prosperity of the whole depend upon the intelligence and virtue of all its parts. The school system is not founded upon the idea of local or partial benefit, but upon the conceded necessity of having knowledge generally diffused. The object of the system is not secured if you educate the children of one part of the State and allow the children of another part to remain in ignorance. Why do you educate them at all? Your answer is, that they may become intelligent and useful citizens, competent to understand and perform all the political, social and moral duties which in our country devolve upon all. The very life of the State rests in their intellectual and moral training, and therefore the State should see that they receive such training. But of what value is your theory if its practical result is to confer education upon the children of Chester and Berks counties, and deny it to the children of Indiana and Jefferson? Of course he conceded that each locality should bear its equal share of taxation; but he asserted that when you impose upon the rich county of Lancaster and the poor county of M'Kean, the same expense of maintaining common schools, you compel M'Kean to pay five or six times as much taxation, in proportion to her means, as you exact from Lancaster. She needs nearly as many schools to a township as Lancaster, not because she is as populous, but because her children must be within a reasonable distance of the school house to enjoy its benefits. The number of schools is regulated by geographical necessity, and although the Lancaster school house may be crowded, and the M'Kean school house be full of empty benches, yet the expence of maintaining both is nearly equal. Hence your plan of local taxation compels the poorer counties to pay three or four times as much for exactly the same thing as the richer ones pay.—You fix the same time during which the schools shall be kept open in both, and in all respects you treat them as if the circumstances of both were equal. The result is, that in some parts of the State the cost of the system is never felt, and in others it keeps the people poor. Now, he asserted, that since the State thus recognizes and enforces the necessity of educating the whole community for the good of the whole, it is her duty, so far as possible, to equalize the burden.

Remember, that neither in theory nor in fact, is the duty of education a local concern. The State compels it for the public and general good. Indiana county does not educate her children for her own exclusive benefit, but for the benefit of Pennsylvania. It is important to Philadelphia and Schuylkill that Erie and Warren should train up intelligent citizens, because Erie and Warren contribute their share in the election of rulers who govern the whole. We, in the west, may have no voice in selecting your sheriffs and commissioners in the east, but we help to elect your Governor, and we send here representatives who aid in making your laws. It is, therefore, in the highest degree, your concern that we be trained to perform these duties intelligently. But if it be your concern that we be educated, and ours that you have the same advantages, why should we pay so much more for the luxury, and why should the law compel us to pay so much more than you? He answered that it was the plain duty of the State to equalize so far as she can, the burden of school taxation. He only proposed a short step in that direction, but believed it would not be hard to prove that our system of local taxes for school purposes is wrong in principle, and that the whole expence of the common schools should be paid out of the State Treasury, and all local taxes for that purpose abolished. He was deterred, however, from so doing by fear of the horror with which our wealthy brethren in the east would receive a proposition so agrarian.

But in fact the principle for which he contended was already recognized in the present appropriation to the common schools, and so long as any district in the State has a heavier burden to bear than is just, the State, to be consistent, ought to extend her relief from the common treasury.

It is a maxim no less wise than practicable, that we must learn to bear each other's burdens, and whilst our brethren of the richer counties are unwilling to apply it to the school system, they do not scorn to invoke its aid in behalf of their own schemes upon the treasury. Philadelphia is unwilling to contribute her share of twenty thousand dollars to educate the west, yet she appeals to western Senators to vote five thousand dollars out of the common treasury to support her indigent widows, and as much to her friendless orphans; charities which, however meritorious, are of purely local benefit.—She refused to help to educate his constituents, but wanted them to aid in maintaining her paupers.

Sir, I know that my amendment will be defeated by the Senators from the more populous districts, who, of course, are the majority; but that fact shall not deter me from asking justice for the western part of the State, which, if not so rich in material development, is yet a shining example to the east, of intellectual and moral excellence, and of sound political faith; all of which, I firmly believe, are the direct fruits of her devotion to our noble common school system.

Pending the discussion upon which, Mr. TURNEY moved that the committee rise, report progress, and ask leave to sit again; which was agreed to.

And on the question.

Shall the committee have leave?

It was determined in the affirmative, and this afternoon was adopted as the time.

On motion of Mr. MILLER, the Senate proceeded to consider Senate bill No. 736, "An Act to legitimate Margaret Hast," and said bill passed finally.

On leave given, Mr. CRAIG, (Private Claims and Damages,) reported with amendment, "An Act for the assessment and recovery of damages on the North Branch and Wyoming canals;" and, on motion the amendments were ordered to be printed.

The hour of one having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until this afternoon at three o'clock.

SENATE—AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Senate met at 3 o'clock, a quorum of Senators being present.

Agreeably to order, the Senate resumed consideration of the appropriation bill; the question being upon the amendment offered by Mr. COFFEY to the ninth section, viz: to strike out $280,000 and insert $300,000.

Mr. TURNEY did not see any necessity for this increased appropriation. It was a liberal one, and there was no propriety in making an increased appropriation, for the mere purpose of exhibiting our excessive love for the system of common schools. The time may soon come when this increased sum may be demanded. But for the present, he hoped the section, as it stands without the amendment, would receive the sanction of the Senate.

Mr. BELL said there was such a thing as killing by kindness, and he thought the amendment of the Senator from Indiana partook largely of this peculiarity. He saw no good reason for the increased sum asked for, and was compelled to vote against it.

Mr. COFFEY defended the increased sum proposed by his amendment, as not only just, but necessary to the success of the system, and briefly entered into an explanation of the reasons upon which his advocacy of the amendment was based.

[NOTE BY REPORTER.—In the morning session, the consideration of the same section elicited considerable discussion upon the section itself and the various amendments proposed, between Messrs. SCOFIELD, TURNEY, FRANCIS, HARRIS, BREWER, COFFEY and BELL. The common school system, as well as the State superintendency, received flattering encomiums from each of these Senators; but the running, informal character of the discussion, and the many amendments—several withdrawn—in which it originated, render it almost impossible to present a sketch in anything like the necessary relevant form.]

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was determined in the negative, and the section was adopted.

The tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth, fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth sections were agreed to, and, as passed, are as follow:

SEC. 10. For the payment of pensions and gratuities, fifteen thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be required.

SEC. 11. For the payment of the salaries and per diem allowance of the judges of the supreme court, eighteen thousand seven hundred dollars.

SEC. 12. For the payment of the salaries of the judges of the district court, and the president and associate law judges of the court of common pleas of the city of Philadelphia, sixteen thousand eight hundred dollars.

SEC. 13. For the payment of the salaries of the judges of the district court, and president judge of the court of common pleas of Allegheny county, eight thousand four hundred dollars.

SEC. 14. For the payment of the salaries and mileage of the president and associate law judges of the several courts of common pleas in this Commonwealth, except in the city of Philadelphia and the county of Allegheny, fifty-five thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary.

SEC. 15. For the payment of the salaries and mileage of the associate judges of the several courts of this Commonwealth, twenty-five thousand dollars.

SEC. 16. For the payment of the interest on the funded debt of the Commonwealth, that will fall due on the first days of July and August next, and the first days of January and February, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two millions of dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary.

SEC. 17. For the payment of the guaranty of interest for the Danville and Pottsville railroad company, by the act of the eighth of April, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-four, and the act of twelfth April, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-one, eight thousand five hundred and seventeen dollars and fifty cents, being the interest in full, on said guaranty, up to the first day of August, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine; to the Bald Eagle and Spring Creek navigation company, by the act of seventh April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and thirty-five, ten thousand dollars: Provided however, That said companies are hereby required to make it appear satisfactorily to the Attorney General that the said appropriations are due from the Commonwealth; and it shall be the duty of the Attorney General so to certify to the treasurer before any of the moneys herein appropriated are paid.

The eighteenth section, which is as follows, being before the Senate,

SEC. 18. For the payment of the salaries of the officers of the Western penitentiary, ten thousand one hundred and fifty dollars; also, for gratuities paid to discharged convicts for the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, agreeably to the eighth section of the act of twenty-second of April, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-nine, and the several supplements thereto, three hundred and eight dollars; and for paying in front of the prison, under the compulsory paving law of Allegheny city, the further sum of three thousand one hundred and eighteen dollars.

Mr. PENNEY moved to amend by adding the following:

And for the purpose of removing the walls, extending the building, and increasing the number of cells, twelve thousand dollars.

Upon this amendment there was a brief discussion between Messrs. GAZZAM, PENNEY, RANDALL and TURNEY, in advocacy of the increased appropriation, as demanded by the growing wants of the institution, and the public interests, and by Mr. BELL in opposition.

The amendment was adopted, as also the section as amended.

The nineteenth section was read, as follows:

[SEC. 19. For the payment of the salaries of the officers of the Eastern penitentiary, sixteen thousand two hundred and forty dollars; for curbing and paving Corinthian avenue along the eastern side of the penitentiary, the sum of two thousand dollars; for the necessary repairs to the building, the sum of two thousand four hundred and twenty-three dollars, which sum for salaries of officers may be drawn from the Treasury in equal quarterly portions on or after the fifteenth days of the months of June, September and December of the present year, and March of next year.

Mr. RANDALL moved to amend, by adding the following,

And for the purpose of making a fire proof roof, six thousand dollars.

Upon this amendment there was also a brief discussion, in explanation of the necessities which demanded this increased appropriation, between Messrs. RANDALL, WRIGHT and GAZZAM, and by Messrs. TURNEY and BELL in opposition.

The amendment was not agreed to; and the question recurring upon the section, it was adopted.

The twentieth, twenty-first, twenty-second, twenty-third, twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth sections were read and adopted, as follow:

Sec. 20. For the house of refuge of Philadelphia, the sum of twenty thousand dollars.

Sec. 21. For the house of refuge of Western Pennsylvania, in the county of Allegheny, eighteen thousand and five hundred dollars, to be applied as follows: for the salaries of officers, eight thousand and five hundred dollars; additions and repairs, four thousand dollars; and for the payment of debts, six thousand dollars.

Sec. 22. For the Western Pennsylvania hospital, five thousand dollars; and for the purpose of erecting suitable buildings, the further sum of twenty thousand dollars.

Sec. 23. For the Pennsylvania State lunatic hospital, the sum of twenty thousand dollars; to be applied to the payment of salaries, the support of the house, the renewal of furniture and fixtures, and to such repairs and improvements as may be required.

Sec. 24. For the Pennsylvania institution for the instruction of the blind, twenty-two thousand dollars.

Sec. 25. For the instruction of indigent pupils in the Pennsylvania institution for the instruction of the deaf and dumb, twenty-three thousand dollars: Provided, That the sums appropriated for the instruction of the blind, and deaf and dumb, shall be paid to said institutions, in proportion to the number of indigent pupils received by each, from the several counties of this Commonwealth, at the rates prescribed by law; evidence of the number of pupils to be furnished to the State Treasurer.

The 26th section was read, as follows:

Sec. 26. For the Pennsylvania training school for feeble minded children, such amount as said institution may be entitled to receive under the provisions of the sixth section of the act incorporating said school, approved the seventh of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three; and for the purpose of completing the buildings now in progress, the further sum of twelve thousand five hundred dollars, upon condition that an equal amount be raised for the same purpose by private contributions; the said sum not to be paid out of the Treasury until the Auditor General shall be satisfied that said amount to be raised by private contribution has actually been subscribed and paid.

Mr. TURNEY moved to amend, by striking out all from the word "three" to the end of the section.

Mr. GAZZAM hoped the question would not be called upon this amendment, until the Senate had heard from the Chairman of the Committee on Finance some reason why this proposed appropriation should be withheld.

Mr. TURNEY explained the reasons which induced him to offer the amendment. He was earnestly opposed to this project, as one without a particle of merit. It was one of the first faults of the system, that these unfortunate imbeciles, are to be brought, by a system of training, to that degree of intelligence which opens their eyes to the fact that they are God's poor unfortunates, and that they must work their way through life under all the disadvantages of their mental defects. He saw no possible good to result from this species of training. It was all a folly and a farce to attempt to mould into intellectual form, that brain upon which God had stamped the mark of imbecility and weakness. He opposed it, upon the ground that it was wrong to open their eyes to the very misery which surrounds them. Do everything, he he said, which will add to their temporal comfort; clothe and feed them, and contribute in every rational way to their happiness; but do not entail upon them a worse misery, by thus rendering them familiar with their own defects, than they would be by being left in blissful ignorance of the intellect with which God had stamped the majority of his creatures.

He also opposed it, as being an aristocratic institution. It was not one which extended its alleged benefits or opened its doors to the unfortunate child of the poor—it was only the rich, who have gold to lavish, to whom its proposed blessing are to be extended.—The whole experience of this training had shown the folly of attempting to improve the intellect of these feeble-minded children; and he opposed the appropriation, not out of any spirit of economy, alone, but because there was nothing demanding it by justice, or the actual benefits which result to the community.

Mr. GAZZAM replied to the objections of the Senator from Westmoreland, and defended the institution, as designed, by its training, to benefit and elevate the feeble-minded of God's creatures. The appropriation he considered a moderate one, and the State was safely guarded from any future demands by the provisions of the section. He appealed to Senators not to withhold the aid, which was here asked, to place a noble institution upon a footing which promised success in its work of benevolence.—He hoped the section would be adopted without the amendment.

Pending the discussion upon the amendment offered by Mr. TURNEY, a motion was made by Mr. WELSH that the committee rise, report progress, and ask leave to sit again; which was agreed to; and, on the question,

Shall the committee have leave to sit again?

It was determined in the affirmative, and the bill was ordered to be the special order for tomorrow morning.

House amendments to Senate bill No. 607, "An Act supplementary to the several acts relative to the Dauphin and Susquehanna coal company," were read, and on motion, lie over.

On motion, the Senate adjourned until tomorrow morning at 9½ o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

TUESDAY, March 29, 1859.

The SPEAKER called the House to order at 9½ A. M.

On motion of Mr. LAWRENCE, (of Washington,) the reading of the Journal was dispensed with.

Mr. HAMERSLY, through the Chair, inquired why the committee of conference, to which was referred the bill to abolish the present board of guardians of the poor of Philadelphia, had failed to make a report. He desired to know why this bill was held by the committee, week after week, and insisted upon the committee making a report at an early day, in order that the responsibility of the delay might rest where it properly belonged.

In reply to Mr. HAMERSLY'S question, Mr. GRATZ said:

I will answer my colleague, and give him the information he desires. The committees of conference, on the part of the Senate and House, were appointed some three or four weeks since; and it then became the duty of the chairman of the Senate committee to call us together.—The House committee was exceedingly anxious that the differences between the two branches of the Legislature, on this subject, might be speedily settled, and requested that a meeting be had at as early a date as possible. This request was not complied with until the lapse of about two weeks. It is, however, due to the chairman of the Senate committee, to say that, during a portion of this time, he was, unfortunately, confined to his bed with sickness. About a week back, a meeting was held, but we were unable to arrive at any fixed and definite action upon the bill. Since then we have had no meeting. The duty of convening us devolves upon the Senate committee. We await their call; and upon them alone rests the responsibility for the delayed action in committee. I have said thus much, in reply to the question of my colleague, for the simple purpose of placing the committee, of which I am a member, in its true position, before this House, and to exonerate it from the blame which it might otherwise incur.

Mr. GRATZ, on leave given, from the Judiciary Committee, reported, as committed, "A supplement to the act relative to the support of and employment of the poor;" and moved that the same be placed on to-day's Calendar; which was agreed to.

Mr. KINNEY moved that the "Act relative to the Towanda bridge company" be placed on to-day's unfinished Calendar of last Tuesday.

The CHAIR said such a motion was not recognized by the rules of the House.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (of Bucks,) on leave given, read, and presented to the Chair, "An Act to incorporate the Farmers' and Citizens' hay and straw market company of Philadelphia."

Mr. CHASE, on leave given, from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported, with amendment, "Resolution relative to the purchase of a lot adjoining the Executive mansion."

Mr. BAYARD read, and presented to the Chair, "An Act to authorize the Surveyor General to sell certain vacant lands."

Mr. NEALL, "A supplement to an act to incorporate the Fairmount market company;" on his motion, ordered to be placed on to-day's Calendar.

Mr. SMITH, (of Berks,) "A further supplement to an act to incorporate a company to make a lock navigation in the Schuylkill river."

On motion of Mr. LAIRD, House bill No.

1159, relative to the borough of Erio, was placed on to-day's Calendar.

Mr. RAMSDELL, on leave, presented the memorial of citizens of Bucks county, remonstrating against the passage of "An Act to divorce Mrs. H. B. Fry from her husband;" which was read.

On motion of Mr. WALBORN, the memorial, together with the names, were ordered to be printed in the Record, as follows:

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The memorial of the undersigned, citizens of the county of Bucks, respectfully represents that we have learned with astonishment and alarm that the Committee on Divorces, in the House of Representatives, have reported a bill, on the petition of Mrs. Fry, granting a divorce between Horace B. Fry and Emily, his wife. We most earnestly remonstrate against the passage of said bill, as opposed to public morals, justice, right and the best interests of society.

On motion of Mr. PINKERTON, an act entitled, "A further supplement to an act to incorporate the Allentown railroad company," was placed in to-day's Calendar.

Mr. THORN, on leave given, read the following:

"Supplement to an act to incorporate the West End insurance company of Philadelphia;" on his motion, placed on to-day's Calendar.

Mr. HAMERSLY, "An Act to incorporate the Bordeaux steamship company."

Also, "A supplement to an act to incorporate the North Pennsylvania railroad company;" which, on his motion, were ordered to be placed on to-day's Calendar.

BILLS ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order, the House resumed the consideration of bills on the unfinished Private Calendar of last Tuesday.

Whereupon, the following were read the second and third time, considered and passed, and ordered that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence:

"An Act to incorporate the Duquesne insurance company."

"An Act to authorize the laying out of a State road, in the counties of Carbon and Monroe."

"An Act to incorporate the Kylertown, Morrisdale and Phillipsburg plank road company."

"An Act relative to the fees of the sheriff of Crawford county."

"An Act to enable the commissioners of Crawford county to make certain compromises."

"An Act to incorporate the Jacksonville and Virginia Line clay and turnpike road company."

"A further supplement to an act to incorporate the town of Ashland, partly in Schuylkill and partly in Columbia counties, into a borough, approved February 13, 1857."

"An Act relating to the election of officers of the Wyoming canal company."

"An Act relating to the expenses of coroner's inquests and to appeals by county commissioners, in Luzerne county."

"An Act establishing the location of the streets and alleys and lots in a certain part of the borough of Johnstown, Cambria county."

"Supplement to the act incorporating the Lehigh and Delaware plank road company."

"An Act to incorporate the Amity horse company."

"An Act to lay out a State road in Armstrong and Clarion counties."

"An Act to incorporate the Pittsburg gymnastic association."

"An Act declaring the Portage branch of the Sinnemahoning river, a public highway."

No. 1082. "An Act authorizing the laying out of a State road in Potter and McKean counties."

No. 1084. "An Act authorizing the Auditor General to examine the claim of James Bell, of Blair county, and to make report to the next Legislature."

Sen. 402. "Supplement to an act to incorporate the University of Kittanning."

No. 1085. "An Act relating to the election of overseers of the poor in the borough of Blairsville, and township, of Brurrell, in Indiana county."

No. 1088. "An Act to incorporate the Manayunk market company, in the city of Philadelphia."

No. 1090. "A supplement to the act incorporating the Exchange mutual insurance company of Philadelphia."

No. 1091. "An Act to incorporate Peach Bottom and Maryland turnpike road company."

"A supplement to an act to alter and amend the act erecting the town of Chester into a borough, and for other purposes therein mentioned."

"An Act declaring the north branch of Two-lick creek, in Indiana county, a public highway."

Senate bill No. 607, was read the second time, as follows:

AN ACT supplementary to the several acts heretofore passed relative to the Dauphin and Susquehanna coal company.

WHEREAS, By virtue of proceedings under a certain mortgage given by the Dauphin and Susquehanna coal company, the railroad of the said Dauphin and Susquehanna coal company, from its terminus at Rockville to its intersection with the Reading railroad at Auburn, together with its appurtenances, and all the mines, tracts of land, and other property of the said company, have been or may be sold at public sale under the said proceedings; therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the person or persons for and on whose account the said railroad, mines, tracts of land and property have been or may be purchased, be and they are hereby constituted a body politic and corporate, in deed and in law, under the name and style of the Schuylkill and Susquehanna railroad company; with the rights, powers, privileges, immunities, franchises and appurtenances heretofore granted to or conferred upon the said Dauphin and Susquehanna coal company by any act or acts of assembly whatsoever, and subject to all the restrictions now imposed on said company by virtue of any such act or acts, except so far as such rights, powers, franchises or restrictions are increased or modified hereby; the capital of the said company to be one million five hundred thousand dollars, to be divided into shares of fifty dollars each, with full power and authority on the part of said company to borrow such sums of money not exceeding one million of dollars, at such rates of interest not exceeding ten per centum per annum, and issue the bonds of the company in sums of not less than one hundred dollars each, and mortgage the corporate franchises and estate, real or personal, or any part thereof of said company to secure the same.

SEC. 2. That the persons who are, or may become, purchasers and owners of said estate, road, and property, sold or to be sold under the said proceedings, shall meet in the city of Philadelphia, within fifteen days after they shall have received the conveyance for the said property and premises, due notice thereof having been given five days previously in two daily papers published in the city of Philadelphia, and elect a president and six managers, who shall continue in office until the first Monday in May, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty; when and annually thereafter, on the same day, an election of president and six managers to serve for one year, shall be held as prescribed in the several acts relating to the said Dauphin and Susquehanna coal company, which were in force at the time of the said sale.

Mr. THORN moved to amend, by adding the following to the end of the first section:

Provided, That the ten per cent. bondholders shall be permitted to participate upon the same footing of equality with the seven per cent. bondholders in the benefits of the purchase and the privileges of the new organization: And provided also, That the preferred stock shall be received in payment from those who shall subscribe to the new stock at a valuation of not less than twenty-five per cent. of its present value.

Mr. THORN said that his constituents were to some extent interested in this matter, having invested their funds in the "Huckleberry road." There could, he thought, be no objection to the amendment.

He then recapitulated the facts in the case, which were, in brief, that there were four kinds of creditors, all of whom had lost money. These four creditors were the holders of the first and second mortgage bonds, of preferred stock and of ten per cent. bonds. Under foreclosure, the road had been sold by the second mortgage-holders, subject to the first mortgage, and fell into their possession. The object of the present amendment was, that in the new company just formed, the third and fourth parties might receive recognition, and be partly remunerated for the expenses which they had incurred. At a meeting in Philadelphia, this course, he understood, had been agreed upon.

The franchises of the old Dauphin and Susquehanna company had not passed at the sale, the real estate having only been transferred.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) moved to postpone the further consideration of the subject for the present.

Mr. PINKERTON hoped that the motion to postpone would not prevail. The new company had purchased the road on March 1st, and had since been managing and working it entirely without franchises. Three weeks ago at least, he had asked the House to grant this company corporate privileges, and had been refused. If the matter was now again postponed, it would certainly fall.

He scarcely doubted but that the bill, without the amendment, would meet the approbation of the members. The amendment was clearly wrong, as he could easily prove, if called upon. The interest which he had at first taken in the Dauphin and Susquehanna railroad had been solely in fulfilment of duty to his constituents, and without consultation with any officer of the road. The track afforded a thoroughfare from his region to Baltimore.

Mr. WALBORN opposed the postponement, and did not see why the House should hesitate to pass the bill without the amendment. The differences between the mortgage-holders were matters for the courts to pass upon. There was no reason why franchises should not be granted to the new company.

Mr. THORN did not design to interfere with the action of the courts. The new company had purchased all that was sold, viz: the real estate, and now it was asked that they should receive what belonged to somebody else, the franchisees.

Mr. PINKERTON rose to a point of order. The gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. THORN,) was not entitled to discuss the merits of the bill while the motion to postpone was pending.

The SPEAKER said that the gentleman, (Mr. THORN,) had not entered at length upon the merits.

Mr. GOEPP declared his intention to vote against the motion to postpone.

Mr. M'CLURE said that the gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. THORN,) was mistaken in supposing that the object of the bill was to take the franchises from original bondholders and confer them on the new company.

Mr. THORN had not so asserted.

The question being taken on the motion to postpone,

It was not agreed to.

Mr. M'CLURE recapitulated the facts in the case. There had been four classes of creditors, none of them having any lien on the franchises. Hence, when the sale took place, none of the privileges were conveyed, and the new company found themselves in possession of the real estate, but entirely without any corporate rights. Was it not just, under these circumstances, that such should be now bestowed by the Legislature?

The creditors had been notified and appeared before the supreme court, when the application was made by the second mortgage bondholders for a decree of sale. They then had an opportunity to make themselves heard in resisting a decree of sale, but the court issued the decree. Subsequently the sale was decreed on petition of the second mortgage bondholders, and after the decree the fourth class came forward and asked to have the order set aside. This was refused. Again, the sale having taken place, its confirmation was opposed by these same antagonistic parties. Thus three several and distinct rebuffs were given by the courts.

It was useless to assert that the franchises passed by the sale, for the creditors had not lent their money on the franchises, and were not entitled to claim any.

The sale had been made on the first of March, and the property had been bought in by the second mortgage holders, subject to the first mortgage. When the sale came before the supreme court for confirmation other creditors through their counsel objected, and after a hearing, the purchase was confirmed. He desired to call especial attention to this fact, as illustrative that the legal authorities had decided against the men who now came forward and asked to have their claims considered by the new company. These claimants who had not been reached by the sale, came into the Legislature and asked that franchises should not be granted to the new organization until their debts were paid. Why the application was manifestly unjust. The men had had a full hearing in the supreme court of the State.

Look at the matter as it really was. Millions of dollars had been expended, (not of Pennsylvania money,) by the first and second mortgage bondholders, who had supplied at least two-thirds of the original investment. Now, having partially recovered the property, they simply asked that privileges might be conferred whereby they would exist in a corporate capacity, in order to save something out of the wreck.

The third and fourth parties in interest, at the time of the sale, absolutely refused to pay one cent more than was bid for the property by the second mortgage holders, or to pay the expenses of a re-sale. Having failed to do this, to which they were legally entitled, they came with extraordinary audacity to solicit the Le-gisature not to allow the purchasers to enjoy their property without their debts were first paid.

Again, he would repeat, the purchasers of the road were the owners of three-fourths of the stock, and it was worse than folly to say that the men who held fourth class claims ever paid more than a mere nominal value for them. They were simply speculators.

Mr. THORN reiterated the arguments which he had previously advanced, and laid particular stress on the fact that an agreement had been made by which the third and fourth class creditors should participate in the new organization.

The first mortgage holders, he said, after issuing bonds, had induced others to take them, and now wanted to take the road, put the proceeds in their pocket, and again pursue the same swindling policy. They had already swindled somebody out of three millions of dollars, and now wanted the privilege of doing the same again.

Mr. WALBORN wished to know whether the parties who made the sale, had not agreed that they would re-open it, if the third and fourth mortgage bond holders would pay part of the expense?

Mr. THORN was informed to the contrary.

Mr. M'CLURE said that it was unfair to charge the first mortgage holders with having swindled the other creditors, when those men had been in court, and after having been tendered a re-opening of the sale, had refused to pay even a portion of the expenses.

The allegations that the claimants had claims on the franchises of the road, was not correct.

Mr. GOEPP did not think the case a difficult one. The road had been sold at public sale under a foreclosure of the second mortgage, (there being four mortgages, none of them, however, touching the franchises.) The purchase money was to be applied to the payment of liens in their regular order. The first mortgage remained on the road. The proceeds, therefore, would go to pay the second mortgage firstly, and any excess would fall to the share of the others.

The sale transferred the real estate, but not the franchise. This remained in the original stockholders, but was of no value. Now the purchasers asked to be incorporated.

On what principle was it admissible for the third and fourth mortgage holders to be allowed to interfere with the property which others had bought? or to ask that the Legislature should withhold corporate privileges from others until they were admitted to a share in the profits of the operation? If there was swindling anywhere in the matter, it would be for the Legislature to accede to this ungracious demand.

He concluded with asserting the belief that a general law was necessary, by which purchasers of real estate (such as railroads, &c.,) could be created into corporations by the courts.

Mr. PINKERTON wanted to ask a question of the House. In reply to the intimation of Mr. GOEPP, that the parties should have gone into court, he wished to know who had ever heard of the supreme court having granted a charter to a corporation.

He denied that parties had endeavored to swindle the holders of the third and fourth mortgage bonds. As far as the agreement, which had been alluded to, was concerned, if there was such an agreement, why was it not produced?

He proceeded, by illustration, to show that the third and fourth mortgage bondholders had no legitimate right to interfere with or become interested with the purchasers.

Mr. THORN ridiculed the idea that some of the stockholders had invested their money, as he had understood Mr. M'CLURE to have stated previously, without any hope of a return.

He reviewed and refuted the arguments of Mr. PINKERTON.

Mr. WALBORN would vote for the bill on the principle that it was absurd for gentlemen, after having re-buttled a court to come to the Legislature for redress, particularly when it was probable that these same gentlemen had not paid ten cents on the dollar for their claims.

Mr. THOMPSON said—

MR. SPEAKER:—I had not intended to participate in the discussion of the questions involved in this controversy, but as they raise important principles, I may be pardoned for briefly stating my views and defining my position. I am further constrained to ask the indulgence of this House, because I had the honor of presenting a bill which provides by general enactment for just such cases as this. In this case we learn from both parties that this is simply a contest between the purchasers of this road, and the holders of the third and fourth mortgage bonds. In this controversy I feel no interest whatever, except so far as the result may effect a general principle. This company, by virtue of proper authority, had issued four distinct sets of bonds, and on the second of these; under a decree of the supreme court of Pennsylvania in equity, the road was sold at public sale; the purchase was made for the benefit of the holders of the several mortgage bonds, subject, however, to the first bonds, amounting to ninety-seven thousand dollars. In none of these bonds is it alleged, was there a clause including the franchises of this road. The mooted question then, of the effect of a sale under a mortgage, including the franchise, and so authorized to do by virtue of its charter, is next raised. None of the parties before us have, by virtue of this sale and purchase, any legal title to the corporate rights and franchises of this company. Where is the superior claim of these bond-holders over that of an humble citizen, whose little judgment is not reached by the sale of his neighbor's farm?

These men, sir, I grant, appeal to our sympathies through their misfortune, but do not misfortune and misery always arouse our sympathies? Here you have these men investing their money foolishly, at least not wisely, in what has proved to be worthless securities; but what equity does this raise? None whatever. A man becomes involved and mortgages his farm for ten thousand dollars; subsequently, other bonds become liens on the same farm in favor of what I will call the third and fourth bond-holders. On this first mortgage the farm is advertised for sale. All the creditors are notified to appear and bid. The sale is made to the holder of the first mortgage, and neither the second nor any subsequent mortgage is reached. Exceptions are filed to the approval of the sale. They are overruled. An auditor to make distribution is appointed at the suggestion of the second bond-holders. He appropriates the whole fund to the first. Exceptions are filed to his report. They too are overruled, the sale confirmed, and a deed delivered to the purchasers. So far, this is parallel to the case we have under consideration. Shall we be told, sir, that these men whose mortgages are not reached, have equities which demand the interposition of the Legislature or judiciary? Why, sir, should they object to the acknowledgment of the deed, until the purchaser had secured the payment of their demand, when they have refused to protect their interest by bidding at the sale?

If there is justice in one case, there is in the other; if it be just in small matters, it is still justice, although millions may be involved. For these reasons, I conclude the holders of these "third and fourth bonds" have no equities which should invoke legislative aid in their behalf. They occupy no worse position than the poorest man in your State, who loses his money because the proceeds of sale did not reach his humble claims.

But we are told that an agreement was entered into between the purchasers of this road and the holders of these bonds, before the sale, by which the interest of these bondholders was to be protected. If this is true, it was a good ground on which the court might have refused to confirm the sale; but it is not now a reason to influence our action. That question belonged exclusively to the court; they have already adjudged and pronounced their judgment upon it, and this judgment is final and conclusive. We have neither the right nor the power to go behind that record which cuts off all the claim which these parties may have had, by virtue of such agreement. If collusion like this did exist, and these bondholders were, as they claim, a party to it, they could have made it appear to the court, and thus have prevented a confirmation of the sale; but, having acquiesced in the decree of the court, what right have they to come before us, and allege their complicity in a collusion such as this, as a reason why we should assist them at this late day in taking advantage of their own wrong? This request, it strikes me, comes with a very bad grace from the parties to this wrong. I will go as far, and labor as hard as any gentleman on this floor, to secure and protect the rights of every man, whether his right be estimated by dollars or millions; but I cannot create a right, even in this case, at the sacrifice of everything legal, just and equitable. I must, therefore, sir, vote against the amendment of the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. HARDING called attention to a paper which had been laid upon the desks of some of the members; and which read as follows:

1. The Dauphin company, after sinking over four millions in cash, was sold out under a decree of the supreme court in equity, for the sum of $370,000, and was purchased for and on account of the second mortgage bondholders, whose mortgage amounts to $903,000. The property was sold subject to the first mortgage, $97,000.

2. The decree under which the property was sold, went regularly through the court, every class of bondholders claiming under four mortgages; and all the creditors were cited into court to show cause why the decree of sale should not be granted: and all these different interests did appear by counsel, and the decree, after nearly a year of legal controversy, was obtained.

3. After the decree of sale was obtained, the third mortgage, (seven percent.,) and the fourth mortgage, (ten per cent.,) bondholders applied to the supreme court to set aside the decree; and, in consequence, testimony was taken and a trial had, and the supreme court refused to alter the decree, and ordered the sale to be made.

4. The sale was made on the 1st day of March last, and every effort was made to get the highest price possible; and the property on which, as before stated, over four millions had been expended; sold for only $370,000, subject to a first mortgage of $97,000. The entire failure of the coal, and the construction of the Lebanon Valley and Northern Central railroads, seem to have destroyed all value in the property.

5. After the sale was made, these seven (3d mortgage) and ten (4th mortgage) bondholders went into court, took testimony and made every possible exertion to set aside the sale, although they refused to give more for the property than it was sold for, or even to pay for re-advertising in case of a new sale; and thus, after a contest at every point, the supreme court of Pennsylvania, in equity, confirmed the sale, and have ordered the necessary deeds to be made.

6. Now these parties, after fighting this sale in every possible way through the supreme court, in equity—after refusing to purchase at the sale—after refusing to advance a single dollar, either as advance on the price obtained, or for the purpose of making a new sale—these parties come into the Legislature of Pennsylvania, and when these purchasers ask for an act of incorporation, under which they can operate the road, they ask the Legislature to tax these purchasers for their benefit, and to put these 4th mortgage bonds on an equality with the 2d mortgage.

7. The principal party here applying for this strange procedure, went into Dauphin bonds at a late day as a speculator, and having lost his money, he now asks to have it legislated back to him at the expense of parties who have suffered ten-fold more than he has, and who have purchased the property, and whose title to it is confirmed by the supreme court of Pennsylvania, in equity.

8. It is claimed that certain 2d mortgage bondholders agreed at the Girard House, that when the property should be sold these 4th mortgage bonds should come in. If such an agreement was made, which is denied; (and it is a fact that the majority in interest of the purchasers were not represented at that meeting,) let this contract, if it is one, be enforced by the courts. The Legislature is not the place to try contracts.

9. It will be seen from the foregoing that this decree, sale and confirmation has been contested at every point in the supreme court of the State of Pennsylvania, and the fair inference is that both justice and equity has been done to all the parties interested. The purchasers now come to the Legislature and ask for a charter to enable them to work the road—a road which is now transporting nearly 200,000 tons of coal to market; and this coal, without this road, must necessarily remain in the mines, to the destruction of nearly $250,000 of improvements, which are entirely dependent on this road. There are also agricultural and manufacturing interests dependent on this road; and in every respect the public interest calls for the incorporation of these purchasers, to enable them to operate this important public improvement.

He alleged that there were contradictory statements in the paper which he alluded to, relative to the value of coal lands.

Mr. HAMERSLY contended that if an agreement had been made, by which the claims of the third and fourth mortgage holders were to be allowed, it would be but common honesty for the purchasers to adhere to their contract.

Mr. PINKERTON denied the existence of any such agreement.

Mr. McCLURE said that if it could be produced in writing, he would vote in favor of the amendment.

Mr. HAMERSLY said that if it had been actually and verbally made, it would be just as binding on honorable men as in writing.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) wished to refer the gentleman to the eighth article in the paper above given, which stated, very properly, that the Legislature was not the place to try contracts.

Mr. WALBORN said that agreements should be made which was not in writing.

Mr. HAMERSLY replied that the word of an honest man should be his bond.

Mr. McCLURE, relative to the contradictions noticed by Mr. HARDING, said that while the coal lands belonging to the company were valueless, the road yet did a heavy business in transporting coal from the Trevorton region.

The question being taken, on the amendment of Mr. THORN,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr.

PINKERTON and Mr. IRISH, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS.—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Campbell, Church, Evans, Foster, Gatz, Hamersly, Harding, Matthews, Neall, Patterson, Peirce, Sheppard, Shields, Styer, Thorn, Wiley and Willistou—20.

NAYS.—Messrs. Bayard, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fleming, Galley, Goepf, Good, Graham, Gray, Green, Hill, Irish, Kenagy, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, McClure, McCurdy, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—53.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. GRITMAN moved to amend the bill, by adding to the end of the second section the following proviso:

Provided, That the purchasers under said mortgage, before using or enjoying the franchises of the Dauphin and Susquehanna coal and railroad company, shall pay all debts contracted by said company for work and labor done, materials furnished, and all debts contracted within the counties in which said railroad and coal company may be situated.

Mr. GRITMAN said that he did not consider it the especial duty of the Legislature to protect either one or another class of bondholders, but it evidently was its duty to protect the laboring man. The new company if they wanted franchises should be made to pay the debts for material furnished to the road.

Mr. PINKERTON was not opposed to paying for labor, but the amendment brought up the same question that had just been disposed of.

Mr. GRITMAN said that he did not intend the amendment to cover the claims of bondholders.

Mr. HAMERSLY said that the company ought to pay the men who built the road, and who kept it in repair.

Mr. PINKERTON would not object to an amendment which covered this ground alone.

Mr. HAMERSLY thought that this amendment did so.

Mr. PINKERTON said that "material" may have been paid for by bonds, and that therefore the amendment would include third and fourth mortgage bondholders.

Mr. HAMERSLY said that some laborers had bonds.

Mr. GOEPP thought that the amendment covered more than work and labor. The company might have incurred large debts in the counties through which the road passed.

Mr. GRITMAN wanted to know whether the sale embraced the franchise privileges.

Mr. GOEPP said that there was a conflict of opinion on this point.

Mr. PINKERTON offered an amendment to the amendment, viz: to strike out all after the words "materials furnished."

Mr. WILLISTON opposed the amendment to the amendment.

Mr. THORN said that the purchasers were original stockholders and had incurred these debts. They should be made to pay them.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) said he was surprised that a gentleman upon the floor should have charged him with unusual interest in the bill. He entirely disclaimed such a feeling. At the inception of the debate he had moved a postponement with a view to further information from his constituents, but saw at once that the passage of the bill in some shape was inevitable. It was, therefore, his plain duty to make it as acceptable to his friends at home, many of whom had expressed a deep concern in it, as he could. With the information he now had, he understood it to be their wish to have the bill pass as nearly as possible as it came from the Senate. For this reason he opposed the gentleman's amendment, which, if not made a condition precedent to the grant of additional power, would be a clear violation of the Constitution.

The gentleman had heretofore expressed himself favorably to the grant of similar powers to any incorporation who had means to use them, and had said that the laws of trade were immutable. His position to-day was entirely inconsistent with this principle.

Mr. HAMERSLY wished to modify the amendment to the amendment by inserting the words "land damages," which was accepted.

Mr. GOEPP defended the granting of the corporators privileges without rendering the company liable for the payment of claims. The money thus paid would go to benefit the contractors and not the workmen.

Mr. HAMERSLY said that the bonds of the company would be applicable for the payment of land damages.

On the amendment to the amendment, (offered by Mr. PINKERTON,)

It was not agreed to.

Mr. EVANS offered the following amendment:

Provided, That the company shall pay the same tax on tonnage passing over their road, as now paid by the Pennsylvania railroad company under existing laws.

Mr. PINKERTON said that the road could not possibly pay. The parties were poor, and the project would fall if the tonnage tax was imposed.

On the amendment to the amendment offered by Mr. EVANS,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. EVANS and Mr. HARDING, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Burley, Dodds, Evans, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Patterson, Rohrer, Shields, Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Wagenseller, Warden, Witman, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams (Bucks) and Lawrence, Speaker—20.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Campbell, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Goepp, Good, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Irish, Keneagy, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, M'Clure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Thompson, Thorn, Walborn, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williston, Wilson, Woodring and Zoller—60.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. EVANS offered an amendment to the amendment, to oblige the company to pay annually into the State treasury the sum of three thousand dollars.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. EVANS and Mr. THORN, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Burley, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Evans, Gray, Hamersly, Jackson, Matthews, Patterson, Rohrer, Shields, Stephens, Stoneback, Styer, Wagenseller, Witman and Williams (Bedford)—20.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Campbell, Chase, Church, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fisher, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Graham, Green, Hill, Irish, Keneagy, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Miller, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Shafer, Smead, Thorn, Walborn, Warden, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—51.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) moved to strike out the proviso, and insert the following substitute:

Provided, That the said company shall be liable to pay all just claims for labor done in the construction of said road, and such damages as are due and unpaid to landholders by reason of its construction.

Mr. GRITMAN opposed this.

It was withdrawn.

The question being taken on the amendment of Mr. THORN,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAMERSLY and Mr. HARDING, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Bayard, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eckman, Evans, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—66.

NAYS—Messrs. Fearon, Goepp, Good, Green, Keneagy, Mann, Miller, Price and Smead—9.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. GRATZ moved to postpone for the present.

Withdrawn.

The section as amended was agreed to.

The bill passed finally.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. MILLER, on leave given, offered a resolution, that hereafter no member shall be allowed to speak more than once, nor more than five minutes on any private bill, during the remainder of the session; which was read the second time.

Mr. WILLISTON entered his protest against the passage of the resolution. The gentleman might, with as much propriety, move to muzzle the mouths of the members.

On the final passage of the resolution,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WILLISTON and Mr. FOSTER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Burley, Campbell, Church, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Galley, Gray, Green, Jackson, Keneagy, Laird, Mehaffey, M'Dowell, Miller, Nill, Palm, Patterson, Pughe, Rouse, Sheppard, Smead, Styer, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) and Lawrence, Speaker—36.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Barnsley, Chase, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Glatz, Goepp, Graham, Gratz, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Ketchum, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Neall, Oaks, Peirce, Price, Proudfoot, Shafer, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Stuart, Thompson, Thorn, Walborn, Witman, Wiley, Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Woodring and Zoller—45.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. SHEPPARD offered a resolution that the further consideration of House bill No. 182, "An Act to confer on certain associations the powers and immunities of bodies politic and corporate,

&c.," be made the special order for Wednesday morning, March 30th, immediately after the reading of the Journal.

On agreeing to proceed to the second reading of the same,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WILSON and Mr. WAGENSELLER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Church, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Goepp, Good, Gratz, Hamersly, Harding, Matthews, Neall, Pughe, Rose, Rouse, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Styer, Thorn, Walborn, Witman, Wiley, Williams, (Bucks,) Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—28.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Bayard, Bertolet, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Fearon, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Graham, Green, Gritman, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Nill, Patterson, Peirce, Price, Pinkerton, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Shafer, Shields, Stephens, Stuart, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston and Wilson—54.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. M'CLURE offered a resolution that for the purpose of considering Senate bill No. 483, "Supplement to an act to exempt property to the value of $300 from levy and sale on execution and distress for rent, approved April 9th, 1849," this House will hold a session on next Thursday evening, commencing at 7 o'clock; which passed to second reading.

Mr. GOEPP moved to amend by including House bill No. 182, after the above bill shall have been disposed of; which was agreed to; and the resolution as amended was adopted.

Mr. BURLEY, on leave given, read in his place and presented to the Chair, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Nowry railroad company," which, on his motion, was taken up and passed.

Mr. PEIRCE, from the Committee to Compare Bills, made report; which was read.

On motion of Mr. ABBOTT, House bill No. 997, "An Act to reduce the number of aldermen in the Twenty-fourth ward, Philadelphia," was ordered to be placed at the foot of to-day's Calendar.

He also reported as committed, "An Act to authorize the payment of the claim of R. Young, for loss sustained by fire on the Philadelphia and Columbia railroad;" and, on his motion, the same was placed on the Calendar for to-day.

The House receded from its amendments to Senate bill No. 440, "An Act to incorporate the Pittsburg park association."

Mr. WALBORN, from Committee on Railroads, reported as committed, Senate bill No. 678, "An Act to incorporate the Pottsville and Minersville railroad company;" which, on motion of Mr. BOYER, was placed on to-day's Calendar.

Mr. M'CLURE, (Judiciary,) as committed, Senate bill No. 598, "Supplement to the act incorporating the West Philadelphia passenger railway company;" and, on his motion, was placed on to-day's Calendar.

Mr. IRISH, on leave, read "An Act to amend an act relative to actions."

Mr. HAMERSLY offered a resolution that the committee of conference appointed on the part of the House on the act relative to the guardians of the poor, be instructed to report to this House on Thursday morning next; which was adopted.

Mr. THORN said—

Mr. SPEAKER: I am glad this resolution is before the House, and I thank my colleague,

(Mr. HAMERSLY,) for introducing it, for the reason that I have an opportunity of corroborating the remarks of another colleague, (Mr. GRATZ.) The committee of conference held one meeting about a week since, and adjourned subject to the call of the Senate committee, who, under the rules, have the power to convene us. The committee of this House are anxious to meet and to act, &c. We only await an opportunity, which is dependent upon the will of our friends in the Senate.

Adjourned until 3 o'clock, P. M.

HOUSE—AFTERNOON SESSION.

The House was called to order at 3 o'clock. SPEAKER in the Chair.

REPORT OF A COMMITTEE.

Mr. WALKER, (Roads and Bridges,) as committed, "An Act to establish a ferry across the Susquehanna river, near the furnace of Beaver, Geddes, Marsh & Co."

On motion of Mr. WAGENSELLER, ordered to be placed on the Calendar.

Mr. BAYARD, on leave given, presented "An Act to incorporate the Pittsburgh Turners association;" on his motion, ordered to be placed on the Private Calendar.

Mr. WITMAN, "An Act to authorize the Washington hose company to sell certain real estate."

Also, "An Act to incorporate the Harrisburg park association."

Mr. IRISH offered a resolution that a session be held this evening, commencing at 7 o'clock, for the purpose of considering bills on the Private Calendar.

Mr. THOMPSON moved to amend by fixing 9½ o'clock for the hour of adjournment.

Mr. KINNEY moved to amend the amendment by adjourning at ten o'clock; which was not agreed to.

On the amendment to adjourn at 9½ o'clock,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAMERSLY and Mr. IRISH, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Campbell, Church, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Galley, Glatz, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Hill, Jackson, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, M'Curdy, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Rohrer, Rose, Sheppard, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Styer, Thompson, Wagenseiler, Walborn, Warden, Wiley, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson and Woodring—40.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Burley, Chase, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Foster, Goepp, Good, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, M'Clure, M'Dowell, Neall, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rouse, Shafer, Thorn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) and Lawrence, Speaker—37.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The resolution as amended was then adopted.

Mr. GOEPP, on leave given, (from the Committee on the Judiciary System) reported, as committed, Senate bill No. 275, "An Act to authorize the execution of process in certain cases in equity, concerning property within the jurisdiction of the courts on defendants not resident or found therein."

On motion of Mr. SHIELDS, the House proceeded to the consideration of House bill No. 788, "An Act to regulate the standard weight of oats;" and resolved itself into committee of the whole (Mr. GOOD in the Chair) for the purpose.

The bill, after having been amended, passed the committee.

The bill being before the House on second reading.

Mr. FOSTER moved to amend, by inserting the words, "per bushel," after the word pounds; which was agreed to.

And on the question, shall the bill pass,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. KINNEY and Mr. SHIELDS, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Bertolet, Bryson, Campbell, Church, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Fearon, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Goepp, Good, Green, Gritman, Hill, Hottenstine, Keneagy, Ketchum, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, M'Curdy, Nill, Oaks, Patterson, Pierce, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Shafer, Shields, Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Thompson, Wagenseiler, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—49.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Bayard, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Burley, Eckman, Ellmaker, Glatz, Graham, Gray, Harding, Irish, Jackson, Kinney, Mann, M'Dowell, Miller, Neall, Palm, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rouse, Sheppard, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Styer, Thorn, Walborn and Wiley—33.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The House resumed the second reading and consideration of undisposed bills on Private Calendar of last Tuesday.

An act to annex the buildings of Wm. Bratton to the township of Beale, in the county of Juniata, came up in order, and was passed.

An act to incorporate the Huntingdon County Bank, was read the second time.

On the question, will the House agree to the bill.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GRITMAN and Mr. BERTOLET, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Bayard, Burley, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fleming, Galley, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Nill, Patterson, Peirce, Price, Proudfoot, Ramsdell, Shafer, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseiler, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson and Lawrence, Speaker—41.

NAYS—Messrs. Barnsley, Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Campbell, Chase, Custer, Foster, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Gray, Gritman, Hill, Irish, Jackson, Ketchum, Neall, Palm, Pughe, Sheppard, Smead, Smith (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Warden, Wiley, and Williston—28.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GRITMAN and Mr. NEALL, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Bayard, Burley, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Galley, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, M'Clure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Nill, Patterson, Peirce, Price, Proudfoot, Ramsdell, Shafer, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseiler, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson and Lawrence, Speaker—41.

NAYS—Messrs. Barnsley, Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Evans, Fleming, Foster, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Gray, Gritman, Hill, Irish, Jackson, Ketchum, Neall, Oaks, Palm, Pinkerton, Pughe, Rose, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Warden, Wiley and Williston—33.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

"An Act to provide for the erection of a new county, out of parts of the counties of Crawford, Warren and Venango," came up in order, on second reading.

Mr. ROUSE moved to amend, by adding the following new section; which was agreed to.

SEC. 12. That the provisions of the second and third sections of this act, submitting the question to a vote of the citizens of Crawford county, shall be extended to the citizens of Warren county. That the notices of election shall be given in like manner, and the time of voting shall be the same in Warren county, as provided by the same sections for Crawford county; and if a majority of the electors of Warren county, shall vote against the new county, then this act shall be null and void; which was agreed to.

Mr. RAMSDELL offered the following amendment as section thirteen:

That the provisions of the second and third sections of this act, submitting the question to a vote of the citizens of Crawford county, shall be extended to the citizens of Venango. That the notices of election shall be given in like manner, and the time of voting shall be the same in Venango county, as provided by the same sections for Crawford county; and if a majority of the electors of Venango county shall vote against the new county, then this act shall be null and void.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. MILLER said he thought the citizens of the country out of which the new county is proposed to be made, should have something to say on the subject. He was in favor of squatter sovereignty. If the House, he said, would wait until the question would be voted upon by the people concerned in the matter, it would defeat the bill altogether.

* Mr. RAMSDELL. It is not my wish, sir, to take up the time of the House in discussing this bill. If there ever was a bill presented here for the establishment of a new county unsupported and uncalled for, this is the one.

Mr. BOYER, (Clearfield.) I desire to ask the gentleman from Venango, whether he really thinks the bill to incorporate this new county is worse than that relating to Pine county.

Mr. RAMSDELL. Well, I will venture the opinion that Pine county cannot be worse than this. The gentleman from Warren, (Mr. ROUSE,) mindful, as he ever is of the interests of his county, has presented an amendment here, submitting the bill to the vote of the citizens of Warren county; and if it is right that the citizens of Warren county should determine that they shall have a part of their county stricken off, I cannot see why it is that the citizens of Venango county should not have the same privilege. Moreover, the residents of Crawford are to have this matter submitted to them in the ensuing election. But the gentleman is certainly mistaken, when he alleges that the citizens of Venango county request that a part of their district shall be stricken off.

Sir, I have presented petitions or rather remonstrances here, day by day, from my constituents, against the curtailment of their district. So far as I know, without a single exception, they are opposed to this measure, and if the gentleman is in favor of squatter sovereignty, he certainly would be willing to give the same privileges to Crawford, that he gives to any other; and I aver here, that the people in this district protest against this new apportionment of their county.

Mr. MILLER. I do not propose to discuss the merits of this bill at present, and indeed do not desire to occupy the time of the House, but rise for the purpose of making a single remark. I stated, as I understood it to be a fact, that those who lived in the parts of Venango county, proposed to be stricken off, were in favor of the proposition. This is the information I have. The gentleman, (Mr. RAMSDELL,) thinks it as just for Venango that she should have a vote on this question as Crawford. That part of Crawford to be affected by this proposed arrangement, must necessarily have a vote upon it under the Constitution. The rest of the district does not and should not desire to interfere. They are perfectly willing that the residents of the several townships in interest, shall do just as they please.

Now, the proposition is, to take two hundred and thirty-four square miles off of Crawford county, and we are perfectly willing that they should go. The gentleman from Venango is not willing that sixty-six square miles should be separated from his district, in order to form this new county. But if by adopting his amendment he would consent to cease his hostility to the bill, I do not know but what I might be induced to consent to the amendment, if the gentleman would then consent to the passage of the bill.

Mr. ROSE spoke in opposition to the bill.

Mr. MILLER exhibited diagrams of the proposed county, and further defended the project.

Mr. RAMSDELL said—

MR. SPEAKER:—For the last thirty years, this new county mania has periodically raged. Last winter we passed a bill here authorizing the organization of a new county out of parts of Erie, Crawford and Warren. Agreeably to the requirements of the Constitution, the electors of Warren and Crawford counties, at the general election, voted on the question. The former, in a most signal and decisive manner, defeated the project. Nothing daunted, certain constituents of the gentleman from Crawford, (Mr. MILLER) who clings to this pet measure of his with eager tenacity, originate a new scheme, in which, in order to secure the requisite number of square miles, a part of the county of Venango is to be stolen. I say stolen, sir, for I can call it nothing else. Knowing the opposition throughout the county to this movement, they propose to take less than one-tenth part, in order to avoid a submission of the same to a vote of the people. I have taken the trouble to lay a draft of this proposed new county on the desks of most of the members. A reference to that will appeal more eloquently to the judgments of gentlemen than any remarks I can make. It proposes to take a strip off the northern part of our county, three miles wide and fifteen miles long, dismembering three townships and giving our county a figure such as no mathematician, however skilled in figures and angles, might not examine with profit—figures not described in geometry, present their uncommon proportions—neither octagons, pentagons, hexagons, nor rhomboids—angles neither regular, irregular, acute, or obtuse, are here. The county of Venango would present an appearance somewhat like a pair of saddle-bags, a little like a string, and not altogether unlike a Conestoga boat. But enough of this.

Mr. SPEAKER, I place my objections to this bill on other grounds mainly; and first, sir, my constituents, in the district proposed to be stricken into this new county, are opposed to it, or a majority of them. They do not live remote from the county seat, and are accessible to it by good roads. They have remonstrated here against going off in this visionary kite-flying expedition into Marion.

But, sir, what is more important to this Legislature is, the condition in which this county, if erected, will be placed. I need not tell gentlemen that it is contrary to the policy of the State to erect new counties, unless for good and valid reasons. Much as I am opposed to this, it is proper for me to say that there are portions of Venango county which I would consent, under proper circumstances, to have stricken off, not, however, into a little county of ten small townships. Sir, I oppose this bill, after all, mainly because it would be a direct and positive injury to the people in the proposed new county. On this account, if for no other, I trust the House will vote down this bill.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment proposed by Mr. RAMSDELL?

It was determined in the affirmative.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the bill as amended?

It was determined in the negative.

So the bill fell.

"An Act to incorporate the Hestonville, Mantua and Fairmount passenger railroad company," came up in order on second reading.

Mr. ABBOTT moved to amend, by striking out the whole of the first section and substituting a new one in lieu thereof.

Mr. WALBORN moved to amend the amendment, by inserting the names of Messrs. Ellmaker, Ashton and Welsh among the list of incorporators.

Mr. HAMERSLY opposed the amendment proposed by Mr. WALBORN, which was then put, and not agreed to.

Mr. GRITMAN moved to amend the amendment, by adding the name of Asa Brundage; not agreed to.

Mr. HARDING moved to add the following names:

R. L. Taylor, C. T. Jones and C. Paullin; not agreed to.

Mr. ABBOTT'S amendment was then agreed to; and the section as amended was agreed to.

Several other amendments were offered to the bill; which were agreed to.

And the bill as amended passed finally.

"An Act to incorporate the Chemical company of Pennsylvania," came up in order and was again read.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present; which was agreed to.

"An Act relating to insurance companies and associations in the city and county of Philadelphia and county of Allegheny," came up in order, and was again read.

Mr. PATTERSON moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed indefinitely.

Mr. NEALL, stating that he was opposed to the postponement of the matter, said: I wish to meet it fair and square, and am ready to meet it now. I wish to amend the bill, and strike out some of its objectionable features, and call upon the House, as they have done time and again, to consider this bill fairly and vote upon its merits.

Mr. STYER. The motion to postpone indefinitely was made by my colleague to bring the merits of the bill before the House. The second section of this bill provides for the appointment of two commissioners, into whose hands the insurance of Philadelphia fall. They have the power to kill the business of any company. Foreign companies are excepted. Companies with directors or associates selected from the business men of Philadelphia, whose standing is known, are the only ones subject to the provisions of this bill. I look on the bill as only an effort to create a good office for two of the favorites of the judges of the courts, whoever they may be, and find, on talking to some of my own constituents, that they are opposed to all the provisions of it.

Mr. NEALL. I hope the motion to postpone indefinitely will be withdrawn, for the purpose of allowing us to offer amendments to the bill. If, upon a fair discussion, its merits are proven to my satisfaction, and I am convinced of its utility and usefulness, I will vote for it.

Mr. THORN said—

Mr. SPEAKER: I regret exceedingly that I have again to occupy the time of the House; but upon this bill, in which I feel so much interest, I cannot remain silent. When the title was read, the confusion of voices for an indefinite postponement, surprised me; and it was difficult to determine who was anxious to have the honor of hearing his name on the Journal, as having made the motion.

The subject of this bill has long been before the community. Its provisions, I think, are very simple. The wants of the community are so well understood, that to render it of practical utility would be an easy task. I did suppose that gentlemen who lived in the remote portions of the State, and who cannot be interested in the bill, (except so far as its salutary provisions would protect them at home,) would be enabled, while raising their voices in opposition, to have given some reasons for its indefinite postponement.

It hardly needs an argument now, to show that of all the impositions and injuries inflicted upon the people of this Commonwealth, there perhaps have been none more injurious than insurance companies, or rather corporations calling themselves such. Now, what is here designed to be accomplished? Simply, to prevent associations of bad men, such as unquestionably do exist, from taking advantage of the ignorance of those whom necessity compels to insure their property. There is no community, perhaps, either in this State, or any other, that under our loose laws, have less chance to right themselves from swindling operators, than that of Philadelphia; and I doubt whether any other people have suffered as much.

The Legislature of last year passed a bill, which did not receive the executive sanction, for the reasons set forth on the Journals of this House. Now, we have endeavored to conform ourselves to the feelings and desires of the country gentlemen of this House, representing constituents outside of Philadelphia, and have endeavored to prepare a bill that will protect them as well as ourselves, and maintain, to a certain extent, the credit of the insurance companies of the Commonwealth. My colleague (Mr. STYER) says, that in conversation with his business friends and associates, he has heard a universal expression of disapprobation of this measure. He says, too, that he believes the only object of the bill is to supply a certain place for some favorite of the court. Well, sir, I have only to say, that the character and integrity of the judges of the court in whom the power of appointment of commissioners is vested, is unimpeached, and I believe will fully and faithfully perform their duty. The bill necessarily provides a place for some recipient who may not be exactly adequate; but, as this is the case in all our offices, certainly this is not a valid objection.

This bill presents itself on its own merits; and its object is to protect, and not interfere with the business interests of the cities of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, or those of the people of the State. Now, let me illustrate this. Under the existing laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, there have been within the last four or five years, insurance companies located in Philadelphia, who have published statements to the effect that they possessed a certain amount of capital, and who have agencies extending all over the United States, and are receiving premiums, who actually never had six cents of bona fide capital.

Pending the remarks of the above gentleman, the hour of five having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until 7 o'clock this evening.

HOUSE—EVENING SESSION.

The House met again at 7 o'clock.

SPEAKER in the Chair.

INSURANCE BILL.

The House resumed the consideration of House bill No. 674, "An Act relating to insurance companies and associations in the city and county of Philadelphia and county of Allegheny."

The question being on the indefinite postponement of the bill, and Mr. THORN having the floor, he forwarded to the SPEAKER'S desk resolutions unanimously adopted by the Philadelphia board of trade, in favor of an early passage of the bill now under consideration; which were read by the Clerk.

Mr. THORN renewed his remarks, which had been interrupted by the hour of adjournment of the afternoon session. He recapitulated the arguments then advanced, in favor of the bill, and proceeded as follows:

It was alleged by my colleague (Mr. STYER) that there was in Philadelphia great disapprobation of this bill. I will, as rebutting testimony, forward a copy of the proceedings of the board of trade of the city on this subject. The board, as all my colleagues know, is composed of some fifteen hundred active business men of the metropolis of this State.

Mr. THORN forwarded the paper referred to to the Clerk, by whom it was read.

It contained the proceedings of the board of trade, the members of which unanimously agreed to the bill.

This paper, I suppose, disposes of the question, as to what are the sentiments of the business men of Philadelphia, and shows plainly that they do desire the passage of this bill. There is one other incidental question, and that is, whether the insurance companies themselves favor it. Now I contend it is a matter of very little consequence whether they do or not.

It may be advisable to state what can be proven, and to give facts to show exactly the purpose contemplated by the bill. A certain insurance company located in Philadelphia, that is alleged to be opposing this project, is in exactly this position. They publish in the newspapers that they have assets to the amount of about $2,000,000, and apparently so they have. But does the community, who go there to pay premiums, know how that capital is accumulated, and to what it is subject, and do the members of this House, and the gentlemen who desire an indefinite postponement, know that there is ninety-five per cent. of that capital, as a trust fund on perpetual policies, and liable to be withdrawn at any moment? Furthermore, is the fact apparent, that the actual paid capital is only four hundred thousand dollars, and that they hold risks to the amount of more than seventy millions of dollars.

This company objected to this bill, because it would make this exposition. Now there is another company in the city of Philadelphia, to all appearances a good one, in even a worse condition. This company holds a mortgage of one hundred and thirty thousand dollars upon about six acres of unimproved real estate, which is subject to a ground rent of twenty-one thousand, and the company has to pay the interest on the ground rent. The property mortgaged is supposed to be worth from five to six thousand dollars per acre, or thirty-six thousand dollars for the whole. Here we have a case where an alleged capital of a company to the amount of one hundred and thirty thousand dollars, based upon a property under a bond and mortgage, that would not realize to the company, if sold, over fifteen or twenty thousand dollars. Where such cases exist, and the one quoted is not a solitary one, can any one question or doubt the propriety of the passage of this bill?

Here we have a case where there is an alleged capital of the company to the amount of one hundred and thirty thousand dollars, which is based on bonds and mortgages that would not realize to the company, if sold, twenty thousand dollars, while that same company publishes that their mortgage and bonds are worth one hundred and thirty thousand dollars.

We have a right to protect the community, and it is our duty. This bill does not invade any corporate rights; it takes away from nobody any privileges; but just lays bare and shows to the world the condition of the insurance companies. It will not affect the company that is solvent, because it only shows its condition; but it will tend to protect the community from imposition, and prevent, under the sacred seal of our State, an association from going all over the world, collecting premiums and putting them in their pocket or spending them in keeping ill regulated offices. When there comes a public calamity, these people walk away and leave honest insurers to seek and ask protection and a return of their money. Will any gentleman on the floor of this House get up and state a single objection to the bill. Is it not fair, when a company comes here and asks us, under the authority of the broad seal of the State, to give them a charter that they may show to the world upon what basis they are acting, that we should do so? Will any gentleman object to that? But some say "this is to create an office and give somebody a place." That may or may not be. They say it gives to some one the power to extort black mail. But, sir, while we are repelling and hurling back those assaults, will we not, at least, believe that honest men will perform their duty? That charge will just as well apply to the President of the United States, to the judges of the supreme court, or to the humblest representative who attempts to perform his duty in this hall. There can be no wise objection to this provision. And then again, the objection will be urged, (for I have to anticipate what I have heard in private conversation, as no one yet has the temerity to oppose the bill,) that we do not want special commissioners. Why, I myself was invited, by the board of underwriters of Philadelphia, to go and hear this bill discussed, after it had been printed in this House. I know not how many men compose this board, but I know that I have met there some eight or nine of the most respectable residents of the city, officers or directors, of what we consider the best insurance companies in Philadelphia. And let me tell you, those gentlemen are just as jealous of one another as can be. They make a line of distinction, and believe certain companies solvent, and certain others insolvent. This board of underwriters, moreover, reject those whom they think are not solvent.

Well, sir, when I went there, and listened to that discussion, they approved the general provisions of this bill to a man, except the subject of special commissioners. They said when any individual found himself swindled, let him make the necessary affidavit, go to the board of special commissioners or Auditor General, and let them examine into the facts of the case. After listening carefully to all their discussions, I made this suggestion to the board—that the only merit in this bill, as it seemed to me, was, that it would give publicity to the true character of the companies, and prevent disasters similar to that of the Pennsylvania Bank failure. I instanced this bank, which was believed by the community, up to two or three days of its open failure, to be as solvent as any other. There was a kind of community of interest that sustained that institution for a certain time, and the people up to three, or two days, of the time when the bank closed its doors, were confiding enough to believe that it was reliable, and its notes remained unchanged in value. Then, what did we behold when the fact burst upon us? If there had been commissioners to go and examine the books of that institution—men who knew how to examine—that capital would have been saved, and perhaps hundreds of families, and thousands of children, who now are in want of an education which was guaranteed to them by the funds held by the bank, would have been enlightened, and not as now, forced to drag a weary and dreary existence through this heartless world.

It is a fact, that we go like unsuspecting mortals, and ask a company to insure our property, without knowing anything of their true condition. They publish columns and columns in the newspapers, of the amount of their assets; they tell you, sir, they have property valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars, and assets worth millions. But are they really worth that? The Mutual company tells you they have premium notes, but they don't tell you whether those notes are worth anything or not.

Gentlemen, it is the province of this Legislature to exercise any prerogative to protect the people in their business. (A voice, it is not.) Some body behind me, says it is not, and it really seems as if this was the case. I do not believe that you can take a public statement, or newspaper article, and so far as any body can understand, (I mean the public who do not learn the minutiae,) and find that it is true.—Some of the insurance companies in Philadelphia, are about the most insolvent of any in the country. Take the condition of those that have wound up within the last five years. What does it show? It says, that when they come to a settlement—when the assets were withdrawn, there was not a single cent's worth of property left them.

It is alleged, that this interferes with some little mutual companies, in and around our city. Let me say that it will not interfere with them. There is one in Roxborough; one in Germantown, and, I think, one in the Twenty-third ward, but it will not effect them at all.

Suppose you and I, Mr. Speaker, determine to insure each other's property. That is, we mutually agree, when one or the other's property is destroyed by fire, we will make up a sufficient sum to re-imburse the unfortunate person in that partnership. Now, if these companies have got nothing, this bill does not effect them. The purpose of this bill is to tell exactly what they have got, and let the world know it. If they have millions of dollars, why not let the fact be known? If they have premium notes to the amount of millions, as their capital, let us see what they are worth.

As regards the value of the securities held by these companies, it is only necessary to think that men who were worth money some days ago, are not worth anything now. The only purpose of this bill is to lay the transactions of these companies bare to the world, and let the fraudulent ones compete with those possessing a bona fide capital. One company says, "we have been doing a tremendous business,—dividing twenty-five per cent. per annum; but if you show the world that we have $150,000,000 worth of risks, we won't get any more." Now, this expose is the only purpose of the bill. If there can be any possible objection to it, let some body urge it. If it is the intention of this House to postpone it, let me suggest that it might as well be settled at once. For myself and my constituents, and appealing to every sense of propriety and justice, I now ask the House whether the bill is not right? I call upon them to express their opinion on the subject. I have done my duty, and care nothing for the result, except so far as my obligations to my constituents shall induce me to care.

He continued further to advocate the passage of the bill, using forcible arguments, and exhibiting an intimate knowledge of the workings of the insurance companies and like corporations throughout the State.

Mr. GOEPP advocated an immediate vote on the subject.

Mr. IRISH said—

Mr. SPEAKER: I agree with the gentleman from Northampton, (Mr. GOEPP,) that time is precious, and do not propose to consume but a single moment. Before the vote is taken, however, to postpone, I desire to say, that although I do not approve of all the provisions of this bill, I am satisfied that something should be done to protect the community from being swindled by bogus insurance companies. It is well known that it has become a business with a certain class of men to speculate on the credulity of the people, by means of insurance companies having mostly a nominal or fictitious capital, or no capital at all.

They open offices, receive premiums, and as soon as losses or reverses overtake them, pocket the money they have received, and leave the insured to whistle for the money they have paid for insurance, or for the losses against which they may have been insured. What can be fairer, than to require companies asking to be trusted with the custody of millions of property, to show that they are worthy of being trusted? The community ought to know who and what they are dealing with. Whether, when they pay a fair price for having their property insured, there is a reasonable prospect, judging from the resources of the company, that they will get the amount for which their property is insured, should they meet with a loss. This I understand to be the object of the bill; to afford people an opportunity of judging understandingly, what companies are worthy of their patronage, and of weeding out the corrupt institutions which infest our cities, and fatten upon community without serving any good purpose whatever.

There are some things in the bill which I would wish to see amended. I consider the fees for commissioners are larger than they should be, for one thing. I doubt the propriety of prohibiting a company from publishing such other statements, as it may see fit, in addition to the one mentioned in the act. There are other important amendments, which I should like to see incorporated into the bill. I do not wish to discuss them at this time, as there seems to be a desire to postpone the consideration of the bill indefinitely, before we have had an opportunity of offering such amendments as may be deemed necessary, and before it has even been read. I hope the House will proceed to the consideration of the act, section by section, and see if the objectionable features cannot be removed. Let its merits be fairly considered and discussed, at least, before proceeding to dispose of it in this summary manner.

Mr. THORN. I only desire to say what I forgot; that is, that every company incorporated in either of the States of New York or Massachusetts, is subject, by the laws of those States, to an investigation by commissioners, under the provisions of a much more stringent law than this would be. It is this, that if the Philadelphia company intend to establish an agency in New York or Massachusetts, before a license can be issued, or they are allowed to commence business, all their books and papers must be made subject to an exposition by those commissioners, whom the State appoints to investigate the facts.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the indefinite postponement of the further consideration of the bill?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. THORN and Mr. IRISH, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barnsley, Barlow, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Burley, Campbell, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Fearon, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Goepf, Good, Graham, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, McCurdy, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rouse, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Styer, Thompson, Wagenseller, Wigton, Williams, (Bucks,) Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—46.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Bayard, Bertolet, Chase, Church, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Foster, Gratz, Gray, Harding, Irish, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Dowell, Miller, Neall, Peirce, Rohrer, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Stephens, Stuart, Thorn, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Wilcox, Wiley, Williston and Wilson—34.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

"An Act to incorporate the Commercial Trust company," came up in order, and was read the second time.

Mr. SHEPPARD moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed indefinitely; which was agreed to.

"An Act to incorporate the Hydropathic college and institute of Loretto," was again read and passed finally.

"An Act to incorporate the German Reformed and German Lutheran congregations of the Schwartzwald church and cemetery, in Exeter township, Berks county," came up in order and was read the second time.

On motion of Mr. JACKSON, the further consideration of the bill was postponed for the present.

"An Act to incorporate the Carolina steam navigation company," came up in order and passed finally.

"An Act to change the place of holding elections in Union township, Union county," came up in order on second reading and postponed until Monday next.

Mr. KINNEY moved that the House resume the consideration of House bill No. 461, "An Act to authorize the State Treasurer to pay the Towanda bridge company a balance remaining in the treasury, due them, in pursuance of a contract made with the board of Canal Commissioners, July 12, 1856."

Mr. THOMPSON moved to amend by adding the following to the end of the first section:

"Whenever the Attorney General shall file in the office of the State Treasurer, his opinion, that the purchasers of the North Branch canal are not liable for the payment thereof, under the act authorizing the sale of the said canal;" which was agreed to.

The bill was then read the second and third time.

And on the question,

Shall the bill pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BERTOLET and Mr. STEPHENS, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Ellmaker, Fearon, Foster, Goepf, Graham, Gratz, Green, Harding, Irish, Keneagy, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, M'Clure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Palm, Peirce, Ramsdell, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Styer, Thorn, Walborn, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—45.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Evans, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Gray, Gritman, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Ketchum, Matthews, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Patterson, Rose, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) and Williston—35.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

"An Act to reduce the number of aldermen in the Twenty-fourth ward of the city of Philadelphia," came up in order, and was passed finally.

Agreeably to order, the House proceeded to the consideration of bills on the Private Calendar.

Whereupon, the following were taken up, and no objections being made, were laid aside, and prepared for second reading:

ORIGINAL RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. SCOFIELD offered the following resolution; which (the rule having been suspended) was twice read, considered and adopted:

Resolved, That the State Superintendent of Common Schools be requested to inform the Senate what amount of money was paid to county superintendents during the last school year, and what amount, in his opinion, will be required for this year.

Mr. RANDALL moved that the Senate hold a session this evening at 7 o'clock, for the consideration of private bills; which was agreed to.

HOUSE AMENDMENTS.

On motion, the Senate concurred in House amendments to "An Act relative to the fees of sheriffs in Crawford county."

House amendments to Senate bill No 607

"An Act supplementary to the several acts relative to the Dauphin and Susquehanna coal company," were read; and

On motion of Mr. GREGG, consideration of the same was postponed for the present.

House amendments to Senate bill No. 257, "An Act to incorporate the Bedford gas company," were concurred in.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

Agreeably to order, the Senate resumed the consideration of the appropriation bill, in committee of the whole, (Mr. WRIGHT in the Chair,) the question being upon the amendment to the twenty-sixth section offered by Mr. TURNEY, viz: to strike out the appropriation of twelve thousand five hundred dollars to the Pennsylvania training school for feeble minded children.

Mr. PALMER said—

Mr. Chairman, the Senator from Westmoreland, Chairman of the Committee on Finance, (Mr. TURNEY,) moved to amend this section, by striking out the appropriation for the completion of the buildings now in progress for the use of the training school for feeble-minded children, but argues that that portion of the section making the usual annual appropriation of four thousand dollars towards the support of the school should stand, and has declared, in the course of his remarks in support of his amendment, that the whole idea of this school is a humbug, that the results have not been and never can be beneficial to any but the salaried officers connected with it, and that it is a positive injury rather than a benefit to its unfortunate inmates. The Senator contends that the minds of the feeble-minded and idiotic of our race, being radically unsound, are not susceptible of cultivation, or if they are, it is only to such extent as will lay bare before the unfortunate possessors the truth of their pitiful, helpless and hopeless condition, and thus render them more miserable. He argues that

"Where ignorance is bliss,
'Tis folly to be wise."

But if the Senator from Westmoreland is sincere, I greatly wonder that he should agree that the people of the State should be humbugged, the feeble-minded children injured, and the Treasury of the Commonwealth depleted, to the amount of four thousand dollars annually for the support and continuance of this institution. If his premises are correct and his conclusions just, it would be far better for the Commonwealth to withdraw its helping hand altogether, and permit this worse than useless—this positively pernicious institution, to go down—even by positive enactment to blot it out of existence, rather than to continue it. I cannot comprehend the logic of the argument which would dole out from year to year enough money to enable this school to linger along in a sickly existence, and would refuse a sum sufficient to ensure its fair trial and show forth its merit, if it have merit. No, Mr. Chairman, if this institution be a meritorious one, let us deal with it as the Senators of a great State ought to deal with its benevolent organizations—having proper regard to the condition of our treasury and the ability of the Commonwealth, let us appropriate whatever reasonable sum the requirements and necessities of the organization demand for its fair trial and full efficiency. If it be, as the Senator from Westmoreland declared it is, a miserable humbug, practically useless and positively injurious, let us not wastefully add other thousands of dollars to the thousands already wastefully expended.

But, Mr. Chairman, I suspect that in this matter, the Senator's heart is warmer towards this school than his speech would indicate, and that in his zeal in his high place as Chairman of the Finance Committee, to protect the public treasury and economize the public expenditure, he has spoken in excess of his real views, for the purpose of inducing the Senate to curtail his appropriation. I cannot otherwise understand the apparent contradiction of his position. He agrees that the four thousand dollars annual appropriation is necessary and proper; he has not shown, nor undertaken to show, that the twelve thousand five hundred dollars conditional upon the payment of a like sum, by voluntary subscription of charitable individuals, is not also absolutely necessary for the completion of the buildings now in progress for the use of the school, and for its successful extending operations.

If there is no merit in this institution, the Senate need not fear to make this conditional appropriation. If it is a humbug, no dollar of this conditional appropriation will ever be drawn from the treasury of the State. I say so, because none but a meritorious institution could reasonably expect to command the approval of the charitable and most intelligent (because the most charitable and liberal hearted are the most intelligent,) of the community, and their subscriptions and payments in money to the large amount of twelve thousand five hundred dollars, without which this State appropriation will never be paid. The fact that the friends of this school have agreed that the appropriation may rest upon this condition, is at least evidence of their confidence in its merits before the community, and their success in securing its payment, if they do thus secure it, is also conclusive evidence, to my mind, that it is deserving our aid.

Mr. Chairman, I am compelled to confess to the committee, what I remarked to a Senator near me, during the speech of the Senator from Westmoreland, that his positions and arguments sounded to my ears like a voice from the dark times of five or more centuries ago, when the idiotic and insane of the human race were either neglected, or guarded against by chains, bolts and bars, as circumstances might require so many brute beasts to be treated, according to their respective dispositions. Sir, this and all similar institutions for the amelioration of the condition of the unfortunate, distressed and suffering of our race, spring up necessarily and unavoidably in the pathway of an advancing civilization and enlightenment, and although some may sneer at it as humbug, God and good angels, and all good men, smile approvingly upon such work. What think you, sir, is at the bottom of the magnificent benevolent associations, the Orders of Free Masons, Odd Fellows, Sons of Temperance, Sons of Malta, American Mechanics, and the other myriads of charitable and beneficial organizations, which fill our land like great armies with their banners? Think you it is the outward display of banners and regalia, or the mysteries of the secret ceremonials and mystic rites of their lodge rooms, which thus draw men together and link them in strong ties, so strong as to induce the expenditure of the millions of money annually collected and disbursed by these associations? I tell you nay, it is deeper and broader, and more significant than all outward show or inner mystery of ceremonial. It is the practical embodiment and outshadowing of the spirit of christian love, teaching men that "there is one God, the Father of us all, and all we are brethren." It is the true spirit of our excellent christianity, teaching the common paternity of God, and the common brotherhood of men every where, which, breaking through the formulas of creeds and the formalism of sects, brings men together upon a common platform of universal love, kindness and charity, urges them on to works of benevolence, and commands their active sympathy for the unfortunate of their kind.

See what this spirit has done for the blind, once so dark and helpless—for the deaf and dumb, formerly so fearfully mysterious in their deprivation of hearing and speech—for the insane, who were treated as wild beasts. Your penitentiaries and houses of refuge, combining moral and religious instruction with active industry, for the entire reformation of criminals and the vicious, attest its power and influence. Magdalen asylums, and hospitals for the treatment and cure of inebriates, restore to society those unfortunates of both sexes, who, given up to the control of the baser passions, were lost to themselves, their families and friends—asylums for indigent widows and single women—homes for deserted and friendless children—hospitals for the reception and relief of the indigent sick—agents for the amelioration of the condition of prisoners—a multitude, too great to be numbered, of these and similar plans of philanthropy, ramifying and extending their operations into every channel, nook and cranny of society, bespeak the presence and activity of universal love of humanity.

To all these, our great State, as in duty bound, has bid God speed; and in many cases, in a spirit of noble liberality, has lent a helping hand; and now, last of all, comes this school for idiots and the feeble-minded of the children of the State; and we are told it is humbug, and that the practical results have not been and never can be commensurate with the amount of money expended, because these idiots are not capable of entire intellectual restoration. I am not prepared to admit this broad proposition to be true, as applied to all idiots and feeble-minded. But what if it were? No more is a large portion of the insane capable of being entirely restored; but is it nothing to have relieved the hopelessly insane from the filthy straw of the dark, unwholesome dungeons in which they were formerly confined; from the strait jacket and the fetters; from the chains, the bolts and iron bars through which they were formerly viewed by the impudently curious, or the tearful eyes of heart-stricken, sorrowing friends; and through which the miserable inmates glared wild defiance, and yelled imprecations upon their real or fancied persecutors? Is it nothing that they have been taken out from these living graves, and have been washed clean and decently clothed, and treated with kindness, and are ruled by the law of love?

It is not denied that at least this much has been done for the amelioration of the condition of these feeble-minded children—they have been raised from the abasement of brutes to assume the outward forms of decent humanity; and in many cases they have been almost, if not entirely, restored, at least so far as to become self-reliant and self-supporting; and I contend, and can demonstrate, that in a mere money point of view, it is economical for the State to lend to the work her aid and support.

If we could imitate some nations of savages, and murder these unfortunates, we could thus rid ourselves and the State of the burden of their support; but as we probably cannot agree to do this, we are compelled to keep them alive, either as an unequal burden upon the charitable, or by equal taxation of the people. These proposed buildings for this school, when completed, are calculated for the reception of at least one hundred and fifty children. If one fourth of these can be rendered self-supporting annually, it would be a fraction over thirty-seven children; who, if they remained hopelessly and helplessly idiotic, at the public charge, would each cost at least one hundred and fifty dollars per annum. This would be five thousand five hundred and fifty dollars per annum, and allowing them an average life of twenty years, would amount to one hundred and eleven thousand dollars, as the economical money saving to the State of each year by this institution, when fully organized and in successful operation.

But he who can reduce this to a mere question of money saving must be a colder calculator than myself. Who can weigh the money value of a mind restored, of a soul developed—of the joy and gladness of parents, relatives and friends over a single lost one found?

I cannot consent to pursue the argument further, or to multiply its illustrations. I am informed that the necessities of this institution require for the entire completion of its proposed buildings, on which the State has already expended the sum of forty thousand dollars, the further sum of fifty-five thousand dollars, and that the buildings will then be the cheapest and most economical in the State, in proportion to their capacity. Of this sum the managers ask the Legislature to appropriate twenty-five thousand dollars, upon condition that they shall secure the balance of thirty-five thousand dollars by voluntary subscriptions from the philanthropic citizens of the country, and that this shall be a final appropriation from the State for building purposes. The House bill contained the appropriation required, and I trust it will be restored by the Senate before the bill passes finally, and that it will receive the Executive approval.

The amendment was agreed to, as also, the section as amended, which reads thus:

SEC. 26. For the Pennsylvania training school for feeble minded children, such amount as said institution may be entitled to receive under the provisions of the sixth section of the act incorporating said school, approved the seventh of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three.

The twenty-seventh section being before the Senate, as follows:

SEC. 27. For the Northern Home for friendless children, five thousand dollars: Provided, that the said Northern Home for friendless children shall be subject to the provisions contained in the third section of an act, entitled "A supplement to an act to incorporate the subscribers to the articles of association, for the purpose of establishing and conducting an institution for the confinement and reformation of youthful delinquents, under the title of the House of Refuge," approved March twenty-third, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six.

Mr. SCOFIELD said that, under existing laws, each county had the charge of its own poor. It was manifestly proper that such should be the case, and that the eyes of the people of each particular section should be directed to their own matters. It would not do for Philadelphians to look at Warren county, or for Warren county to direct their attention to Philadelphia. The adoption of these laws was, moreover, necessary for the economical distribution of funds, which were obtained through local influences.

Now, this section provided that the State should, by State tax, take care of a portion of the poor of Philadelphia. The friendless children properly came under the poor law, and should be made subject to the county rule as it at present existed.

Why was it that the city wished to fasten on the State her orphans and widows, when they were properly subjects of her own charity? As well might she demand an appropriation for her poor house. Other counties supported their own residents, and it was both just and equitable that Philadelphia should do the same.

He recollected, last winter, when he was approached by one of the lawyers, sent out by the Northern Home, that he had told a gentleman, distinctly, that the precedent would be a bad one. The sum then asked for was five thousand dollars, and the lawyer, while contending that it should be given, said that the commercial world had suffered a revulsion—private charities had been exhausted—and if the appropriation was made that one year, it would not be again solicited.

He had replied that the precedent would fasten upon the State an annual appropriation, and the present application convinced him that he had been right. If the request was granted this session, it would assume the position of a permanent thing for the future.

Mr. RANDALL favored this appropriation to the Northern Home for friendless children, because the institution was one of the best in the country, and had been referred to by the Governor in his last annual message as entitled to State protection.

As regarded the action of the committee on this section, he might be permitted to say a word. In that committee, there had been no objection urged to individual members against the appropriation. He hoped that the section would pass as it stood.

Mr. WELSH stated that the intimation just given by Mr. RANDALL, that the committee had been unanimously in favor of the section, was incorrect. He had been opposed to the introduction of any of these sections, not because he was opposed to the institutions, but solely on account of their local character. The State should not be made to assist local institutions.

He did not wish to be understood as opposing charitable institutions, but as he had said, he could not agree to the principle of local institutions thus applying and obtaining assistance to the detriment of other sections of the State.

Mr. COFFEY was opposed to the city being allowed to ask the State to support her paupers.

Mr. MARSELIS did not look at the Northern Home as a local institution. It was connected with a State, and was a production of the State. Moreover, many of its inmates derived their origin from the interior counties of the Commonwealth, and were the children of parents who, borne down by the tide of misfortune or error, became victims of poverty. Many of them had been driven from their own counties, where they had been unable to gain a subsistence, and like driftwood came down to the city, the great centre of life.

The people of Philadelphia were taxed highly to support their benevolent institutions, and were daily adding their contributions to this laudable end. The amounts subscribed by the State were mere nothings.

Many of the children, he would repeat, were the offspring of unfortunate parents, who, by high taxes and exacting laws, had been forced from garrets and cellars into almshouses. Who made those laws except the Legislature? Was not that body answerable, to some extent, for the misery thus inflicted?

The Commonwealth received large sums from the city of Philadelphia, and exacted from that metropolis such amounts as doubtless contributed not a little to driving her people to poverty and wretchedness. The least return that Pennsylvania could make was to contribute to the support of her benevolent institutions.

Mr. HARRIS said that he had children, widows and poor people in his own district who required all the relief that could be given.—There was, as a gentleman had already said, a general law making it incumbent upon each county to support its own poor, and as well might he ask the Legislature to aid the poor house in his own district, as for the gentleman from Philadelphia to solicit this appropriation. The citizens of Mercer sustained a poor house by their own individual enterprise.

The question was purely a local one, as was the institution, and for those reasons he should vote against the appropriation.

Mr. SCOFIELD contended that those who went from the country were not victims of poverty, but those who afterwards raised themselves to a proud pre-eminence.

Mr. MARSELIS admitted that this was true to a great measure.

Mr. SCOFIELD again defended those who went from the country to the city.

Mr. MARSELIS utterly denied any intention of reflecting on the honest, industrious class of citizens.

Mr. RANDALL denied that the institution was a local one, and paid a high compliment to its lady officers, who gave their services without recompense.

Mr. SCOFIELD wished to know if it was not private charity from the country, which, to a great measure, sustained the institution.

Mr. RANDALL did not know. He continued explanatory of the institution, and lauded it highly.

The section was not agreed to.

The twenty-eighth section, which is as follows, was negatived:

SEC. 28. For the Penn Asylum for indigent widows and single women, five thousand dollars. The twenty-ninth section was read, as follows:

SEC. 29. For the Orphans' Home at Zelienople, one thousand dollars.

Mr. HARRIS explained the objects of the Orphans' Home at Zelienople.

Mr. BELL hoped that Senators would vote for the measure, and not let their charity be confined to any particular portion of the State. The institution was general in its charities.

Mr. PALMER spoke in favor.

Mr. HARRIS alleged, as had been before stated, that its charities were general and extended.

This section was voted down.

The thirtieth and thirty-first sections were adopted, as follow:

SEC. 30. For the salary of the superintendent of the public printing, eight hundred dollars.

SEC. 31. To Richard J. Haldeman, publisher of the Legislative Record, compensation at the rate of seven dollars per page, for the numbers published at the present session, the amount to be certified as due by the superintendent of public printing; and that the fortieth section of an act, entitled "An Act to provide for the ordinary expenses of government and other general and special appropriations," approved twenty-first April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, so far as it relates to the continuance of the contract, for the printing of a Legislative Record, with R. J. Haldeman, be and the same is hereby repealed: Provided, That the repeal hereby provided for shall not take effect until at the expiration of the present session.

Mr. RUTHERFORD moved to re-instate the following, which had been stricken out by the Senate committee:

SEC. 32. To each of the fire companies of Harrisburg, now organized and in operation, one hundred dollars.

Mr. GREGG wanted explanation.

Mr. RUTHERFORD said that the Capitol buildings were not fire-proof.

Mr. FINNEY wanted to know whether it was expected that the citizens of Harrisburg would set them on fire.

Mr. PALMER said that there was no adequate protection for the State papers and buildings, and that the sum should be given to the firemen.

Mr. MILLER wished to know what the borough authorities paid firemen.

Mr. RUTHERFORD said, nothing at all, beyond giving them the house, apparatus and hose.

Mr. PALMER said that the sum of one hundred dollars for each company was considered to be the pro rata that the Commonwealth ought to pay.

Mr. SHAEFFER strongly advocated the measure, and paid the highest compliment to the Harrisburg firemen—they were men of character and standing.

Mr. YARDLEY should vote for the section, on the ground that it would be actual economy.

Mr. GAZZAM said that the Commonwealth ought to have taken measures years ago to protect the property.

Mr. MILLER said that the Commonwealth had made Harrisburg what it was, and the firemen might at least voluntarily serve.

Mr. FRANCIS would vote for the section, because it was right.

The motion was agreed to.

The thirty-third and thirty-fourth sections were adopted, and are as follow :

SEC. 33. For the preservation and repairs of the capitol, and improvement of the public grounds, the sum of three thousand seven hundred and thirty-one dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary to be expended for the following purposes : repairs to dome and cornice of capitol building, one hundred and twenty-five dollars; painting dome and cornice of capitol, six hundred dollars; lumber, labor, et cetera, to continue the board walk to front of capitol, two hundred and twenty-five dollars; removing privies in rear of capitol, excavating and completing trench for sewers, including cast iron pipe for same, and constructing the necessary water closets in basement of capitol, one thousand dollars; sewer and water closet at Governor's mansion, three hundred and seventy dollars; for brick and laying pavement on North street, including gutter, sand, et cetera, six hundred dollars; to make extraordinary repairs in and about the public buildings, keeping clean and fitting up rooms in the arsenal to store books, documents, et cetera, eight hundred dollars: Provided, That all moneys expended and contracts made, shall be at the direction and under the authority of the Secretary of State and the Auditor General; for the payment of the superintendent and watchman of the public buildings and grounds, two dollars and fifty cents per day for and during the period of his appointment.

SEC. 34. For the payment of the expenses of the committee selected to try the contested election case, from the Third Representative district of Philadelphia, incurred by two sessions held in the city of Philadelphia, the sum of two hundred and seventy-five dollars.

The thirty-fifth section was read, and is as follows :

SEC. 35. That the State Treasurer is hereby authorized to pay John A. Smull, for services rendered the House of Representatives, the same compensation now allowed by law for an transcribing clerk.

Debate ensued between Messrs. BELL, TURNEY and RANDALL.

The section was agreed to.

The thirty-sixth section was considered and adopted.

SEC. 36. That the State Treasurer is hereby authorized to pay the clerks of the Senate and House of Representatives, the amounts necessary to pay the pages and folders employed during the present session, at the rate of one dollar per day each, for the time the Legislature is in session, and the further sum of ten dollars each to said pages and folders, except J. P. Hoffman, and G. H. Lenhart, who shall be paid the same amount as the assistant door-keepers are entitled to by this bill.

The thirty-seventh section was negatived.

SEC. 37. That the State Treasurer is hereby authorized to pay John C. Morgan, Andrew W. Kimmell, William R. Gardy, James Williams, Samuel McDonnell, John D. Reese and John Farrrell, assistant door-keepers, for extra services after night, in and about the Hall, during the present session, one hundred dollars each.

The thirty-eighth was stricken out by the committee.

The thirty-ninth, which is as follows, was adopted :

SEC. 39. That the State Treasurer is hereby authorized to pay George Manley, at the rate of one dollar and fifty cents per day, for services in cleansing and keeping in order the out-building of the two houses; the actual number of days employed, to be certified to by the Clerk of the House.

The fortieth was amended, on motion of Mr. TURNEY, so as to read :

SEC. 40. That the State Treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to pay Alvin Day nineteen dollars and twenty-five cents, being the amount of a check drawn by the State Treasurer on the Bank of Pennsylvania, in May, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, and dishonored by said bank; and to J. D. Hamilton the sum of fourteen dollars, an amount due on settlement.

The forty-first, forty-second and forty-third sections were adopted, as follow :

SEC. 41. For transcribing for Committee of Ways and Means, to be paid on the order of the chairman, twenty dollars.

SEC. 42. For postage and stationery used in the office of the late Attorney General, sixty-seven dollars and fifty-nine cents.

SEC. 43. That the State Treasurer is hereby authorized to pay the chief clerks of the Senate and House of Representatives, for the expense of indexing journals, one hundred and twenty-five dollars each; and also the sum of one hundred and twenty-five dollars to William H. Miller, Clerk of the Senate, and to Jacob Ziegler, the late clerk of the House of Representatives, each for indexing the journals for the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.

The forty-fourth being before Senate,

SEC. 44. For the payment of salaries of tonnage agents in full to June first, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine, twelve hundred dollars.

Mr. TURNEY moved to amend, by adding the following :

"And the office of tonnage agent is hereby abolished, from and after the first day of June, 1859."

Pending the discussion upon which,

On motion of Mr. WELSH, the committee rose, reported progress, and obtained leave, to sit again this afternoon.

A message was received from the Governor, which was read, as follows :

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, March 30, 1859. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN :—I return herewith to the Senate, where it originated, a bill, entitled "A further supplement to the act to incorporate the Harrisburg female seminary."

It is proposed by the bill under consideration, to exempt "the building and lot of ground, with the appurtenances, occupied by the Harrisburg female seminary, from taxation, so long as the same shall be used and occupied as such seminary."

The building and lot referred to, are private property, held by individual owners, and leased for the purposes of a seminary. To exempt such property from taxation is virtually to add the amount of the annual tax to its rental; but, were it otherwise, and were it certain that the passage of the bill would benefit the institution alone, public policy, in my opinion, forbids its enactment.

As a general rule, all private property in the State should be subject to taxation—and especially, when it is used for private purposes. If an exception be made, it should be general, and embrace all private property similarly occupied. To exempt this particular property from taxation, and to tax property used and occupied in like manner by others, would be unequal, and therefore unjust.

My views on this subject were communicated to the General Assembly at its present session, in returning with my objections a bill passed by the last Legislature, within ten days of its adjournment, entitled "An Act to exempt certain school property from taxation," to be found on the twentieth page of the Legislative Record. Inasmuch as my views remain unchanged, I am constrained, by a sense of duty, to return this bill without the Executive approval, for reconsideration.

WM. F. PACKER.

The bill being again before the Senate, and the question being,

Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

The SPEAKER ordered the yeas and nays, agreeably to the provision of the Constitution, as follow :

YEA—Mr. Rutherford—1.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Gazzam, Gregg, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Palmer, Peuney, Schell, Scofield, Shaeffer, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Yardley—23.

So the question was determined in the negative.

On leave given, Mr. SHAEFFER, (Corporations,) reported, as committed, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Fairmount market company."

The hour of one having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until 3 P. M.

SENATE—AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Senate met at 3 o'clock, P. M.

Agreeably to order, the Senate resumed the consideration of the appropriation bill, in committee of the whole, (Mr. WRIGHT in the chair;) the question being upon the amendment to the forty-fourth section offered by Mr. TURNEY, viz: to abolish the office of tonnage agent; which, after some discussion, was withdrawn by Mr. TURNEY, but subsequently renewed by Mr. BELL, and adopted.

The question recurring upon the section as amended, Mr. SCOFIELD moved further to amend by striking out $1200 and inserting in lieu thereof $400; which was not agreed to.

On the question,

Will the committee agree to the section as amended?

It was determined in the affirmative.

The forty-fifth section was amended, on motion of Mr. SCHELL, so as to read as follows:

SEC. 45. That the State Treasurer is hereby authorized to pay each of the regular officers elected under the provisions of the act of 1855 of the Senate and House of Representatives, except the Speakers, one hundred dollars additional compensation, for services rendered during the present session.

On motion of Mr. TURNEY, the forty-sixth section, stricken out by the Senate committee, was re-inserted as follows:

SEC. 46. For the payment of the officers and privates of the first and second regiments of Pennsylvania volunteers, who served in the late war with Mexico, under the provisions of an act to provide for the payment of the first and second regiments of Pennsylvania volunteers, who served in the late war with Mexico, approved the twenty-ninth day of March, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-one, the sum of two hundred dollars.

[Mr. TURNEY presented a communication from the Auditor General in favor of the above appropriation; which was read.]

The forty-seventh, forty-eighth, forty-ninth and fiftieth sections were adopted as follows:

SEC. 47. To William P. Brady, the sum of one hundred dollars for filing the Legislative Record, and for services after the expiration of the session, and the pay of said Brady, as an officer of the Senate, shall be the same as that of a transcribing clerk, which shall be duly allowed, settled and paid.

SEC. 48. That there is hereby appropriated one hundred and fifty dollars to be expended by the clerk of the Senate in the purchase of fifteen thousand of Gavit's electrotype envelopes and the stamp for the use of the Senate.

SEC. 49. For transcribing for railroad committee in Senate, to be paid on the order of the chairman, twenty-five dollars.

SEC. 50. That the State Treasurer is hereby authorized to pay to David S. Spear, an officer of the Senate, the same compensation hereby allowed to the messenger and assistant messenger of the Senate.

The fifty-first section, which is as follows, was not agreed to.

SEC. 51. That the State Treasurer is hereby authorized to pay W. S. Picking, the salary of an assistant clerk.

The fifty-second section was adopted.

SEC. 52. That the clerks appointed according to the seventeenth section of the act approved May seventh, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-five, shall be allowed the same rate of mileage as other officers of the Legislature, and at the same rate of compensation as is now allowed to the transcribing clerks by said act, in proportion to the time they shall serve as such.

Mr. BELL offered the following, as the fifty-third section, which he supported at length, reviewing the history, objects and prospects of the Pennsylvania Colonization society, and presenting its claims:

That the sum of two thousand dollars be appropriated for the purposes and in the manner hereinafter prescribed: When the Pennsylvania colonization society shall furnish satisfactory proof to the Auditor General, that any number of free persons of color, residents of this State, and their children shall have been actually transported to the Republic of Liberia, or other place on the northern coast of Africa, or that they shall have embarked for transportation thither, the Auditor General shall draw his warrant on the treasury, in favor of the treasurer of the said Pennsylvania Colonization society, for such sums of moneys as may be necessary to pay the expenses of transporting and sustaining such persons for a limited time on the coast of Africa: Provided, That not more than sixty dollars shall be allowed for the transportation and subsistence of any one person above the age of fifteen years, nor more than thirty dollars for any person above the age of two years, and under the age of fifteen.

Mr. GAZZAM replied to the Senator from Chester, giving the reasons which would influence him in opposing this appropriation.

Pending the discussion upon this amendment,

On motion of Mr. WELSH, the committee rose, reported progress, and obtained leave to sit again to-morrow.

House amendments to "An Act to incorporate the Penn industrial reform school," were read; and, on motion, concurred in.

The hour of five having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until this evening at seven o'clock.

SENATE—EVENING SESSION.

The Senate was called to order by the SPEAKER at 7 o'clock.

On motion of Mr. FETTER, the Senate resumed the consideration of Senate bill No. 323, "An Act to incorporate the Northumberland and Juniata railroad company," on second reading.

The first section having been read, Mr. WELSH moved to postpone consideration of the bill for the present.

Upon which motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. FETTER and Mr. KELLER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Finney, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Nunemacher, Palmer, Schell, Schindel, Thompson, Welsh and Cresswell, Speaker—16.

NAYS—Messrs. Fetter, Gazzam, Keller, Marselis, Scofield, Shaeffer, Steele, Turney and Wright—9.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. GAZZAM called up Senate bill No. 697, "An Act to authorize the State Treasurer to refund to Samuel Baird certain money paid by him."

Said bill passed committee of whole, and came up on second reading.

Upon the merits of this bill, and the legal points connected therewith, a discussion ensued between Messrs. GAZZAM, TURNEY, SCHELL, PENNEY and RANDALL.

Mr. PENNEY offered the following proviso to the first section:

Provided, That the counsel fees due the attorneys for the Commonwealth, be first paid out of the amount refunded.

The proviso was not agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Upon the first section,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. TURNEY and Mr. GAZZAM, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Brewer, Coffey, Fetter, Finney, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Palmer, Parker, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Thompson, Wright and Yardley—17.

NAYS—Messrs. Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Penney, Schell, Steele, Turney, Welsh and Cresswell, Speaker—9.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The preamble having been read, Mr. PALMER moved to amend by striking out the words, "as by law he was required;" which was agreed to, and the bill passed finally.

BILLS CONSIDERED AND PASSED.

On motion of Mr. YARDLEY, House bill No. 742, "An Act to authorize the appointment of a measurer of paving stones in the city of Philadelphia."

On motion of Mr. FINNEY, House bill No. 931, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Farmers' Mutual fire insurance company of Harbor Creek township, in the county of Erie."

On motion of Messrs. SCOFIELD and FETTER, the Senate re-considered the vote on the final passage of House bill No. 787, "An Act to incorporate the Susquehanna insurance company at Harrisburg," and consideration of the same was postponed for the present.

On motion of Mr. PARKER, the Senate proceeded to consider House bill No. 1253, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Philadelphia City passenger railway company."

Whereupon the Senate resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. FINNEY in the chair.)

After some time, the committee rose; and, on motion, the Senate proceeded to second reading.

The first section being before the Senate,

Mr. WRIGHT appealed to the Senate to vote down this supplement, giving his views in reference to the course of the Legislature on this subject, and deprecating the hurried manner in which the act incorporating this company had been passed.

He was followed by Mr. FINNEY, who was in favor of the immediate passage of this supplement, and who contended that the Legislature had but exercised its right and power in such cases.

Upon the adoption of the first section,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WRIGHT and Mr. PARKER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Nunemacher, Palmer, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Schell, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—26.

NAYS—Messrs. Gazzam, Marselis, Nunemacher, Penney and Wright—5.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The second section was agreed to, as also the title.

Upon the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WRIGHT and Mr. PARKER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Schell, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—26.

NAYS—Messrs. Gazzam, Marselis, Nunemacher, Penney and Wright—5.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. RUTHERFORD, the Senate proceeded to consider House bill No. 404, "A further supplement to the act incorporating the Philadelphia and Reading railroad company."

The first section of the bill being before the Senate,

Mr. RANDALL moved to postpone consideration of the bill for the present.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RUTHERFORD and Mr. RANDALL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Keller, Marselis, Penney, Randall, Shaeffer, Steele, Turney, Welsh and Wright—10.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Myer, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Rutherford, Schell, Scofield, Schindel, Thompson and Yardley—18.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The first section being again before the Senate,

Mr. TURNEY moved to amend by striking out the word "Harrisburg," in the twenty-first line, and inserting in lieu thereof, the word "Reading."

The provisions of the bill were discussed by Messrs. RUTHERFORD, SCHELL and GAZZAM, in favor of, and Messrs. TURNEY and SHAEFFER, against.

Pending their discussion, the Senate adjourned until to-morrow morning at 9½ o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WEDNESDAY, March 30, 1859.

The House was called to order at 9½ o'clock, by the SPEAKER.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. G. J. Martz. The Clerk read the Journal of yesterday.

Mr. WITHROW, on leave given, called up House bill No. 551, "An Act to require the Pennsylvania railroad company to change the location of a certain road, in Wayne township, Mifflin county."

The bill was read the second time.

Mr. WALBORN hoped the House would not proceed to the further consideration of the bill, and moved that it be postponed for the present.

Mr. WITHROW defended the bill, and forwarded to the SPEAKER'S desk a paper in relation thereto; which was read.

Mr. PATTERSON said that they asked nothing more than to require the Pennsylvania railroad company to construct a township road under their railroad, just where it was before.

Mr. HAMERSLY said it would involve the expenditure of a great deal of money. He could favor the bill if the principle were applied to all railroads. Under the circumstances, however, he considered it would be an act of gross injustice to require the Pennsylvania railroad to make this road. If road viewers were asked, he would vote for the bill.

Mr. BURLEY spoke against the passage of the bill.

The motion to postpone was carried.

Mr. IRISH, on leave given, read in place and presented to the Chair, "An Act relative to the claim of George Reider."

Mr. THOMPSON, on leave given, called up House bill No. 1106, "An Act to incorporate the Perry coal and oil company;" which was considered and passed, and sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) on leave given, presented "An Act to incorporate the Philadelphia and New Hope railroad company," and on his motion said bill was taken up, considered and passed, and sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. LAIRD, on leave, called up Senate bill No. 482, "An Act to establish the Penn industrial reform school;" which was considered.

Mr. LAIRD amended the bill, by adding the names of a number of gentlemen as corporators.

The bill was further amended by Mr. LAIRD, and passed its several readings.

On final passage,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. NILL and Mr. ZOLLER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Balliet, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Church, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Gratz, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottentstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, M'Curdy, Miller, Neall, Oaks, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Rohrer, Rose, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stoneback, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Warden, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Withrow, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—62.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Chase, Graham, Nill, Smith (Berks,) and Wilson—6.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. BERTOLET, on leave given, called up House bill No. 1272, "A further supplement to an act to authorize the Governor to incorporate a company to make a lock navigation on the river Schuylkill;" which was considered and passed, and sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. ABBOTT, on leave given, read "A supplement to the act incorporating the Ridge turnpike road company."

Mr. BARNESLEY from the Committee to Compare Bills, made report; which was read.

Mr. ECKMAN, on leave given, presented "A supplement to an act to incorporate the North Lebanon railroad company;" which, on his motion, was taken up and considered.

Mr. SMITH, (of Bucks,) called upon Mr. ECKMAN to explain the provisions of the bill.

Mr. ECKMAN forwarded to the SPEAKER'S desk a paper relative to the same; which was read by the Clerk.

The bill then passed

Mr. WILLIAMS, (of Bedford,) on leave given, called up Senate bill No. 184, "A further supplement to the act incorporating the Duane, Landisburg and Broadtop railroad company," and which was considered, and passed finally.

Mr. BALLIET, on leave given, from the Committee on Election Districts, reported, and committed, "An Act changing the place of holding elections in St. Clair township, Bedford county;" which, on his motion, was taken up, and passed finally, and sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. GRAHAM, on leave given, called up House bill No. 1117, "An Act to abolish the office of sealer of weights and measures in Washington county;" which passed finally, and was sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Messrs. McCURDY and GALLEY moved to make the above act applicable to Cumberland and Fayette counties; which was agreed to.

Mr. ROHRER, on leave given, called up bill 380, an act relative to incorporated cemetery companies. The House resolved itself into committee of the whole. (Mr. SHEPPARD in the chair,) for the purpose of considering the same.

The bill passed committee of the whole, and was again read and passed finally, and sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. PEIRCE, on leave given, read an act to incorporate the Downingtown, Brandywine and Piqua railroad company.

Mr. BOYER, (of Schuylkill,) an act to regulate the standard weight of powder, in kegs; which, on his motion, was taken up, considered and passed finally, and sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. MEHAFFEY, on leave given, presented to the Chair the following bills, which were appropriately referred.

"A supplement to an act authorizing the canal Commissioners to investigate certain claims for damages, &c., and fixing the rates of toll to be charged by the Larry's Creek plank road company, approved the 8th day of April, 1851."

Also, "An Act construing the nineteenth section of an act regulating turnpike and plank road companies," approved the 26th day of January, 1849.

Mr. WALBORN, "A supplement to the act to incorporate the North Branch railway company."

Mr. FOSTER asked, but did not obtain leave, to offer a resolution, that the consideration of the Private Calendar be made the special order for to-morrow forenoon.

A message from the Governor was received and read. It is as follows:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, March 30, 1859.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN:—I return herewith to the Senate, where it originated, a bill, entitled "A further supplement to the act to incorporate the Harrisburg female seminary."

It is proposed by the bill under consideration, to exempt "the building and lot of ground, with the appurtenances, occupied by the Harrisburg female seminary, from taxation, so long as the same shall be used and occupied as such seminary."

The building and lot referred to, are private property, held by individual owners, and leased for the purposes of a seminary. To exempt such property from taxation is virtually to add the amount of the annual tax to its rental; but, were it otherwise, and were it certain that the passage of the bill would benefit the institution alone, public policy, in my opinion, forbids its enactment.

As a general rule, all private property in the State should be subject to taxation—and especially, when it is used for private purposes. If an exception be made, it should be general, and embrace all private property similarly occupied. To exempt this particular property from taxation, and to tax property used and occupied in like manner by others, would be unequal, and therefore unjust.

My views on this subject were communicated to the General Assembly at its present session, in returning with my objections a bill passed by the last Legislature, within ten days of its adjournment, entitled "An Act to exempt certain school property from taxation," to be found on the twentieth page of the Legislative Record.

Inasmuch as my views remain unchanged, I am constrained, by a sense of duty, to return this bill without the Executive approval, for re-consideration.

WM. F. PACKER.

Mr. GOEPP moved that the rules be suspended, and that the House resume the consideration of House bill No. 182. "An Act to confer on certain associations of citizens of this Commonwealth the powers and immunities of corporations and bodies politic in law, and to confirm charters heretofore granted."

Mr. GRITMAN called for the division of the question.

And on the question,

Will the House suspend the rule?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GOEPP and Mr. CHASE, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Barlow, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fleming, Goepp, Good, Gratz, Gray, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottentstine, M'Clure, Neall, Nill, Peirce, Price, Ramsdell, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Thorn, Walborn, Witman, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—44.

NAYS—Messrs. Barnesley, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Dodds, Foster, Galley, Graham, Gritman, Irish, Jackson, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, McCurdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Rose, Rouse, Smead, Stephens, Thompson, Wagenseller and Warden—33.

So the question was determined in the negative; two-thirds not voting in the affirmative.

GENERAL BANKING LAW.

Agreeably to order, the House resumed the consideration of Senate bill No. 18, "An Act to establish a general banking law."

Mr. NILL withdrew his motion to postpone indefinitely the further consideration of the bill.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment proposed by Mr. WALBORN—which was to choose the superintendent of the banking department in the same manner as the State Treasurer is now chosen.

Mr. WALBORN. I offered that amendment because I believed it to be the best and most peaceable way of electing a superintendent of banking. If, sir, this Legislature is allowed to select a man for that office, I believe there would be more fairness in the selection of a man of known financial ability for this very important post. If we allow this man to be elected by the people, there will be a continual scramble by every politician who desires the position, whether he has any financial talent or not. The Legislature would be more particular in the selection of this person than a convention, merely got together for this purpose, could be.

Mr. MILLER. I hope this amendment will not prevail. There is no better nor fairer way of electing any officer than by the people.

I think there is just as much danger of corruption and undue influence being used in the Legislature as in a political convention.

Mr. WILEY. When a certain bill, some weeks ago, was before the House, my colleague on my right (Mr. WALBORN) opposed that bill because it took from the hands of the people the election of certain officers. He is now advocating just the reverse of what he held at that time.

Mr. WALBORN. At the time to which the gentleman alludes, we were called upon to pass a bill providing for an appointment by the judges of the courts. I mean the appointment of the guardians of the poor. This is a different case from that. Here we are called upon to vest the power of appointment of a person, who shall have the distribution of a vast amount of money, in the Legislature; and I ask this House to determine that they shall take upon themselves that power.

The question on the amendment being put, it was not agreed to.

Mr. WALBORN moved to insert the words: "and the loans of the United States."

Mr. NEALL moved to insert the words: "and loans of the city of Philadelphia;" which was not agreed to.

Mr. GOOD. I hope this amendment will not carry. If it does, I will be forced to vote against the bill.

On the motion of Mr. WALBORN,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. FLEMING and Mr. GOOD, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Balliet, Barlow, Campbell, Chase, Church, Dodds, Fearon, Glatz, Goepp, Graham, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Mann, Mehaffey, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Miller, Palm, Patterson, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rose, Shafer, Sheppard, Smead, Styer, Thompson, Wagon seller, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wileox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston and Zoller—45.

NAYS—Messrs. Barnsley, Bertolet, Brodhead, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Good, Gray, Green, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, M'Dowell, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Peirce, Rohrer, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Warden, Wilson and Withrow—30.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. WILSON moved to amend in the thirteenth section to strike out the word "loan" and insert "debt."

The amendment was not agreed to.

The question recurring on the section as amended, it was agreed to.

Mr. FLEMING moved to strike out in the fourteenth section, the word "debt" and insert "loan;" which was not agreed to, when the section as amended, was agreed to.

In the twentieth section, Mr. THOMPSON offered the following amendment; which was agreed to:

That no person or association of persons, shall be permitted to commence or carry on the business of bankers, under this act, in the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburg, unless its capital stock shall be at least $250,000, nor in any other portion of the State, unless its capital shall at least be $25,000.

Mr. WALBORN moved to strike out the words "two hundred and fifty" and insert "one hundred;" which was not agreed to.

Mr. GOEPP moved to postpone the further consideration of the bill for the present.

Mr. WOODRING moved to postpone the bill indefinitely.

On the motion of Mr. WOODRING,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GRITMAN and Mr. WILCOX, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Balliet, Barnsley, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Burley, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eckman, Evans, Fearon, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Gray, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Mehaffey, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Nill, Oaks, Proudfoot, Rohrer, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stoneback, Stuart, Walker, Warden, Wigton, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow and Woodring—40.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Campbell, Chase, Church, Dodds, Ellmaker, Fisher, Foster, Good, Graham, Gratz, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Matthews, M'Clure, Miller, Neall, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Smead, Stephens, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Wagon seller, Walborn, Witman, Wileox, Wiley, Williston and Lawrence, Speaker—50.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring on the motion of Mr. GOEPP.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GRITMAN and Mr. IRISH, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Bryson, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eckman, Evans, Fearon, Galley, Goepp, Gray, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Mehaffey, M'Clure, M'Dowell, Nill, Oaks, Peirce, Price, Quigley, Rohrer, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stuart, Walker, Warden, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Woodring and Zoller—39.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Dodds, Ellmaker, Fisher, Foster, Glatz, Good, Graham, Gratz, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Mann, Matthews, Miller, Neall, Palm, Patterson, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Smead, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Wagon seller, Walborn, Witman, Wigton, Wileox, Wiley, Williston, Withrow and Lawrence, Speaker—53.

So the question was determined in the negative.

On the twenty-first section, Mr. SHEPPARD moved to strike out the amendment of the gentleman from Butler, (Mr. THOMPSON,) and insert the words—"to allow banking in the rural districts on one hundred thousand dollars;" which was not agreed to.

Mr. GOEPP. I have not yet heard any reason suggested, why any individual shall not be allowed, provided he possesses the requisite amount of stock, to do business in banking, upon just so much amount of capital as he desires. You allow him to deal in dry goods, and embark in any other business; yet, in this you say he shall not embark, unless he has a certain amount of capital. It is urged, on the other side, that a bank with twenty-five thousand dollars would not be a profitable concern. Let that be referred to the people. Men are not apt to embark in an unprofitable business; and if they find, that with a capital of twenty-five thousand dollars, they cannot make any profit, they will not be long engaged in it. If we are to have a free banking law, let us have it on the principle of supply and demand. I do not approve of these artificial restrictions which can only tend to restrict trade. This bill provides that any person who deposits United States stock may embark in this business. If this be so, then why not leave the individual embark in the business as he thinks best. Why should you restrict the man in straitened circumstances from engaging in this business, while his more fortunate neighbor may go into it, and make money out of it. There is another matter here which I do not understand, and about which, I would like to have information.

This section we are now considering, goes on to say, that the capital stock shall be paid in gold or silver coin, or their equivalent, and so on. I do not understand the clause, and frankly confess the fact. It is very unintelligible, and I would be obliged to the friends of the bill, to tell me if it means anything. You allow an individual to go into this banking business, and yet you tell him he must pay twenty-five per cent. of his capital. To whom does he pay it? There is nobody to pay it to but himself, and he might pay it to himself to his own satisfaction.

Mr. HAMERSLY. I rise just to suggest to the friends of this bill, they have not time to discuss it, and they should take a vote as soon as possible.

Mr. McCLURE. I desire simply to say, that while I shall vote for any well digested free banking law, I shall vote for no law that will allow a bank to be organized with a capital of less than one hundred thousand dollars. If this amendment does not prevail, I shall vote against the bill.

The question on the amendment being then put, it was not agreed to.

The section, as amended, was agreed to.

In the twenty-third section, Mr. THOMPSON offered the following proviso; which was agreed to.

Provided, That all notes presented for payment as aforesaid, by any person or corporation, at one time, or by any person for him or them, shall be included in a single protest: Provided, That the notary public making such protest, shall be allowed — cents for each note included in such protest, in addition to the fees now allowed for protesting a bill of exchange.

Mr. STEPHENS moved to amend, by offering the following proviso, to come in at the end of the forty-first section:

Provided also, That the provisions of this act shall only extend to those banks whose charters expire from time to time, and such other banks as the Legislature may see fit to establish, as the wants of the community may require; which was not agreed to.

The bill, as amended, was then agreed to.

And on the question,

Will the House suspend the rule and read the bill the third time by its title?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. EVANS and Mr. NEALL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Dodds, Fisher, Foster, Good, Graham, Gratz, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Matthews, M'Clure, Miller, Palm, Price, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Sheppard, Smead, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Walborn, Witman, Wileox, Williston and Lawrence, Speaker—43.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Bayard, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eckman, Evans, Fearon, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Gray, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Mehaffey, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Peirce, Proudfoot, Quigley, Rohrer, Shafer, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Wagon seller, Walker, Warden, Wigton, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow, Woodring and Zoller—47.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The hour of one having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

HOUSE—AFTERNOON SESSION.

The House was called to order at 3 o'clock.

Mr. PUGHE, on leave given, presented the following acts:

"An Act to incorporate the trustees of Jenkins township, Luzerne county."

"An Act to incorporate the trustees of the borough of Pittston, Luzerne county."

On motion of Mr. PRICE, Senate bill No. 475, "An Act to incorporate the Lancaster and Sunhill turnpike road company," was taken up and passed finally.

Mr. IRISH, on leave given, presented an act entitled "A supplement to the act erecting the village of East Birmingham into a borough."

Ordered to be placed on the Private Calendar. Mr. BARNESLEY, "An Act to authorize the

LEGISLATIVE RECORD.

FOR THE SESSION OF 1859.

No. 67

Auditor General and State Treasurer to re-examine the account of the Bustleton and Feasterville turnpike road company," and moved a suspension of the rules to consider the same; which was not agreed to.

Mr. BRYSON moved the rules be suspended, in order to proceed to the consideration of House bill No. 215, "An Act relating to the taking of depositions."

Not agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order, the House proceeded to the consideration of bills on third reading.

House bill No. 57, "An Act relative to Chat-ham and Tioga streets, Philadelphia," came up in order and was passed finally.

House bill No. 202, "Resolution relative to the payment of certain moneys into the State Treasury by the Manufacturers' and Mechanics' Bank of Philadelphia."

The question being,

Will the House agree to the motion to reconsider the vote by which said bill was passed? It was determined in the negative.

House bill No. 221, "An Act for the registration of births, marriages and deaths in the city of Philadelphia," came up in order and passed.

House bill No. 855, "An Act confirming the report of a re-view in Northumberland county," came up in order and passed.

Mr. M'CLURE moved that the vote had on the final passage of the above act be reconsidered. He was under the impression that its provisions were in direct violation of the law.

Mr. HOTTENSTINE said—

Mr. SPEAKER: In reply to the gentleman from Franklin, (Mr. M'CLURE,) I will say that the object of the passage of this bill is solely to confirm the report of the views finally and conclusive, for the reasons set forth in the preamble. And further, I would say, if I dare to believe the opinions of an able and experienced attorney, (Mr. Lawson,) of our county, that the court has power to vacate said road. And further, Mr. SPEAKER, I suppose the court would not have granted the re-view, did it not hold the same opinion. And, for the information of the House, I would state that the gentleman from Montour is correct, so far as relates to the act under which this road was laid out; but the first act relative to the same road in dispute, was passed in 1853, and the commissioners appointed in said act reported negatively. I would ask the gentleman from Montour, whether there are not now three roads running part of the way from Milton to Limestoneville, parallel, not more than two hundred and fifty rods apart at the farthest distance? and if I did not, on Friday previous to my reading this bill in place, tell him that some of my friends desired me to try to get said report confirmed by act of Legislature, on account of saving much labor and expense to the farmers living along said road, because the fences were merely temporarily made, and some fields entirely opened, and would not dare to do it until finally confirmed by the court, which could not legally take place until August term? And now, he certainly had two weeks time to get information, and prepare himself sufficiently for the final passage of the bill; and therefore he certainly ought not to complain that it was again sprung upon him to-day unexpectedly. And the people of my township are almost unanimously opposed to it; and if, to take the whole number of the citizens of our county, nine out of ten would be opposed to the road; and it is entirely located in our county, and therefore I hope will pass; and he has received petitions from Limestone township, Montour county, containing only one hundred and fifteen signers, not half (as I suppose,) the number of taxables of said township. Also, one from Milton, Northumberland county, containing one hundred and fifteen signers, not half the taxables of said borough, and not one, so far as I know, from the township in which I live, in which the road is entirely located. He is also correct that I am opposing it on account of the expense accruing to our county and township, and I think I am safe to say that it would cost our county three thousand dollars damages at the very lowest calculation, if the damages would be assessed as high in proportion, as has been the case heretofore, besides the cost of building fences and the making of the road.

Mr. OAKS said—

The gentleman from Northumberland, (Mr. HOTTENSTINE,) took advantage of my being absent on last Saturday morning, to spring this bill. It was, I may state, the only time that I was out of my seat during the session, and then only, because I did not believe that there would be a quorum in attendance.

Now, sir, an act passed at the session of 1856, appointing commissioners to lay out a road from Limestoneville, in Montour county, to Milton, in Northumberland county. The commissioners met agreeably to law and surveyed the road. The people of Northumberland county refused to open the road until last fall, when they were compelled to take action and open it.

Now, sir, the people of Northumberland county, had this matter before the Legislature at the two last sessions, and failed to get the law repealed, and now, sir, I hope that the House will not pass this bill.

The road laid out some sixty or one hundred years ago, will not answer the purposes of the present day. It is contracted and hilly. The farmers of our section raise large quantities of grain, which is transported to Milton, and the new road is necessary for their use.

The gentleman from Northumberland, (Mr. HOTTENSTINE,) has said that I signed a petition in favor of the road. This is true in a measure.

But the gentleman should have recollected that I was then in a different position from now. Then, I was merely a private individual. Now, representing a constituency equal, if not superior in intelligence to any in the State, I have other and higher duties.

I conclude with the hope that this bill will not pass.

The motion to reconsider was carried.

The question again recurring, Shall the bill pass?

It was determined in the negative.

Senate bill No. 122, "A further supplement to an act to view and lay out a State road in Lancaster and Chester counties," came up in order on final passage.

Mr. ACKER moved that the House go into committee of the whole for the purpose of special amendment, as follows:

That Amos S. Henderson, of Lancaster county, Jonathan Roberts and Archemedes Robb, of Chester county, be, and are hereby authorized, to audit the accounts of the commissioners named in the act to which this is a supplement, and ascertain and determine the sum or sums of money to be paid to them for work done under authority of the said act, and present to its directors; and that the supervisors of the townships through which the road passes, are hereby authorized to lay and collect a tax for the payment of the said sum or sums of money, the expense of said audit to be paid jointly by the parties interested.

Mr. ELLMAKER said—

Mr. SPEAKER: I believe I have occupied the time of this House about as little probably as any other member upon this floor, in the different debates that were had during the session; and, I must confess, I feel loath to trespass upon the time of the House now, at this important stage of the session.

But, sir, I believe I would be false to the position I occupy as a member of this body, as well as recreant to the duty I owe the Senator from Lancaster, (Mr. BALDWIN,) who is my immediate constituent, if I did not urge the immediate passage of this supplement.

Why, Mr. Speaker, the act creating these commissioners was urged and passed by citizens of Chester county alone, Lancaster county having no show or lot in the matter. Dr. Dickey, a man well known all over this State as one of the most distinguished citizens of Chester county, had charge of this bill, and through his instrumentality the bill became a law, passing this branch of the Legislature by a vote of 53 to 4.

I ask the attention of the House whilst I read a single section empowering these Commissioners to lay out and construct a State road, and also the supplement giving the power to the Commissioners to lay and collect a tax.

Now, Mr. Speaker, is it not plain that the original act contemplated that a majority of these Commissioners should lay and collect the taxes accruing from the making of this road? Yet, sir, from the fact that the word majority having been inadvertently omitted.

I ask, sir, would it be right, that the gentlemen from Chester should prevent the passage of this supplement, when all that is asked in the supplement is, that the majority should proceed to collect the taxes accruing from the laying out of this road? There can be nothing wrong in that—there can be no advantage taken in it. They require these accounts should be audited by the township auditors, who are elected by the people of the respective townships through which the road passed. Is not that right?

Why, sir, when this supplement was before the Senate, the able and distinguished Senator from Chester did not raise his voice against it. Is it not fair to presume that, if this bill was such an outrage upon the citizens of Chester county, that the Senator from that county would have been apprised of it, and endeavored to prevent its passage, through that body? But, sir, he understood no such thing; when asked concerning it, he said it was right.

Yet, sir, the gentleman from Chester would have us believe that this is an enormous outrage upon the rights of the citizens of Chester county. Why, they are responsible for the act. It originated with them, and through them these commissioners were appointed. And now, sir, they want this Legislature to let the commissioners father the expenses, after these commissioners have carried out their instructions from the Legislature. Is there a member upon this floor that would be so ungrateful as that?

Why, Mr. SPEAKER, the original act contemplated all that we ask in this supplement. Yet, sir, the gentlemen from Chester have persisted in retarding the passage of this supplement, with a pertinacity and zeal that would be worthier of a more righteous and holier cause. I hope, therefore, that the supplement will pass without amendment.

Mr. ACKER said—

Mr. SPEAKER:—This amendment is so manifestly right and just, that I do not think it necessary to enter into a discussion of the question; it will and must commend itself to the good sense of the House. Mr. Henderson is known to us all, as a gentleman of ability and integrity. Messrs. Roberts and Robb are equally respectable—live remote from the scene of contention, and would undoubtedly act impartially and fairly. And it seems to me, sir, that there must be something wrong in the accounts of the estimable gentleman who is urging this bill, if he fears this investigation.

Mr. SHAFER said—

Mr. SPEAKER:—The gentleman from Luzerne, (Mr. GRITMAN,) alleges that the people of Chester county refuse to pay the obligations that are resting upon them for the construction of this disputed road. Now, I would call the attention of the gentleman to the purport of the amendment submitted by my colleague, (Mr. ACKER,) which provides emphatically for the auditing and collection of this amount claimed by these commissioners. Now, if the claim is strictly fair, just and proper, why fear a candid and impartial investigation by the gentlemen here named; one being a prominent citizen of Lancaster county, and personal friend of the commissioners most interested in the passage of this supplement, and the other two gentlemen are entire strangers, and disinterested in this project. Now, this very refusal, on the part of the gentleman from Lancaster, to a proposition so fair and reasonable, throws around the claims of these gentlemen a slight degree of suspicion.

Mr. PEIRCE said—

Mr. SPEAKER:—I did not intend to make any further remarks on this bill. But the speech of the gentleman from Luzerne seems to make it necessary for some one to reply. Now, Mr. SPEAKER, I am at a loss to understand the great interest this gentleman seems to take in this matter. I can assure him that his speech proves conclusively that he misapprehends the whole question. The amendment offered by my colleague, is entirely clear of the objection brought against it. It is not in the least liable to the interpretation put upon it. The gentleman charges "that the people of Chester county are unwilling to pay for this road, now that these commissioners have it finished, although they are very willing to use it." The gentleman again proves that he knows nothing at all about this road. I can inform him that if he would visit our county and attempt to ride over this same road, he might find himself unable to do so, and be about in the same fix as one of the commissioners, who attempted to travel this great road, and stalled at the very first grade he came to. After this experiment, the gentleman from Luzerne could tell more about it, and then would have a right to be fully heard on this floor. The other gentlemen who have spoken on the same side, have failed to meet our amendment; they have failed to show wherein it would not be proper; but have satisfied themselves alone with charges against the people I have the honor in part to represent, because, forsooth, they ask but simple justice.

We made no charges against the gentlemen who represented our county in 1857, and who, it is stated, introduced this original bill. We are fully satisfied that they did what they believed to be their duty. But why is it that the commissioners named in that act are not satisfied with the original bill? They are the party who are complaining, and are not satisfied to stand by their agreement. It is them, and them alone, that come here year after year, asking and begging for additional legislation to get themselves out of difficulty. During the very session that the original bill passed, these same men had a supplement passed, giving themselves the right to lay and collect the tax. By that act the people are ready and willing to stand. We are not here asking for legislation to rid ourselves of those acts of the Legislature. By them we are willing to stand. Although every man will admit that this same bill and supplement are entirely too loose in their provisions; they give entirely too much power to these commissioners. We are not now about to complain, neither should these gentleman who voluntarily accepted to act under its provisions.

Mr. ELLMAKER desired to ask the gentleman from Chester a question. How would the matter have been if one of the commissioners had died?

Mr. PEIRCE. I can answer the gentleman very readily. The position of things, Mr. Speaker, would have been about as they are now. There would have been but two commissioners left. When one of the commissioners refused to act—which is the history of this case—the remaining two should have proceeded, in accordance with the provisions of the bill, and had the vacancy filled by the appointment of a third person. But, in direct violation of law, they proceeded to act. Therefore all this difficulty.

I assure you, Mr. Speaker, if this supplement does pass it cannot and will not accomplish the object these commissioners desire. It is well calculated to delay the settlement of this whole matter. The only way to settle the difficulty properly is to have the accounts of these men properly audited, as provided for in the amendment of my colleague. Nothing could be fairer than this, and I am surprised that any gentleman should oppose this mode of compromise. If this is to be voted down, as there seems to be a determination to do, and every other reasonable offer refused, all I have to say is, go ahead, gentlemen. You can never satisfy an honest community that your bill is right, or ought to be complied with. I am surprised that gentlemen on this floor should insist upon this unheard of mode of settling a difficulty. The idea that this difficulty between the tax-payers of West Calm and Sadsbury townships and the two commissioners is to be settled by leaving the whole matter to these two men, making them not only witnesses to their own case, but also judge and jury, is decidedly cool. Now, Mr. Speaker, I leave this whole matter, having done what I consider my duty in opposing this supplement, and am now willing to let those take the full responsibility who are determined to pass this thing.

Mr. NILL offered the following amendment, as a substitute for the amendment proposed by Mr. ACKER; which was accepted by that gentleman as a modification.

Provided, That the said commissioners, before proceeding to collect the tax, shall enter into a bond to pay over to the supervisors of the respective townships in which said tax is assessed, all moneys collected by them, over and above what is necessary to defray the expenses incurred in making said road; which was accepted as a modification, and the bill as thus amended was passed.

The bill as amended, passed finally.

"An Act to incorporate the Towanda and Wappasseva railroad company," came up in order.

On motion of Mr. KINNEY, Senate bill No. 685 was substituted for the same; which was passed finally.

"An Act relative to the expenses of collecting taxes in Fayette county," came up in order; and, on motion of Mr. GALLEY, postponed for the present.

"An Act to abolish the board of health of the city of Philadelphia," &c., came up; and, on motion of Mr. CHURCH, indefinitely postponed.

"An Act relating to the collection of State and county taxes in Luzerne county, and for other purposes," came up in order; and, on motion of Mr. KETCHUM, indefinitely postponed.

"An Act authorizing the widening and extension of Market street, Bloomsburg," came up in order; and, on motion of Mr. JACKSON, was postponed for the present.

"An Act to change the place of holding elections in Union township, Union county," came up in order; and, on motion of Mr. WAGENSELLER, postponed for the present.

BILLS ON SECOND READING.

"Resolutions relative to the granting of pensions to soldiers of the war of 1812," came up in order; and, on motion of Mr. THOMPSON, indefinitely postponed.

"An Act to increase the pay of jurors and witnesses in Northampton county," came up in order; and, on motion of Mr. GOEPP, indefinitely postponed.

"A supplement to the eleventh section of the act passed March 27, 1819," came up in order; and, on motion of Mr. FOSTER, postponed for the present.

"An Act repealing part of an act declaring Big Sandy creek a public highway," came up in order and was passed.

"An Act to authorize the judges of the several courts of common pleas of Pennsylvania, to reserve points of law and to order judgments of non-suit."

On agreeing to the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WILSON and Mr. NEALL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Bayard, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Burley, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Ellmaker, Foster, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Graham, Gratz, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Mann, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Nill, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Price, Quigley, Shafer, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stonehack, Thompson, Walker, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—45.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Campbell, Eckman, Fleming, Laird, Neall, Oaks, Rohrer, Rose, Shields, Wagenseller, Warden, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson and Withrow—16.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WAGENSELLER and Mr. WITHROW, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Bayard, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Durhoraw, Eckman, Fisher, Foster, Glatz, Goepp, Graham, Gratz, Hamersly, Hill, Irish, Jackson, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Nill, Palm, Price, Prondfoot, Quigley, Ramsdell, Shafer, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stuart, Styer, Thompson, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—45.

NAYS—Messrs. Campbell, Fleming, Galley, Good, Gray, Green, Laird, Neall, Patterson, Stephens, Stonehack, Wagenseller, Walker, Wigton, Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson and Withrow—18.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

"An Act declaring the streets and alleys in Roberts' addition to the borough of Cattawissa, in Columbia county, to be public highways," came up in order, and was passed.

"An Act releasing George S. Jamison, collector at Blairsville, from the payment of money due the Commonwealth," came up in order; and, on motion of Mr. WOODRING, postponed for the present.

"An Act erecting the counties of Clearfield, Jefferson and Elk into a new judicial district, to be called the Twenty-sixth," came up in order.

Mr. RAMSDELL moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. ROSE moved to amend by postponing the bill indefinitely.

On the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. CHURCH and Mr. WILCOX, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Balliet, Barlow, Bayard, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eckman, Fisher, Graham, Irish, Kinney, Mann, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Nill, Patterson, Peirce, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Smead, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walker, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson and Withrow—37.

NAYS—Messrs. Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Burley, Church, Ellmaker, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Goepf, Good, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, Neall, Oaks, Palm, Price, Proudfoot, Rohrer, Sheppard, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Walborn, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—46.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The motion to postpone for the present was not agreed to.

Mr. ROSE opposed the passage of the bill at some length.

Mr. M'CLURE set aside all political motives. Judge Burnside did not desire his district dismembered, neither did Judge White. Burnside did not sit six weeks in the year.

Mr. WILLISTON contended that there were already too many districts in the State.

Mr. RAMSDELL alleged that there were political reasons concerned.

Mr. KINNEY rose to reply to the gentleman from Mercer. The gentleman had appealed to the political prejudices of the majority of this House to vote down this bill. He regretted that an attempt should be made to create or annihilate a judicial district on political grounds, and he would assure the gentleman that it was the very last argument that would induce him to vote against the district. The attempt to annihilate the Wilmot district last winter had been referred to as a precedent. He had too much respect for the high-minded Democrats holding seats on this floor, who had the courage to denounce that political outrage last winter, to now strike a blow at their contemplated district on political grounds. He should probably vote against the bill, but it would be because it is unnecessary, and not because it would result in placing a Democrat on the bench.

Mr. BARLOW entered his protest against the measure.

Mr. BOYER, (Clearfield,) said—

Mr. SPEAKER:—It is, of course, with extreme reluctance, that I now rise to claim, even for a few moments, the indulgence of this House, for I had intended, after the few remarks on the question to postpone this matter indefinitely, to submit the question to the House, purely on the merits which it wears on its face, and trust to the magnanimity of the House for its decision, rather than detain it by anything like argument, in support of this proposed new district; but the many broadsides which it has received from gentlemen on this floor, urges the necessity of my saying something in reply to the gentlemen who have deemed it their duty to assail this bill in the manner they have been pleased to do. My friend from Mercer, in his zeal to redress certain political grievances, is certainly very unkind in his strictures upon the causes which, in his opinion, actuate the friends of this bill, and I have only to say that they never have, and never will, neither here nor elsewhere, consent to make this a party question, however much he may insist upon characterizing it as such. The gentleman from Franklin, in his feeling of opposition to this measure, appears to forget the statistical part of this question, as it was called to his attention on a former occasion, during the present session; for he again commits the error of classing this as the smallest district in the State, when he, no doubt, well knows that facts prove the contrary.—It is needless for me to again reiterate what I have already on a former occasion said, that instead of making this the smallest district in the State, as that gentleman represents, it will have some three or four under it, while it still leaves the Tenth district, from which it takes Elk county, with ten thousand and four hundred taxable inhabitants; and leaves the Fourth district (which is Judge White's district,) still larger than the Twenty-sixth, &c, instead of its now being the smallest in the State, as the gentleman from Franklin, (Mr. M'CLURE,) would have us believe. To the gentleman from Centre, who enters his protest against having Clearfield stricken off from Judge Burnside's district, I have only to say that we desire to enter our solemn protest to remain any longer attached to Centre county. Judicially, our interests are entirely at variance with each other. As a people we have little or no communication. The Allegheny mountains, which run directly between us, cuts us off from all intercourse of a business character with the people of Centre county. Theirs is strictly an agricultural county, while ours is a lumber county; and consequently, our interests cannot be identical, as they should be, to preserve harmony between us.—Of the people of Centre county, I say nothing, for I know nothing about them; but this I do know, and that is, that the people in my county desire to be stricken off from Centre county, and to have this new district made.

One word, sir, with reference to the proposition of the gentleman from Franklin, to relieve Judge McCalmont from the arduous duties which his large district imposes on him, which is to strike off Forrest from his, (Mr. McCalmont's) district, and attach it to Judge White's, and Jefferson to Judge Burnside's. Now, sir, in regard to the labor of Judge White's district, I know nothing; but so far as Judge Burnside is concerned, the proposition is simply absurd; for in our county we get (either through Judge Burnside's piety or something else, for he will not travel on Sundays,) about fourteen days court in the year. This, I am told, is a very liberal estimate, for the Judge never reaches Clearfield (our county seat,) until Monday evening, and not unfrequently until Tuesday afternoon, and the courts almost universally adjourn on Friday noon; thus rendering it impossible almost to give the business of our courts that attention which they require at the hands of the presiding officer, although it must be admitted that Judge Burnside possesses great legal ability, and is unusually prompt and expeditious in the discharge of the business of the courts.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I appeal to the good sense of this House, to its integrity and dignity, to suffer no partizan considerations to influence members in casting their votes on the final passage of this bill, but to meet the question fairly and candidly, consider its merits—for it really has merit—and then if they cannot cast their votes in favor of the bill, I, at least, will feel no reason for complaint. We do not ask this district from partizan motives, nor do we ask it on account of the heavy population which the district contains, for it must be admitted that there are many larger districts in the State, where the business of the courts are discharged with the utmost dispatch, and where no delay occurs only such as through the uncertainty of the law are unavoidable; but what our district lacks in population it makes up in area of miles, and this is what causes the great inconvenience and consequent delay in the business of our courts; for with the facilities we have for traveling, and the great distance from one place of holding courts to another, together with the kind of roads to be traveled over, it is utterly impossible for our judges to give the legal business of the district that attention which they should, and this is why we ask this new district, and I sincerely hope the magnanimity of this House will grant us this humble request.

Mr. CHURCH considered that politics should not be brought into the question. He favored the bill.

Discussion further ensued between Messrs. ROSE, M'CLURE, RAMSDELL and CHURCH.

Mr. M'CLURE moved that the House go into committee of the whole for the purpose of striking out Elk county; which was not agreed to.

Mr. RAMSDELL moved to go into committee of the whole for the purpose of striking out Jefferson county; which was not agreed to.

On the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. ROSE and Mr. WILCOX, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Burley, Church, Evans, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Goepf, Good, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, Neall, Oaks, Price, Proudfoot, Rohrer, Sheppard, Shields, Stephens, Styer, Walborn, Warden, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—38.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Fearon, Fisher, Graham, Gratz, Harding, Irish, Ketchum, Kinney, Mann, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Nill, Palm, Peirce, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Smead, Smith (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stoneback, Stuart, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walker, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow and Zoller—51.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. HOTTENSTINE said—

My reason for voting for the new judicial district was because the gentleman from Mercer, (Mr. ROSE,) who acknowledged that he had brought in a bill at the last session for the same purpose, and was defeated, and it seemed to me that his violent opposition was somewhat tinged with retaliation, or else he should not have referred to the few Democrats who voted against indefinite postponement, impugning their motives as being purely politically; which I, for one, positively deny, because able arguments have been made for and against the bill by members of his own party.

Mr. M'CLURE moved that the House reconsider the vote by which the House approved of the report of the committee relative to the expenses in the contested election case of the Third representative district, Philadelphia.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

A motion was made by Mr. M'CLURE, that the same be postponed for the present.

Mr. GOEPP asked, but did not obtain leave, to introduce a resolution, that bills in which the House has made progress be the first thing in order this evening.

On motion of Mr. QUIGLEY, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until this evening at 7 o'clock.

HOUSE—EVENING SESSION.

The House re-assembled at 7 o'clock.

Mr. M'CLURE asked and obtained the unanimous consent of the House to have returned to him for correction the report of the committee (approved by the House) on the expenses of the Third representative district contested election case.

Mr. FOSTER, on leave given, introduced "An Act, entitled 'A further supplement to an act to incorporate a company to erect a bridge over the Allegheny river opposite Pittsburg.'"

On his motion, ordered to be placed on yesterday's Calendar.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) on leave given, from the Committee on Banks, reported as committed, "An Act to authorize the Auditor General to cancel any balance standing open against the Lebanon Bank in his office on dividends of said bank."

On motion of Mr. ECKMAN, ordered to be placed on yesterday's Calendar.

Mr. KETCHUM, on leave given, from the Committee on Railroads, reported with a negative recommendation, "An Act to require the Little Schuylkill coal navigation and railroad company to fence their road, for the protection of property in Schuylkill county."

On motion of Mr. GRATZ, the House resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. WILEY in the chair,) on Senate bill No. 275, "An Act to authorize the execution of processes in certain cases in equity, concerning property within the jurisdiction of the court or defendants not resident or found therein."

The bill was read and passed committee of the whole.

The bill being before the House on second reading,

Mr. NILL moved the postponement of its further consideration for the present; which was not agreed to.

The bill passed to third reading, and being on final passage, on motion, the further consideration was postponed for the present.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented a message from the Governor; which was read, as follows, viz:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, March 29, 1859.

WM. F. PACKER.

On motion of Mr. IRISH, the House concurred in Senate amendments to House bill No. 576, "A supplement to the act to incorporate the Western transportation company."

On motion of Mr. THORN, the House took up, and passed finally, Senate bill No. 399, "An Act requiring railroad companies to make uniform report to the Auditor General."

SPECIAL ORDER.

Agreeably to order, the House proceeded to the consideration of bills, which were made the special order for this evening.

Whereupon, the House resolved itself into committee of the whole (Mr. IRISH in the Chair,) on House bill No. 333, "An Act to prevent frauds at elections," as follows:

WHEREAS, The purity of the ballot-box is indispensable for the security of the rights and the free and full expression of the will of the people:

And whereas, Experience has clearly demonstrated that gross frauds are practiced at elections in this Commonwealth, destructive alike of the morals of our citizens and the stability of our institutions; therefore, to suppress such alarming evils, tending to the overthrow of free government; therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That in elections, by the citizens of this Commonwealth, no person shall be entitled to vote, who, having been an alien, has not been naturalized, in conformity with the laws of the United States, at least six calendar months before the election at which he offers to vote, and who is not otherwise qualified, according to the constitution and laws of this Commonwealth.

SEC. 2. That as the only evidence that such alien has been naturalized as aforesaid, he shall produce a certificate thereof, under the seal of the court where such naturalization took place, made out and dated at least six calendar months before the election at which he offers to vote, except such person shall have resided in the ward, district or township, for ten years or upwards next preceding such application to vote, which residence must be known to at least one member of the board of election officers; in which case the oath of such applicant shall be prima facie evidence of such naturalization.

SEC. 3. That it shall be the duty of the inspectors of elections, on the production of such certificate as aforesaid, to examine the same; and on the request of any qualified voter present, who is known as such, to require the evidence by the oath of a known qualified elector, that the applicant to vote is the identical person named in such certificate of naturalization, and to note the name of the person who makes such oath on the list of voters.

SEC. 4. That the inspectors of elections shall not permit any person so naturalized as aforesaid, to vote without the production of such certificate as evidence of his right to vote, save he has resided in the district ten years, in accordance with the provisions of section second, when they may receive evidence by oath as is therein provided.

SEC. 5. That it shall be the duty of the inspectors, on the production of such certificate as aforesaid, and the examination thereof, carefully to retain and keep the same until twelve o'clock meridian of the next day succeeding such election, when, or as soon thereafter as can be conveniently done, such certificate shall be restored to the owner thereof, unless in the meantime an affidavit should be made by a qualified elector before some alderman or justice of the peace, that there is just reason to suspect that such certificate of naturalization is forged, or has been fraudulently obtained or used at such election; in which case it shall be the duty of the inspectors to retain the said certificate until an investigation can be made, or in case of a contested election or criminal prosecution in relation thereto, until the same can be produced in evidence therein.

SEC. 6. That no person, otherwise duly qualified, shall be permitted to vote unless he produce a receipt for the payment of State or county tax within two years, and give satisfactory proof by his own oath, or that of another, that he has paid such tax; and if the said tax is a personal tax or assessed on personal property and paid within twenty days immediately preceding the election at which he offers to vote, he shall produce the receipt for the payment of the same with such satisfactory evidence as aforesaid; on failure to produce a receipt in the case of a tax on real estate, or paid more than twenty days before such election, he shall make oath to the payment thereof.

SEC. 7. That it shall be the duty of the inspectors, on the production of the receipt for such personal tax so paid, within twenty days immediately before such election, to examine and carefully keep the same until twelve o'clock meridian of the day next succeeding such election, when, or as soon thereafter as may be convenient, they shall return the same to its proper owner, unless in the meantime an affidavit should be made before an alderman or justice of the peace that there is good ground to believe such receipt to be false, fraudulent or forged, or that the same was fraudulently used at such election, in which case it shall be the duty of the said inspectors to retain such receipt and produce it in evidence in case of contested election, or criminal prosecution.

SEC. 8. That it shall be the duty of the collector of taxes or other officer entitled by law to receive taxes, to whom a personal tax or tax on personal property is paid which would entitle the person paying the same to vote at any election in this Commonwealth, to express on the face of his receipt for the same, when such tax is paid, within twenty days of the time of such election, the place of residence of the person so paying such tax, and, if in a city, the name of the street or alley, and the number of the house, and, if the house is not numbered, the name of the cross street nearest thereto, with the name of the township, ward, precinct or district in which he is entitled to vote; and it shall be the duty of such tax collector or officer to keep a book or register, in which he shall enter such tax so paid, the name of the person paying, and the district in which he is entitled to vote, with the name and number of his house, if he resides in a city; and he shall, on demand of any citizen, furnish a copy of any entry therein on payment of the sum of one cent for every ten words therein contained; and no person who has paid such tax, being otherwise qualified, shall be entitled to vote in any other district or precinct than that so expressed in the said receipt, unless he has bona fide changed his residence to another election district or precinct, so as to have become entitled to vote therein under existing laws.

SEC. 9. That it shall be the duty of the inspectors of election in each and every ward of the city of Philadelphia, when they meet as is now provided by law, for the purpose of adding to the list of taxable inhabitants prepared by the assessor, the names of such citizens as are constitutionally qualified to vote, carefully to inquire whether the person who asks to have his name so added to the said list is constitutionally qualified to vote; and for that purpose they shall require the same evidence as is herein required, and as is required by existing laws to prove at the general election that the person so applying is qualified to vote; and it shall furthermore be their duty when they so add the name of a citizen so constitutionally qualified as aforesaid, to give him a certificate thereof, in which it shall be stated the ward and precinct, the name of the street or alley, and the number of the house, if the house has such number, or in case the house has no number, the name of the nearest cross street to the house in which he resides, which certificate such citizen shall produce when he offers to vote on such extra assessment, and without which evidence his vote shall not be received at such election; and the said certificate shall, on being so produced, be retained and restored by the inspectors for the time and in the manner as is provided for the receipt for the payment of personal tax as aforesaid.

SEC. 10. That it shall be the duty of the court of common pleas or any judge thereof, upon the application of ten citizens, alleging, under the oath of one or more, that they are apprehensive of frauds in any election district, to select and authorize at least three persons to be present with the officers of the election, in such district, during the election for which they shall be so selected, and at the preparation of the tally paper, and while the said officers are making out and signing the returns of such election; and the persons so selected, shall keep a list of the voters voting thereat, noting thereon whether the voter was challenged or objected to or not; the reason of such challenge or objection, and the name of the witness examined; and it shall also be lawful for either of the persons selected, as any other citizen might do, to object to a person offering to vote, and to require the investigation of such objection; and the officers of such election in such election districts, are required to afford to the persons so selected and authorized, every convenience and facility for the discharge of their duty; and if the said officers shall refuse to permit the persons selected and authorized as aforesaid, to be present and perform the duties aforesaid, such refusal shall be evidence of fraud in conducting said election, in such district, and shall be sufficient to set aside the same; and the persons so selected shall be paid the same amount and in the same manner as is now provided for the payment of the judges and inspectors of elections.

SEC. 11. That if any officer or officers, required to perform any duty or duties, by the provisions of this act, shall neglect or refuse to discharge the same, he or they so offending, shall be deemed and adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor in office, and on conviction thereof, shall be fined any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, and undergo an imprisonment, in the discretion of the court, for a period of not less than thirty days nor more than one year.

SEC. 12. That the provisions of this act shall be, in addition to the existing laws for the regulation and conducting of elections, except where the same are herein altered or supplied.

The first section of the bill was read.

Mr. GRITMAN moved that the committee rise, report progress, and ask leave to sit again; which was agreed to; and the committee rose.

On the question,

Shall the committee have leave to sit again?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. NEALL and Mr. QUIGLEY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Durhoraw, Evans, Fearon, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Goepf, Gritman, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Nill, Oaks, Quigley, Rohrer, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Warden, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) and Woodring—36.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Barnsley, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Church, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fisher, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, McDowell, Miller, Neall, Patterson, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rose, Shafer, Sheppard, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wiley, Williston, Wilson, Withrow and Lawrence, Speaker—44.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The bill being before the House on second reading,

Mr. GRITMAN moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

On the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GRITMAN and Mr. EVANS, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Burley, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Evans, Fearon, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Goepf, Graham, Gritman, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Ketchum, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, M'Dowell, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Pughe, Quigley, Rohrer, Rose, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stuart, Thompson, Thorn, Walker, Warden, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow, Woodring and Zoller—47.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Bryson, Campbell, Church, Durhoraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Gratz, Green, Harding, Keneagy, Kinney, Mann, Matthews, M'Clure, Neall, Patterson, Peirce, Proudfoot, Ramsdell, Shafer, Sheppard, Styer, Walborn, Witman, Wiley, Williston and Lawrence, Speaker—31.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. KENEAGY said—

I am giving my vote against the postponement of this bill. I desire to say here, as no other opportunity was afforded me, that the necessity of the times seem to demand a speedy and prompt action, upon the part of the Legislature of the State, to insure to the people those just and impartial rights, guaranteed by the Constitution to them, in the exercise of the elective franchise.

I feel, also, by insisting upon action being taken in this bill, that I am performing a duty which I owe to my constituents, and to the people of the State of Pennsylvania.

I do so, without wishing to urge any party principle or measure, without any sinister or political motive, and with the firm conviction that the great mass of the bona fide citizens have demanded, and are now demanding some such thing as a registry law, or other device, which shall prevent frauds at elections, and purify the elective franchise.

The House having refused, therefore, to permit this bill to have a hearing at this time, and at this late day of the session, I view it is tantamount to a refusal of its import, and here record my dissent from its action, believing that I have discharged my duty, fully and fairly, in bringing the matter before it.

Agreeably to order, the House resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. EVANS in the chair,) on House bill No. 129, "An Act securing to the people of Philadelphia the right of free travel over certain highways," as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That it shall be lawful for a majority of the freeholders owning real estate fronting on the whole or any section of any turnpike or plank road within the city of Philadelphia, such section being nearest the paved highways of said city, to petition the councils thereof to declare the same to be taken as and for one of the streets of said city; and within thirty days thereafter, it shall be the duty of said councils by ordinance, to declare that such turnpike or plank road so far as within the city limits, or for such section as may be next the paved streets as prayed for, shall be taken and used as, and for one of the streets or highways of said city; but the same shall not be taken possession of by the city authorities, until the damages therefor shall be assessed and paid.

SEC. 2. That immediately after the passage of such ordinance, it shall be the duty of the court of quarter sessions of the city and county of Philadelphia, either to appoint six disinterested commissioners, or to cause viewers to be drawn, as in case of ground taken for roads or highways, as may be prayed for in the petition, to assess the damages; and such commissioners or viewers, or a majority thereof, shall proceed forthwith to assess the value of such turnpike or plank road or section thereof within said city, according to its actual and fair value to the corporation owning the same; and the proceedings and report of said commissioners or viewers, or a majority of the same, shall be made to said court, under the general laws in force in said city as to highways, and he subject to the action and powers of said court in all respects as in other road cases, and the damages be in like manner paid by the said city: Provided, That in estimating the value of such turnpike or plank road or section thereof, regard shall not be had to the original cost thereof; but the present actual value to the corporation owning the same, after deducting such sums as would be necessary to keep the same in thorough and complete repair, shall alone be considered and assessed.

SEC. 3. That if the corporation owning said turnpike or plank road shall for three months next after the date and publication of such ordinance, neglect to present their petition for the assessment of the value or damages aforesaid, it shall be lawful for any twenty of the freeholders as aforesaid to present a petition for said purpose to said court, giving ten days' notice of such presentation to the corporation owning said turnpike or plank road, and to the city solicitor.

SEC. 4. That it shall be the duty of said city councils to provide for the payment of said damages within ninety days after the same shall have been assessed and reported to the court; and the corporate authorities of said city are hereby authorized to borrow from time to time, on the faith of the city, such sum or sums as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this act.

SEC. 5. That it shall not be lawful for any passenger railway company heretofore or hereafter incorporated, to use any portion of any turnpike or plank road so taken possession of by the authorities of said city, until they have filed in the office of the city solicitor their written obligation to comply with all the ordinances of said councils regulating passenger railways; and that all laws or parts of laws inconsistent herewith, be and the same are hereby repealed.

Mr. THORN moved to amend the first section, by striking from the eighth and ninth lines the words "it shall be the duty" and the word "to," and insert after the word "councils," the word "may;" which was agreed to.

And the section as amended was agreed to.

The fourth section was amended by Mr. THORN, after the word "reported," in the third line, the words "and approved by;" which was agreed to.

Mr. GRATZ offered the following new section, which was agreed to:

"That no passenger railway company now incorporated, or which may hereafter be incorporated within the space of five years from the passage of this act, shall use or occupy for railway purposes, any turnpike or plank road, within the city of Philadelphia, which may be declared a public highway in accordance with the provisions of this act, without first paying into the treasury of said city one-half the sum or sums of money which the said city may have paid to the said plank road or turnpike company, as the damages assessed under the provisions of the second section of this act."

The bill having been gone through with, the committee rose, and the Chairman reported the same with amendments.

The bill being before the House on second reading.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to amend the first section by restoring it to its original form.

Mr. HAMERSLY. I would say in regard to that amendment, the people of the rural districts are satisfied to do what the gentlemen from the city are opposed to doing. We are willing to pay for any of the turnpikes which shall be occupied by our passenger railways, and make no objection to that amendment.

Mr. SHEPPARD said—

I hope the amendment will not prevail, and the section adopted as reported by the committee of the whole. The object of the section as amended is to allow the councils to purchase these turnpikes and plank roads if they see proper. But I think we should not pass an act here to compel them to purchase these roads.

Mr. HAMERSLY said—

Mr. SPEAKER: It is not my intention at this late hour of the session, and when every member of the House is anxious to have his own bills considered, to intrude upon its time and patience by any lengthy remarks. The question before the House is plain and simple, and is so fully explained by the bill itself, that the necessity for this, I trust, does not exist. This bill simply proposes to open a way for the authorities of the city to carry out the implied pledges of consolidation, to perform an act of simple justice to the rural districts, which have been subjected to all the disadvantages arising from consolidation, without reaping a single advantage in return, except the empty honor of residing in the city of Philadelphia. The bill before the House, Mr. Speaker, does not contemplate that the city shall purchase all these roads at once, but it provides a gradual method for the accomplishment of this very desirable end. Now let us look at the facts of the case. The whole length of turnpikes and plank roads in the city is something less than one hundred miles. A fair estimate of the value of those roads, based upon the dividends at present declared, would not exceed two thousand dollars per mile, making in all two hundred thousand dollars. The interest upon this sum would be twelve thousand dollars. The assessed value of the real estate in the city is about one hundred and sixty millions of dollars. A tax of eight cents on each thousand dollars of this valuation would yield a sum sufficient to pay the interest on the two hundred thousand dollars, which is assumed to be the cost of purchasing these roads; or, if the city should decide to pay the whole cost of the purchase at once, a tax of one dollar and twenty-five cents on each one thousand dollars of the valuation of this real estate would be sufficient for the purpose. Now supposing that it would cost the city three hundred dollars per mile to keep their roads in repair, it would add thirty thousand dollars per annum to the original cost, which a tax of twenty cents on each one thousand dollars would be more than sufficient to pay. Thus to purchase their roads and keep them in repair, a farmer in one of the rural districts, whose property is assessed at five thousand dollars, would have to pay a tax of some five or six dollars, instead of the twenty or thirty dollars which many of them are now compelled to pay every year, while the greater portion of the former tax would occur but once.

This, Mr. Speaker, is the true aspect of the question, and I appeal to this House to say whether there is anything unreasonable in our demands. Since the consolidation act was passed, our taxes have gone on increasing from year to year, until they are nearly doubled in many parts of the rural districts. We have had to shoulder our share of the large debt of the city, although the rural districts were comparatively free from debt at the time they were embraced within its limits. While the people of the rural districts are taxed to pay for keeping in repair the streets of the old city, over which its citizens are allowed to pass free of toll, we find turnpike gates intercepting our progress over all our own highways, and we cannot even drive into the city to pay our taxes, without submitting to the demands of the toll-gatherer. In the district which I have the honor to represent upon this floor, toll-gates are located in the very heart of the late boroughs of Germantown and Manayunk, interposing a barrier to trade, and restricting the intercourse between friend and friend. All that we ask, Mr. Speaker, all that this bill proposes to do, is to place us upon an equality with our neighbors in the old city. There is surely nothing unreasonable in this, and I am greatly surprised that a proposition, which must commend itself to the judgment of every member of this House by its justice and fairness, should meet with such violent opposition from our city friends. But I will detain the House no longer. I have an abiding confidence in the justice of the majority of this House, and I feel assured that they will vote with us to carry out a measure which, while it will do no injustice to any one, will add greatly to the prosperity of all. Pass this bill, Mr. Speaker, and remove the barriers which separate us from our city brethren—promote social and business intercourse between town and country—throw open our highways to all who choose to travel over them, and in a few years the increased valuation which you will thus give to real estate in the outer districts will more than compensate you for all its present cost.

Mr. WALBORN. I beg leave to ask the gentleman whether the property in the rural districts is charged at the same rate of taxation as in the built up portions of the city?

Mr. HAMERSLY. The same rate of taxation is charged in two-thirds of my district, as is charged in the district in which the gentleman, (Mr. WALBORN,) resides. We have our taxes almost doubled, as we cannot travel a half mile, without paying toll, and I cannot see why we should not be placed on the same footing with the citizens living in the heart of the city, when we pay the same amount taxes.

Mr. THORN. My colleague says there are about one hundred miles, and says they will cost about two thousand dollars per mile.—That depends upon circumstances, and those circumstances are not prescribed in this bill.—He has failed to tell you, however, how much it will cost to keep that hundred miles in repair for one year. I will now ask the gentleman, as he has investigated the subject, how much he thinks it would cost per mile, to keep those plank roads and turnpikes in repair per annum?

Mr. HAMERSLY. I would answer the question of my colleague, if I thought it at all necessary it should be done. The streets in the city of Philadelphia are kept up, no matter what the cost per mile may be, by the city, and the obligation upon them to keep up our streets is just the same.

Mr. THORN. The explanation of the gentleman is, of course, satisfactory to me, and quite as intelligible to the House. It is estimated that it costs about twelve or fourteen hundred dollars per year per mile, to keep in repair a paved avenue. It is believed it costs per mile per year about three hundred dollars to keep in repair plank roads and turnpikes.—There would have to be paid, in case this bill becomes a law, three hundred dollars per mile per year for one hundred miles for keeping this road in repair. Now there would be two hundred thousand dollars to be paid, and it might just as well, under the provisions of this bill, be two millions. Now I am afraid to ask for what purpose, because, then, my friend from Bucks, (Mr. WILLIAMS,) might vote against my proposition, as he cannot come, without paying his little five cents, into the middle of the city of Philadelphia with his load of hay; but that is not the question at issue here.

The point is simply this: The act of consolidation authorized the councils to purchase and make free all the plank roads, turnpikes and bridges within the limits of our city. Now here is a proposition to compel the city councils, within one single day, to purchase the whole of these roads and pay for them, and the gentleman knew well when he drew up this bill, that those councils had not the power to do such a thing.

Much has been said lately, about the paltry privilege of borrowing money to pay these corporations, but not a single word is said about realizing taxes that they must pay to the Commonwealth for this privilege of making public highways. I admit, that the people in the rural districts might, occasionally, when they rode into the city of Philadelphia, save five or ten cents. My friend here, and another there, will serve the wishes of their immediate constituents, by making the city of Philadelphia, in its corporate capacity, pay for the avenues constructed for their benefit; at the same time, sir, they make the city of Philadelphia pay for the gas pipes that are laid in these places where they live. They have the police protection, and the city pays for it. The territory is so sparsely settled, that nobody can travel on foot, or from one house to another, without protection; therefore, the police have to be on horses. All this the city of Philadelphia has to pay for, and yet these gentlemen are still asking for more.

Now, sir, I do aver, at least I think I am right in what I say, that out of the whole delegation in this House, there are just three members in favor of this proposition. And I ask this House, or the majority of it, (for I am now for a single moment, speaking politically.) to say, will they now fasten upon the city of Philadelphia, within one single month, that is, should these people in the rural districts choose to petition the city councils, another debt or an addition to the present debt of one million of dollars at least; because, the keeping in repair of these roads, and the original purchase together, is far above what I have stated—a million of dollars. The provisions of this bill make all its turnpikes and plank roads, streets for all time hereafter. No matter what the surveys of the city may now be, or intended to be, this bill takes from the councils of the city of Philadelphia any power, except that which may be given them by act of the Legislature, to vacate or change any of these crooked or triangular plank roads and turnpikes, that may exist in the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. HAMERSLY rose to explain, and read a few lines from the bill in question, and said, they, of course, are liable to all the ordinances in regard to plank roads.

Mr. THORN. I do not care further to discuss this question. I would simply state that this is an attempt, not precipitately—because this bill has been before us for sometime—to make the city purchase all these plank roads and turnpikes. If the House of Representatives choose to fasten this debt upon the city, I cannot help it. I wash my hands clear of the responsibility; but I do not believe the House will consent to pass the bill.

Mr. WILEY said—

Mr. SPEAKER: The bill under consideration is one in which I, in common with a large majority of my constituents, feel interested. I have the honor of representing a large rural district of the city of Philadelphia. A district through which pass several turnpikes and plank roads upon which toll is now charged. The bill before us provides for the purchase of all these roads, in the consolidated city, by the councils of Philadelphia, of the different companies and corporations owning the same, at a fair and reasonable valuation, to be made by commissioners to be appointed by the court for that purpose; and that when these roads or any portion of them shall become the property of the city, they or such portion shall be made free to all who may travel over them, as is the case in the more densely populated parts of Philadelphia. Previous to the act of consolidation, and before the city and county were united in one municipal government, we of the rural districts were willing and satisfied to pay toll in passing over these turnpikes and plank roads; for then it was right and just that we should do so. We made no complaints, and had no claims upon any authority to purchase and make them free for travel. But, sir, since consolidation, we do contend that it is but equal justice to us all, as Philadelphians, that these roads should be the common property of Philadelphia, and as such be exempted from toll, the same as are the other streets of our beautiful city. At the time when that matrimonial alliance of city and county was urged upon us so powerfully; when the friends of that measure used every argument in their power to persuade us to forego our objections to consolidation; when they portrayed in eloquent terms the many and great advantages we were to receive from it, among other reasons it was said that these roads were to be made free, and these ugly toll gates, which are a nuisance, were to be torn down. But, sir, what has been the result? We have waited several years for the fulfilment of this promise, but thus far we have waited in vain; and now we ask of this Legislature as a right, and not as a favor, the passage of this bill, which is designed to accomplish the object, and place us upon an equality, to a certain extent, with our city friends. Before consolidation, the rural portions of the now city of Philadelphia were separate and independent in their local affairs and in their government. We apportioned, collected and expended our own taxes. We kept in repair our own roads, streets, footways, &c. The money thus collected by taxation, was judiciously applied for these and other purposes, and we were generally out of debt, and usually had money in our treasuries. After consolidation, we were of course under common municipal government. The county had to assume with the city her debt; we become liable for her debts, and we expect to have to assist in paying them. And yet, when we come before this Legislature for what we conceive to be our rights, as country Philadelphians, we meet with opposition from those who are individually benefited, as well as the constituency they represent, on account of the union of city and county under the same government. It is all very well; it is all right and proper that we should help to pay debts we never contracted; but, sir, when we ask that comparatively a small burthen should be divided among us, we are told that we must bear it alone. It is urged by my friend, Mr. THORN, as an objection to the passage of this bill, that the people of the rural districts are not taxed as heavily as those residing in the thickly settled portions of the city. I admit that a portion of my district is released from a certain proportion of taxation; but, sir, the majority of the citizens of that district are taxed at the same rate as those who live in the heart of the city; and further, sir, many of them pay for what they never receive. The inhabitants of the village in which I reside, when I am at home, have been, and are at this very time, paying for gas to light up the streets of that town, and there is not now, nor never has been, a gas lamp within a mile of the place. It is true, as has been stated by my colleague, (Mr. CHURCH,) that some three months ago, city councils did, through the persevering efforts of our members of that body, give us some fluid lamps, and they are like angels' visits, few and far between, and are consequently of but little use. Now, must we be contented with this kind of treatment? And must we have injustice added to injustice, when we come here and merely ask for so reasonable a measure as is contemplated in this bill. It was, sir, the oppression produced by unequal taxation which caused our brave forefathers to resist British rule; and we, I trust, having some of the same kind of the blood in our veins, and the same spirit in our souls, if we do not rebel against our wrongs, we will at least demand, so far as this bill is concerned, that our rights shall be respected. Now, as it regards the expense of purchasing these roads, I will call the attention of the House for a moment to this point. It is correctly stated, I believe, that there are one hundred miles of turnpikes and plank roads, in the aggregate, in the whole of the rural districts. It is also estimated, and I think truly, that two thousand dollars per mile would be a just and fair valuation for them, and hence, according to this calculation, the whole amount incurred by the purchase would be two hundred thousand dollars. A small sum, certainly, for the great and growing metropolis of Pennsylvania, with her one hundred and sixty or seventy millions of taxable property. The way we in the rural districts are situated is simply this: We are compelled to travel over these roads frequently, in our ordinary pursuits of business. Farmers, in going to and returning from market with their produce, must pass through the unpleasant task every few miles of stopping along the way and pay toll,—certainly a very great inconvenience, especially when the weather is cold, stormy and disagreeable, to say nothing of the expense which is incurred during the course of a year. Many persons also who do business in the city, have their residences in the country, the warm months of the year, and are obliged to travel over some of these roads in passing to and from Philadelphia. They may be paying high taxes in the city, and likewise in the country, on their property, and yet they must be taxed over again in the way of toll, as well as be subjected to the trouble and delay on their journey. When we get within certain distances of the city of Philadelphia, we find the streets open and free to all who wish to travel over them. We can ride all day long over the streets of the queen of American cities, without charge; and this is all right and proper and just. We would not have it otherwise. But where is the justice in us having to pay toll because we happen to be a little more unfortunate in living at a greater distance from the State house than our neighbors? There is no justice or equality in this. We are a part of Philadelphia, and we should all have the same privileges and rights; we ask for nothing more, and we will submit to nothing less, I assure you, if we can help it. We already pay our share of the taxes to carry on the municipal government, and we are willing also to pay our proportion of the expense which will be incurred from the buying of these turnpikes and plank roads; and I do think that it is no more than fair and equal, that this should be made one common debt of the whole consolidated city, and that not a part should be compelled to pay the whole cost of keeping up these roads, besides paying the companies dividends. I know that the financial affairs of the city are not in a flourishing condition. I know that it is necessary to practice all the economy in our power in reference to her situation in this respect. I should be as much gratified as any gentleman upon this floor or in that city, to see our debts paid and our treasury full, and I hope the day will soon come, when such happiness will be realized; though I must confess, that I fear it is not yet near. But, sir, I believe that this is an economical measure. It is a fact, if I am not very much mistaken, that many persons of Philadelphia are driven over to New Jersey to seek homes, because of this road tax; men of means, whose money would be very acceptable to our own citizens, if kept in circulation at home among them; and I think it is well for us not to lose sight of this matter in our contracted views of economy. Mr. Speaker, in my humble opinion, there is not a measure before this Legislature, with more justice to commend it to our support than this one. There is not a single objection that ought to be urged against it. It is a shame and disgrace to a city like Philadelphia, with improvements extending in all directions, with her enterprising spirit of progress in every thing appertaining to greatness; with her present and future prospects of superiority, to have her roads and streets tramelled and obstructed with toll and toll gates. I believe it will not only redound to her honor, but to her advantage, if this bill becomes a law. We live too late in the day to be old fogies. The march of improvement is onward, and let us be careful that we throw no obstacles in the way. I appeal to this House, to consider well the merits of this act; and then, if in the judgement of the members of this body, it is not conceded to be a just measure, I, as one of the friends of the bill, will submit cheerfully to its defeat. But, sir, I believe that this is a proper and equitable measure, and as such, I trust will receive the united support of this Legislature. I would reply to the arguments of my friend and colleague, (Mr. THORN,) but they have been ably answered and confuted by my other colleagues, Mr. HAMERSLY and Mr. ABBOTT, the first of whom introduced the bill into this House. I thank gentlemen for their kind attention and patience during this somewhat long and tedious discussion, and in conclusion have only to say, that I hope they will give their cordial support to this bill.

Mr. THORN. I have to say a single word more on this question, but before I do say it, I would like to ask the gentleman, last up, (Mr. WYLIE,) how far the most remote portion of his district is from the State House?

Mr. WILEY. I would state that it is about fifteen miles.

Mr. THORN. So I thought. Now, I will venture to say, sir, that I can come from the most remote portion of his district to the heart of the city of Philadelphia, by avoiding the turnpike, without paying one single cent. I will allege that I can come from the district of the other gentleman, (Mr. HAMERSLY,) without paying a cent. But then, forsooth, speculators and others have built turnpikes and plank roads, and now these gentlemen come here and ask that the city shall buy them all out. How much of the gentleman's (Mr. WILEY'S,) district, pays as much tax as we do?

Mr. WYLIE. Two-thirds of that district pay as much tax as do the people of the city.

Mr. THORN spoke for a short time longer in defence of his position.

Mr. HAMERSLY. I will not detain the House longer, except merely to say, that, as this bill is so manifestly fair, its principles so just, that I hope the House will not fail to pass it.

Mr. THORN. For the purpose of testing the sense of the House on this question, I move the further consideration of this subject be indefinitely postponed.

Further debate took place between Messrs. ABBOTT, GRITMAN and THORN.

On the motion to postpone indefinitely,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WILEY and Mr. QUIGLEY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Evans, Fleming, Galley, Goepp, Graham, Gratz, Gritman, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Ketchum, Matthews, M'Clure, Neall, Oaks, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Rohrer, Sheppard, Shields, Smead, Stephens, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Walborn, Wilcox and Lawrence, Speaker—38.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Dodds, Durbarow, Eckman, Fearon, Foster, Green, Hamersly, Keneagy, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, McCurdy, McDowell, Miller, Nill, Patterson, Peirce, Ramsdell, Rose, Smith, (Berks,) Stuart, Walker, Warden, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Woodring and Zoller—42.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. THORN moved that the further consideration of the same be postponed for the present.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WILEY and Mr. QUIGLEY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Chase, Dismant, Evans, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Gratz, Gray, Gritman, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Matthews, Neall, Oaks, Pughe, Quigley, Rohrer, Sheppard, Shields, Smead, Stephens, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Walborn, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—36.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bertolet, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Church, Custer, Dodds, Fearon, Foster, Graham, Green, Hamersly, Keneagy, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Nill, Peirce, Proudfoot, Ramsdell, Smith, (Berks,) Stuart, Wagenseller, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson and Zoller—40.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment of Mr. HAMERSLY?

Mr. QUIGLEY moved that the House do now adjourn.

And on the question,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAMERSLY and Mr. FOSTER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Chase, Church, Dismant, Evans, Gray, Harding, Hill, Jackson, Keneagy, Matthews, M'Clure, Miller, Neall, Oaks, Palm, Peirce, Pughe, Quigley, Rose, Sheppard, Shields, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Walborn, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—34.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Burley, Campbell, Custer, Dodds, Eckman, Fearon, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Goepp, Graham, Green, Hamersly, Hottenstine, Irish, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, M'Dowell, Nill, Patterson, Proudfoot, Ramsdell, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stuart, Wagenseller, Walker, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow and Zoller—43.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. CHASE moved that, for the purpose of considering the business on the SPEAKER'S desk, the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. FOSTER moved to amend as follows: "That the House postpone the further consideration of the bill in order to proceed to the consideration of House bill No. 1132, 'An Act relating to the taking of testimony in contested election cases of members of the General Assembly;'" which was subsequently withdrawn.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved that the further consideration of bill No. 129 be postponed, and that it be the first thing in order on Friday morning next.

Mr. SHEPPARD moved to amend by extending the time to next Tuesday evening.

Mr. HAMERSLY here called the previous question; which was sustained.

And on the question,

Shall the main question now be put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. QUIGLEY and Mr. THORN, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Dodds, Eckman, Fleming, Galley, Graham, Green, Hamersly, Irish, Keneagy, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) M'Dowell, Nill, Smith, (Berks,) Stuart, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Woodring and Zoller—41.

Stuart, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams (Bucks) Wilson, Withrow and Zoller—31.

NAYS—Messrs. Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Evans, Foster, Glatz, Goepp, Gratz, Gritman, Harding, Hill, Jackson, Ketchum, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Neall, Oaks, Palm, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rose, Sheppard, Smead, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Walborn, Warden, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—39.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the SPEAKER'S amendment?

Mr. LAWRENCE, (of Washington,) moved that the House do now adjourn.

And on the question,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. FOSTER and Mr. PATTERSON, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Balliet, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Chase, Church, Dodds, Evans, Fearon, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Green, Harding, Hill, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, M'Clure, Miller, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Proudfoot, Quigley, Rose, Sheppard, Smead, Stuart, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—56.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Custer, Foster, Goepp, Gritman, Hamersly, Irish, Kinney, M'Curdy, McDowell, Pughe, Rohrer, Smith (Berks,) and Zoller—18.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Senate amendments to House bill No. 1253, "Supplement to an act to incorporate the Philadelphia City passenger railway company," were read.

Mr. NEALL moved that the further consideration of the question be postponed for the present.

Not agreed to.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) moved that the House concur in the Senate amendments.

And on the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. QUIGLEY and Mr. NEALL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Barnsley, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Eckman, Evans, Fearon, Fleming, Glatz, Goepp, Graham, Gray, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rohrer, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Withrow, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—61.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Church, Foster, Gratz, Harding, Irish, Neall, Nill, Quigley, Rose, Warden, Wiley and Williams, (Bucks,)—14.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On motion, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until to-morrow morning at nine and a half o'clock.

Mr. SCHELL, (same,) with a negative recommendation, Senate bill No. 1008, "An Act authorizing the investigation of the claim of Dennis McDonnell."

Also, (same,) as committed, House bill No. 807, "An Act for the relief of Thomas Bridgens, collector of the military tax for the borough of Lock Haven, in Clinton county, for the year 1856."

Mr. CRAIG, (same,) as committed, House bill No. 460, "An Act authorizing the appointment of commissioners to examine and adjust certain claims, et cetera."

BILLS IN PLACE.

Mr. WRIGHT read in his place and presented to the Chair, a bill, entitled "A further supplement to the act consolidating the city of Philadelphia."

Mr. PENNEY, "A further supplement to the act to facilitate the transportation of coal and coke boats over the Monongahela navigation, and to incorporate the marine insurance company."

Mr. BALDWIN, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Quarryville and Unicorn turnpike road company."

Also, "An Act to incorporate the Lampeter and Bridgeport turnpike road company."

Mr. KELLER, "An Act for the relief of the military companies of the third brigade of the eighth division of the Pennsylvania militia."

ORIGINAL RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. BLOOD moved to reconsider the vote on the final passage of House bill No. 36, "An Act relating to costs in certain cases."

The motion was seconded by Mr. FETTER, and agreed to.

Consideration of the same was postponed for the present.

On motion of Mr. PALMER, the Senate resumed the consideration of House amendments to "An Act supplementary to the several acts relative to the Dauphin and Susquehanna coal company."

Said amendments having been read,

Mr. PALMER moved to strike out the proviso to the first section, inserted by the House of Representatives, and insert the following in lieu thereof:

Provided, That the purchasers of said property shall pay all debts incurred by the said company for materials used in the construction and repair of said property and wages due for labor.

The amendment was agreed to, as also the bill as amended.

On motion of Mr. PALMER, the Senate reconsidered the vote on the final passage of Senate bill No. 161, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Greenwood cemetery company of the borough of Tamaqua," which had been returned by the Governor, in compliance with the request of the Senate.

The bill being again before the Senate,

Mr. PALMER moved to amend the second section, by adding a proviso to the effect that the exemption from taxation should be restricted to lots sold and dedicated to burial purposes solely; which was agreed to.

And the bill as amended passed finally.

Mr. RANDALL, from the committee of conference, on Senate bill No. 150, entitled "A further supplement to the act consolidating the city of Philadelphia," made a report; which was read, and, on motion, adopted.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented a message from the Governor, which was read, as follows, viz:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, March 31, 1859.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN: The bill, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Mont Alto iron company, is herewith returned, without the Executive approval, to the Senate, where it originated, for re-consideration.

The object of the bill is to incorporate a company for the purpose of manufacturing iron, with a capital of five hundred thousand dollars, to be located at Mont Alto, in Franklin county.

The bill is objectionable in many of its features: such as the limited individual responsibility of the stockholders; the long postponement of the payment of the bonus to the State; but the principal objection consists in the special character of the proposed legislation.

Under the general manufacturing law, approved April 7th, 1849, ample provision has been made for the incorporation of companies to manufacture iron; and there is, consequently, no necessity for a special act of incorporation for such a purpose. It is believed that the general law is, in the main, well adapted to promote the interests of those who desire to associate together, under a corporate name, to carry on manufacturing or mining operations, while, at the same time, in some degree at least, its provisions are calculated to protect the community at large from losses likely to arise from business transactions with corporations whose individual members are not personally liable to make good its contracts and engagements. If, however, the general law is defective, it will afford the Executive great pleasure to unite with the other branches of the law making power in extending, amending, or regulating its provisions, in such manner as to render it acceptable to those desirous of investing their capital in the business of mining or manufacturing in this Commonwealth. A resort to special legislation, instead of improving the general law, is certainly not to be encouraged.

In stating my objections to this species of legislation, I have but to reiterate what I have heretofore said to the General Assembly in returning similar bills for reconsideration. I therefore repeat, that where a bill is confined to a single locality, or is limited in its application to a particular company, it is not likely to receive at the hands of the Legislature that consideration which is given to a general bill; and consequently it often happens that powers are granted which should be withheld, and restrictions omitted which ought to be imposed. As each corporation has a law of its own, there is neither uniformity nor equality in what is conferred, or what is prohibited. Hence that which one corporation may do with impunity, is expressly forbidden to another of the same character. Another evil grows out of the defective machinery provided for the practical operations of companies organized under special laws.—Frequent occasion is thereby given for supplementary acts, which fill our statute books, although of no public interest, and occupy a large portion of the time and attention of the General Assembly and the Executive. It is a public grievance that so much of the time of these several departments of the government should be diverted from the performance of other important public duties, and consumed upon acts of this character. If it were necessary to suffer these acknowledged evils, for the purpose of securing a greater good to the people of the Commonwealth, then it might be proper to submit to them without a murmur. But it is not necessary. All the benefits to be derived from associated capital may be secured by a law general in its provisions, extending equally over the entire State, and applicable to every citizen desiring its advantages.

But aside from this, my firm conviction is, that the evils attendant upon granting corporate powers and privileges for manufacturing and mining purposes, are nearly, if not entirely, equal to the benefits to be derived from that source. That individual capital, and individual enterprise, under the restraints of individual liability, are fully competent to the successful prosecution of those industrial pursuits has been clearly established by the experience of the past.

And upon that capital and that enterprise mainly rest our hopes of success in the future.

Entertaining these views, I have deemed it my duty to withhold the Executive approval from the bill under consideration, and all others of a similar character.

WM. F. PACKER.

The bill was then read.

And on the question,

Shall the bill pass notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

The SPEAKER, agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, ordered the yeas and nays; which were as follow:

YEAS—Messrs. Coffey and Gazzam—2.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Blood, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Harris, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Ratherford, Schell, Seofield, Shaeffer, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Welsh, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—26.

So the question was determined in the negative, and the bill fell.

The Governor also returned, without his approval, "An Act to incorporate the Ario iron company," and referred the Senate to the objections contained in the veto message above, as equally applicable to this bill.

It is as follows:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, March 31, 1859. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN:—I herewith return to the Senate, in which it originated, a bill, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Ario iron company," without the Executive approval.

Having stated my objection to a similar bill, somewhat at length, in a message to the Senate and House of Representatives, of this date, returning without my approval, the bill, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Mont Alto iron company," I respectfully refer you to that communication for my reasons for declining to approve of this bill.

WM. F. PACKER.

The bill was then read.

And upon the question,

Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

The yeas and nays were ordered, and are as follow:

YEAS—Messrs. Coffey, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Myer, Parker, Shaeffer and Schindel—8.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Palmer, Schell, Seofield, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—19.

So the question was determined in the negative, and the bill fell.

Mr. COFFEY. I wish to give my reasons for for the vote I am about to cast. I am compelled, on this bill, as I was on the last one, to differ from the Governor. Since I have had the honor of a seat in this body, I have uniformly voted for these acts incorporating companies for the manufacture of iron and the development of the resources of the State. I am perfectly aware that the Executive differs as to the propriety of this principle, not only with myself, but with other gentlemen in the Senate. I do not know why we should not now vote as we did on the passage of the bill. I was as well aware then of the necessity of this act as I am now, and I cannot help expressing my surprise that gentlemen who voted to incorporate a company of this kind, should now, because of a difference of opinion between them and the Executive, change their views. I cannot stultify myself in that manner, and therefore vote aye.

"An Act to incorporate the Eastern iron company," was likewise returned by the Governor, without his approval. The objections are the same as in the message above. It is as follows:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, March 31, 1859. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN:—I herewith return to the Senate, in which it originated, a bill, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Eastern iron company," without the executive approval.

Having stated my objections to a similar bill, somewhat at length, in a message to the Senate and House of Representatives of this date, returning without my approval, the bill, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Mont Alto iron company," I respectfully refer you to that communication for my reasons for declining to approve of this bill.

WM. F. PACKER.

The bill was read.

Upon the question,

Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Executive?

The yeas and nays were ordered by the SPEAKER, agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution.

They are as follow:

YEAS—Messrs. Coffey, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Parker, Shaeffer and Schindel—8.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Blood, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Palmer, Schell, Seofield, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—19.

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the bill fell.

The Governor returned, without his approval, "An Act to incorporate the East Danville iron company," and referred the Senate to the reasons above given. The message is as follows:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, March 31, 1859. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN:—I herewith return to the Senate, in which it originated, a bill, entitled "An Act to incorporate the East Danville iron company," without the Executive approval.

Having stated my objections to a similar bill, somewhat at length, in a message to the Senate and House of Representatives, of this date, returning without my approval, the bill, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Mont Alto iron company," I respectfully refer you to that communication for my reasons for declining to approve of this bill.

WM. F. PACKER.

The bill was read.

And upon the question,

Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

The yeas and nays were taken, as follow:

YEAS—Messrs. Coffey, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Myer, Parker, Penney, Shaeffer, Schindel and Thompson—11.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Keller, Marselis, Nunemacher, Palmer, Schell, Seofield, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—16.

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the bill fell.

A message from the Governor was received and read.

It is as follows:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, March 31, 1859. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN:—A bill has been presented for my consideration, entitled "An Act to widen the eastern extension of Third street, in the town of Bloomburg, Columbia county."

The bill authorizes the supervisors of the township of Bloom, in the county of Columbia, to widen the eastern extension of Third street, in the town of Bloomsburg, so as to make the same thirty-three feet in width, in accordance with a certain report filed in the court of quarter sessions of the peace in Columbia county, on the 5th day of December, 1855.

The power to authorize the supervisors of Bloom township to widen the street named in this bill, unquestionably exists in the court of quarter sessions of Columbia county. If it be proper to widen the street, that court will undoubtedly make the necessary order for that purpose, upon a proper application; but if, in view of all the facts bearing on the question, the court has refused to grant the order, I am clear that the Legislature ought not to interfere. I have invariably declined to approve bills of this character, where the remedy could be obtained at the hands of the proper local tribunals. The bill is therefore returned to the Senate, where it originated, without my approval, for re-consideration.

WM. F. PACKER.

The bill was read.

And on the question,

Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

The SPEAKER ordered the yeas and nays; which were as follows:

YEA—Mr. Keller—I.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Schell, Scofield, Shaeffer, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Welsh, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—24.

So the question was determined in the negative, and the bill fell.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, }
Harrisburg, March 31, 1859. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

GENTLEMEN:—I have approved and signed the following acts of the General Assembly, viz:

On the 30th inst., "An Act for the election of an additional constable for the township of Brady's Bend, in the county of Armstrong."

"An Act to incorporate the White Marsh and Cheltenham turnpike road company."

"An Act declaring Potts run, in the county of Clearfield, a public highway."

"An Act to revive the charter of the Lancaster, Lebanon and Pinegrove railroad company."

"An Act authorizing the laying out of a State road leading from Schroyer's Gap, in Clinton county, by way of McCall's Mills, in Union county, to Spruce Gap, in Union county, to intersect the Kuegler road, in said county."

"An Act relative to supervisors in Perry county."

"An Act for the better securing the payment of the wages of labor in certain counties of this Commonwealth."

"An Act to incorporate the trustees of the Synod of the German Reformed Church, in the United States."

"A further supplement to the act incorporating the Duncannon, Landisburg and Broad Top railroad company."

On the 31st: "An Act to incorporate the Berks county association for the improvement of the breed of stock."

"Supplement to an act to incorporate the Philadelphia City passenger railway company, passed 26th March, 1859."

"An Act authorizing the commissioners of Washington county to pay certain moneys to William Greenfield, of said county."

WM. F. PACKER.

A communication was received from the State Superintendent of common schools and read.

It was ordered to be printed in the Record. It is as follows:

PA. DEPARTMENT OF COMMON SCHOOLS, }
Harrisburg, March 31, 1859. }

Hon. JOHN CRESSWELL, Jr.,

Speaker of the Senate:

SIR: In reply to the resolution of the Senate of the 30th inst., requesting me "to inform the Senate what amount of money was paid to County Superintendents during the last school year, and what amount, in my opinion, will be required for this year," I have to state that the sum of $38,604 was paid to County Superintendents, on warrant from this Department, for their salaries for the last school year, and that the same amount will be required for the ensuing year.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

H. C. HICKOK,

Superintendent of Common Schools

Mr. MYER, by the unanimous consent of the Senate, called up Senate bill No. 495.

Said bill, after being amended, passed committee of the whole, and lies over.

Agreeably to order the Senate resumed the consideration of the appropriation bill in committee of the whole, (Mr. WRIGHT in the Chair.) The question being upon the amendment offered by Mr. BELL, as the fifty-third section, viz: to make an appropriation of two thousand dollars to the Pennsylvania Colonization society.

Mr. COFFEY moved to amend the amendment by striking out the word "free."

Mr. BELL. I am not going to enter upon an examination of a vexed question of this kind, that has agitated the public mind so painfully and disastrously. I know, sir, that that portion of the bill before the Senate proposes to give the Colonization society an appropriation. The objection I have to the amendment of the gentleman from Indiana, is, that it will effect nothing, because it looks indirectly, if not directly, to the undermining of the laws passed by the Congress of the United States, in pursuance of the Constitution of the United States. This subject has been exhausted here and elsewhere. It is, therefore, not necessary that I or any other Senator should enter upon an argument of the question. The Senators have probably all made up their minds as to how they shall vote. I do not think this Legislature, or any other organized body, has any right to pass directly, or indirectly, any legal provision which has for its object the nullification of the laws, or the denial of their legal operations. I object to the Legislature of Pennsylvania adopting any amendment or provision which would seem to indicate upon its face, a desire to deny to the Federal government the right of passing laws, which the Constitution delegates to them the power to do, or even impliedly to say, we are willing to sanction anything which would discourage a spirit of obedience to the due execution of those laws. This is a position in which I think a majority of the Senate will sustain me.

Mr. FRANCIS. It is not my intention to detain this body by discussing this matter. It is apparent to every man how the issue is about to be determined, and what will be the result of it. I can only say I deeply regret its defeat. I heard with profound amazement the speech that was made yesterday relative to the Colonization society, its aims and objects, and I would say with regard to that, I did not believe one word of it, because there was not a semblance of truth about it, so far as the avowed purposes of the Colonization society are concerned. That society, with all the sneers that have been thrown at it, here and elsewhere, has done a work that is the glory of the nineteenth century. There is no society I know of, that has, with the same amount of means, accomplished half as much good as this one. There is no organization, with ten fold the means and resources of this one, for disseminating the light of Christianity and civilization, that has accomplished—and I only speak now so far as my own knowledge goes—one tithe of the results that have been accomplished in Liberia. Now, sir, it would be a very easy matter to go over the whole theme. I have been acquainted with it from my boyhood. I have cherished it. Why? Because I was opposed to the emancipation of slaves? Because I wanted to bolster up slavery in the South? No, sir; every feeling of my heart revolts against that cruel, wicked system. Sir, I see, as you see, and every man sees, that there is not in this broad land, one descendant of Ham who is a free man to-day. Nor can they be free, I apprehend, on the soil where they once were slaves. Why is it that this poor black race must continue to be a degraded people among us? Is there a free colored man in Pennsylvania? You call them free; but the very word you apply to them is a sore mockery in the face of their degradation. There was a time when you gave them some of the rights that approximated to those belonging to freemen. Do you grant them those rights now? No, sir; the very rights which our fathers contended for, and successfully, too, against the power of Great Britain, the simple principle of taxation without representation.—Is there a colored man in Pennsylvania who has a voice in these halls?

The SPEAKER. The chair would call the attention of the gentleman to the fact that the amendment of the gentleman from Indiana is before the House.

Mr. FRANCIS. I want to be very brief, and therefore I will come directly to the consideration of the amendment. You may remember, Mr. Speaker, this scheme was got up by a few christian philanthropists in the State of New Jersey. It has been baptized by the tears of christian men, and put in operation by their bounty. They have sent out to the Colony of Liberia, over twelve thousand emigrants of mixed colors, as my friend from Bradford has said; over one-half of the number were slaves, who went out to that country where they could be permitted to enjoy the rights of freemen.

I favor this proposition, though not an abolitionist in the technical sense of the word.—We should not advocate the fostering of slavery by the State government, as it has been fostered by other State governments.

Mr. MYER. I would ask the gentleman what he means by saying he is not an abolitionist in the technical sense of the word?

Mr. FRANCIS. I regard an abolitionist as one who would dissolve the ties connecting master and slave and turn them loose upon the community without any wise or adequate provision being made for their support, and without any reference to the interests and well-being of either.

And, I repeat sir, I am in favor of taking immediate measures to break every yoke and let the oppressed go free. I believe my position to be the true one, and I wish to state it fully. That colony on the southwest coast of Africa is not only free. I submit to you that the communications of their Executive would do credit to the man who occupies the White House at Washington. Many of the documents from the Executive of that colony would do credit to any Executive on earth. They not only have there all the paraphernalia necessary to a government, but they have under their control some two hundred and twenty thousand natives. They are in direct alliance with other tribes, and are extending the arts of civilization and the blessings of christianity; and holding out to their oppressed fellows, in this land, a prospect of bettering their condition, and thus inducing them to remove thither.

Look at the action of all our States on this question. They not only are hostile to the colored race, but are passing laws forbidding a person of color to come within their borders. It was only this winter that the State of Missouri had a gigantic scheme before the Legislature, which passed the lower House, and perhaps, the Senate. It read thus: that every colored man found within the bounds of the State, on or after a given day in 1860, should be sold into perpetual bondage. You may get up railroads, be they underground or overground, as many as you please of them, but you never will do anything permanent for the black man, until you give him a "local habitation and a name." It is his political position that degrades him. His color may operate against him, but no more so than the color of you or I might in a foreign country.

Restore these men to their proper positions, and you have done something permanent for their good.

The Pennsylvania Colonization society that is here asking for your alms, cannot send out slaves direct from here, but they can send them from other States to countries where they will be free.

The gentleman continued a short time longer in further remarks, and concluded by saying—"I know, sir, that the hand-writing is on the wall. You will not grant this appropriation. I regret it sincerely; for it is time we should do something for this long neglected and much injured race."

Mr. GAZZAM. Just as the Senator from Lawrence (Mr. FRANCIS) rose to address the Senate I was called out to the lobby. On my return, I was informed, by more than one Senator, that in his opening remarks he made use of expressions in relation to my remarks, which would tend to leave an unpleasant feeling. My object in rising is to ask that Senator to repeat those remarks.

Mr. FRANCIS. the remarks I made on this whole matter were wholly impromptu. In regard to what I stated about the remarks of the Senator from Allegheny, I said I thought they were unguarded, and though I did not believe scarcely a word of them to be true, yet I saw the gentleman was mistaken in his position.

Mr. GAZZAM. I desire the Senator to explain what he means when he says he cannot see any truth in my statements. Whether there was no truth in the facts alleged, or whether my ratiocination was fallible. I take no offence; but if there was any personal impeachment of my veracity I wish to know it.

Mr. FRANCIS. I said, sir, I regretted the fact that that Senator was arrayed against this measure. My position was that the premises, he assumed, which were that the Colonization society was got up to foster southern institutions, was an incorrect premise, and consequently the reasoning from that incorrect premise was also wrong.

Mr. GAZZAM. I have no objections to the gentleman's remarks. He is not correctly informed in regard to the origin of the Colonization Society. It was formed by southern gentlemen.

Mr. GAZZAM further explained the whole subject, referring to the remarks of the gentleman from Lawrence (Mr. FRANCIS) and defining his own position.

The amendment to the amendment was not agreed to, and the question recurring upon the amendment, it was negatived.

Mr. TURNEY offered the following as a new section—the fifty-third—which was adopted: for the payment of the balance due Jacob Ziegler, late a Clerk of the House of Representatives, twelve hundred and two dollars and thirty-six cents, as ascertained by the Auditor General on settlement.

Mr. MILLER proposed an additional section, appropriating one dollar for each copy of Burrow's School Journal, to be furnished to each school district in the Commonwealth.

Mr. SCHAEFFER forwarded a copy of a letter from Henry C. Hickok, Esq., superintendent of common schools, recommending the School Journal, addressed to himself. After the letter being read by the Clerk.

Mr. SCHAEFFER said—

This school journal has received the commendation of every school superintendent in the State. There is no saving by voting down this appropriation, because each and every one of the sixteen or eighteen hundred school districts in the State would doubtless continue their subscriptions. It matters not whether this appropriation should come from the districts or more directly from the coffers of our State Treasury. There is a saving in keeping up and supporting this School Journal, on account of the postage that would be saved by advertising in this journal instead of writing letters. This is an important consideration, and is a strong argument in favor of the section.

We are now acting on a precedent, and I think no member here will make a break in the general custom by voting down this appropriation.

Mr. GAZZAM said he would vote for the proposition as a matter of economy, and demonstrated the benefit accruing if the measure was adopted.

Mr. FRANCIS said he did not know whether he would oppose the proposition or not, and thought it would be of benefit to the State to have an organ of the kind proposed.

Mr. MILLER said it was necessary that the cause of education in this State should have an organ; that this system at this time was just in its infancy, and needed the fostering care of the Commonwealth to perfect it. He favored the proposition, and concluded by saying he was not in favor of unnecessary appropriations, but when a wise and most-needed expenditure was called for, he was ashamed to allow any small considerations to prevent its appropriation.

Mr. TURNEY said, as it had been alleged, as an argument in favor of this appropriation to the School Journal that it disseminated the decisions of the Legislature, he would say that that was done in a more effectual manner by a dissemination of a compilation of the laws. He continued—we have that work here, and I think it is an admirable one, and should be distributed over the State. The publication of those decisions and laws in this Journal, which I happen to know is very little read, would be of very little account. I would state another fact: I have had occasion to notice that this Journal contains personal laudations of particular schools and particular superintendents of schools of the aristocratic branch of society. Now, it was stated, by some one here, who advocated the continuance of this system, that one of the controlling reasons that should induce the Legislature to perpetuate this institution, was that it disseminated effectually, useful and needed information to the people. If that is designed to mean the laws, we have another vehicle by which we can communicate to the public at large, and that is by the pamphlet laws.

The amendment was not agreed to.

Mr. MYER offered a new section providing for the purchase of one hundred and fifty—at $10 each—copies of Rogers' and Johnson's geological map of the United States and British Provinces of America, for the use of the members and heads of department.

The section was not agreed to.

On motion of Mr. SCHINDEL, a new section—the fifty-fourth—was added, which appropriates $10 to each of the women regularly employed in both Houses, as a compensation for extra services in sweeping and cleaning.

The fifty-fifth was read as follows, and adopted:

SEC. 55. That the Auditor General shall not allow any account presented for settlement by any of the officers of the several institutions named herein, and to which appropriations have been made, unless the same shall be attested by the oath of the superintendent or other principal officer that the same is correct, and was expended for the items set out in the bill, and that the same was contracted for on the most favorable terms.

Mr. BELL moved to reconsider the vote on the adoption of the eleventh and twelfth sections respectively, for the purpose of amendment; which was not agreed to.

Whereupon, the committee rose, and the chairman reported the bill with amendment.

On leave given, Mr. BELL (Judiciary) reported, as committed, "A further supplement to the act regulating lateral railroads."

Mr. FRANCIS (from the Committee to Compare Bills) made a report; which was read.

The hour of one having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until this afternoon at three o'clock.

SENATE—AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Senate was called to order by the SPEAKER at 3 o'clock, P. M.

Agreeably to order, the Senate resumed the consideration of the appropriation bill.

The first section was agreed to.

The second being before the Senate,

Mr. FRANCIS moved to amend by making the salary of the Adjutant General one thousand dollars, instead of six hundred dollars.

Mr. RANDALL moved to amend the amendment by making said salary eight hundred dollars.

Some discussion ensued between Messrs. FRANCIS and RANDALL, in favor of an increase of salary, and Messrs. MILLER, GREGG, SCOFIELD, MYER and HARRIS against.

Upon the adoption of the amendment to the amendment,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BLOOD and Mr. RANDALL, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS.—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Gazzam, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Shaeffer, Schindel, Thompson, Turney, Welsh and Cresswell, Speaker—16.

NAYS.—Messrs. Brewer, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Penney, Rutherford, Schell, Scofield, Steele, Wright and Yardley—15.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The question recurring,

Upon the amendment as amended,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCOFIELD and Mr. MYER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS.—Messrs. Blood, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Gazzam, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Shaeffer, Schindel, Thompson, Turney, Welsh and Cresswell, Speaker—15.

NAYS.—Messrs. Baldwin, Brewer, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Penney, Rutherford, Schell, Scofield, Steele, Wright and Yardley—16.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. YARDLEY moved to amend, by making the salary of Deputy Secretary $1400, instead of $1500.

Upon which motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RANDALL and Mr. YARDLEY, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS.—Messrs. Coffey, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Myer, Palmer, Penney, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaeffer, Thompson and Yardley—13.

NAYS.—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Parker, Randall, Schell, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—17.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. YARDLEY moved to amend, by changing the salary of the Superintendent of Common Schools from $1500 to $1400.

And upon this motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. TURNEY and Mr. YARDLEY, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Gregg, Myer, Penney, Rutherford, Scofield and Yardley—6.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Gazzam, Harris, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Schell, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—23.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. PALMER moved to amend, by striking out the words, "inclusive of his compensation as commissioner of sinking fund," where they occur in connection with the appropriation for the State Treasurer.

Upon which motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCOFIELD and Mr. PALMER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Schell, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—24.

NAYS—Messrs. Brewer, Gazzam, Nunemacher, Scofield, Welsh and Yardley—6.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And the question recurring upon the second section as amended, it was adopted.

The third section having been read,

Mr. BREWER moved to amend by increasing the appropriation for clerk and message hire in the Surveyor General's office from $8,100 to $8,700, and in support of this amendment, spoke briefly. He contended that this department should be on an equality with the others.

Upon this motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BREWER and Mr. SCHELL, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Keller, Schell and Cresswell, Speaker—5.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Coffey, Fetter, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Yardley—24.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. GAZZAM moved that the Senate do now adjourn; and upon this motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GAZZAM and Mr. BALDWIN, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Brewer, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Schell, Schindel, Thompson, Welsh, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—18.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Harris, Myer, Nunemacher, Palmer, Randall, Scofield, Shaeffer, Steele and Turney—13.

So the question was determined in the affirmative, and the Senate adjourned until 9½ o'clock to-morrow morning.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

THURSDAY, March 31, 1859.

The House was called to order at 9½ o'clock.

The Clerk read the Journal of yesterday.

Mr. WILCOX, on leave given, from the Committee on Railroads, reported, as committed,

"A supplement to an act to incorporate the Pittsburgh and Sinnemahoning railroad company;" which was taken up and passed finally.

Mr. HOTTENSTINE, from the Committee on Roads and Bridges, reported, as committed, "An Act repealing an act relative to the Susquehanna and Waterford turnpike road company;" which was taken up and passed finally.

Mr. GOEPP moved to suspend the rules in order to resume the consideration of Senate bill No. 275, "An Act to authorize the execution of process in certain cases;" which was granted.

Whereupon said bill was passed finally.

Mr. PUGHE (Education) reported, as committed, "An Act to incorporate the trustees of the township of Jenkins, Luzerne county."

Also, "An Act to incorporate the trustees of the borough of Pittston, same county."

Mr. CHASE, on leave given, offered a resolution, that, for the purpose of considering House bill No. 30, "An Act giving justices of the peace power, with a jury of five, to hear certain cases, the House will hold a special session to-morrow afternoon, commencing at three o'clock.

The resolution was read the second time.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to amend the bill by adding bills on Public Calendar, after said bill is disposed of; agreed to, and the resolution, as amended, was adopted.

Mr. GLATZ (Corporations) reported, as committed, "Supplement to an act to incorporate the Altoona gas company."

On his motion, said bill was taken up and passed.

Mr. NILL, on leave given, called up House bill No. 1107, "Supplement to an act to incorporate the Greencastle and Middlebury turnpike road company;" which was considered and passed, and sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. NEALL, (Lands,) "An Act to authorize the Surveyor General to sell certain vacant lands," as committed.

Also, with a negative recommendation, "An Act to enforce the payment of unpaid purchase money, &c., &c."

Mr. KETCHUM asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. PALM.

Messrs. JACKSON and WAGENSELLER moved to re-consider vote on final passage of an act declaring the streets and alleys of Robert's addition, in the town of Catawissa, public highways; which was agreed to.

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. JACKSON, after having obtained the unanimous consent of the House, amended the bill.

And the bill as amended passed.

Mr. FOSTER moved that the rules be suspended, and that the House proceed to the consideration of House bill No. 1132; which was agreed to.

AN ACT to provide for taking testimony in cases of contested elections of members of the General Assembly.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That it shall be lawful for any court of common pleas, or any judge thereof, in vacation, on the filing of a petition with the prothonotary thereof, setting forth that an undue election has been had, or a false return made of a person elected member of the Senate or House of Representatives of this Commonwealth, and specifying the facts upon which such petition is based, signed by not least ten qualified electors of the proper senatorial or representative district, at least five of whom shall have been sworn or affirmed, that the facts therein set forth are true to the best of their knowledge and belief, to issue a commission to take the testimony of such witnesses as the petitioners or respondent may desire before such competent authority, and at such times and places as shall seem just and convenient, with such subpoenas as may be necessary; and any such commissioner may compel the attendance of any witnesses duly subpoenaed by attachment or otherwise: Provided, That no such commission shall issue till after five days' notice of the filing of such petition, with a copy thereof, has been served upon the person returned as elected as aforesaid, personally, or by leaving at his dwelling with some member of his family, nor in case he resides in another county, until ten days after such notice: And provided further, That the testimony taken on such commission, shall be confined to the specific allegations of the petition and the rebuttal thereof.

SEC. 2. That the petitioners shall pay the cost of any such commission, and of the witnesses they may have in attendance, and the person against whose election such petition is filed shall pay the cost of such witnesses as he may have in attendance, to be taxed by the commissioner, and return thereof made to the proper court; but all costs so paid, as aforesaid, shall be finally paid to said petitioners and respondent in the same manner as is now by law provided in cases of contested elections for members of the Senate and House of Representatives: Provided, That in case such contest is not pursued at the proper session of the General Assembly, in the manner provided by law, judgment may be rendered on motion, in the proper court of common pleas, against such petitioners, jointly and severally, for all costs which shall have accrued.

SEC. 3. That it shall be the duty of the prothonotary to certify all depositions taken and proceedings had in court under this act, and hold the same subject to the direction or order of the Speaker of the proper house of the General Assembly, and all depositions so taken shall be deemed legal evidence, subject to the usual rules of evidence, before any committee of the proper house selected to decide any such contested election.

The House having dispensed with going into committee of the whole, said bill was duly considered and passed, and was sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. M'CLURE asked leave to offer a resolution that the act entitled, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Duncannon, Landisburg and Broad Top railroad company" be recalled from the Senate, for the purpose of amending the same.

The resolution was read a second time.

Mr. PATTERSON said—

Mr. SPEAKER:—I trust this motion will not prevail. Unless the gentleman from Franklin (Mr. M'CLURE) will inform this House his object, I will protest against the passage of the resolution. Some years ago the Legislature granted a charter to the Duncannon and Landisburg railroad company, and prescribed a certain route, and named several points through which the road must pass. This enterprise originated in Juniata and Perry counties, and my constituents are peculiarly interested in the success of the road. Upon the guarantees in the charter, as to the routes and the points it should touch, my constituents, in Juniata county, made subscriptions and paid in the installments required by the board of directors. This money has been spent in making the survey and other expenses. The money was paid in good faith; now when there is a prospect of the road being made, there is an attempt to be made here to strike out of the original charter the route and points named therein, and to give the new board the right to select any route they please. Yet there is no provision offered to be made to re-pay the money my constituents have paid upon the faith of contracts. It is bad faith and unjust, and I hope this House will not be a party to so great an outrage upon any portion of our fellow-citizens. The amendment of the gentleman from Franklin, (Mr. MCCLURE,) would locate the route of this road through Path Valley, and take it entirely out of Juniata county, and place a mountain between the road and those who first encouraged the project by their influence and money. My constituents care nothing about the change of name and other privileges granted by the bill we passed here yesterday. We are contented with the present route and rights secured us. The gentleman from Washington, (Mr. LAWRENCE,) says it is a through route. I say we don't care about that, if by making it a great through road the route is to be changed and we are to lose our money and the advantages we expect to derive from the construction of this road. It was originated as a coal road from Broad Top, and with that we are content, and I say it concerns us alone, and is, if you please, a local road. The gentleman has had all the session to offer his amendment, either in the committee or in the House, and if he neglected to do so, it is no reason why this House should recall from the Senate, a bill we have passed deliberately. All parties concerned in this matter, agreed to the bill as it came from the Senate, and it is now bad faith to propose a different one. All we ask is to let us alone, and we will try to build this road upon the route agreed upon in the charter; we don't care how many branches you make, but we protest against any attempt to change the present route and interfere with our rights.

A rambling discussion followed between Messrs. MCCLURE, NILL, LAWRENCE, (Washington,) WALBORN and WAGENSELLER on the subject.

And on the final passage of the resolution,

Mr. MILLER moved to postpone the further consideration of the same for the present.

And on the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PATTERSON and Mr. WALBORN, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Balliet, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Eckman, Glatz, Good, Keneagy, Laird, McDowell, Miller, Patterson, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Wagenseller, Walborn, Wigton, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow and Lawrence, Speaker—27.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Bayard Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Dodds, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Foster, Galley, Goepf, Graham, Gratz, Gritman, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Matthews, McClure, McCurdy, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Peirce, Price, Proudfoot, Pugh, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Sheppard, Shields, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stuart, Syer, Taylor, Thorn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Woodring and Zoller—53.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring,
Shall the resolution pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PATTERSON and Mr. WAGENSELLER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Bayard, Brodhead, Bryson, Church, Durboraw, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Foster, Galley, Goepf, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Gritman, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Matthews, McClure, McCurdy, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pugh, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Sheppard, Shields, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stuart, Syer, Taylor, Thompson, Walker, Warden, Witman, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—52.

NAYS—Messrs. Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Burley, Custer, Dismant, Eckman, Fleming, Glatz, Good, Keneagy, McDowell, Miller, Patterson, Price, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Wagenseller, Walborn, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow and Lawrence, Speaker—23.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. GRATZ, the House took up and passed finally, Senate bill No. 385, "A supplement to an act to amend certain defects of the law for the more safe and just transmission and secure enjoyment of real and personal estate, approved April 27, 1855."

Mr. HAMERSLY, on leave given, introduced "An Act to incorporate the Germantown market company of Philadelphia."

Ordered on Private Calendar.

Mr. WILSON moved to suspend the rules in order to proceed to the consideration of House bill 628, "An Act relating to the settlement of registers of wills, recorders of deeds, prothonotaries and clerks of courts with the State Treasurer;" which was not agreed to.

PETITIONS, &c., PRESENTED.

Mr. IRISH, the petition of Letitia Bullock, Geo. W. Ward and fifty-eight others, in favor of the passage of an act to prevent the rendition of fugitive slaves.

Also, two from eighty-three citizens of Pittsburgh, against any change in the school laws of said city.

Mr. SMEAD, one from citizens of the proposed new township of Aba, Bradford county, praying for the passage of House bill No. 218, "An Act relating to townships;" which was read.

Also, one from citizens of Bradford county, praying for such amendments of the State Constitution as will give the blacks equal political rights with the whites.

Mr. FLEMING, seven petitions of citizens of Clarion county, for the removal of the court house from Clarion to Callensburg, in said county."

Mr. NILL, two from citizens of Franklin county, for the passage of a law taxing dogs.

Mr. TAYLOR, one from citizens of Blairsville, Indiana county, for the repeal of "An Act to extend Walnut street, in said borough, passed May 5th, 1854."

Mr. KENEAGY, the remonstrance of citizens of West Hempfield township, Lancaster county, against the passage of "An Act requiring the Chestnut Hill turnpike road company to lower their rates of tolls."

Mr. GREEN, one of like import.

Mr. JACKSON, three remonstrances numerously signed by citizens of Columbia county, against the passage of any act for the widening and extension of Market street, in Bloomsburg, at the expense of the county.

Mr. OAKS, one of like import.

Mr. KETCHUM, the petition of citizens of Luzerne county, for the passage of a supplement to the three hundred dollar exemption law of April 9, 1849.

Also, one from citizens of same county, praying for the passage of an act to take away from county commissioners the power to appoint tax collectors, and to alter the assessed valuation of property.

Mr. FLEMING, a petition from citizens of Forest county, to attach part of said county to Jefferson county.

Mr. HOTTENSTINE, a petition from citizens of Union county, praying for the passage of an act to prevent the hunting of deer with dogs in said county.

Also, the petitions of citizens of Northumberland county, praying for the change of venue of a certain action of ejectment from Union to Northumberland county.

Mr. HILL, two petitions from citizens of Montgomery county, for an act requiring the commissioners of said county to appoint the constables to the office of collectors of taxes.

BILLS CALLED UP.

Mr. GRATZ called up House bill No. 1252,

"An Act to incorporate the Thirteenth and Fifteenth Streets passenger railway company."

The bill passed its several readings, and after having been amended by Messrs. GRATZ and SHEPPARD,

Mr. SMITH, (Philadelphia,) moved that the further consideration of the same be postponed for the present.

On the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GOOD and Mr. BERTOLET, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Balliet, Barnsley, Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Campbell, Custer, Dismant, Evans, Fearon, Fleming, Glatz, Good, Gray, Gritman, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Laird, Matthews, Oaks, Patterson, Quigley, Rose, Smead, Stephens, Syer, Walborn, Wilcox, Withrow and Woodring—82.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Bayard Bryson, Chase, Dodds, Durboraw, Fisher, Foster, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Irish, Ketchum, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mebaffey, McClure, McDowell, Neall, Nill, Palm, Peirce, Proudfoot, Sheppard, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Wilson, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—43.

So the question was determined in the negative.

On the question,

Will the House suspend the rule and read the bill the third time by its title?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GOOD and Mr. PATTERSON, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Bayard, Bryson, Chase, Church, Dodds, Eckman, Fearon, Fisher, Foster, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Irish, Keneagy, Lawrence, (Washington,) McClure, McCurdy, McDowell, Miller, Neall, Nill, Palm, Peirce, Price, Proudfoot, Rohrer, Sheppard, Shields, Stuart, Syer, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—48.

NAYS—Messrs. Balliet, Barnsley, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Campbell, Custer, Dismant, Fleming, Glatz, Goepf, Good, Gray, Gritman, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Laird, Matthews, Oaks, Patterson, Quigley, Rose, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Walborn, Wilcox, Withrow and Woodring—34.

So the question was determined in the negative—two-thirds not voting affirmatively.

Mr. BAYARD called up Senate bill No. 680, "An Act to incorporate the Pittsburgh, Allegheny and Manchester passenger railway company," and, after having been amended by Messrs. McDOWELL, FOSTER and IRISH, was passed finally.

Mr. ROSE moved that when this House adjourn, it will meet again to-morrow morning, at 9½ o'clock.

Mr. MCCLURE moved to amend, by meeting again this evening, at 7½ o'clock; which was agreed to.

Mr. ROHRER moved to amend, by meeting this evening, at 7 o'clock; which was not agreed to.

The motion, as amended by Mr. MCCLURE, was agreed to.

Mr. HAMERSLY called up House bill No. 182, "An Act to confer on certain associations of citizens of this Commonwealth, the powers and immunities of corporations, and bodies politic in law, and to confirm charters heretofore granted;" which was read the second and third time, considered, and agreed to.

Mr. WILCOX moved to amend, by embracing the county of McKean within the provisions of the act; which was agreed to.

On the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. FOSTER and Mr. NEALL, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Burley, Church, Custer, Dismant, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Goepp, Gratz, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Ketchum, Kinney, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Neall, Palm, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rohrer, Rouse, Sheppard, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stonehack, Styer, Thorn, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—53.

NAYS—Messrs. Balliet, Barnsley, Bryson, Dodds, Eckman, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Good, Grabam, Gray, Hottenstine, Keneagy, Laird, Mann, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Patterson, Ramsdell, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Wagonseller, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson and Withrow—27.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

BILL RECONSIDERED.

Messrs. FISHER and MATTHEWS moved that the vote by which House bill, No. 183, "An Act erecting the counties of Clearfield, Jefferson, Elk and Forrest into a new judicial district, to be called the twenty-sixth," was defeated yesterday, be reconsidered.

And on the question, will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WILLISTON and Mr. RAMSDELL, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Balliet, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Burley, Church, Custer, Dismant, Evans, Fisher, Fleming, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Gray, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, Matthews, Neall, Oaks, Patterson, Price, Proudfoot, Rohrer, Sheppard, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stonehack, Styer, Thorn, Walhorn, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Wiley, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—48.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bryson, Campbell, Chase, Dodds, Eckman, Foster, Graham, Gratz, Irish, Ketchum, Kinney, Mann, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Miller, Nill, Palm, Peirce, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Rouse, Smith, (Berks,) Stuart, Thompson, Wagonseller, Walker, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson and Zoller—37.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. ROSE moved that the further consideration of the question be postponed indefinitely. He made some remarks of a similar nature to those before expressed.

Mr. M'CLURE, thinking that there were indications that the bill would pass, desired to call the attention of the members to the facts of the case. These he recapitulated. There was no need of the new judicial district.

Mr. WALBORN called the previous question; which was sustained.

And on the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WILLISTON and Mr. WILCOX, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Burley, Church, Custer, Evans, Fisher, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Gray, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, Matthews, Neall, Oaks, Patterson, Price, Rohrer, Sheppard, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Styer, Wal-born, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Wiley, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—42.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bryson, Campbell, Chase, Dodds, Eckman, Foster, Graham, Gratz, Irish, Ketchum, Kinney, Mann, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Miller, Nill, Palm, Peirce, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Smead, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Wagonseller, Walker, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow and Zoller—38.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The question again recurring,

Shall the bill pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WILLISTON and Mr. IRISH, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Burley, Church, Evans, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Gray, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Matthews, Neall, Oaks, Patterson, Rohrer, Sheppard, Shields, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Styer, Walborn, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Wiley, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—36.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dodds, Eckman, Foster, Graham, Gratz, Irish, Ketchum, Kinney, Mann, M'Clure, M'Curdy, McDowell, Miller, Nill, Palm, Peirce, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Smead, Smith (Berks,) Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Wagonseller, Walker, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow and Zoller—43.

So the question was determined in the negative.

SENATE AMENDMENTS

To House bill relative to the Dauphin and Schuylkill coal and railroad company, were read; and on motion of Mr. GOEPP, concurred in.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth was introduced, and presented a number of messages from the Governor; which were read, as follows:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

Harrisburg, March 31, 1859.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN: The bill, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Mont Alto iron company," is herewith returned, without the Executive approval, to the Senate, where it originated, for re-consideration.

The object of the bill is to incorporate a company for the purpose of manufacturing iron, with a capital of five hundred thousand dollars, to be located at Mont Alto, in Franklin county.

The bill is objectionable in many of its features: such as the limited individual responsibility of the stockholders; the long postponement of the payment of the bonus to the State; but the principal objection consists in the special character of the proposed legislation.

Under the general manufacturing law, approved April 7, 1849, ample provision has been made for the incorporation of companies to manufacture iron; and there is, consequently, no necessity for a special act of incorporation for such a purpose. It is believed that the general law is, in the main, well adapted to promote the interests of those who desire to associate together, under a corporate name, to carry on manufacturing or mining operations, while, at the same time, in some degree at least, its provisions are calculated to protect the community at large from losses likely to arise from business transactions with corporations whose individual members are not personally liable to make good its contracts and engagements. If, however, the general law is defective, it will afford the Executive great pleasure to unite with the other branches of the law-making power, in extending, amending, or regulating its provisions, in such manner as to render it acceptable to those desirous of investing their capital in the business of mining or manufacturing in this Commonwealth. A resort to special legislation, instead of improving the general law, is certainly not to be encouraged.

Instating my objections to this species of legislation, I have but to reiterate what I have heretofore said to the General Assembly in returning similar bills for re-consideration. I therefore repeat, that where a bill is confined to a single locality, or is limited in its application to a particular company, it is not likely to receive at the hands of the Legislature that consideration which is given to a general bill; and consequently it often happens that powers are granted which should be withheld, and restrictions omitted which ought to be imposed. As each corporation has a law of its own, there is neither uniformity nor equality in what is conferred, or what is prohibited. Hence that which one corporation may do with impunity, is expressly forbidden to another of the same character. Another evil grows out of the defective machinery provided for the practical operations of companies organized under special laws.—Frequent occasions are thereby given for supplementary acts, which fill our statute books, although of no public interest, and occupy a large portion of the time and attention of the General Assembly and the Executive. It is a public grievance that so much of the time of the several departments of the government should be diverted from the performance of other important public duties, and consumed upon acts of this character. If it were necessary to snuff these acknowledged evils, for the purpose of securing a greater good to the people of the Commonwealth, then it might be proper to submit to them without a murmur. But it is not necessary. All the benefits to be derived from associated capital may be secured by a law general in its provisions, extending equally over the entire State, and applicable to every citizen desiring its advantages.

But aside from this, my firm conviction is, that the evils attendant upon granting corporate powers and privileges for manufacturing and mining purposes, are nearly, if not entirely, equal to the benefits to be derived from that source. That individual capital, and individual enterprise, under the restraints of individual liability, are fully competent to the successful prosecution of those industrial pursuits, has been clearly established by the experience of the past. And upon that capital and that enterprise mainly rest our hopes of success in the future.

Entertaining these views, I have deemed it my duty to withhold the Executive approval from the bill under consideration, and all others of a similar character.

WM. F. PACKER.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

Harrisburg, March 31, 1859.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN:—A bill has been presented for my consideration, entitled "An Act to widen the eastern extension of Third street, in the town of Bloomsburg, Columbia county."

The bill authorizes the supervisors of the township of Bloom, in the county of Columbia, to widen the eastern extension of Third street, in the town of Bloomsburg, so as to make the same thirty-three feet in width, in accordance with a certain report filed in the court of quarter sessions of the peace in Columbia county, on the 5th day of December, 1855.

The power to authorize the supervisors of Bloom township to widen the street named in this bill, unquestionably exists in the court of quarter sessions of Columbia county. If it be proper to widen the street, that court will undoubtedly make the necessary order for that purpose, upon a proper application; but if, in view of all the facts bearing on the question, the court has refused to grant the order, I am clear that the Legislature ought not to interfere. I have invariably declined to approve bills of this character, where the remedy could be obtained at the hands of the proper local tribunals. The bill is therefore returned to the Senate, where it originated, without my approval, for reconsideration.

WM. F. PACKER.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, March 31, 1859.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN:—I herewith return to the Senate, in which it originated, a bill, entitled "An Act to incorporate the East Danville iron company," without the Executive approval.

Having stated my objections to a similar bill, somewhat at length, in a message to the Senate and House of Representatives, of this date, returning without my approval, the bill, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Mont Alto iron company," I respectfully refer you to that communication for my reasons for declining to approve of this bill.

WM. F. PACKER.

The hour of one having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until this evening at 7½ o'clock.

HOUSE.—EVENING SESSION.

THURSDAY, March 31, 1859.

The SPEAKER called the House to order at 7½ o'clock, P. M.

The SPEAKER called the attention of the House to a communication from the city of Erie; which was read by the Clerk. It was from the widow of an old soldier residing in Erie, praying for relief.

Mr. LAIRD moved to take up the bill in question, No. 1094, House file, and proceed to its consideration. Agreed to.

The bill passed finally.

Mr. M'DOWELL moved to take up House bill No. 361, authorizing the school directors of Allegheny county to select sites for school houses. Agreed to.

Mr. MANN amended by inserting the county of Potter.

Mr. CAMPBELL amended by inserting Erie, Warren, Bradford, Tioga and Crawford counties were also inserted.

The bill passed finally.

Mr. SMEAD gave notice that he should move to reconsider House bill No. 182.

Mr. HAMERSLY wished to know whether the bill had gone to the Governor.

The SPEAKER. It has not.

Mr. BAYARD asked leave of absence for Mr. Picking, Transcribing Clerk.

Mr. EVANS moved to consider House bill No. 1230, providing for an additional alderman in the Eleventh ward of Philadelphia. Agreed to.

Mr. WARDEN offered a joint resolution authorizing the Clerk to amend House bill No. 776, relative to the Pennsylvania Central railroad company, by striking out the word "central," wherever it occurred.

The bill was one authorizing the Pennsylvania railroad company to subscribe for stock of the Westmoreland railroad company.

The resolution passed.

Mr. PUGHE moved to reconsider the vote on House bill No. 674.

The motion was not seconded.

Senate bill, No. 483, being the special order for the evening, was called up.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

Mr. CUSTER was called to the Chair.

The bill was read, as follows:

A SUPPLEMENT to an act to exempt property to the value of three hundred dollars, from levy and sale on execution and distress for rent, approved the ninth day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and forty-nine.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the widow or children of any decedent, entitled to retain three hundred dollars out of such decedent's estate by the laws of this Commonwealth, and every person entitled to the exemption provided for in the act, entitled "An Act to exempt property to the value of three hundred dollars from levy and sale on execution for distress for rent," approved the ninth day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and forty-nine, may elect to retain the same or any part thereof, out of any bank notes, money, stocks, judgments, or other indebtedness to such person: Provided, That the same shall be taken at its nominal value without appraisement.

SEC. 2. That any person otherwise entitled to the exemption provided for in this act, and the act to which this act is a supplement, shall not be deprived thereof, in consequence of any contract hereafter made by which the right to claim such exemption shall be waived or released: Provided, That the provisions of this act shall not apply to contracts made for the renting of a dwelling house, or for other things necessary for the support or maintenance of the wife or family of any such person.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) moved to amend the second section, by striking out the word "hereafter," (italicized in the above,) and inserting in place thereof, "contracts made after the first of May, 1859."

Mr. THOMPSON opposed the second section, and contended in favor of the first section, which had been reported by the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) alleged that his amendment to the second section benefited it greatly.

Mr. WILLISTON made some remarks in favor of the exemption law, opposing at the same time the proviso to the bill, and alleging that the provision effectually nullified the original act.

Mr. KINNEY favored the act, but considered the amendment of Mr. SMITH, fixing a certain date on which the law was to go into effect, as absolutely necessary.

Mr. FOSTER could not sustain the amendment of Mr. SMITH, because it would interfere with contracts already made. He based this opinion on a decision of the supreme court, which he cited. It was not optional with, or admissible for a party to waive the law. The provision, however, fixing the time of the law becoming effective on May first, he admitted would obviate the difficulty.

Mr. MILLER favored the amendment of Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) but hoped that, nevertheless, the second section would be voted down. It impaired the obligation of contracts.

Mr. NILL said that this would not be the effect of the section. He rebutted the argument which had been advanced by Mr. FOSTER against the provision.

The amendment to the amendment was agreed to.

The amendment as amended was agreed to.

The bill was agreed to.

Mr. WILCOX moved that the committee rise, report progress, and ask leave to sit again; agreed to.

The bill being before the House, was again read.

Mr. PRICE offered an amendment to the first section, which was debated by Messrs. NILL, M'CLURE, PRICE and MILLER.

The amendment was lost.

The first section was agreed to.

Mr. THOMPSON offered a proviso to the second section, as follows:

Provided, That in all cases where the person signing such waiver, has a wife living at the time of executing the same, it shall be void, unless his wife shall join in the execution thereof, in the same manner now provided for in the execution of a deed by a married woman under the act of 11th April, 1848.

Mr. KINNEY believed the original act to be wise and proper, and spoke at some length in its favor.

Mr. NILL replied to the arguments which had been advanced previously by Messrs. THOMPSON, M'CLURE, WALBORN, HAMERSLY and ROSE.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) moved to adjourn. On this motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. FOSTER and Mr. M'CLURE, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Bayard, Ber-tolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Campbell, Dodds, Fisher, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Goepf, Graham, Gray, Hill, Jackson, Ketchum, Laird, Mehaffey, Matthews, Oaks, Patterson, Price, Quigley, Ramsdell, Smith, (Berks) Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walhorn, Warden, Witman, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—41.

NAYS—Messrs. Ahcott, Barnsley, Barlow, Burley, Church, Custer, Dismant, Eckman, Foster, Gratz, Gritman, Hamersly, Hottenstine, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Neall, Nill, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Smead, Stephens, Stonehack, Thorn, Williston and Wilson—32.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

SENATE.

FRIDAY, April 1, 1859.

The Senate was called to order at the usual hour.

The SPEAKER in the chair.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. DeWitt.

The reading of the Journal was dispensed with, on motion of Mr. STEELE.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Mr. THOMPSON asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. BELL, for a few days.

The SPEAKER presented two remonstrances of citizens of Blair county, against any change of the school law.

PETITIONS, MEMORIALS, &C.

Mr. MARSELIS presented two remonstrances against the incorporation of the Penn steam engine, steamboat and steamship company.

Mr. WRIGHT, a remonstrance of citizens of Holmesburg, against the passage of an act narrowing a turnpike road through said village.

Also, a remonstrance of citizens of Delaware, Lower Dublin, Moreland and Byberry townships, in Philadelphia county, against the purchase by the city of the turnpike roads in the rural districts.

Mr. YARDLEY, a remonstrance of citizens of Bucks county, against the divorce of Horace B. Fry from his wife, Emily R. Fry.

Mr. MYER, a petition of citizens of Bradford county, praying for such a change in the constitution as to enable colored persons to vote.

Mr. KELLER, four remonstrances of citizens of the borough of Bloomsburg, against the extension and widening of Market street, in said borough.

Also, a remonstrance of citizens of Columbia county, of like import.

Mr. SHAEFFER, a remonstrance of citizens of Lancaster county, against any law allowing the Columbia Bank to establish a branch in Lancaster city.

Mr. BALDWIN, two remonstrances of like import.

Also, a remonstrance of citizens of Lancaster county, against any change in the collection of tolls on the Columbia and Chesnut Hill turnpike road.

Mr. TURNEY, a petition of citizens of Union township, Fayette county, for the vacation of a certain road.

Mr. BLOOD, a petition of citizens of Forest county, praying that a certain portion of said county be attached to Jefferson county.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. TURNEY, (Finance,) reported, as committed, House bill No. 380, "An Act relative to incorporated cemetery companies."

Mr. FETTER, (Agriculture and Domestic Manufactures,) as committed, House bill No. 738, "An Act regulating the standard of the weight of oats."

BILLS IN PLACE.

Mr. PARKER read in his place and presented to the Chair, a bill, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Delaware Avenue market company."

Mr. CRAIG, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Milford and Metamora railroad company."

Mr. RANDALL, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Union railroad company."

ORIGINAL RESOLUTION.

Mr. BREWER moved to re-consider the vote taken yesterday, on Senate bill No. 445, "An Act to incorporate the Mont Alto iron company;" and, on his motion, consideration of the same was postponed for the present.

On motion of Mr. MYER, the Senate resolved to hold a session this evening at 7 o'clock, for the consideration of private bills.

Mr. PARKER moved that House bill No. 812, "A supplement to the act incorporating the West Philadelphia Mutual saving fund and trust company," be re-committed to the Committee on Banks.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

Agreeably to order, the Senate resumed the consideration of the appropriation bill, on second reading, the question being upon the third section,

Mr. BREWER moved to re-instate the following appropriations, for the expense of the State library, which were stricken out by the Senate committee:

Press, for stamping, twenty-five dollars; making fires, sweeping, cleansing and white washing, postage, freight, expenses of purchasing books, stationery, et cetera, three hundred dollars; miscellaneous books and newspapers, six hundred dollars; law books, English and Irish Reports, elementary hooks and civil law, one thousand dollars; Pennsylvania Reports for exchanges, three hundred and twenty dollars; binding, one hundred and fifty dollars; and assistant, one hundred and fifty-dollars.

Mr. GREGG remarked that all he had to say was that he had given the matter, in connection with the committee, a careful examination, and was satisfied that the amendment which they had inserted was necessary and just.

Mr. SCOFIELD inquired if the amendment of the Senator from Franklin, to restore the provision of the House bill, would decrease or increase the amount of the appropriation.

Mr. BREWER stated that it increased the amount some eleven hundred dollars.

Mr. SCOFIELD was then opposed to the amendment.

Mr. BREWER further explained that the State Librarian, who is a very faithful and attentive officer, was about purchasing very valuable books in England and Ireland. The proposition he did not regard as extravagant. He had no feeling on the subject, but he thought the amendment should be adopted.

The question being upon the amendment,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BREWER and Mr. GREGG, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Francis, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Schell, Shaeffer, Schindel, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—11.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Scofield, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Welsh and Yardley—20.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. COFFEY moved to amend, by striking out the words, "six hundred," and inserting the words, "for English and Irish Reports, elementary hooks and civil law, $1000."

Mr. COFFEY said the appropriation for these law books would involve an additional sum of only four hundred dollars. In order to make the State library what it ought to be, the librarian should be enabled to purchase English and Irish Reports, from year to year. If these reports are not purchased now, it will eventually require a large appropriation to procure them. They were valuable hooks, such as no individual library can provide; and as they are of vast importance, and the State has undertaken to provide a law library, it should be an adequate one. It was important to the profession, and particularly to the judges, who have frequent occasion to refer to them, that they should have them within their reach.

Upon the adoption of the amendment,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GREGG and Mr. COFFEY, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Coffey, Gazzam, Keller, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Schell, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—19.

NAYS—Messrs. Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Marselis, Nunemacher, Scofield, Thompson, Welsh and Yardley—12.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. PENNEY moved to amend by re-instating the following, which had been stricken out by the Senate committee:

For clerks, messenger and night watch in the Treasurer's office, the State Treasurer to detail one of his clerks to act as clerk to the commissioners of the sinking fund, without additional cost to the Commonwealth for such service, five thousand four hundred and fifty dollars.

Upon the adoption of this amendment,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. COFFEY and Mr. SCHELL, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Coffey, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaeffer and Thompson—12.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Randall, Schell, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—18.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. SCOFIELD moved to strike out six thousand dollars for clerk and messenger hire in the Executive and State departments, and insert five thousand dollars in lieu thereof.

Upon which motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCOFIELD and Mr. TURNEY, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Coffey, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Myer, Penney, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaeffer, Thompson and Yardley—13.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Schell, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—18.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. SCOFIELD moved further to amend, by striking out $8,100, for clerk and messenger in the Surveyor General's office, and inserting in lieu thereof $7,600.

Upon this motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCOFIELD and Mr. TURLEY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Coffey, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaffer, Thompson and Yardley—16.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Keller, Nunemacher, Randall, Schell, Schiadel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—14.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The question recurring upon the third section, as amended, it was determined in the affirmative.

The fourth section was read, as follows:

SEC. 4. For the payment of the expenses of the Legislature, including the pay and mileage of the members, clerks and officers thereof, and the amount authorized by law for stationery, newspapers and light, the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

Mr. WELSH moved to amend by inserting after the words, "sum of," in the fourth line, the words, "$123,400," and that so much of the fourth section of the act, entitled "An Act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the government, &c.," as increases the compensation of the Legislature, from $500 to $700 per annum, be and the same is hereby repealed.

Mr. YARDLEY said—

Mr. SPEAKER:—I shall vote for the amendment of the Senator from York, for the reason that I believe it right in itself; and for the further reason that the constituency I represent ask the reduction contemplated. I hope it will receive the unanimous endorsement of the Senate. I hope the Senate will show to their constituents that they are willing to undo the work of last winter, which was, as I believe, in opposition to right and justice. The history of this increase of pay of members of the Legislature, is one of interest to every tax-payer of the Commonwealth.

In days gone by, when Pennsylvania was not burthened with debt, her citizens were content to serve the State in these Halls at three dollars per day. I think there is no one here who will have the hardihood to hazard the assertion that her interests were not as well protected and cared for then as they are now. The qualifications and ability of her Representatives then, would compare favorably, I doubt not, with those of the gentlemen who now take charge of her affairs. Some few years since, the idea seized her Representatives that their pay was insufficient, and in 1855 they resolved that their services were worth five hundred dollars per session, or about five dollars per day. In consideration that the pay was changed from a per diem to a salary, the people of the State acquiesced in this advance. Murmurs there were, it is true, at the increase, but they died away in the hope that the salary of the members of the Legislature was permanently fixed. That although the Constitution gave to the Representatives the right of fixing their own compensation, they would not use it to their own advantage and against the interest of the tax-payer. In 1867, owing to the fact that the Legislature remained in session until the 21st of May, some months longer than the customary period of its duration, the representatives voted themselves an additional $200, increasing their salaries to $700 00. The tax payers of the State saw this with surprise; but, liberal as they feel toward their servants, prosperous as they then were, considering the extraordinary length of the session, and supposing that it was merely temporary, and not to be repeated, they again acquiesced in this increase. Last year, however, after a session closing on the 22d of April, one month earlier than the one preceding, at a time when the people of the State were suffering under the most disastrous financial crisis that it has ever been their fortune to undergo; when the forges and manufactories of her citizens were stilled; when the busy hum of industry was no longer heard within her borders; when her laborers were seeking in vain for employment, and her farmers compelled to dispose of the produce of their toil at ruinously low prices to meet the demands of the State in the shape of taxes; when universal gloom, like a dark cloud, enshrouded the whole State, and the prospect of the coming dawn was dark, indeed, the representatives of the people, who are supposed to know and feel the burthens borne by those they represent, concluded that they alone of all the citizens of the Commonwealth were not receiving adequate compensation for their service; and having the power, to the utter surprise of every tax-payer of the State, fixed their salary permanently at seven hundred dollars. Then it was that the tax-payers began to think that it was time to put a stop to this march of advancement of their representatives, and bring them back to where they properly belong. So far as I have been able to judge, the feeling of this State is strongly in opposition to the present salary, and demands its reduction to the standard fixed by the act of 1855. In the county which I have the honor to represent—a county which pays as liberally and as promptly towards the expenses of the State as any other in this broad Commonwealth—there is but one opinion on this subject. Upon this, if upon no other question, persons of all shades of political opinion are united. This reduction is demanded alike by all parties; and I would be recreant to my duty, and false to every sense of right, should I fail to do every thing in my power to secure it.

I do not propose to discuss the question of the value of our services to our constituents. I well know that it is very unsafe to allow a man to be the judge of the value of his own services. I believe, however, that ours to the State cannot be compensated by any salary we may receive. I do not believe there is one Senator upon this floor who estimates the services he renders by his salary, nor do I believe that the constituents of any Senator would honor him the less, nor estimate his services the less, from the fact of his receiving two hundred dollars the more or less for those services. A public servant is not valued according to the amount he receives, but according to the services he renders to the State at the most reasonable expense to her tax payers. Senators must be in no fear of falling in public estimation by voting for this amendment. The fact of the matter is here:—Our State is heavily incumbered with debt.—Her energies are crippled. Her farms, her forges, her manufactories and the industry of her citizens are mortgaged to secure that debt. Her citizens are burthened with taxation to an amount that calls loudly for relief. Her tax-payers appeal to their representatives to do what lies in their power to grant them the so much desired reduction of their burthens. They ask us—tax-payers ourselves, acquainted with the burthens under which they groan—not to add, but to decrease them. They expect us to aid them in diminishing, not in increasing the public debt. Is there any Senator here who does not desire to see our glorious old Commonwealth relieved from the incubus now weighing down her energies and paralyzing her industry? Do we not all wish to hasten the day when Pennsylvania capital and Pennsylvania labor will stand forth freed from the weight of taxation now necessarily imposed upon them? I am glad to find, from speeches and votes of Senators on this and other bills during the session, a disposition to prevent any unnecessary outlay of the public money; a reluctance to advance the salaries of any of the public officers; and a desire to carry on the government of the State with a strict eye to economy in every department of its administration. The message of the Chief Executive shows that the financial condition of our State is improving, and it only requires a strict adherence to this system of economy to secure to her citizens the much wished for boon of freedom from debt and consequent release from taxation.

The sum of five hundred dollars, to which this amendment proposes to reduce our salaries, is abundant for all the legitimate expenses of members whilst here, and to leave them something as a compensation for their services. It is no argument to say that it will not pay the expenses of some members of the Legislature. The same would be true of one thousand dollars, or even double that sum. If members are able and disposed to expend ten times the amount of their salaries, I certainly have no reason to complain. All I ask is, that the amount of those expenditures shall not be wrung from the hard earnings of the tax payers of the Commonwealth. The amount saved to the people by this reduction, will more than pay the interest on one half million of our public debt; no small item in the present monetary condition of some sections of our State.

To a number of the members of the Legislature, I know full well the acceptance of a seat here is a pecuniary sacrifice. The compensation, either of the original bill or of this amendment, falls short of the losses increased by their absence from this business.

This would be unavoidable under any amount of salary, and must be expected. The State can only be expected to pay a reasonable compensation for the services of her representatives, and those who take upon themselves the honors of the position, must be content with such remuneration as she can afford to pay. The amount stated in this amendment is all that the people can now afford, and all, I hope, that members will be disposed to ask.

I have heard much said by Senators, against any increase in the salaries of our judiciary. We have been told that the cry of the horse leeches daughter, "give, give," has been continually coming up here from the bench, and that it is time that it should be rebuked. That within a few years, the salaries of the judges of the Commonwealth have been increased, and that the finances of the State will not warrant further advances. With all this I fully concur, and have signified my appreciation of its justness by my votes. I now ask those Senators to show to the people of Pennsylvania that they are in earnest. That they are willing to apply the same rule to themselves that they apply to the judiciary.

In 1855, our salaries were increased. With this increase, I believe our constituents are satisfied. Let us show them that we also are content. A majority of the Senate decided that no increase of the salaries of the judiciary was expedient at the present time. Let the same majority now show to their constituents, that the Senate is content with what the people of Pennsylvania are willing to give them; a salary of five hundred dollars.

Mr. Speaker, I have done my duty in this matter to my constituents, and the tax payers of the State. I now ask Senators, by voting for this amendment, to do what I believe to be theirs.

Mr. SCHELL moved to amend the amendment by adding the following:

Provided, That the State Treasurer be, and is hereby directed to retain two hundred dollars out of the compensation of each of the members of the session of 1858.

Mr. COFFEY said, that when the proposition to increase the compensation of members of the Legislature was before the Senate last year, he had voted for the proposition of the Senator from Bucks, to make the increase apply only to members thereafter elected, and not to ourselves. He was in favor of that proposition, because, whatever might be thought of the propriety of any increase, it was certainly questionable whether members should vote an increase of their own pay. We were elected with the understanding that our compensation should be a certain sum, and it was not right, by our own votes, to change the contract. As he had voted then to make the pay prospective, so he should vote now for the amendment of the Senator from Bedford, to place himself exactly in the position he occupied, before the increase was made. He would vote also for the amendment of the Senator from York, reducing the compensation to the old standard, not only for the reason before given, but because it was very evident that the people did not approve the measure last winter increasing it. He professed to represent, as well as he knew how, the sentiments of his constituents; and, in a matter affecting our own pockets, we surely ought to be willing to regard their wishes and their sense of right. He was in favor of the reduction.

Mr. GAZZAM thought, if the salary is reduced to $500, it would be an acknowledgment that that sum is enough for their services hereafter.

Mr. HARRIS did not know whether either of the amendments had been offered in good faith. Whether they had been or not, he would vote for them. He had voted last year for the increase; but he would now favor a reduction to the old standard, and he hoped the amendment would carry.

Upon the amendment to the amendment,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RANDALL and Mr. SCHELL, and were as follow, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Schell, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Welsh, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—28.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood and Marselis—2.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. BLOOD asked leave to vote, not having done so when his name was called, and remarked that this was the most disreputable business that the Senate had been engaged in since he had been a member. He did not believe those who offered or advocated it were sincere. In voting against it, he did what he honestly believed to be right, and that which every Senator would do, were they to vote their honest sentiments.

The question recurring,

Upon the amendment as amended?

Mr. RANDALL was not in favor of reducing the salary. He considered it no more than a just one, as it is, and did not think the propositions to reduce were made in good faith.

Mr. PALMER said he had been very much amused at the spontaneous outburst of indignation by the Senator from Jefferson. He regarded the proceedings as somewhat farcical, and such as were sometimes necessary to relieve the sterner business of legislation. He, like that Senator, came in as a new man, and he did not think the proposed reduction was just to them, who had been elected under the law giving them seven hundred dollars, and which they had reason to expect as their compensation. It was apparent that the amendment was only intended as a rider to the section, for the purpose of killing it. The Senators who had voted for the amendment of the Senator from Bedford, had discharged, no doubt, what they conceived to be their duty to their constituency, yet he was not prepared to say that they seriously en-tained the idea that they were doing justice to themselves or those whom they represent.

He was, he said, perfectly aware that the act of 1858, increasing the pay of members of the Legislature to seven hundred dollars, had attracted considerable attention in different counties of the Commonwealth. But he did not believe the intelligent portion of the people—those acquainted with the duties of legislators, the cost of living, and the length of time and arduous labor involved in those duties, would say that seven hundred dollars is too much compensation for their services. The opposition to the increase has been based, principally, upon the principle that members of one Legislature should not increase their own pay. He believed that there should not be an increase of their own salary; but he did not consider that the present compensation was more than sufficient for the Legislature of Pennsylvania, composed of the array of talent, learning and experience which it is supposed to contain—a body which, like the Roman wife, should be above suspicion.

He would never vote to increase his own salary. If he voted for any increase, it must be in the prospective. He had made up his mind that the compensation, at present, was not an unreasonable one, and he did not believe there were three Senators seriously in favor of the proposition of amendment. He was, he said, in a position to speak plainly. He had not been instructed by his constituents as to his vote upon this subject, nor did it enter into the exciting campaign which had preceded the last fall election. So far as he was concerned, he did not consider it an adequate compensation, for he could make more at home in his office in sixty days, thrice over, than he received for his hundred day's service here. Like the Senator from Philadelphia, (Mr. RANDALL,) he took a good deal out in dignity, and the only consideration with him was an endorsement of having faithfully discharged his duties. The people of Schuylkill don't care a fig what the salary of members is fixed at, and not the first man had ever inquired of him whether he was in favor of or opposed to a reduction.

The only question to be determined, in voting upon the amendment is, is the present compensation unreasonable, or is it reasonable and just? He would, he said, despise himself, as a member of this high body, if he thought he could be influenced in his discharge of duty to his county or the State, by any amount of salary. He hoped to make a record, if he would be assisted, as he had been, by his brother Senators, which would be worth more to him than any mere pecuniary compensation which he could receive.

Mr. SCHELL rose for the purpose of making an explanation. He was sorry the amendment which he submitted had so aroused the indignation of the Senator from Jefferson. He had, at the last session, advocated an increase of salary for the future sessions, and opposed, with all the ability which he possessed, its allowance to that of 1858, for the reason that he thought the increase should be in prospective. He held the position that if it was wrong to take the two hundred dollars extra at the last session, it is wrong to retain it. If the salary is reduced, at this session, to five hundred dollars, he contended the extra compensation received at the last session should be returned.

Mr. MILLER had but a few words to say upon this question. He believed that Senators were not serious in their advocacy of this amendment. If the services of Senators are of the character so ably and eloquently described by the Senator from Schuylkill, the compensation for them should be just and sufficient. He was convinced that no member of either branch was prepared to say that the compensation for their services is more than just and adequate, and he could not regard the movement towards reduction as one seriously regarded as just.

Mr. WELSH spoke at some length in favor of the proposed reduction. He said he regretted very much that the amendment he had offered, had given rise to so much discussion. He had not troubled the Senate with any remarks upon the subject before, because he was perfectly willing to let his vote go to his constituents as a vindication of the course he intended to pursue in reference to this question. But the singular course which the debate had taken, the allusions that had been made to him in this discussion, rendered it absolutely necessary that he should say a few words in defence of the position he had assumed. He congratulated the Senate upon the great unanimity with which the proposition of the Senator from Bedford had been supported; and he hoped that the same unanimity would be exhibited, when the vote was taken upon his amendment. A doubt had been expressed of the sincerity of his motives, and insinuations had been covertly thrown out that all such movements were made for the mere purpose of securing popular favor. He would only say that all such allusions, if intended to be applied to him, were deserving of nothing but his unmitigated contempt; they had no possible effect, whatever, upon him, and he would now say, once for all, that he would never be deterred from doing what he conceived to be his duty, by any such petty assaults, come they from whatever quarter they may. He had offered his amendment in perfect good faith, in perfect sincerity, and in the discharge of his duty to those who had sent him here. If the proposition did not meet with the favor and approval of others, they had the inestimable privilege of voting against it; he would not complain; but he claimed the right, which he gave notice he would exercise whenever he pleased, of proposing and advocating any proposition he deemed proper, subject only to the high responsibility he owed to a constituency that had twice honored him with a place upon this floor. In continuation, he said, that the people he represented, were an economical people. They were frugal and careful of their own means, and expected the same care of the public treasures from those whom they selected to represent them in the Legislature. They objected to the principle of representatives raising their salary—they believed it to be entirely and radically wrong, and that it should not be encouraged—and he felt it, therefore, to be his duty to carry out their wishes by offering the amendment he had proposed. He had voted against the amendment offered by the Senator from Snyder, because Senators well knew that the effect of that amendment, at this time, would be to embarrass and encumber his own amendment. It was very apparent that those who were opposed to his amendment were endeavoring to load it down with weights which were calculated to defeat it—he did not refer to the Senator from Snyder, who, he believed, was in favor of the first amendment—and had he voted for the proposition of that Senator, he would have laid himself open to the charge of endeavoring to defeat his own amendment; for it will be remembered that it has been said here, that these secondary propositions were merely intended to serve the purpose of beating down the original proposition. When the question of a further reduction of compensation came before the Senate fairly and upon its own merits, he would cheerfully vote for it, in any shape that it might be presented. He was sorry that this question had given rise to so much feeling as had been manifested by some upon this floor. No matter what might be said, he would never shrink from doing what he thought was right and proper. He cared but little for the opinion of those who so far forgot themselves as to recklessly impugn the motives of others. There was a courtesy due from one Senator to another—there was a propriety in maintaining the dignity of this body—which he trusted he would never be tempted to violate; and he could not help expressing his profound regret, as well as his surprise, at the peculiar manner in which this question had been discussed. He had trespassed longer upon the patience of the Senate than he intended when he rose—what he said had been uttered without premeditation—and he indulged the hope, in concluding, that the verdict of the Senate would be an approval of the amendment he had offered and feebly advocated.

Mr. KELLER moved further to amend, by striking out five hundred dollars and inserting three hundred dollars.

Upon which motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RANDALL and Mr. KELLER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Harris, Keller, Myer, Nunemacher, Seofield, Shaeffer, Thompson and Turney—12.

NAYS—Messrs. Fetter, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Marselis, Miller, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Schell, Schindel, Steele, Welsh, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—18.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring upon the amendment as amended,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RANDALL and Mr. WELSH, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Harris, Keller, Miller, Nunemacher, Rutherford, Schell, Seofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Yardley—20.

NAYS—Messrs. Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Marselis, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall and Cresswell, Speaker—10.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Upon the section, as amended,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GREGG and Mr. PALMER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Harris, Keller, Miller, Nunemacher, Rutherford, Schell, Seofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Yardley—19.

NAYS—Messrs. Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Marselis, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Thompson and Cresswell, Speaker—11.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The fifth, sixth and seventh sections were adopted.

The question being upon the ninth section, Mr. HARRIS moved to amend, by inserting the following after the word "superintendents," in the sixth line, "which shall be paid out of the quota falling to each county respectively, which quota shall be determined independent of the superintendent's salary."

He subsequently withdrew his amendment, and accepted the following as a substitute:

Insert the following, after words "fifty-seven," in the ninth line, the words "and the salary of each county superintendent shall be taken out of the amount due the county in which he resides."

Mr. HARRIS said—This provision of the general school system has been before the Senate, and argued at some length, and I think it has been clearly demonstrated, that the way and manner in which the money appropriated for the common school system has been distributed, in relation to the county superintendents, is unfair and unequal. And it is on this account that the system is becoming so disreputable in many counties of the Commonwealth. Now, sir, I think this amendment will obviate this objection. The forty eighth section of the act regulating the system, provides that the directors of the several school districts, shall meet in their respective counties every three years, and elect a county superintendent, and fix his compensation; which compensation shall be deducted from the State appropriation, to be paid to the several school districts for said county.

Now, sir, I think I can show that this appropriation has not been disbursed according to the provisions of this section, and that the way in which it has been disbursed has done, and is doing injustice to those counties that pay their county superintendent a less salary than others. For instance,

Adams county has 134 schools.....	$400.00
Armstrong,.....do.....199.....do.....	800.00
Beaver,.....do.....141.....do.....	500.00
Blair,.....do.....129.....do.....	600.00
Carbo,.....do.....86.....do.....	400.00
Cambria,.....do.....137.....do.....	800.00
Dauphin,.....do.....191.....do.....	800.00
Chester,.....do.....290.....do.....	1000.00
Lancaster,.....do.....437.....do.....	1500.00
Lawrence,.....do.....128.....do.....	500.00
Mifflin,.....do.....90.....do.....	600.00
Lyeoming,.....do.....206.....do.....	300.00
Butler,.....do.....211.....do.....	300.00

Now, sir, I have given you a few counties, which are a fair data of the whole, and I think the statement is sufficient to convince every Senator on this floor, of the inequality of the disbursement of the school fund in the usual manner, as required by this section.

The usual manner of disbursing this fund has been to add together the several amounts allowed to the different county superintendents, which make an aggregate amount of about thirty-eight thousand dollars, which is deducted out of the general appropriation for school purposes; and then the counties with a much less number of schools, draw from the aggregate amount more money than those of a larger, to pay their county superintendent.

This amendment simply provides that the pro rata in the first place, after deducting clerk hire and contingent expenses, shall be made amongst the several counties of the Commonwealth, and then the salaries of the county superintendents of the several counties, shall be deducted from the quota falling to each county, thus giving the counties that pay their superintendents the less sum, the advantage of their quota for school purposes.

Now, sir, adopt this amendment, and you lessen the amount paid out of the school fund for the salaries of county superintendents. But if you reject it, you will increase the amount probably to fifty thousand dollars; because, those counties that have been paying a low salary, believing that they were husbanding their resources for school purposes, will raise them, when they get to understand how the money is distributed.

These are my reasons for opposing this amendment, and in doing so, I am governed by the purest motives, and with a desire to promote the best interests of the common school system.

Mr. CRESSWELL regarded the amendment as a blow at the present system of common schools of Pennsylvania; a system which had been found to work admirably, and which was not surpassed by that of any State in the Union. Where, he asked, did this hue and cry in opposition to the county superintendency come from? Not from the people, nor from the true friends of the common school system; but from a set of schoolmasters, who, from their unfitness for the responsible position of teachers, had been displaced by better and more competent men by the State Superintendent—a gentleman of education and ability. It was with these disappointed and incompetent persons, influenced only by a feeling of resentment, and having no genuine regard for the common school system, that this hue and cry originated—men who had "been weighed in the balance and found wanting." Indulging their resentment, they go to work among their friends, with their story of the injurious operations of the county superintendency, and succeed in creating the impression that it is unpopular with the people. He appealed to the experience of every Senator, if such was not the case.

Then comes the cry of taxation—that ready resort of demagogues—oppressive taxation! which he pronounced as unjust, when applied to any portion of the school system. Whenever the county superintendency has been sufficiently tried, and is found not to contribute to the common school system, it will be time enough to seek to cripple and destroy it. It has not been fully tried. Let it go on, and afford us an opportunity to see whether it answers the design of its friends. It is but yet young, and originated since he had been in the Legislature. It had been in operation only a few years, but it has worked well. He had heard no complaint that its operations tended to embarrass the system. On the contrary, it had generally, and justly been regarded as the backbone of the common school system, and as calculated to contribute to the cause of education throughout the State.

In his own county, it had been found to work admirably. The teachers meet together in what they term a "Teachers' Institute," where they frequently compare notes, exchange ideas, and receive the benefit of the experience of each other, for the advantage of the cause of education.

Another objection made to the system is, that the county superintendency is obnoxious to the people; an objection in which there is no truth or force. Nor is there any force in the objection that the taxes are increased; for they are not increased to an objectionable extent, in aid of a system so important, and which is working so admirably. It is only some thirty-eight hundred dollars, or about two dollars and a-half to each election district. Would the Senate, he asked, destroy the efficiency and harmony of a system, for the small tax of about one cent upon each taxable inhabitant?

Oh! down-trodden tax-payers of Pennsylvania! taxed one cent in support of a system which is calculated to work important benefits to the cause of education. Another objection to the system, as far as the county superintendent is concerned, is raised by those—and they are no inconsiderable class—who are opposed absolutely to the whole system of common school education. This class of persons are generally those who are large property holders, and consequently pay considerable taxes—have no children themselves, or have their children educated—or from opposition to the system, decline sending their children to the common schools.

He hoped the proposition would meet with the opposition of the Senate, and that the good sense of gentlemen would induce them to vote it down.

Mr. TURNEY said the amendment strikes at the very vitality of the system; a blow at the poorer counties to the advantage of the rich ones. The advantages of the system will be retained by the counties which have already seen the benefits of it, and they will vote any amount to sustain it. Those counties which do not retain it, will soon discover its advantages, and the error which they have made.

Mr. SCOFIELD saw that the amendment of the Senator from Butler was bound to be slaughtered. The only object he had was to ascertain what this branch of the system costs the State. If it cost thirty-eight thousand dollars it should be so specified; there should be nothing smuggled. We should not say that the appropriation is intended to educate the children of the Commonwealth, when the object is to pay the salaries of county superintendents. Pending the discussion, upon this amendment,

The SPEAKER requested Mr. SCOFIELD, who had the floor, to give way.

House amendments to Senate bill No. 275, "An Act to authorize the execution of process in certain cases in equity, concerning property within the jurisdiction of the court or defendants not resident or found therein," were twice read, considered, and concurred in.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented a message from the Governor; which was read, as follows, viz:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, }
Harrisburg, April 1, 1859. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania;

GENTLEMEN—I have approved and signed the following acts of the General Assembly, viz:

"An Act to incorporate the Pittsburg Park association."

"Resolution to pay the Clerk and Sergeant-at-Arms for serving with the committee to examine into the condition of certain banks."

WM. F. PACKER.

The hour of one having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

FRIDAY, April 1, 1859.

The House was called to order at nine and a half o'clock.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday.

When, on motion of Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) the further reading of the same was dispensed with.

Mr. ABBOTT, on leave given, called up House bill No. 1200, "An Act to incorporate the Philadelphia ocean steamship company."

On motion of Mr. HAMERSLY, Senate bill No. 793, was substituted for the same.

The bill was then considered and passed finally.

Mr. NEALL, on leave given, called up the act, entitled, "Supplement to an act to incorporate the Fairmount market company;" which was considered and passed.

Ordered to be sent to the Senate for concurrence.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTION.

Mr. M'CLURE, on leave given, offered a resolution that this House will hold a session, commencing at 7½ o'clock this evening, for the purpose of considering Senate bill No. 483, entitled, "A supplement to the exemption laws."

On the question,

Will the House proceed to the second reading and consideration of the same.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. CHURCH and Mr. M'CLURE, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Balliet, Barlow, Bayard, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Campbell, Church, Dismant, Dodds, Eckman, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Graham, Gratz, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Hottentstine, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Mann, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Miller, Neall, Oaks, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rose, Ronse, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stoneback, Stuart, Syer, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Witman, Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—62.

NAYS—Messrs. Barnsley, Bertolot, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Custer, Glatz, Goepf, Good, Gray, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, Price, Quigley, Walborn, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) and Woodring—17.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. SMITH, of Berks, moved to amend the resolution, by inserting the following bills:

"Supplement to the act regulating the militia of this Commonwealth."

"An act regulating the penalty for the sale or gift of spirituous or malt liquors, wine or cider, or permitting the same to be drank."

Mr. MILLER moved to amend the amendment, by striking out the bill relative to the militia, and inserting in lieu thereof, House bill, No. 1116, "Resolutions relative to the purchase of a lot adjoining the executive mansion;" which was not agreed to.

Mr. THOMPSON moved to amend the amendment, by including the bill indicated by Mr. MILLER; which was agreed to.

The amendment as modified was agreed to.

Mr. WALBORN moved further to amend, that the House proceed to the consideration of the bill annulling the marriage contract between Horace B. Fry, and Emily L., his wife, immediately after the disposition of the supplement to the $300 exemption law.

Mr. HAMERSLY. I was under the impression that the gentleman (Mr. WALBORN) was against this bill. If he has changed his opinions, I am glad to hear it.

Mr. WALBORN. Sir, I am unchanged; but I wish this House to meet that question, and pass upon a bill which bears every mark of owing its origin to an idea from the infernal regions, where his satanic majesty reigns supreme.

The SPEAKER. That is not a co-ordinate branch of this Legislature.

Mr. MILLER. I would like to know whether the gentleman refers to the lower house.

Mr. HAMERSLY. I wish to ask the Chair, if the gentleman is to use this kind of language, may we not reply to it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair did not allow the gentleman to indulge in indecorous language.

Mr. WALBORN. At the suggestion of certain gentlemen, who hold the same views I do in regard to this bill, I will modify my motion, so as to have this bill come in after the bill of the gentleman from Franklin.

My reason in offering this amendment, as I have already stated, is to have this matter disposed of by the House, so that they may have no excuse, by being absent, to dodge the question. I will reserve what I have to say until the proper time. I only ask that the gentlemen of this House will give us an opportunity to put a quietus to a question that has been before us for a whole session, and engrosses the attention of the whole Commonwealth.

Mr. GOEPP moved to amend, by including the act incorporating the Rebecca iron company.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to modify the motion of Mr. GOEPP, by adding bills on the Private Calendar; which was accepted.

The question being, will the House agree to the motion of Mr. WALBORN, as modified, it was determined in the negative.

Mr. EVANS moved that House bill No. 604, "An Act to prevent the importation of fish in Philadelphia at improper seasons of the year," be embraced by the resolution.

Mr. PINKERTON moved to include bill No. 205, "An Act to change the venue of a certain action from Union to Northumberland county."

Mr. ZOLLER moved that the further consideration of the whole subject be postponed indefinitely.

Mr. M'CLURE rose to a call of the previous question; which was sustained.

And on the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

It was determined in the affirmative.

The question therefore recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment proposed by Mr. PINKERTON?

It was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. EVANS withdrew his motion.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the resolution as amended?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr.

WALBORN and Mr. WARDEN, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Campbell, Church, Custer, Dismant, Eckman, Evans, Fisher, Fleming, Galley, Goepp, Good, Gratz, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Mann, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Neall, Oaks, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoueback, Stuart, Thorn, Wagenseller, Warden, Wilcox, Williston Withrow, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—54.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Barusley, Barlow, Bayard, Bryson, Burley, Chase, Dodds, Fearon, Foster, Graham, Gray, Green, Harding, Jackson, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, M'Dowell, Price, Ramsdell, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) and Zoller—30.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. GRAHAM, the House resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. WAGENSELLER in the chair,) on House bill No. 1051, "An Act relating to estates tail;" which was considered, and passed the House finally; and, ordered to be sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. PRICE moved that the rules be suspended, and that the House proceed to the consideration of Senate bill No. 338, "A further supplement to the act to incorporate the Conestoga and Beaver Valley turnpike road company."

Mr. CHASE called for a division of the question.

The House refused to suspend the rules.

BILL RE-CONSIDERED.

Messrs. FISHER and GOEPP moved that the House re-consider the vote by which House bill No. 182, "An Act to confer on certain associations of citizens of this Commonwealth, all the rights and immunities of corporations and bodies politic in law, and to confirm charters heretofore granted."

Mr. THORN moved that the further consideration of the motion to re-consider, be postponed indefinitely.

And on the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MILLER and Mr. CHURCH, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Chase, Church, Custer, Dodds, Eckman, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Glatz, Goepp, Graham, Gratz, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Irish, Lawrence, (Washington,) Matthews, M'Clure, Miller, Neall, Peirce, Pinkerton, Pughe, Quigley, Rose, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stoneback, Styer, Thorn, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Wiley, Williston and Zoller—49.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Barusley, Campbell, Foster, Galley, Good, Gray, Hottenstine, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Mann, M'Curdy, Proudfoot, Ramsdell, Shields, Smead, Stuart, Taylor, Wagenseller, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson and Withrow—24.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On motion of Messrs. KINNEY and SMEAD, the House re-considered the vote had on the final passage of the act to incorporate the Wy-sauking railroad company.

The question being on the final passage of bill,

Mr. KINNEY moved to amend the same, by adding to sixth section,

And provided also, That the stock of said company shall not be subject to any tax in consequence of the payment of the interest hereby authorized.

Which was agreed to.

And the bill, as amended, passed finally.

REPORT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE.

Mr. GRATZ, from the committee of conference, appointed relative to Senate bill No. 150, "A further supplement to an act consolidating the city of Philadelphia," made a report; which was read, and adopted by the House.

FREE BANKING BILL.

Agreeably to order, the House resumed the consideration of House bill No. 1213, "An Act to establish a general banking law."

Mr. CHASE asked and obtained the unanimous consent of the House, to insert the word "twenty" in the second line of the twenty-seventh section, and the word "ten" in the eighteenth line of the same section.

Mr. M'CLURE moved that the House go into committee of the whole for the purpose of special amendments, so that no person or persons shall be allowed to carry on the business of banking under this act unless the capital stock shall be at least $100,000.

Mr. WALBORN moved to amend the motion, by reducing the capital stock on which persons may carry on banking in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, to $100,000.

Mr. ROSE. The object of this law is to allow us to establish banks wherever the business wants of the community require, and the capital stock to be regulated just in proportion as the wants of the people demand. Every member of this House is aware that a larger banking business is done in the cities of Allegheny and Philadelphia than in the country, because it is a more profitable business in the city than in the country, where we do not want a capital of $100,000 to establish a bank, because our commercial interests are not such as to warrant it.

Mr. M'CLURE. I offered this amendment in good faith, and not for the purpose of embarrassing or defeating this bill. I believe the principle I have introduced to be the right one. I doubt whether my constituents desire the bill, but I believe the general principle of it to be right, and wish to inaugurate the system.—There is one evil we must guard against above all others, and that is irresponsible banking in the community and the inflation of our currency. If a community does not desire a bank with more than twenty-five thousand dollars, it does not need any. There is not a county in this State where a banking institution has not a capital of at least one hundred thousand dollars.

Mr. PATTERSON. I would ask the gentleman whether there are not saving institutions with a capital of fifty thousand dollars?

Mr. M'CLURE. I would answer there are, but they are not banks of issue.

Mr. ROSE. I would ask the gentleman, will the note-holders be just as secure if the bank had a capital of one hundred thousand dollars, as they would had it a capital of twenty-five thousand dollars?

Mr. M'CLURE. They may or may not be, but it is certainly right that our banking institutions should be of a proper character, and that we should take every care to provide for their support. We provide that in Philadelphia there shall be no bank established with less than two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and I appeal to this House that they will not throw on the State at large any number of banks with a capital of only twenty-five thousand dollars.—Let us have a solid capital, if any.

Mr. ROSE called the previous question. He said—

I believe the gentleman from Franklin offered this amendment for the purpose of embarrassing the bill; and, therefore, I rise to a call of the previous question.

Mr. HAMERSLY. I would suggest to my friend from Mercer, (Mr. ROSE,) and to the friends of this bill, that it is one of the most important of the session, and that they should allow every member to have an opportunity of expressing his views.

Mr. M'CLURE. I desire to say, I repel the accusation, that I offered this amendment to embarrass and defeat this bill. Those who know my views, know I will vote for it; but I have to say, if gentlemen will insist on this clause, standing as it is, I will have to vote against the bill.

Mr. WILLISTON. I had supposed these principles of banking were familiar to every member of this House, but here we are met by a class of men who, though friends to the bill, say that, unless there is a clause in the bill regulating the amount of capital for a bank at $25,000, they will vote against the bill. We find another class, who say they are friends of the bill, but if a provision is not inserted in it to the effect that the capital of a bank shall be $100,000, they will oppose it. I regard these minor questions as of no importance whatever. I would be willing, so far as I am concerned, to have no maximum or minimum in the bill at all, for the reasons that if a bank be established in any community, it will regulate itself to the wants of the people of that community. I regard this minor question as too trifling to occupy the attention of the House for a moment.

Mr. WALBORN said if the country banks were allowed to have a smaller amount of capital than those in the city, those country banks will soon be removing into the city, as they now are.

Mr. KINNEY. I agree with the gentleman from Tioga, (Mr. WILLISTON,) on this subject. I think we should not place any limits to the capital of a bank. I do not desire to make any alteration whatever, as this is a matter of little consequence.

Mr. ROSE. I have just a word to say in answer to the remarks of the gentleman from Franklin, (Mr. M'CLURE.) I will state the grounds on which I inferred the gentleman from Franklin was hostile to this bill, and I still hold that the position taken by that gentleman, places him antagonistic to the bill. He proposes an amendment of $100,000. If that amendment prevails, how many banks will be established in this State? Can he tell me of one that will be established on that principle, outside of the cities of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia?

Mr. M'CLURE. I would answer, we have not a bank in the State with a capital less than $100,000.

Mr. ROSE. If the amendment of the gentleman prevails, it will virtually destroy the object of this bill, so far as the country is concerned. It is on these grounds, I allege, the gentleman, (Mr. M'CLURE,) wished to defeat this bill by his amendment.

On the motion to go into committee of the whole,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. M'CLURE and Mr. ROSE, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Bayard, Hill, Hottenstine, Mehaffey, M'Clure, Neall, Peirce, Proudfoot, Ramsdell, Stephens, Walborn and Williams, (Bucks,)—13.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Good, Graham, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Matthews, M'Curdy, Miller, Patterson, Pinkerton, Pughe, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stoneback, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walker, Wardeu, Witman, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Wilson and Withrow—58.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) moved that the House go into committee of the whole, for the purpose of special amendment, not to allow bank notes to be issued under a less denomination than twenty dollars.

Mr. GRITMAN called for the previous question.

And on the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) and Mr. NEALL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Campbell, Chase, Church, Dodds, Fisher, Fleming, Galley, Good, Graham, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Matthews, M'Curdy, Miller, Patterson, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Smead, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Witman, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—43.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Burley, Custer, Dismant, Eckman, Evans, Fearon, Foster, Glatz, Goepf, Gray, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Mehaffey, M'Clure, Neall, Oaks, Peirce, Pinkerton, Rohrer, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Walker, Warden, Wilson and Withrow—36.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The question now being,

Will the House agree to the amendment proposed by Mr. SMITH, (Berks?)

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) and Mr. FLEMING, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Barnsley, Custer, Dismant, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Glatz, Goepf, Good, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Oaks, Quigley, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Warden, Williams (Bucks,) and Woodring—23.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbot, Acker, Balliet, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Dodds, Eckman, Foster, Galley, Graham, Glatz, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Irish, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Miller, Neall, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walhorn, Walker, Witman, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Withrow and Lawrence, Speaker—62.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question again recurring,

Shall the bill pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GOEPP and Mr. WILCOX, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Dodds, Fisher, Foster, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Mann, Miller, Pughe, Rose, Rouse, Smead, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Witman, Wilcox, Williston, Withrow and Lawrence, Speaker—31.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Custer, Dismant, Eckman, Evans, Fearon, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Goepf, Good, Graham, Glatz, Gray, Green, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Neall, Oaks, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Quigley, Rohrer, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Wagenseller, Walhorn, Walker, Warden, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson and Woodring—54.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) said—

I believe there is no subject in reference to which there is so general a desire for a thorough reform as this question of banking. The people, disgusted with their experience of the utter futility of every expedient that has yet been devised to protect the holders of bank notes, have expressed a deep concern in whatever relates to the subject. It becomes us, therefore, to innovate upon the established system with the greatest circumspection. I have looked at the provisions of the proposed bill with a predisposition to find it embody a system insuring not only the ultimate security of the note-holders, but the prompt redemption of the notes themselves. It proposes indeed to secure against total loss the various promises to pay put forth by the banking institutions in the debts of the State and general government—which based upon the credit and character of the nation, I trust will ever be reliable security—but I have searched in vain for any provision insuring the prompt redemption of these promises to pay upon demand. I will support no system which is wanting in this essential particular. The credit and standing of banks, like that of individuals, rests not alone upon their ultimate solvency; it exacts more than this; it exacts at punctual compliance with their obligations. It is, sir, to the want of this ability, upon the part of banks, to respond, upon demand, to their just engagements, that the disaster and ruinous consequences of every financial crisis that has heretofore cursed the land, have been mainly attributable. The chief value of a bank note consists in the assured confidence of the holder that the promise it bears upon its face is not vain and illusory, but to be depended upon at all times, without the possibility of failure. I cannot vote for a currency which is not always reliable. This objection is not met by the fact that the holder cannot ultimately lose; that the State is bound to pay him is the last resort. He has placed his reliance upon your promise to pay him on demand; upon this he has depended to meet his own current engagements; his credit and character are staked upon the punctual compliance of banks with their promises, not upon their final ability to pay; and if this promise is not literally fulfilled, his credit and business are together destroyed, in spite of that ultimate solvency. The system now suggested is, if possible, more defective in this important particular than the present. For these reasons, among others, I cast my vote against the bill.

I have long believed that the only real reform in this difficult question, must commence with the suppression of notes of a small denomination. To effect this desirable consummation, I had the honor to submit a bill to the House at the commencement of the session. If the House take up that bill, and pass it at once, it will have done more in one day towards real reform, than the legislation of a quarter of a century and more, has been able to effect.

Mr. GOEPP said—My reasons for voting against this bill, are as follows:

The doctrine, that the business of issuing paper money, if permitted to be carried on at all, should be free and open to all who choose to embark in it, upon them giving those securities which are deemed necessary to ensure the ultimate safety of note-holders, is, undoubtedly, correct in principle. Our present system of banking, (if, indeed, the thing can be called a system at all,) consists of a general law, (the act of 22d March, 1817,) which makes it a penal offence to issue notes intended for circulation, and of a series of acts called bank charters, which grant to certain corporations special dispensations, permitting them to be guilty of this penal offence. These charters have been granted, from time to time, at the discretion of the Legislature, who, by an ingenious legal fiction, are supposed to be capable of judging where banks are needed, and how much paper money they ought to be permitted to issue. That this so called system takes the paper currency of the State out of the operation of the law of supply and demand, and places it under the control of certain corporations, which, however well conducted, are, in their very nature, monopolies, is apparent. It rests upon no settled principle, and seems to be composed of a mere succession of temporary expedients. There can be but two systems; the one, that which prohibits all paper currency, and the other, that which allows all who comply with certain conditions, to issue paper money; thus leaving the matter to be regulated by the law of supply and demand. Experience alone, can, perhaps, decide which of these is the true system. The bill now under consideration professes to be based upon the latter principle. I vote against it: first, because I believe that this is no proper time for trying an experiment of so much importance, so great danger, inasmuch as the country is but just recovering from the financial crisis of 1857, and all disturbing influences ought to be avoided.

Secondly, because this bill restricts the privilege of issuing bank notes, to parties who have a capital of twenty-five thousand dollars, and upwards; and

Thirdly, because it allows the issuing of notes of a less denomination than twenty dollars.

Mr. M'CLURE said he must oppose this bill because it is objectionable in many of its details; but especially because it allows banks to be organized with but $25,000 of capital, and $3,125 in specie. For such a bill he could not vote, though favorable to the principle of free banking, with proper restrictions. He therefore voted "No!"

Mr. HAMERSLY said—

In earnestly advocating the passage of this bill, through all its stages, I am but redeeming a pledge made to one who is not now here to claim its fulfillment, but whose vacant seat, surrounded as it is by all the habiliments of woe, has constantly reminded me of the sacredness of the promise, and of the obligation which rests upon me to carry it out. It was a bill, sir, which my late colleague had much at heart, and one in the investigation of which he had spent much time; and I have no doubt, sir, that, had he been spared, he could have brought such an array of facts and arguments in its favor as would have carried conviction to the mind of every gentleman in this Hall. In almost the last conversation that I had with him, he expressed a deep interest in the passage of this bill, and an earnest hope that it would receive the favorable action of the House. If, sir, I had no other reason, I should vote for the bill in order to carry out the wishes of my late friend. But, sir, the bill is right and proper in itself. Its passage is earnestly advocated by thousands of the workingmen of the community—men who do not often come before us with their claims, but who are eminently entitled to our sympathy and protection when they do come. I trust, Mr. Speaker, that the motion will prevail; and that the bill, having already received the sanction of two thirds of the members of this House, will now be allowed to go to the Senate, where, I hope, it will meet with equal favor.

Mr. MATTHEWS. I shall vote against this bill, because I believe it will greatly and unnecessarily increase the banking capital of the State. I shall vote against the bill to prevent an undue expansion of banking capital and an increased number of pet banks.

Mr. WALBORN would vote "no," on the passage of this bill, because it did not render equal justice to both the city and country, and he did not believe that his constituents would wish him to endorse it. The impropriety of its provisions was manifest, inasmuch as it allowed the institutions of the country to operate upon a capital of twenty-five thousand dollars, and required those of the city to have a basis of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The effect of this would be to encourage the starting of a number of small banks in the interior, about which the community knew nothing, and would not have the same opportunity of investigation as was afforded by the weekly statements of the city banks. He was opposed to having any bank on a smaller capital than fifty thousand dollars in any part of the Commonwealth.

Mr. PINKERTON said—

My reasons for voting no, on the free banking bill, are that no bill should pass and become a law, wherein the public are so deeply interested as in the present one, unless they first become fully acquainted with its provisions, and then show their approval or disapproval by petition or otherwise. On the present bill, no petition has been presented. The public have not moved in the matter, and the press generally, have advocated and discussed the subject but slightly. From my own constituents, I have not had a scratch of a pen, either pro or con, and believing that they would be generally opposed to the features of the bill, if the same became a law. I vote "no."

Mr. STEPHENS said—

I vote against this bill, believing, in so doing, that I have discharged a duty which I owed to my country, to my constituents and to posterity, which I conscientiously believe to be in keeping with my constitutional obligation. I am in favor of a bill of this character, properly guarded, and restrained within due limits, if we are to have a paper currency, which I have always doubted the utility of, so that every dollar of it will be secured by State stock, or other available means. Past experience has demonstrated to us that we have had too many bank rags in circulation, for our ability to redeem with gold and silver. For this reason, we should be careful how we create these institutions, so that the amount of paper money, put in circulation by them, they could always be able to redeem. All over that amount, is but credit, which destroys and prostrates the business interests of the country. Since our present banks have a right to violate their charter at pleasure, which all of them have done, I think it our duty, as representatives of the people's interests, to exercise a plain constitutional right of altering and revoking them at our pleasure, by placing them on a safe foundation—by forcing them to come under this system, giving them the right to do so, or to suspend their operations—then leaving it optional with the Legislature to charter banks from time to time, as the necessity of the community demanded, and in proportion to our increase of gold and silver, so that they would have the ability to redeem.

But to suffer our present banks to keep in operation, and then leaving the power with the courts, in accordance with this bill, to establish banks at their pleasure, we would soon have our country filled with pet banks, which would deluge the whole country with promises to pay, and inflate and expand the credit system beyond all hopes of redemption, which would fill our people with such extravagant hopes and desires, that they would rush into all kinds of wild schemes of speculation, and, for the time being, might prosper, until a reaction of the redemption of these notes should take place; then this bloated pet bank system would show forth its workings. When it had drove the greater part of our gold and silver out of the country, and what little we had left, to be divided up in probably three times our present number of banks, which would have three times the notes to redeem, and, with a corresponding want of the means. Then would come another crisis; ruin and disaster would stare the whole country in the face, and all would be placed in one mass of general bankruptcy.

Mr. JACKSON said—

Mr. SPEAKER: I believe that the present banking system is defective, and that note-holders should have greater security than they now have, under the banking laws of this Commonwealth. This is, indeed, a very important subject, proposing, as it does, an entire change in the banking laws of our State, and should be approached cautiously, and examined very carefully and closely in all its details. A bill of such great importance and great length, should have been brought before the House at an earlier stage of the session, when we could have had a better opportunity to give our time and attention to the consideration of the subject. I vote "No."

Mr. NEALL said, my reasons for voting against the bill now pending, are, that instead of establishing a free banking system, such as seems to be required by the wants of the people of this Commonwealth, it will have a tendency to establish under its provisions, a system which would, in my opinion, prove disastrous to the interests of the community.

Mr. BERTOLET said—

Mr. SPEAKER—I am compelled to vote against this bill, because I do believe that the principle it is founded upon, is not reliable; and that it will have an effect of establishing a system of banking and saving shops, which will be ruinous and injurious to the community, and cripple instead of relieving the needy portion of our citizens.

I am in favor of such a law as the one proposed, provided it will be based on reliable and satisfactory securities, and that it shall guarantee ample justice to all.

Mr. M'DOWELL, on the final passage of the bill, stated that he was not opposed to the general principles of a free banking law, but, as the act, in its present shape, did not meet either his own views or those of his constituents, as he understood them, he voted "no." The provisions of the free banking law of the State of New York, he thought, were better suited to the wants of the people of Pennsylvania, and if the proposed measure had been similar, he would have voted for it.

Mr. IRISH desired to give his reasons for voting "No." The measure was one of great importance, and of a character which ought not to be acted upon hastily. Three months of the session are passed, and it is not more than a week ago, since the subject was first broached in the House. He had been unable, from the pressure of other business, in this brief time, to give the subject that examination which its importance merits. It was a question which had not been agitated in the county to which he belonged, and he did not know that his constituents were in favor of the passage of such an act; he had received no communication nor information on the subject.

He felt it his duty, therefore, under the circumstances, to record his vote in the negative.

Mr. RAMSDELL paired off with Mr. SHAFER on this question.

Mr. CHURCH gave notice, that he proposed hereafter to move a re-consideration of the vote adopting the report of the committee of conference, on the Senate bill No. 150, namely, "A further supplement to the act to incorporate the city of Philadelphia." The sentiments of that report was offensive to public feeling in Philadelphia; it was repugnant to every disposition which he had; and had he supposed, when the matter was before the House, that the motion was to adopt so unrepugnant and improper a proposition, as giving the election of the board of health and guardians of the poor to the supreme court, he would not only have voted against it, but would have called the yeas and nays. When the matter again came up, he proposed to give his views on the subject, and believed he would be sustained by every Democratic and Republican member. The people of Philadelphia demanded that they continue to elect their board of health and guardians of the poor; they did not desire the courts to take from them one of their dearest rights; they would do their voting hereafter, as they had done heretofore. If bad men get in office, they could turn them out without applying to judge or juries.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Messrs. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) PEIRCE and GOOD asked and obtained leave of absence for Messrs. WIGTON, SHAFER and WOLF for a few days.

Messrs. HAMERSLY and GOEPP moved that the House proceed to the consideration of the act, entitled "A supplement to the act limiting actions against real estate;" which was not agreed to.

PUBLIC CALENDAR.

Agreeably to order, the House proceeded to the consideration of bills on the Public Calendar, whereupon the following were taken up, considered, and passed finally.

With Mr. BARLOW in the Chair, Senate bill No. 219, "A supplement to an act relating to orphans' courts, and for other purposes."

With Mr. ECKMAN in the Chair, Senate bill No. 637, "Supplement to an act relating to executors and administrators."

With Mr. BARNESLEY in the Chair, Senate bill No. 47, "An Act concerning turnpike, plank road and bridge companies."

With Mr. WITHROW in the Chair, Senate bill No. 294, "An Act relative to recording deeds in this Commonwealth."

With Mr. GOOD in the Chair, "An Act relating to interest upon verdicts."

With Mr. BRYSON in the Chair, the House postponed the further consideration of Senate bill No. 292, "An Act relating to the fees of surveyors."

Mr. WILLISTON moved that the House proceed to the consideration of the act relative to writs of estrepment; which was not agreed to.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented a message from the Governor; which was read, as follows, viz:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, April 1, 1859.

WM. F. PACKER.

The hour of one having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until 3 p. m.

HOUSE.—AFTERNOON SESSION.

The House was called to order at three o'clock.

On motion of Mr. GREEN, the House resumed the consideration of Senate bill No. 339, "An Act to incorporate the Marietta, Mt. Joy, Sporting Hill and Manheim turnpike road company," which was passed finally.

Mr. WAGENSELLER, on leave given, presented the petition of citizens of Jackson township, Snyder county, for the passage of an act to change the place of holding elections in said township.

Also, "An Act to change the place of holding elections in Jackson township, Snyder county."

Mr. WAGENSELLER moved that the rules be suspended, and that the House proceed to the consideration of the same.

Mr. THORN called for a division of the question.

The first division, which was to suspend the rules, was agreed to.

The second division was likewise carried.

Whereupon, said bill was taken up, and passed.

Ordered to be sent to the Senate for concurrence.

On motion of Mr. WILSON, the House resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. TAYLOR in the Chair,) on House bill No. 628, "An Act relative to the settlements of certain officers with the State Treasurer."

The bill was passed the House and sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. BAYARD called up bill 1300, "An Act to authorize the Surveyor General to sell certain vacant lands." At the Printer's.

Mr. MILLER called up Senate bill No. 674, "An Act for the appointment of police officers in the borough of Meadville, and the settlement of claims on account of the poor of said borough;" which was passed finally.

Mr. PEIRCE called up House bill No. 1220, "An Act relative to supervisors in New London and East Marlborough townships, Chester county;" which was passed.

Mr. PEIRCE, (from the Committee to Compare Bills,) made report; which was read.

Mr. GOEPP called up House bill No. 1207, "An Act to incorporate the Rebecca iron company;" which was passed finally, and sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. HILL called up Senate bill No. 710, "Supplement to an act incorporating the Spinnerstown and Goshenhoppen turnpike road company;" which was passed finally.

On motion of Mr. BARNESLEY, the House resolved itself into committee of the whole, on House bill No. 239, "A further supplement to an act for the regulation and continuance of a system of education by common schools," (Mr. GRAY in the chair.)

The first section was read.

Mr. KETCHUM did not see any reason why the farmer should be exempt from taxation on his occupation for school purposes.

Mr. KINNEY replied that the land from which the farmer derived his support was already taxed. The agriculturist was exempted from personal tax for State and county purposes.

Mr. KETCHUM considered this a fallacious argument.

Mr. BARNESLEY said that the intention of the section was, evidently, to make the law uniform relative to the taxation of farmers. In many of the counties of the Commonwealth, his own for example, the occupation tax was not assessed on agriculturists. It was only right that there should be a uniform system throughout the State.

This bill had been introduced by himself, but the section now under consideration was introduced by the superintendent of common schools. He had submitted with deference to the opinion of that official.

No thought, however, that there were really good and sufficient reasons why the occupation of the farmer should be exempt from taxation. His real estate sustained nearly the whole burden of government; his lands were taxed to the uttermost, and in proportion to the income which he received, he paid more than other classes of the community.

Lawyers with no real estate, and with incomes usually larger than those of farmers, were justly taxed for their occupation. If there was no occupation tax levied upon them they would go free.

These reasons, he hoped, would prove satisfactory to the gentleman from Luzerne, (Mr. KETCHUM.) If not, then he feared that no explanation that he could make would be satisfactory.

Mr. WILSON said as a friend of the common school system he would recommend the repeal of the tax commonly called the poll tax, or one dollar tax—it had become an injury to the common school system of education. The common school system was adopted for the purpose of affording the children of the Commonwealth a reasonable education, without respect to the ability of their parents, the children of those in straightened circumstances, as well as the children of the wealthy parents; this was the fundamental principle of the system. This principle was invaded by the enactment of the law creating the poll tax, and as I believe, for the purpose of inducing some counties to adopt the system. The wealthy of those counties refusing complained that the poorer class paid little tax in comparison with them. This tax has caused much trouble and re-action among the people. The whole section should be wiped out, and much good will be done the cause of education. The act fails to meet the object intended, in several respects—it proposes to raise tax off the poor, and the tax is assessed; and after all, much of the tax is exonerated and but little is obtained. The law is construed variously. In some places, the law is construed to extend to all persons—whether they pay more than one dollar on their property, or less than a dollar; in some places they assess no poll tax when there is a property tax amounting to and exceeding one dollar.

Again, it operates against many who are farmers' sons residing at home with their parents, and have no property to pay taxes with.—I am of the opinion that this tax is an infringement of the fundamental principle of the common school system, as I have said, and ought to be repealed.

Mr. PUGHE. I have listened with great attention to my distinguished friend from Beaver (Mr. WILSON,) but for the life of me I cannot tell what he has been talking about. While the gentleman was speaking, several gentlemen came to me and asked what Mr. General WILSON speaking about? Well, I answered, I believe it was the common school system. There is one thing, I believe, I can infer from his remarks, that is, that my friend is a representative character on this floor, of what? Why the race of old bachelors that flood our State; and the drift of his argument is to exempt them from taxation in support of our glorious common school system. Now, Mr. Speaker, why should they be exempt, for the law says "the occupation tax upon single freemen shall not be less than one dollar." If I understand the meaning of the term of "single freemen," it means bachelors. Now if these bachelors have not the moral courage to take unto themselves a wife, and obey the command, "be fruitful and multiply," to help to people this great Commonwealth and elevate her in intelligence, wealth and virtue, why should they complain at paying the small pittance of fifty cents, or a dollar, to give and aid the poor man's child in obtaining a good and solid common school education, and thus aid in building up our great Commonwealth in virtue and intelligence?

I believe, sir, that it is right and just, that every citizen of this State should be made and compelled to pay a tax to support a system, that I hold is a credit and glory of our Commonwealth, and, sir, I believe it meets with the approbation of the whole country. Aye! I might say with a truth, the civilized world.

It was but recently I read in the London Times of a distinguished statesman of England, allude in the most flattering terms to our Common School system—but, sir, the question now before the House is not the doing away entirely with the occupation tax, but to reduce it to that which it was two years ago. The gentlemen who oppose this section ask for reasons why the occupation of a farmer should be exempt from taxation. I answer these gentlemen by reading the twenty-ninth section of the school laws of Pennsylvania.

"That for the purpose of enabling the board of directors or controllers to assess and apportion the tax for the ensuing school year, the county commissioners shall, when required, furnish the president or secretary of the board, with a correct copy of the last adjusted valuation of proper subjects, and things made taxable for State and county purposes, which said property, subjects and things are hereby made taxable for school purposes, according to the provisions of this act."

This, sir, is the basis of taxation for school purposes, and we all know that the occupation of a farmer is not taxable for State purposes, consequently is not taxable for school purposes. When this amendment was before the Committee on Education, of which I have the honor to be a member, it was stated that the State superintendent of common schools had received more letters from all parts of the State, asking information and instruction upon this occupation tax, than any other subject connected with the department. There has been a great misunderstanding on the subject throughout the rural districts. And to set this matter right, and beyond cavil and misconception, the committee inserted this section, which I think is right and based upon the true principles of the law, which forms the basis of common school taxation. I am of the opinion, sir, that the occupation of a farmer ought not to be taxed, because, as my friend from Bucks, (Mr. BARNESLEY,) has rightly remarked, that the land of the farmer is already taxed enough, without having to pay an occupation tax.

I have probably said enough in explanation, to inform my friend, Mr. KETCHUM, why this section was introduced. I am not in favor of meddling or tinkering up our school system at present, like some Solons who pretend to be the friends of the system, and at the same time, the secret enemies, who would glory in the downfall and annihilation of the whole system. Let us give it a fair, impartial and candid trial, before we begin to howl and cry it down. I allude, more particularly, to the excellent system of county superintendents; a system which already has almost revolutionized whole counties, to awake to the great interests of common school education, and elevate the moral and intellectual tone of the schools.

Mr. HAMERSLY said—

Mr. SPEAKER:—If we desire to secure permanency to the present school system; if we desire to commend it to popular favor, we must be careful how to adjust its burdens as to allow them to fall, like its blessings, equally upon all classes of the community. We must not exempt one class of persons from taxes, which we imposed by law upon all others. If this tax has been found to operate oppressively, let it be repealed altogether, but do not, by relieving one class, impose additional burdens upon others. If it is right that the farmer should be exempted from the payment of the tax, it is equally right that the mechanic and laboring man should share a like exemption. There is nothing so much calculated to bring our laws into disrepute; nothing that is so likely to make them distasteful to the people, as the repeated attempts that are made in this House and elsewhere to make them partial in their application. Now, sir, I know that the farmers throughout the State are as patriotic and public spirited as any other class; that they do not and will not shrink from their just share of the public burdens, and I do not believe that they desire any exemption that will not apply equally to all other classes of their fellow-citizens.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) moved to amend the bill as follows:

That from and after the passage of this act the office of county superintendent of common schools, be and the same is hereby abolished.

Mr. ROSE moved further to amend the bill as follows; which was not agreed to:

That the qualified electors of the several cities, boroughs and counties of this Commonwealth, shall, at the next general election, determine by ballot, whether the office of county superintendent of common schools shall be abolished or not; and that the ballots so voted shall be for the county superintendent and against the county superintendent, and the result of said election shall be certified by the proper officers in the mode prescribed by existing laws in relation to the returns for State officers; and if a majority of the votes polled should be against the abolition of said office, then the same shall remain as provided for by existing laws; and if a majority of the votes so polled should be in favor of the abolition of the office, then the said officers to be declared abolished by the State Superintendent of Common Schools, to take effect on the first Monday in January next succeeding said election, notice of the same to be sent by said State Superintendent to the several superintendents of the Commonwealth.

Mr. ROSE said—

Mr. SPEAKER: I offered this amendment in good faith. There is evidently a great contrariety of opinions among the electors of this Commonwealth as to this branch of the common school system. Some are of the opinion that the office of county superintendent should be abolished—others think that the continuance of this office is essential to the prosperity of the school system—while another class desire simply a modification of the law on this subject. From the number of letters and petitions which I have received on this question, I am satisfied that a large proportion, if not a majority, of my constituents are in favor of the abolition of this office. It is unquestionably the duty of a representative to obey and respect the known will of a majority of his constituents, especially on a question that so deeply concerns their interests as the one now pending. Now, sir, I know of no better way of ascertaining the will of the people, upon any question, than by leaving them to decide upon its merits at the ballot box. Under our Republican form of government, all questions of public policy are, either directly or indirectly, referred back to the people for their final decision. If representatives abuse the trust confided in them, by the passage of obnoxious or unwholesome laws, the judgment of an indignant constituency will hurl them from power and elect those who will obey their wishes. The people are the source of all power, and they are the court of last resort in the adjudication of all questions. Surely, then, there can be nothing improper in referring the decision of this question to the ballot box. I believe that our school system should be uniform throughout the State, and, consequently, that it would be bad policy to abolish the office of county superintendent in some of the districts of this Commonwealth and continue it in others. It is true that in some of the counties of this Commonwealth, either from the incompetency of county superintendents, or from other causes, the law is very obnoxious—while in other counties the law seems to work well and the people are satisfied with it. But I do not regard this as a sufficient reason for continuing the office in those counties where the people are satisfied with it, and abolishing it in those where the people are dissatisfied. Such a course would destroy the harmony and efficiency of our school system. In view of these facts, I think there is no better plan than to refer this question directly back to the people. If a majority of the voters of this Commonwealth decide against this provision of the law then it had better be repealed, otherwise it will become so odious, that no good can result from its execution.

Mr. NEALL moved that the committee rise, report progress and ask leave to sit again; which was agreed to.

On the question, Shall the committee have leave to sit again?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAMERSLY and Mr. NEALL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Boyer, (Schnylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Chase, Church, Eckman, Fleming, Good, Graham, Gratz, Hamersly, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Miller, Neall, Peirce, Pinkerton, Shields, Thorn, Walborn, Warden and Wiley—27.

NAYS—Messrs. Balliet, Barnesley, Barlow, Bayard, Bertholet, Brodhead, Campbell, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Evans, Foster, Galley, Gray, Green, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Mahaffey, M'Dowell, Oaks, Patterson, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rose, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stoneback, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Wagonseller, Walker, Witman, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow and Woodring—46.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The bill was again read, as follows:

FURTHER SUPPLEMENT to an act for the regulation and continuance of a system of education by common schools.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the second section of the act approved the 21st day of May, 1857, entitled "A supplement to an act for the regulation and continuance of a system of education by common schools," be and the same is hereby repealed.

SECTION 2. That it is hereby declared to be the true intent and meaning of the law in relation to the tax on occupations, that the occupation of a farmer shall be exempt from taxation for school purposes.

SECTION 3. That nothing herein contained shall be construed to change the assessments already made in pursuance of law with the official construction thereon, or to prevent the collection of the taxes so assessed and levied for the present year.

The first section was read and agreed to.

The second section was read.

Mr. ABBOTT moved to amend by inserting the word "not," after the word "shall."

Mr. KETCHUM moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed indefinitely. Not agreed to.

Mr. ABBOTT'S amendment was lost.

Mr. RAMSDALL moved to amend the section, as follows:

Provided, That it shall not be lawful for the school directors or controllers of the common schools of any school district in this State, in determining the amount of tax to be levied in their district for school and building purposes, to exceed ten mills on the dollar, on any and all property subject to taxation by existing laws for school purposes: Provided further, That if the school fund in any school district be insufficient to keep the schools open four months in each year, a failure to do so, shall not prevent the said district or districts from receiving the State appropriation.

Mr. RAMSDALL said—

Mr. SPEAKER:—Sir, I do not propose to argue the propriety of the proviso I have just offered, but trust its merits are apparent to all. I offered it, sir, in good faith, as a friend of the common school system, and trust it will receive the sanction of this House. All the eulogies that gentlemen have pronounced on the common school system, I heartily endorse. But there are defects which should be remedied. The system, I trust, is not too sacred to be modified.

All laws to be operative and conducive to the public good, must be in accordance with public opinion. In some of the districts of my own county, twenty-six mills on the dollar are levied for school and building purposes. This is regarded by a great majority as oppressive. Whilst my constituents are liberal and willing to contribute to this cause, I desire to place a reasonable limit on the school directors, to rid the system of those embarrassing side issues, which, if not corrected, will, I fear, eventually overthrow the system itself.

On the amendment,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. ROSE and Mr. FLEMING, and were as follows, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Dodds, Fleming, Miller, Pinkerton, Ramsdell, Rouse, Thompson and Williams, (Bedford,)—8.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Eckman, Evans, Fisher, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Good, Graham, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, McHaffey, Matthews, McClure, McCurdy, Neall, Oaks, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rohrer, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stoneback, Styer, Taylor, Thorn, Wagenseller, Warden, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—65.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring, will the House agree to the second section? it was agreed to.

Mr. SMITH (Berks) moved to amend the bill, as follows:

SECTION 3. That the qualified electors of the several cities and boroughs and counties of this Commonwealth shall, at the next general election, determine, by ballot, whether a majority of the citizens of this Commonwealth desire the abolition of the office of county superintendent of common schools or not, and that the ballots so voted shall be "for the county superintendent" and "against the county superintendent," and the result of said election shall be certified by the proper officers in the manner proscribed by existing laws relative to the returns of State officers to the next Legislature, who may take such action in regard to the same as may be deemed reasonable and just.

And on the question, will the House agree to the amendment?

A motion was made by Mr. HAMERSLY, that the House do now adjourn; which was agreed to.

Whereupon the Speaker adjourned the House until this evening at 7½ o'clock.

HOUSE—EVENING SESSION.

The SPEAKER called the House to order at 7½ p. m.

Mr. WALKER moved that the rules be suspended, and that the House proceed to the consideration of House bill No. 629, "A supplement to an act to regulate and continue a system of education by common schools."

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) called for a division of the question.

And on the first division to suspend the rules. It was determined in the negative.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. MCCLURE, on leave given, offered a resolution that this House will hold a session to-morrow morning, from nine until twelve o'clock, in lieu of the afternoon session, for the purpose of considering private bills remaining undisposed on last Tuesday's Private Calendar; and when the House adjourns it will meet again on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock; adopted.

On motion of Mr. RAMSDALL, the House resolved to hold a session next Monday evening, commencing at 7½ o'clock, for the purpose of considering bills in which the House has made progress.

Mr. EVANS, on leave given, recorded his vote in the affirmative, on the final vote had on House bill No. 182, "An Act to confer on certain associations of citizens of the Commonwealth the rights and immunities of corporations and bodies politic in law, and to confirm charters heretofore granted."

Mr. McDOWELL, on leave given, read in his place and presented to the Chair, "An Act to authorize the Charters' Valley railroad company to lease their road."

SPECIAL ORDER.

Agreeably to order, the House resumed the consideration of Senate bill No. 483, "An Act relative to the exemption of three hundred dollars to the widows and children of decedents."

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment offered by Mr. THOMPSON, which is as follows:

Provided, That in all cases where the person signing such waiver has a wife living, at the time of executing the same, it shall be void, unless his wife shall join in the execution thereof, in the same manner now provided for in the execution of a deed by a married woman, under the act of 11th April, 1848; it was determined in the negative.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the second section, which reads as follows:

SEC 2 That any person otherwise entitled to the exemption provided for in this act and the act to which this act is a supplement, shall not be deprived thereof in consequence of any contract made after the 1st day of May, 1859, by which the right to claim such exemption shall be waived or released: Provided, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to contracts made for the renting of a dwelling house or for other things necessary for the support and maintenance of the wife or family of any such person.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to amend by striking from the same the proviso.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAMERSLY and Mr. MANN, and were as follows, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Burley, Church, Eckman, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Glatz, Hamersly, Mann, Matthews, McCurdy, Neall, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rouse, Shields, Thorn, Withrow, Warden, Wiley, Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Withrow and Lawrence, Speaker—26.

NAYS—Messrs. Barusley, Barlow, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Bryson, Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Evans, Galley, Goepf, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Green, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) McHaffey, McCare, Oaks, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rose, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Taylor, Thompson, Walker, Witman, Williams, (Bedford,) Wilson and Woodring—41.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question again recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. KETCHUM was opposed to the second section in toto. It provided to tie the hands of every poor man, and to make the law dictate what he should or should not do with his own property; that he should not control his last three hundred dollars and part with it if he choose. The principle seemed to be that a man should not be master of his own money because he might lose it.

There was another strong reason why this section should not pass. There might be some rich and prosperous district where the privilege of waiver was not of much account, but in the majority of the counties of the State, in the mining districts where life and fortune were alike precarious, and few men owned three hundred dollars worth of property, there would be no possible security for the merchants, storekeepers and those who supplied the necessities of subsistence to the laboring classes.

Mr. MCCLURE said that the section afforded protection to this very class of dealers by allowing them to receive waiver notes.

Mr. KETCHUM said that it would be all a matter of risk. The section would debar poor men from obtaining credit, and would operate to crush them and confine their business and enterprise.

Mr. MCCLURE refuted the arguments of the gentleman from Luzerne, (Mr. KETCHUM,) and said that the idea was fallacious that the section took from a man the control of his own property. The fact was to the contrary. The storekeeper and merchant were alike protected.

The law was not only applicable to the laborer. The rich man of to-day were the poor one of to-morrow, and it would benefit all alike.

It would not affect credit where it was justly deserved or restrict those who did not need restriction. Under a decision of the supreme court, the family of the deceased could take the benefit of the exemption law, notwithstanding all the waiver notes which might have been given.

He rebutted at length, the allegation that the law would take the control of property from its owners, and concluded with some eloquent remarks on the benefit to accrue from the passage of the act as amended.

Mr. WILLISTON said that the proviso effectually nullified the section and made the whole law a mockery. He favored his views at some length.

Mr. THOMPSON assumed a position antagonistic to that of the gentleman from Franklin, (Mr. MCCLURE,) and declared the arguments which he used to have been baseless.

Further debate ensued between Messrs. KETCHUM, WILSON, SMITH, (Berks,) and ROSE.

Mr. HARDING rose to a call of the previous question; which was sustained.

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. EVANS and Mr. McHAFFEY, and were as follows, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Custer, Dodds, Eckman, Fisher, Fleming, Galley, Goepf, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, Jackson, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehafoy, M'Clure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Neall, Oaks, Peirce, Pinkerton, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Taylor, Walker, Warden, Witman, Williston, Wilson Withrow and Zoller—49.

YAYS—Messrs. Dismant, Evans, Foster, Glatz, Hill, Hottenstine, Ketchum, Kinney, Mann, Patterson, Proudfoot, Pughe, Stonchack, Styer and Williams, (Bucks.)—15.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the second section?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WALKER and Mr. MEHAFFEY, and were as follow, viz :

YAYS—Messrs. Barlow, Bryson, Campbell, Chase, Church, Custer, Eckman, Foster, Glatz, Gratz, Hamersly, Irish, Kinney, Laird, Mann, M'Clure, M'Dowell, Pinkerton, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Shields, Smith, (Berks) Stephens, Taylor, Warden, Williston, Wilson and Zoller—29.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Burley, Dismant, Dodds, Evans, Fleming, Galley, Goepp, Graham, Gray, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Ketchum, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehafoy, M'Curdy, Neall, Oaks, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rohrer, Stonchack, Styer, Thompson, Walhorn, Walker, Witman, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) and Withrow—36.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The title was read, and agreed to.

And on the question,

Will the House suspend the rule, and read the bill the third time by its title? it was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. FOSTER moved that the House go into committee of the whole, for the purpose of special amendment, by adding the following new section :

SECTION 2. That any person otherwise entitled to the exemption provided for in this act, and the act to which this act is a supplement, shall not be deprived thereof in consequence of any contract made after the first Thursday of May, 1859, by which the right to claim such exemption shall be waived or released.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) moved that the House do now adjourn.

On the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. M'CLURE and Mr. NEALL, and were as follow, viz:

YAYS—Messrs. Acker, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Bryson, Burley, Chase, Dodds, Glatz, Goepp, Gray, Hill, Jackson, Mehafoy, Oaks, Patterson, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Stonehack, Styer, Thompson, Walhorn, Walker, Williams, (Bucks,) and Withrow—23.

NAYS—Messrs. Ahhott, Barlow, Brodhead, Campbell, Chnrech, Custer, Dismant, Eckman, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Graham, Gratz, Hamersly, Harding, Hottenstine, Irish, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Neall, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rose, Rouse, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Taylor, Warden, Witman, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Wilson and Zoller—41.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion made by Mr. FOSTER?

Mr. M'CLURE rose to a call of the previous question, which was sustained.

And on the question,

Shall the main question be now put? it was agreed to.

The question again recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion made by Mr. FOSTER?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) and Mr. WALBORN, and were as follow, viz :

YAYS—Messrs. Ahhott, Bryson, Campbell, Chase, Church, Dismant, Foster, Glatz, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, Kinney, Laird, Mann, M'Curdy, Patterson, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Shields, Stephens, Williston, Wilson and Zoller—24.

NAYS—Messrs. Barnsley, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Burley, Custer, Dodds, Eckman, Evans, Fleming, Galley, Goepp, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Ketchum, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehafoy, M'Clure, Neall, Oaks, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pughe, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) and Withrow—35.

So the question was determined in the negative.

And on the question,

Shall the bill pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. KINNEY and Mr. MANN, and were as follow, viz:

YAYS—Messrs. Ahhott, Barnsley, Barlow, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Eckman, Evans, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehafoy, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Neall, Oaks, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stonehack, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walhorn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow and Zoller—65.

NAYS—None.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) moved that the House do now adjourn; which was agreed to.

Whereupon the SPEAKER adjourned the House until to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

SENATE.—AFTERNOON SESSION.

FRIDAY, April 2, 1859.

The Senate met at 3 o'clock. A quorum of Senators was present.

Agreeably to order, the Senate resumed the consideration of the appropriation bill; the question being upon the amendment to the ninth section, offered by Mr. HARRIS.

At the suggestion of Mr. SCOFIELD, this section and the amendment were passed over.

The tenth section was read and adopted.

The eleventh section being before the Senate, Mr. RANDALL moved to amend, by striking out eighteen thousand seven hundred dollars as the appropriation for the salaries of the judges of the supreme court, and inserting twenty-one thousand two hundred dollars; which was not agreed to.

And the section was adopted.

The twelfth section being before the Senate, Mr. PARKER moved to amend, by striking out sixteen thousand eight hundred dollars as the appropriation for the salaries of the judges of the district court and the president and associate law judges of the court of common pleas of the city of Philadelphia, and inserting nineteen thousand two hundred dollars in lieu thereof.

The amendment was not agreed to, and the section was adopted.

By request, the thirteenth section was passed over.

The fourteenth, fifteenth, sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth sections were read and adopted.

The nineteenth section was read, when Mr. SCOFIELD moved to amend, by striking out sixteen thousand two hundred and forty dollars as the appropriation for the salaries of the officers of the Eastern penitentiary, and inserting in lieu thereof, twelve thousand eight hundred and ninety-five dollars.

Mr. SCOFIELD remarked that, upon an examination of the appropriation bill of 1857, which he had before him, the sum of nine thousand dollars had been set apart for the salaries of the officers of this institution, whilst this year sixteen thousand dollars are appropriated. He could see no reason for this increase for the same officers and the same services.

Mr. TURNEY was informed by the officers of the institution that they had to take, in addition to the appropriation, last year, some six thousand dollars from the earnings of the institution, to sustain it. Any increase we make to the institution indirectly cures to the benefit of the Commonwealth.

Mr. SCOFIELD did not understand how these officers could perform the same services, in 1857, for nine thousand dollars, for which they now are to receive sixteen thousand dollars. If this sum is necessary for repairs, or for any other purpose, let that purpose be specified.

Mr. RANDALL said the institution was a State one, and we are compelled to pay the salaries of its officers. He considered it disreputable to strike the amount out, and he hoped the amendment would be voted down.

Mr. TURNEY thought that, if the Senator from Warren took the appropriation of 1857 as his guide in this case, he stands upon a very contracted basis. There are more prisoners in the institution, the natural increase of crime and population, and a proportionate increase necessary in the cost of sustaining the institution; and if the appropriation is cut off, it will have to be made up from the earnings of the prisoners.

Mr. WRIGHT wished to say one word in commendation of the gentlemen who have the management of the institution. The directors were among the best men in Philadelphia, all of whom perform their duty ably. Its affairs, he said, are prudently and economically conducted; and what is asked for by this bill is required for its successful management.

Mr. BREWER inquired why it was that the delegates from the city in the House, consisting of many more than in the Senate, had not discovered that this increase was necessary?

Mr. TURNEY explained that no person came here to represent the necessities of the institution while the appropriation bill was before the House. A gentleman came here after the bill had passed the House, in behalf of the institution, upon whose statements the increase was predicated.

Mr. GAZZAM said the explanation of the Senator from Westmoreland was perfectly satisfactory.

Mr. SCOFIELD had heard no reason why the salary of these officers should go up from nine thousand dollars in 1857, to sixteen thousand dollars in 1859.

Explanations, of a brief, colloquial character with reference to this item, took place between Messrs. RANDALL, GAZZAM, TURNEY, SCOFIELD and MYER.

Upon this amendment,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCOFIELD and Mr. TURNEY, and were as follow, viz :

YAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Fetter, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Myer, Nune-macher, Palmer, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaeffer, Thompson and Yardley—16.

NAYS—Messrs. Gazzam, Marselis, Miller, Penney, Randall, Schell, Steele, Turney and Wright—9.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. TURNEY moved further to amend, by striking out the appropriation of two thousand dollars for curbing and paving Corinthian avenue, on the eastern side of the penitentiary; which was agreed to.

And the section as amended was adopted.

The twentieth, twenty-first, twenty-second, twenty-third, twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth sections were adopted.

The twenty-sixth section being before the Senate, Mr. PALMER moved to re-instate the following as an additional appropriation for the Pennsylvania training school for imbecile children; which had been stricken out in committee of the whole.

And for the purpose of completing the buildings now in progress, the further sum of twelve thousand five hundred dollars, upon condition that an equal amount be raised for the same purpose by private contributions; the said sum not to be paid out of the treasury until the Auditor General shall be satisfied that said amount to be raised by private contribution, has actually been subscribed and paid.

Messrs. PALMER, TURNEY and GAZZAM, made brief speeches in discussion of the merits of this institution—reiterating the views previously expressed by them—Messrs. PALMER and GAZZAM in support of the appropriation, and Mr. TURNEY in opposition.

Mr. FRANCIS said—

Mr. SPEAKER:—The language used by some Senators, that these poor imbeciles should ever remain just as they come from the hand of the Creator, was to him a novel and somewhat startling doctrine; and I must be permitted to say, so far, wholly unsupported by even the semblance of correct reason. Nay, more; it was monstrous, and at war with every generous impulse of the human heart. And how such a dogma could have found a lodgment in the bosom of the Senator from Westmoreland, was to him passing strange. That a man possessed of such a kind and benevolent heart, as all are willing to accord to that Senator, should ever have given utterance to such sentiments, is a matter of astonishment. Perhaps a temporary fit of excessive economy had, for the moment, beclouded his intellect, and chilled the otherwise better feelings and kindlier sympathies which he is known to cherish. And, sir, has it come to this that the poor and helpless child of sorrow must be left to drag out a miserable existence, with no kindly hand to succor or save? Forbid it Heaven! But, sir, we are told that this appropriation is not only unwise but wicked. That the veil that enshrouds these feeble-minded children, should envelope them forever more. Now, sir, what is the inference from all this? Why simply this: if it be wrong to attempt to improve and restore a feeble intellect, it is also wrong to attempt to remedy a defect in the physical organism. Hence, sir, we are brought to this conclusion—that if you have a child born cross-eyed, (I avoid the technicalities,) it must remain cross-eyed still; and club-footed, it must hobble on through life, as best it may; for you must not attempt to make that straight which God has made crooked. And just so with all the numberless ills that flesh is heir to. I need not name them. My strength would fail in repeating the long and fearful catalogue, and your patience would fail, too. If this doctrine be true, then, sir, the whole medical profession is a cheat and a humbug. But I deny, sir, the whole theory just advanced. God never made an idiot. The wickedness of man has produced a multitude. Aye, more, sir; your own God-dishonoring system of legislation has produced, and must ever continue to produce, the very necessity for the appeal that is this day made to your benevolence. Look, sir, at your legalized rum traffic. That, sir, is a prolific source of crime in all its forms; and of madness, too, in every grade. And I insist upon it as a logical conclusion, that, if the State will continue to give her sanction to a traffic that fills the land with wretchedness, and almost inhumanizes the race of man, she is bound to provide as far as may be for all the consequences of her own wrong. Now, sir, every medical man knows full well that intemperance produces not only crime but idiocy and madness in all their varied forms. But I will not trespass upon your patience by pursuing this argument further. If you, sir, can take one of these helpless, hapless ones from the lowest depths of degradation—in which they are almost invariably found—and let even one ray of light fall upon his bewildered intellect, you have accomplished a great work. Sir, on the other evening I was permitted to witness an exhibition of these feeble-minded children in these Halls, which filled my heart with unutterable emotions; and as I heard one of the little unfortunates utter, in accents at once touching and musical, the first words her infant lips ever essayed to utter—those lips that were sealed hermetically to perpetual silence up to her eighth year; and, as she raised her little hands and said—

"Precious Jesus, meek and mild,
Look upon a little child,"

I felt, sir, then and there, that the State had been amply paid for all this outlay. Let me ask you, who are fathers, if this be not so? And of the joy that filled with emotions too big for utterance, the astonished, enraptured mother, as she heard her little Beatie break her eight years silence in such precious words, I will not, dare not speak.

But, sir, when I heard the charge made against the men who manage this institution, I was more than amazed. I know something, sir, of the gentleman who stands at its head. I know that the very name he inherited was almost a passport to professional success, and I know, too, sir, that in the midst of a professional career of unusual promise, how he turned aside to this most self sacrificing of all human efforts, and as it were, buried himself to fortune and to fame, that he might, if possible, let one beam of joyous hope come to these afflicted little ones, and that, too, almost without fee or the hope of reward here. I am bound, nay, sir, I must respect such a man. For, sir, I speak by authority, when I say, that man has not for four years' most arduous labor, received over two thousand dollars, and the annual salary of all his subordinates only amounts to one thousand and sixty dollars. So that the charge of extravagance is wholly unfounded. And now, sir, I have done. In giving my vote for this appropriation, I do it in the full conviction of its propriety, and in the assurance that it is such a vote as angels can smile upon and God above approve.

Upon the adoption of the amendment,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. TURNEY and Mr. SHAEFFER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Fetter, Francis, Gazzam, Harris, Keller, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Schell, Shaeffer, Schindel, Thompson, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—20.

NAYS—Messrs. Marselis, Miller, Myer, Nuemacher, Penney, Steele, Turney and Welsh—8.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. SCOFIELD paired off with Mr. BELL.

The section as amended was adopted.

Mr. RANDALL moved to reinstate the following section which had been stricken out in committee of the whole:

SECTION 27. For the Northern home for friendless children, five thousand dollars: Provided, That the said Northern home for friendless children, shall be subject to the provisions contained in the third section of an act, entitled "A supplement to an act to incorporate the subscribers to the articles of association for the purpose of establishing and conducting an institution for the confinement and reformation of youthful delinquents under the title of the House of Refuge," approved March twenty-third, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six.

Mr. GREGG said he thought if it was right to support the poor of Philadelphia, it was also right to support the poor of the rural districts of the State. It is well known that Philadelphia has taken the lead in all these matters of a philanthropic character. But her citizens should carry out what they design. Some of her citizens, some time ago, engaged in erecting a building for the poor of the land. They completed the establishment, but as soon as they got it done, they come here and ask the State to support it. Sir, if we could see some of our constituents who have to support their families by the sweat of their brow, we would not be surprised that they should raise their voices in opposition to the lavish way in which we waste the money of the Commonwealth upon these institutions. I am proud that Philadelphia has taken the lead in these charitable measures, but I would be more proud if Philadelphia sustained her institutions, and should not have to come here for help.

I think it is wrong to make these appropriations. They will have to be made every year, and not always the same amount, but an increased amount. I doubt not the object is a praiseworthy one, but I would like to see Philadelphia maintain her reputation by attending to these matters herself.

Mr. RANDALL. As regards this appropriation, it has been so fully discussed, and is so meritorious an institution, I dislike to detain the Senate further, in the discussion of its merits. I prefer we should take a vote on it. I have no doubt the Senate has not been in the least affected by this chronic complaint, which suddenly came upon the Senator from Centre, (Mr. GREGG,) although that Senator during the session, did not fail to impress upon us the importance of appropriating thirty thousand dollars to another institution, although not a local one.

Mr. GREGG. The Senator is mistaken. He must know very well I withdrew that proposition.

Mr. RANDALL. The Senator did not withdraw it until it was perfectly easy to be seen he could get no votes for it.

Mr. MYER. There are some points in this question that have not been referred to. The city of Philadelphia very properly occupies a large portion of our attention, and she has never more properly, on any subject of legislation, than in the appropriation bill. The proposition submitted by the provisions of this section is to appropriate to the Northern Home for friendless children an amount of money from the public treasury. This is an institution perfectly local in its character, and this appropriation is for nothing more nor less than for the support of the poor of the city of Philadelphia. The question arises in my mind, where is this matter to stop? I have usually voted, while I have had the honor of filling a seat here, to give my support to these institutions. But where are we to stop in this thing? Last year we gave an appropriation to this institution; this year she comes back for another. I think it is the duty of the Senate to maintain the position she took in committee of the whole, and therefore I am opposed to this appropriation.

Mr. SCOFIELD. I do not want to talk to men whose sympathies have been allowed to control their judgments, and who have listened, in some corner of the Senate, to the tale of some poor fellow, and accordingly made up their minds to vote, and care nothing about the result. I wish to speak to those who are unprejudiced and can look clearly at the subject.

It is the man with a clear intellect that has well directed sympathies. A man with a warm and hasty intellect, or what some people call a warm heart, (when we know the heart is only a reservoir of blood,) has not very clear conceptions. The mind is the only lamp that should guide us.

The speaker continued for some time, and finished by drawing a contrast between the amount of poor tax paid by his county and that paid by the county of Philadelphia.

Pending the discussion upon this amendment,

The Senate adjourned until 7 o'clock this evening.

SENATE—EVENING SESSION.

The Senate met at seven o'clock.

On motion of Mr. TURNEY, the resolution making private bills the order this evening, was suspended, and the Senate resumed the consideration of the appropriation bill, the question being on the motion of Mr. RANDALL, to reinstate the twenty-seventh section, making an appropriation for the northern home for friendless children.

Mr. RANDALL. The remarks of the Senator from Warren (Mr. SCOFIELD) this afternoon deserve a reply. He said the poor of the city of Philadelphia were supported by the State in the almshouse. The citizens of Philadelphia, as I can show by a book I hold in my hand, support about twenty charitable institutions, and this one we are speaking of, receives, among others, an immense amount of revenue from the charitably disposed persons of Philadelphia. Now, it has been alleged, this is a local institution. It is no such thing. It is no more so than the House of Refuge, which is governed by the same rules that govern this institution. By the act of 1848 that I see before me, the officers are authorized to receive all wandering children that may be sent to them, or need their attention, and have them properly brought up. When this matter was before us the other day, the Senator from Warren took occasion to allude to something I said in connection with this matter. I have only a remark or two to make upon that matter. The Senator from Warren did great injustice to a lawyer, one of his own fraternity, who had no opportunity of defending himself from the sarcasm of that Senator, by saying he came here as a paid attorney. For the information of the Senator from Warren, and for his proper understanding in the future, I will say that the gentleman came here, at his own expense, as a lawyer and an officer of this institution; that he has contributed largely to the support of these friendless children, and I think he was more worthy of the Senator's praise than his sarcasm. The Senator also talked about the nativity of some gentlemen. The remarks he made with reference to that subject, I think, were very singular in such a place. People who live in glass houses should not throw stones. It has been my good fortune to live in the city of Philadelphia, and the people who sent me here, perhaps, done me more honor than I was entitled to, and more than my heart or intellect were worthy of; but when the Senator talks about the nativity of the Senator from Philadelphia, he should remember he, early in life, wandered away from his native place, and he is not indebted to the people among whom he was born, for the high and distinguished position he now holds.

Sir, as a Senator from Philadelphia, the Senate will hear me out, that I have never forgotten her interests in supporting the project of any Senator on this floor. I have not kept quiet, and only spoken on particular occasions, when my honorable and influential constituents sought some act of the Legislature, but have exerted myself generally.

Mr. RANDALL reviewed a short time longer the position or philosophy of the Senator from Warren.

Mr. SCOFIELD. "If you have tears to shed, prepare to shed them now." That is all I remember of that quotation, and if I say anything more, I suppose it will have to be of my own concoction. I will give the Senator credit for one thing, he is certainly original. He has imagined some three or four positions, which he assigns to me, and which I never took nor dreamed of taking. What I said about men with cold intellects was simply this: The Senator from Philadelphia had said he expected to warm up the Senator from Warren by what he had remarked. I said we ought to be governed by our minds; that a man with a clear, cold intellect had the quickest sympathies. I did not say that men of muddled brains were the most distinguished.

In regard to nativities, one Senator from Philadelphia had said these friendless children were the offspring of the country; that they came like driftwood, drifting down the Susquehanna and lodging in Philadelphia. In reply to that, I said it was an entire different class of people from what he represented that went to the city; that the higher order of men were gathered in the country; that the merchants and professional classes, to some extent, came from the country to the city, and performed its mental labor. It is true, I am not a native of Pennsylvania; I do not boast of that; I was born a little above the line, but if the Senator was born in Philadelphia, he may be proud of it, because it gives him character wherever he may go. But these men who pride themselves on their city birth, are like the stars we see in the ocean; they were never there, except for their bright originals above. So the figure reads.

One word in regard to the gentleman who comes here to solicit aid for this institution. I submit to him or the Senator from Philadelphia, if I said one word about that gentleman that was uncourteous. I did not say he was unpaid, for I did not know whether he was or not. I said he was a lawyer, and that when he came here last year, he said it was only because of the commercial difficulties in the city, the little private charity had been dried up, and that had induced him to call on this Legislature for an appropriation.

Mr. GAZZAM. Perhaps in making a few remarks in regard to the section now pending, I may expose myself, but I would be unworthy of the position I now hold, if I did not honestly speak the sentiments that burn for utterance. I allege that certain institutions, whose situation and position is local, but whose character really makes them State institutions, are local. Even supposing this institution to be local, it would not induce me to vote against the section. Sir, I may be peculiar and expose myself by this eccentricity to people who make a little merriment, by being insinuating in their personalities, so they may afterwards make their escape; but I am willing to encounter all that, and say if these institutions are more local in their character, yet it does become the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to follow out the course she has heretofore pursued.

Mr. G. further remarked that this spirit was seen in this State, in making her public improvements. That spirit had failed then, and he trusted it would fail now. The Senate had been induced a few years before, contrary to this spirit, by the powerful arguments of the Senator from Centre, (Mr. GREGG,) to take a new step, and establish a Farmers' high school, in order to educate the sons of farmers throughout the State.

Mr. MARSELIS stated that the Senator from Warren, (Mr. SCOFIELD,) had misrepresented his position on this subject.

He defined his position at length on the subject.

Mr. SHINDEL. I think we have lost sight of the question. According to the language of the section, this appropriation is for the Northern Home for friendless children. Now, the object of this home is not that it should benefit the children of the citizens of Philadelphia, but for the many children that wander into the city from different portions of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and are there received by kind friends and taken care of.

The citizens of Philadelphia have between thirty and forty institutions of their own, for the purpose of taking care of their poor and friendless children, and for that reason the different judges, in connection with the different judicial districts of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, are authorized by an act of Assembly creating this Home for friendless children, to send all such children to this Home. I therefore consider it not a local institution, alone created for the city of Philadelphia, but for the citizens of the whole Commonwealth, and I consider it the duty of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, to give not only the five thousand dollars that are requested here, but more, for the purpose of taking up the hundreds of poor and friendless children that are daily wandering into that city.

But again, I have not heard the voice of one of our constituents raised against these appropriations; and as Senators and Christians, I think we should, without further delay, pass the appropriation requested by the friends of that noble and excellent institution. I would appeal to the hearts of Senators, to their finer and their true feelings. I am perfectly willing to acknowledge I have a heart, but perhaps that heart of mine runs away with my intellect sometimes. I endeavor to curb it when I find it does so; but when on the side of truth, I let it go, directed and protected by that God in whose hands all our hearts are, and I hope I may never have a heart so cold as a December morning.

Upon the motion to reinstate the twenty-seventh section,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RANDALL and Mr. SCOFIELD, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Coffey, Fetter, Francis, Gazzam, Harris, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Wright and Yardley—21.

NAYS—Messrs. Brewer, Craig, Gregg, Myer, Nunemacher, Penney, Welsh and Cresswell, Speaker—8.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. SCOFIELD paired off with Mr. BELL.

Mr. PARKER moved to reinstate the twenty-eighth section, making an appropriation of $5000 for the Penn asylum for indigent widows and single women.

Upon which motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCOFIELD and Mr. WRIGHT, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Francis, Gazzam, Harris, Keller, Marselis, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney and Wright—16.

NAYS—Messrs. Brewer, Coffey, Fetter, Gregg, Myer, Nunemacher, Penney, Welsh, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—10.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. HARRIS moved to reinstate the twenty-ninth section, making an appropriation of $1000 for the Orphans' Home at Zellenople.

Upon which,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MYER and Mr. HARRIS, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Coffey, Francis, Gazzam, Harris, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney and Wright—19.

NAYS—Messrs. Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Myer, Nunemacher, Penney, Welsh, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—9.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The thirtieth section was read and adopted.

The thirty-first section being before the Senate,

Mr. TURNEY moved to amend by striking out the words "superintendent of public printing," and inserting the words "Auditor General" in lieu thereof.

Upon which motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GREGG and Mr. TURNEY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Craig, Fetter, Gazzam, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Randall, Steele, Turney and Cresswell, Speaker—12.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Brewer, Coffey, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Thompson, Welsh, Wright and Yardley—18.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. RANDALL offered the following amendment:

And provided further, That the superintendent of printing shall be required to settle the account of R. J. Haldeman for publishing Legislative Record for the present session, within ten days after the adjournment of the Legislature, if required to do so by the said R. J. Haldeman; and in case of the neglect or refusal of the said superintendent of public printing to settle the account of the said R. J. Haldeman within ten days as aforesaid, the Auditor General is hereby authorized to settle said account, as other accounts against the Commonwealth are settled.

Upon the adoption of the amendment,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MYER and Mr. RANDALL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Randall, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—15.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Coffey, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaeffer, Thompson and Yardley—15.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The thirty-second, thirty-third, thirty-fourth, thirty-fifth, thirty-sixth, (thirty-seventh and thirty-eighth sections having been stricken out by the Senate committee,) thirty-ninth, fortieth, forty-first, forty-second and forty-third sections were read and adopted.

The forty-fourth section being before the Senate,

Mr. PENNEY moved to strike out that part of the section abolishing the office of tonnage agent; which was agreed to, and the section, as amended, was adopted.

The forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth and forty-ninth sections were read and adopted.

The fiftieth section being before the Senate, Mr. SCOFIELD moved to strike out the words "as an officer of the Senate;" which was agreed to, and the section, as amended, passed.

[Subsequently the words stricken out as above given were restored.]

The (the fifty-first having been stricken out in committee of the whole) fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth sections were read and adopted.

The title of the bill was agreed to; and upon the question, Shall the bill be transcribed for a third reading?

Mr. SCOFIELD moved that the Senate go into committee of the whole for the purpose of general amendment; which was agreed to; whereupon the Senate resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. COFFEY in the Chair.)

Mr. PALMER moved to amend the fourth section by striking out all the amendments added to this section this morning, so as to make the appropriation for the payment of the expenses of the Legislature as originally in the bill, $150,000. The motion was agreed to.

Mr. MILLER offered a section making an appropriation of $1,000 to the Mount Vernon fund association; which was adopted.

The ninth section which had been passed over this afternoon by request, was again brought before the Senate, the question being upon the amendment offered by Mr. HARRIS.

Mr. MYER moved to amend the amendment, by increasing the appropriation for the support of common schools from two hundred and eighty thousand to three hundred thousand.

Mr. TURNEY was opposed to increasing this appropriation from two hundred and eighty thousand to three hundred thousand, because it was not demanded by the exigencies of the system itself, nor by any necessities existing or likely to occur. The same amendment was proposed the other day, by the Senator from Indiana, and resisted upon the same grounds. It was then voted down.

Mr. MYER thought there would be a necessity for an increased appropriation, as the number of scholars increase. The system required that the appropriation should keep pace with its growth, and the demands which were made upon it in the education of the children of the Commonwealth.

Mr. TURNEY remarked that whenever the school system was found not to be working in a harmonious manner, or there was any complaint of the want of funds, it would be time enough to make this additional appropriation.

Mr. MYER said he had made no allegation that the system was not working harmoniously. But the Senator from Westmoreland was mistaken in saying there had been no complaint of the scarcity of funds. He did not know how it was in his section of the State, but in the western portion the amount was scarce sufficient to keep the schools open six months in the year.

The amendment to the amendment and the amendment were negatived.

The section was adopted.

The thirteenth section (which, by request, had been passed over this afternoon) was taken up, whereupon

Mr. PENNEY moved to amend by inserting the word "the" before the word "President"—after the word "President" the words "and assistant law;" and increasing the appropriation from $8,400 to $10,200; which were agreed to, and the section, as amended, was adopted.

Mr. MILLER offered a new section, making an appropriation of $1 for each copy of Burrow's School Journal, to be furnished to each school district in the Commonwealth; which was agreed to.

Mr. CRAIG moved to amend the forty-fifth section, by inserting an appropriation of $3 per day for the officers remaining to file papers, &c., after the close of the session. The amendment was adopted.

Mr. YARDLEY moved further to amend, by striking out the words "officers elected under the provisions of the act of 1855," so as to make the provisions of the section extend to all the officers; which was agreed to, and the section, as amended, passed.

Mr. RANDALL proposed a new section, making an appropriation of $100 to Chas. Weitzel for services rendered in making fires, &c.; which was agreed to.

Mr. MILLER offered a section appropriating $2,000 to the Pennsylvania Colonization society; which was not agreed to; whereupon the committee rose, and the chairman reported the bill as amended.

Upon the question, Shall the report of the committee be received?

Mr. WELSH desired to say that he voted against the report of the committee because, in the committee of the whole, where the yeas and nays could not be called, that part of the fourth section which reduced the compensation of members of the Legislature had been stricken out. This morning twenty Senators had voted for his amendment. He wanted to know how many would now vote to sustain the report of the committee, which was in direct conflict with the action of the Senate this morning. He was in favor of other appropriations made by the committee; but he was not to be caught in the trap which had been laid to catch those who were honestly in favor of a reduction of compensation. He would vote "No!" because the committee had stricken out that part of the fourth section which Senators had this morning approved.

Upon the adoption of the report of the committee,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WELSH and Mr. BREWER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Coffey, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Scofield, Steele, Thompson, Turney and Cresswell, Speaker—20.

NAYS—Messrs. Brewer, Fetter, Keller, Nunemacher, Shaeffer, Welsh, Wright and Yardley—8.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The bill being upon its final passage,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WRIGHT and Mr. WELSH, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Fetter, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Welsh, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—29.

NAYS—None.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On leave given, Mr. WRIGHT read in his place and presented to the chair, a bill, entitled "A further supplement to the act incorporating the Kensington steamboat and navigation company."

Mr. COFFEY, "An Act to incorporate the Indiana County mutual fire insurance company."

Mr. FRANCIS, "An Act relative to the final settlement of certain claims against the Commonwealth."

Mr. SCOFIELD moved that when the Senate adjourns this evening, it adjourn to meet on Monday next, at three o'clock, p. m., and that the Senate also hold a session on that day, commencing at 7 o'clock, p. m.

Upon which,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MYER and Mr. BLOOD, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Coffey, Francis, Gazzam, Harris, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Parker, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Turney, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—14.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Gregg, Koller, Myer, Palmer, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Steele, Thompson, Welsh and Yardley—16.

So the question was determined in the negative.

On motion, the Senate adjourned until nine and a half o'clock to-morrow morning.

SENATE.

SATURDAY, April 2, 1859.

The Senate was called to order by the SPEAKER at the usual hour.

Prayer was offered by Rev. J. Groen Miles, of the First Baptist church, Harrisburg.

On motion of Mr. MARSELIS, the reading of the Journal was dispensed with.

The SPEAKER presented the memorial of Henry D. Roger, late State Geologist, asking indemnification for extra expenditure in completing and editing his final report on the geological survey of the State.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Mr. WRIGHT asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. NUNEMACHER for to-day.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTION.

Mr. SHAEFFER moved that when the Senate adjourn to-day it adjourn at 12 o'clock.

Upon which motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MYER and Mr. SCOFIELD, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Keller, Marselis, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Shaeffer, Schindel, Turney, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—19.

NAYS—Messrs. Brewer, Harris, Myer, Scofield, Steele and Thompson—6.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On motion the Senate proceeded to consider Senate bill No. 945, "An Act for the assessment and recovery of damages on the North Branch and Wyoming canals," on second reading.

Seven sections of the bill were read and adopted.

The eighth section being before the Senate, Mr. STEELE offered the following substitute for the eighth section:

SEC. 8. That in all cases either party may appeal within twenty days after the filing of said report, and the party appealing shall make an affidavit that the same is not for the purpose of delay, but that injustice has been done; and when such appeal shall have been entered, the court of common pleas of the proper county shall, in each case so appealed, appoint five or seven disinterested persons who shall not reside within five miles of the North Branch canal, and fix a time, not less than twenty, nor more than forty days thereafter, for said jury of viewers to meet upon the premises where the claim for damages or other demand may be alleged to have arisen, as by petition presented for previous view; of which time and place ten days' notice shall be given by the appellant to the other party; and the said jury, or a majority of them, having been first sworn or affirmed by some person competent to administer oaths, faithfully, justly and impartially to decide, and a true report make concerning all the matters and things submitted to them, and in relation to which they are authorized to inquire in pursuance of the provisions of this act; they shall perform all the duties and have all the powers conferred by this act on the former board of appraisers, and after having made a fair and just examination, they, or a majority of them shall estimate and determine whether any, and if any, what amount of damages have been sustained, or what amount may be due on other demands, and to whom payable, and make report thereof, stating particularly therein when and how the damages were occasioned, to the court, which if approved shall be final; and if not satisfied of record within sixty days after approval of the same, the prothonotary shall enter judgment thereon; but if said report shall not be confirmed by the court, it may be referred back to the same jury, or others may be appointed by the same court in their stead; and in either case specific instructions shall be given by the said court to the jurors as to the mode of assessing the said damages and making the said report; and if said jurors shall proceed in accordance with the instruction of the court, their report shall be final; but if for any cause the said report shall not be confirmed by the court, then, and in such case on a day to be fixed by said court as early as convenient upon all the evidence submitted to the appraisers in the case, and such other evidence as the said court shall deem necessary, the case shall be submitted to the said court; which shall hear, investigate and pass upon the claim; and the decree of said court shall be final and conclusive; and judgment shall be entered thereon; and if the amount thereof be not paid within sixty days, execution may issue as in other cases of debt for the sum so awarded.

Mr. STEELE briefly advocated his amendment as a good and just one, and expressed the hope that it would receive the sanction of the Senate.

Mr. MYER explained the object of the bill at length. He continued: I believe if this bill was left as it is now, that company could go along their line and settle with the people cheaper and better than they would if they thought or felt they had been outraged or deprived of their rights by the Legislature, in the formation of a bill of this kind, as proposed by the gentleman from Luzerne, (Mr. STEELE.) I have no interest in the settlement of this question one way or the other, and my only object in getting up this bill here is to protect the rights of all the parties concerned. I would not vote to put one dollar unjustly into the hands of the North Branch canal company; and while I would not do that, I ask this Senate that they will pass just such a law as will give to the company, for any damages they have sustained, the same right of trial by jury that any other company may have.

The provisions of this bill are very different, in many of its details, from the bill that passed the House some time ago. It was thought that that bill imposed unjust costs, and I cheerfully submitted to the wishes of the people interested, and permitted them to form a bill in such a way as to cheapen those assessments that the company paid, and consequently I felt bound to make them as cheap as could be secured. I think, if the bill is passed as I have presented it, it will secure the rights and protect the interests of all parties. I cannot for one moment think that this Senate will vote down a proposition so fair as this bill presents, and introduce into it a new section. I trust the Senate will not adopt the amendment of the Senator from Luzerne, and especially that they will not do that when this bill has once been agreed upon by all parties, and permit it to pass and become a law.

Mr. STEELE. The Senator from Bradford, (Mr. MYER,) talked about a bill having been agreed upon. I read a bill in place some time ago which has not been called up. I have felt anxious that this matter should be amicably settled, and that there should be no difference of opinion between the Senator from Bradford and myself. I have no particular objection to the bill, except this provision we are now considering. The object of the amendment is to prevent everlasting litigation, and have these questions of damages settled some time. The amendment is fair and right.

An explanatory discussion with reference to the legal effects of the bill and amendments was further indulged in between Messrs. STEELE, PALMER, MYER and PENNEY.

Upon the adoption of the amendment proposed by Mr. STEELE?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MYER and Mr. STEELE, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Fetter, Keller, Marselis, Palmer, Randall, Scofield, Steele, Thompson, Turney and Cresswell, Speaker—13.

NAYS—Messrs. Craig, Francis, Harris, Miller, Myer, Parker, Penney, Shaeffer, Schindel, Welsh, Wright and Yardley—12.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Upon the section as amended,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MYER and Mr. STEELE, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Brewer, Fetter, Keller, Marselis, Palmer, Randall, Scofield, Steele, Thompson, Turney and Cresswell, Speaker—12.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Craig, Francis, Harris, Miller, Myer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Shaeffer, Schindel, Welsh, Wright and Yardley—14.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The ninth section was adopted.

Upon the adoption of the tenth section,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MYER and Mr. STEELE, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Brewer, Francis, Harris, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Parker, Shaeffer, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—11.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Fetter, Palmer, Penney, Randall, Scofield, Steele, Thompson and Turney—9.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The remaining sections of the bill were adopted and the title was agreed to; when, on motion, the Senate reconsidered the vote on the adoption of the fifth section.

The question being again upon the amendment offered by Mr. STEELE,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MYER and Mr. STEELE, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Fetter, Keller, Marselis, Palmer, Randall, Scofield, Steele, Turney, Welsh and Cresswell, Speaker—12.

NAYS—Messrs. Craig, Francis, Harris, Miller, Myer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Shaeffer, Wright, and Yardley—11.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. MYER, moved to postpone consideration of the bill for the present.

Upon which motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MYER and Mr. STEELE, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Craig, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Miller, Myer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Shaeffer, Welsh and Yardley—12.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Fetter, Keller, Marselis, Palmer, Randall, Scofield, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—13.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The bill being upon its final passage,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MYER and Mr. STEELE, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Fetter, Keller, Marselis, Palmer, Randall, Scofield, Steele, Turney, and Cresswell, Speaker—11.

NAYS—Messrs. Craig, Francis, Harris, Miller, Myer, Parker, Penney, Shaeffer, Welsh Wright and Yardley—11.

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the bill fell.

LEGISLATIVE RECORD.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE LEGISLATURE OF PENNSYLVANIA.

FOR THE SESSION OF 1859.

No. 70

On leave given, Mr. WRIGHT, from the Committee on Accounts, presented the following report, which was read and adopted.

Senate of Pennsylvania, to Geo. W. Porter, Postmaster, Dr.

For postage on letters and documents sent and received from March 1st to March 31st, inclusive.

Letters sent,	$250 60
“ received,	170 37
Documents sent,	875 95
“ received,	140 55

$1,437 47

Harrisburg, March 31, 1859.

Received payment,

Geo. W. Porter, Postmaster.

The Committee on Accounts to which was referred the above account of the Postmaster at Harrisburg, finding the same correct, report by resolution, as follows:

Resolved, That the SPEAKER be authorized to draw his warrant on the State Treasurer, in favor of Geo. W. Porter, Postmaster at Harrisburg, for $1,437 47, being in full for the above account.

Mr. FETTER, from the same committee, reported as committed, “An Act for the relief of R. J. Fleming.”

Mr. KELLER, from the Committee to Compare Bills, made a report; which was read.

On leave given, Mr. RANDALL read in his place and presented to the Chair, a bill, entitled “A supplement to the act authorizing the courts of common pleas to change the names of persons.”

On motion of Mr. FETTER, Senate bill No. 202, “A further supplement to an act authorizing the Canal Commissioners to examine the claim of Thomas Morley,” was taken up on second reading.

Mr. TURNEY moved to amend, by adding the words, “and Auditor General,” after the words “State Treasurer,” and inserting the words, “the president of the Upper North Branch canal company;” when, on motion, consideration of the same was postponed for the present.

On motion of Mr. GAZZAM, the Senate proceeded to consider Senate bill No. 268, “An Act to incorporate the Commercial Bank of Pittsburg.”

The first section having been read,

Mr. WRIGHT moved to postpone consideration of the same for the present.

Upon which motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WRIGHT and Mr. GAZZAM, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Craig, Marselis, Miller, Randall, Scofield, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—12.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Fetter, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Shaeffer, Thompson and Yardley—14.

So the question was determined in the negative.

After some discussion, the bill was postponed by consent.

On motion of Mr. PARKER, House bill No. 380, “An Act relative to incorporated cemetery companies,” was taken up.

Mr. WRIGHT moved to amend, by striking out the word “or,” in the eighth line, and inserting the word “and” in lieu thereof.

The amendment was agreed to, and the preamble having been stricken out, the bill passed finally.

On leave given, Mr. MILLER, from the Judiciary Committee, reported as committed, House bill No. 1089, “A supplement to an act relative to the authentication of letters of attorney, protests of notaries public, assignments made out of the State and acknowledgment of deeds;” and, on motion of Mr. RANDALL, said bill was taken up, considered and passed finally.

Mr. FETTER moved that the Senate resume the consideration of Senate bill No. 202, “A supplement to the act authorizing the Canal Commissioners to examine the claim of Thomas Morley;” which was agreed to; whereupon

Mr. TURNEY offered the following as a substitute:

That the Auditor General, State Treasurer and Attorney General be and they are hereby directed to examine the claim of Thomas Morley, for damages alleged to have been sustained by him in Wyoming county, by the construction of the North Branch canal; and if, after such examination, it shall appear to them that any damages has been sustained by said claimant, either legally or equitably, then it shall be their duty to give written notice to the president of the Sunbury and Erie railroad company, and to the president of the Upper North Branch canal company, in which they shall fix a day for the hearing of said case, with power to send for persons and papers, and shall act as commissioners to take testimony and administer oaths and affirmations; and, after hearing all the parties, shall determine what amount of damage, if any, is due said claimant; and said amount shall be paid by the owner and company of the Upper North Branch canal within thirty days; and upon failure to pay the same in the prescribed time, execution shall be issued against the company to collect the same.

The substitute was adopted; and the bill, as amended, passed finally.

Mr. SCHINDEL called up House bill No. 1272, “A further supplement to the act incorporating the lock navigation on the Schuylkill river.”

Said bill passed to third reading and lies over.

House amendments to Senate bill No. 685, “An Act to incorporate the Weyssauking railroad company,” were read, considered and concurred in.

An extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives was received and read as follows:

Resolved, That if the Senate concur, the Clerk of the House of Representatives be directed to amend House bill No. 776, “A supplement to the act incorporating the Pennsylvania Central railroad company,” by striking out the word “Central,” wherever it occurs.

Upon concurring in the extract,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MILLER and Mr. TURNEY, and were as follow, viz:

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Fetter, Francis, Harris, Marselis, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steels, Turney, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—16.

NAYS—Messrs. Gazzam, Gregg, Miller, Myer, Penney, Scofield, Thompson, Welsh and Yardley—9.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. RANDALL, Senate bill No. 763, “An Act to exempt the court rooms and post office, in the city of Philadelphia, from taxation,” was taken up.

The first section being before the Senate, Mr. RANDALL offered a substitute for said section.

Mr. SCOFIELD offered the following proviso:

Provided, That said property shall be subject to taxation as other property, which he proceeded to discuss, when the hour of 12 having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until Monday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, p. m.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

SATURDAY, April 2, 1859.

The House was called to order at 9 o'clock. SPEAKER in the Chair.

On motion of Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) the reading of the Journal was dispensed with.

REPORT OF A COMMITTEE.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) from the Committee on Railroads, on leave given, reported, as committed, “An Act authorizing the Chartiers Valley and Hempfield railroad companies to lease their several roads to other companies or corporations;” which, on his motion, was taken up and passed.

Ordered to be sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. WALKER, on leave given, called up House bill No. 1104, “An Act to confer on Jos. B. Churchfield all the rights and privileges of a child born in lawful wedlock.”

Which was considered, and passed final reading.

Ordered to be sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. PINKERTON, from the Committee on Accounts, made the following report:

House of Representatives of Pennsylvania,

To GEO. W. PORTER, Postmaster, Dr.

For postage on letters and documents sent and received from March 1st to March 31st, inclusive:

Letters sent.....	$395 88
Letters received.....	220 23
Documents sent.....	1,568 48
Documents received.....	208 84

$2,392 88

HARRISBURG, March 31, 1859.

Received payment,

GEO. W. PORTER, Postmaster.

The committee report that they have examined the above account, and believe the same to be correct; and submit the following resolution, viz:

Resolved, That the SPEAKER draw his warrant on the State Treasurer in favor of George W. Porter, Postmaster at Harrisburg, for $2,392 88 in full for the above account; which was adopted.

Mr. RAMSDALL, on leave given, called up Senate bill No. 126, “An Act further to prevent the disturbance of public meetings;” which was considered, and passed finally, (Mr. SHIELDS in the Chair.)

Mr. FOSTER moved that the House reconsider the vote had on the final passage of the act authorizing the Chartiers Valley and Hempfield railroad companies to lease their roads to other companies and corporations.

The motion was withdrawn.

Mr. THORN renewed the motion, and moved that the same be indefinitely postponed.

Discussed by Messrs. THORN, WALBORN, LAWRENCE, (Washington,) IRISH, HAMERSLY and FOSTER.

On the indefinite postponement,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. THORN and Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Barlow, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Burley, Church, Evans, Fisher, Fleming, Goepp, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Hottenstine, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, Matthews, Neall, Oaks, Pughe, Rohrer, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Styer, Thorn, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Withrow, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—39.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Bayard, Dodds, Foster, Galley, Irish, Kinney, Laird, M'Clure, M'Dowell, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Rouse, Shields, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Witman, Wilson and Zoller—24.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. SMITH, (of Berks,) on leave given, called up House bill No. 1217, "Supplement to an act for the regulation of the militia of this Commonwealth."

And the House resolved into committee of the whole (Mr. BRODHEAD in the Chair,) for that purpose.

Mr. THORN offered an amendment to the first section, as follows:

That the "first Monday in June," in the first line of the second paragraph of section five, in the act to which this is a supplement, to be changed to the "first Monday in July;" which was agreed to.

Mr. SMITH, (of Berks,) explained the provisions of the bill. It merely re-instated one section of the old act, which allows brigade inspectors ten dollars for the inspection of each company. Under the existing law, those officers receive a salary of $150, whether they have one or a hundred companies to inspect. He showed that if this law is passed, it would save the Commonwealth between four and five thousand dollars.

Mr. WILSON said that the bill would effect a complete innovation upon the old system, and would not afford sufficient compensation to the brigade inspectors for their services. The bill should not be acted upon.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) said that the object was not to mar the present system. The act merely re-instated a section of the old law. There were counties in the State in which there were no companies, and in which the brigade inspector received $150 for nothing.

Mr. HAMERSLY declared that he would move that they rise, if there was more debate.

The bill as amended passed committee of the whole, and the SPEAKER resumed the Chair.

The bill was again read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the first section?

Mr. WARDEN moved to amend by adding to the end of the section the following proviso:—Provided, That the minimum salary of brigade inspector shall not be less than fifty dollars per year.

Mr. WILSON moved to amend by increasing the salary to one hundred and fifty dollars.

Some debate having ensued,

Mr. WILSON moved to postpone the whole subject indefinitely.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) and Mr. KINNEY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Balliet, Barnsley, Bayard, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Fisher, Fleming, Glatz, Goepp, Graham, Gratz, Hamersly, Harding, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Ketchum, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Neall, Oaks, Patterson, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rohrer, Shields, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stoneback, Styer, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Wilson, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—49.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Campbell, Chase, Church, Dismant, Dodds, Eckman, Foster, Galley, Gray, Kinney, Peirce, Ramsdell, Rouse, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Taylor, Thorn, Warden, Williams, (Bucks,) and Withrow—22.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. BARLOW moved that the rules be suspended to consider House bill No. 262, "An Act relating to the granting of licenses to hotel, ion and tavern keepers."

On the suspension of the rules,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BARLOW and Mr. RAMSDELL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Dodds, Eckman, Fisher, Foster, Galley, Graham, Irish, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Oaks, Patterson, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Shields, Taylor, Thompson, Walker, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow and Lawrence, Speaker—44.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Dismant, Fleming, Glatz, Goepp, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Hottenstine, Laird, Neall, Pinkerton, Price, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Thorn, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Woodring and Zoller—24.

So the question was determined in the negative, two-thirds not voting affirmatively.

The SPEAKER laid before the House the memorial of Henry D. Rogers, asking for indemnification.

Mr. IRISH, having obtained leave to make a statement, said, when he came down to breakfast this morning, the first thing he heard was, that a great outrage had been committed within a hundred yards of where he slept. That a man who had lived here for over seven years, had been seized in the market house, while buying some fish for his family, by a party of armed ruffians, ironed and handcuffed, and dragged through the principal streets of the city, in broad day light, struggling with all the strength and energy of a desperate and outraged man, crying for "HELP! HELP! HELP!" but there was no help. A thousand cowards stood by and saw this thing perpetrated; saw the victim's frantic wife wailing and pleading at the depot to save her husband, and not a hand was lifted to save him.

Mr. FLEMING inquired if the gentleman had been there himself, whether he would have interfered or assisted to save him.

Mr. IRISH said, whenever I shall fail under such circumstances to help the helpless, may I be deserted, should I ever be so unfortunate as to have occasion to call upon a fellow man for help.

Several gentleman inquired whether this discussion was in order.

The SPEAKER intimated that he thought the gentleman would be out of order in continuing his remarks further.

Mr. IRISH said he had asked leave to make a statement, for the purpose of bringing this matter to the notice of the House. If he was out of order, in proceeding further with his remarks, he would move that the House suspend the rules and proceed to the consideration of House bill, No. 432, entitled "An Act for the better security of personal liberty," &c, and would only say in conclusion, that if we had been presented this morning with a petition signed by every man, woman and child in this Commonwealth, it could not appeal more loudly for us to act in this matter than the occurrences which have this very morning transpired almost within the shadow of the capitol.

On the suspension of the rule,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GOEPP and Mr. GLATZ, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Bayard, Bryson, Campbell, Chase, Dodds, Foster, Graham, Gratz, Hamersly, Irish, Ketchum, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Patterson, Peirce, Proudfoot, Price, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson and Zoller—40.

NAYS—Messrs. Barnsley, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Burley, Church, Dismant, Evans, Fisher, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Gray, Green, Harding, Hottenstine, Jackson, Laird, Neall, Oaks, Pinkerton, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Styer, Warden, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Withrow, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—36.

So the question was determined in the negative, two-thirds not voting affirmatively.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTION.

Mr. ROUSE submitted the following:

WHEREAS, Daniel Webster, a citizen of Harrisburg for the past seven years, a husband and a father, was, this morning, in the broad light of day, in the presence of hundreds of the citizens of this borough, and with the aid and connivance of its officials, captured by a band of armed kidnappers and taken away without any of the forms of trial by law, and without a hand or voice being raised in his behalf; therefore,

Resolved, That House bill No. 1148, entitled "Resolution relative to the removal of the seat of Government from Harrisburg," be made the order for this morning; which was read the second time.

Mr. EVANS moved that the further consideration of the question be postponed indefinitely.

Messrs. THORN, NEALL and ROHRER, opposed the preamble, alleging that none of the facts were proven, or sustained by any competent authority.

Mr. M'CLURE also opposed the preamble, and entreated the House not to allow themselves to be seduced into the adoption of any such statement.

Mr. HAMERSLY asked but did not obtain leave, to submit the following:

That the resolution be referred to the Committee on the Judiciary, with instructions to enquire into the truth of the circumstances, alleged in the preamble, and to report what action, if any, is proper in the premises.

Mr. EVANS rose to a call of the previous question; which was sustained.

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

It was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. HAMERSLY called a division of the question.

The question being,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) and Mr. FLEMING, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Kinney, Peirce, Ramsdell, Rouse and Williston—5.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead,

Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Dismant, Dodds, Eckman, Evans, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Goepf, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Ketchum, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, Matthews, McClure, McCurdy, McDowell, Neall, Oaks, Patterson, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rohrer, Rose, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Styer, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walhorn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—66.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. BAYARD submitted the following preamble and resolution:

WHEREAS, It is alleged that a resident of the borough of Harrisburg, living with his family and under and entitled to the protection of the laws of this Commonwealth, was this morning forcibly taken, bound and carried away: And whereas, he is not charged with any crime or offence known to or recognized by the laws of Pennsylvania, but in the absence of proof to the contrary, is presumed to be a freeman and a law abiding citizen: And whereas, it is the right of every man to be informed of the nature of the offence with which he is charged, and to be shown the authority upon which he is sought to be deprived of liberty, and to have immediate hearing, to ascertain whether the charges are sustained; and if so, whether he should be removed beyond the jurisdiction of this State: And whereas, the said resident was arrested and carried away in disregard to and violation of these rights, guaranteed to every citizen of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania: And whereas, we view this act as an unmerited outrage, an insult to the people of Pennsylvania, a violation of her Constitution and laws, and to be tolerated only because those engaged therein are beneath the contempt of men: And whereas, House bill No. 432, provides against the recurrence of similar outrages; therefore

Resolved, That House bill No. 432, "An Act for the better protection of personal liberty, &c.," be the special order for Wednesday evening next, and until dispensed of.

Mr. THORN. Now, Mr. Speaker, while our feelings may perhaps have been outraged by what we have heard, I do, at least, hope there is enough dignity in the Legislature of Pennsylvania to permit them to see such a folly as is here perpetrated by the passage of this resolution. I call upon the members of this House, who are the representatives of a sovereign people, not to cast an affirmative vote for the preamble.

Mr. ROSE. I wish to ask the gentleman if we are the representatives of a sovereign people, when the citizens of this Commonwealth are carried out of it, without process of law or trial by jury, and without the privilege of habeas corpus.

Mr. THORN. I hope the gentleman will allow me to proceed, and I will answer him afterwards. There are assertions in that preamble that are doubtless true, but the majority of the House do not know that this man in question is a resident of this place, a father, and that his name is Daniel Webster, and that he was kidnapped and carried off. Now, if all these things be true, let the Committee on Judiciary be appointed to inquire into the facts of the case and report. I am in favor of this Legislature expressing its views on this subject. But then, again, sir, a motion was just this moment made to suspend the rules, for the purpose of proceeding to the consideration of that bill, which was voted down. Now, a resolution is offered again to proceed to the consideration of this bill.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is mistaken; this resolution is to proceed to the consideration of the bill, relative to the removal of the Seat of Government, and not the Personal Liberty bill.

Mr. THORN. Well then I have been most elegantly sold. I had supposed the gentleman who would pen a preamble of that kind to this resolution, at a time when the sensibilities of this whole community are outraged, would not couple it with a proposition which itself makes it supremely ridiculous. I did suppose when this proposition was made, it was done in all sincerity, and my unsuspecting nature has led me to make a dunco of myself.

Mr. IRISH. I shall vote against this proposition, because I think that the Legislature that refuses to pass an act to protect citizens, ought to be located in the only place from which they are taken.

Mr. ROHRER. I suppose I will be pardoned for not believing anything I have heard this morning. I have some very serious views in regard to this matter. I do not believe that any one was kidnapped at all, but I know that there have been a great many ruses of this kind made use of, for particular purposes.

Mr. KINNEY. I desire to say a word in regard to this matter. I have heard of a case in Philadelphia, equally as reprehensible as this, which resulted in placing Passmore Williamson in prison. I think this is the best place for the seat of government.

Mr. NEALL said he understood the resolution to be offered in good faith, and knew it was in order. If the gentleman from Warren chooses to pin such a preamble to his resolution, he is not to be blamed for it, in my opinion.

On the question,

Will the House proceed to the second reading of the same?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) and Mr. WILCOX, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bryson, Chase, Dodds, Eckman, Fisher, Foster, Graham, Hamersly, Irish, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Matthews, McClure, McCurdy, McDowell, Patterson, Peirce, Proudfoot, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Witman, Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow and Zoller—36.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Church, Dismant, Evans, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Goepf, Gray, Hottenstine, Jackson, Laird, Neall, Oaks, Pinkerton, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Styer, Warden, Wilcox, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—26.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. STYER moved that the House do now adjourn.

And on the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BAYARD and Mr. FOSTER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Burley, Evans, Fisher, Fleming, Galley, Goepf, Gratz, Gray, Jackson, Laird, Price, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Styer, Thompson, Witman, Wilcox, Wiley, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—25.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bryson, Chase, Church, Dismant, Eckman, Foster, Glatz, Graham, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Matthews, McClure, McCurdy, McDowell, Neall, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rose, Stoneback, Taylor, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow and Zoller—48.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the resolution offered by Mr. BAYARD?

That gentleman moved to amend, by striking from the same the preamble; which was agreed to, and the resolution, as amended, was adopted.

Mr. CHURCH offered a resolution that, as two hours of the session had been expended for huncombe, the House devote the remainder of the session to business.

Mr. PINKERTON offered a resolution, that for the purpose of considering House bill No. 205, "An Act to change the venue of a certain action from Union to Northumberland county," this House will hold a session next Thursday evening.

The House refused to proceed to second reading of the same.

Mr. MCCLURE, on leave given, introduced "A supplement to the act incorporating the Duane, Landisburg and Broad Top railroad company;" and, on his motion, the same was ordered to be placed on the Private Calendar.

Mr. BARLOW offered a resolution, that for the purpose of considering House bill No. 362, "An Act relative to the granting of licenses," this House will hold a session on Thursday evening.

On proceeding to second reading,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BARLOW and Mr. WILSON, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Burley, Chase, Church, Dodds, Eckman, Galley, Graham, Gratz, Hamersly, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, McClure, McCurdy, Peirce, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Warden, Witman, Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow and Lawrence, Speaker—37.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Dismant, Evans, Fisher, Foster, Glatz, Goepf, Gray, Green, Laird, McDowell, Neall, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Styer, Walker, Woodring and Zoller—22.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The resolution was again read.

Mr. LAIRD moved to amend the resolution, so as to adjourn at 9 o'clock.

Mr. GALLY moved to amend the amendment, by extending the hour to 10 o'clock; which was not agreed to.

The amendment of Mr. LAIRD was lost.

Mr. LAIRD moved to include bills on Private Calendar; which was agreed to.

Mr. FOSTER moved to embrace bills in which the House has made progress; which was agreed to.

And the resolution, as amended, was adopted.

The deputy secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced presented a message from the Governor, which was read as follows:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER.
Harrisburg, April 2, 1859. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN:—I have approved and signed the following acts of the General Assembly, viz:

On the 1st inst., "An Act to incorporate the Philadelphia and Olney railroad company."

"An Act supplementary to the several acts heretofore passed relative to the Dauphin and Susquehanna coal company."

On the 2d inst., "A supplement to an act to incorporate the Western Transportation company, approved March 15, 1856."

"An Act to prevent the hunting deer with dogs in Morristown township, in the county of Tioga."

"An Act extending the provisions of the act of Assembly to encourage manufacturing operations in this Commonwealth, approved the 7th of April, 1849, to the manufacturing of oills from mineral coal within the county of Beaver."

"An Act to authorize the town council of the borough of Towanda, to levy a special money tax."

"An Act to authorize a public ferry to be established over the Allegheny river, in Armstrong county."

"An Act for the relief of Joseph Danfield."

"An Act appropriating locks numbers eight and ten of the French Creek and Franklin line of the Pennsylvania canal, to the use of the county of Venango."

WM. F. PACKER.

Senate amendments to a number of House bills were read and concurred in.

Adjourned until Monday afternoon, at three o'clock.

SENATE.

MONDAY, April 4, 1859.

The Senate was called to order by the SPEAKER at 3 o'clock, P. M.

The SPEAKER in the Chair.

On motion of Mr. TURNEY, the reading of the Journal was dispensed with.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Also, (same,) with amendment, House bill, No. 800, "An Act authorizing the payment of the claim of S. Miles Green, of Huntingdon county."

BILLS IN PLACE.

Mr. RANDALL, read in his place and presented to the Chair a bill, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Union association and reading room."

Also, "A further supplement to the act authorizing the faculty of the Pennsylvania college to confer the degree of doctor of medicine."

Mr. TURNEY, "An Act relative to a revised penal code of Pennsylvania."

Also, "An Act to authorize the payment of the claim of Edward J. Keenan."

Mr. BELL, "An Act to authorize the courts to direct a change of venue, in certain cases."

ORIGINAL RESOLUTIONS.

On motion of Mr. MYER, House bill No. 1008, "An Act to authorize the investigation of the claim of Dennis McDonald," was re-committed to the Committee on Private Claims and Damages.

Mr. MYER offered a resolution, providing for a session this evening, at 7 o'clock, for the consideration of Private Bills; which Mr. RANDALL proposed to amend, by making the resolution apply to every evening of this week.

Mr. GAZZAM moved to amend the amendment, by excepting Tuesday evening; which was not agreed to.

Mr. SHAEFFER moved to amend the amendment, by inserting the words "from seven to nine o'clock;" which was not agreed to.

Mr. WRIGHT proposed to amend the amendment, by inserting the words "from half-past seven to half-past nine o'clock;" which was not agreed to.

The question recurring, upon the amendment offered by Mr. RANDALL, it was adopted, as also the resolution as amended.

Mr. TURNEY offered a resolution, limiting discussion upon private bills to five minutes; which was twice read, considered, and adopted.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

Senate bill No. 684, "An Act to incorporate the Wilkesbarre and Pittston railroad company," came up in order on second reading; and, after being duly considered, passed finally.

House bill No. 1272, "A further supplement to an act to incorporate a company to make a lock navigation on the Schuylkill river," and, after going through its various readings, passed finally.

BILLS CONSIDERED AND PASSED.

On motion of Mr. MYER, House bill No. 638, "An Act to incorporate the Towanda library association."

On motion of Mr. MARSELIS, (the Committee on Corporations having been discharged from its consideration,) House bill No. 1200, "An Act to incorporate the Philadelphia ocean steamship company."

Upon the adoption of the preamble to this bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCOFIELD and Mr. SCHINDEL, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Gregg, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Schell, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Wright and Yardley—23.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Gazzam, Harris, Scofield and Cresswell, Speaker—5.

So the question was determined in the affirmative, and the bill passed finally.

On motion of Mr. NUNEMACHER, House bill No. 922, "An Act to incorporate the Lincoln bridge company, in Berks county."

On motion of Mr. PENNEY, House bill No. 189, "An Act to amend the fee bill of the orphans' court of Allegheny county."

On motion of Mr. MILLER, the Senate resumed the consideration of Senate bill No. 89, "An Act to incorporate the American improvement and loan company."

The question recurring upon the amendment offered by Mr. MILLER to strike out and insert,

Mr. SCHELL moved to amend the same, by inserting the names of additional incorporators; which was agreed to.

The amendment was adopted; and, on motion, the title was amended, so as to read, "An Act to incorporate the American fiscal agency;" when, the bill being upon its final passage,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WRIGHT and Mr. SCHINDEL, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Blood, Craig, Francis, Gazzam, Harris, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Schell, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney and Yardley—21.

NAYS—Messrs. Brewer, Fetter, Marselis, Nunemacher, Scofield, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—7.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. GREGG, the Senate proceeded to consider House bill No. 587, "A supplement to an act to protect fruit and punish trespass in this Commonwealth."

Upon the final passage of this bill, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCHELL and Mr. SCOFIELD, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Francis, Gregg, Harris, Myer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Schindel, Steele, Thompson and Yardley—11.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Fetter, Gazzam, Marselis, Nunemacher, Randall, Schell, Scofield, Turney, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—12.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. GAZZAM moved to reconsider the vote just taken; which was agreed to, and consideration of the same was postponed for the present.

HOUSE AMENDMENTS.

House amendments to Senate bill No. 680, "An Act to incorporate the Pittsburg, Allegheny and Manchester passenger railway company," were twice read, considered and concurred in.

House amendments to Senate bill No. 47, "An Act concerning turnpike, plank road and bridge companies," were read.

Pending a discussion thereupon,

The hour of five having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until 7 o'clock this evening.

NOTE BY REPORTER.—On Friday evening, upon the consideration of the general appropriation bill, the question being upon the adoption of the report of the committee, Mr. YARDLEY made the following statement in explanation of his vote:

Mr. YARDLEY said—

He had been in favor of a reduction of the salary of members to $500, as agreed on by the Senate this morning. He wished to be consistent on the subject, and would, therefore, vote against adopting the report of the committee, as the salary, by the action of the committee, had been restored to $700. He had voted in committee against such increase, and as his vote in committee would not appear on record, he would take this occasion to wash his hands of all part in the matter. No Senator would regret more than he the loss of the appropriation to common schools, but he was compelled to vote against the adoption of the report, in order to show his opposition to the course of the committee in regard to the compensation of members.

SENATE—EVENING SESSION.

When the Senate adjourned it had under consideration House amendments to Senate bill No. 47. Postponed for the present.

BILLS CONSIDERED AND PASSED.

On motion of Mr. RANDALL, the Senate proceeded to the consideration of House bill No. 186, "A supplement to an act to incorporate the Second and Third Street passenger railway," (Mr. MILLER in the chair.)

The bill passed its several readings.

On motion of Mr. MILLER, the Committee on Roads and Bridges were discharged from the consideration of Senate bill No. 1040, "An Act to incorporate the Tylerstown, Morrisdale and Phillipsburg plank road company;" which was passed finally.

On motion of Mr. RUTHERFORD, House bill No. 795, "A supplement to an act to incorporate the Lykens Valley railroad and coal company of Dauphin county," was taken up, and passed through its several readings.

Mr. GAZZAM moved that the Senate proceed to the consideration of Senate bill No. 1022, "An Act to incorporate the Allegheny and Etna passenger railroad company, in Allegheny county;" which was agreed to.

The bill being variously amended, passed finally.

Mr. RANDALL moved to reconsider the vote upon the bill to incorporate the Second and Third Street passenger railway, for the purpose of amendment. Agreed to.

On motion of Mr. CRAIG, House bill No. 509, "A further supplement to the act to incorporate the Navigation railroad company, approved April 20, 1854;" which was reported by committee with amendment, and passed.

On motion of Mr. PARKER, House bill No. 1271, "A supplement to an act to incorporate the Fairmount market company."

On motion of Mr. SCHINDEL, House bill No. 687, "An Act to alter the general borough laws so far as relates to the borough of Nazareth, Northampton county."

On motion of Mr. STEELE, House bill No. 454, "A supplement to an act to incorporate the city of Carbondale, passed March 15th, 1851."

On motion of Mr. THOMPSON, House bill No. 627, "An Act for the relief of the estate of James Rogers, deceased."

On motion of Mr. TURNEY, Senate bill No. 880, "An Act to annul the marriage contract between William Barnard and Eliza, his wife."

Mr. BELL thought it due to the Senate that some explanation should be made of the circumstances demanding the passage of this bill.

Mr. TURNEY gave a brief explanation of the facts connected with the case, which he characterized as an extraordinary one, and one of peculiar merit. The circumstances are briefly these: Some twenty-six years ago, Mr. Barnard, then a young man, of respectability and comfortable pecuniary circumstances, married a Miss Eliza Smith, a young lady of equal respectability and standing. They had been married four or five years, during which time they had two or three children. The wife became subject to fits, the continuance of which caused a weakness of intellect, amounting almost to imbecility. At the request of the wife—the families of both parties being present and agreeing to the proposition—a separation took place, the husband selling off his farm and appropriating the proceeds to his wife. The wife returned to her parents, who were wealthy and respectable, retaining her children, and the wife emigrated to the State of Ohio with her parents. Whilst there, and some years after, he received intelligence from the family of his wife of her death, in one of the fits to which she had been subjected. At the expiration of two years, he again married—raised a family, lived respectably, and commanded respect. Some sixteen years had passed, when, by some mere chance, he received intelligence that his first wife was living. Astonished, distressed and mortified, he asks legislative interference in his behalf. He was as little disposed to sever the marriage relation, without proper cause, as any Senator, but he thought the statement of facts he had given warranted the action asked by the bill.

Mr. BELL opposed the passage of the bill, detailing the evidence which had been furnished when the bill was before the Judiciary Committee. The case was certainly an extraordinary one—so extraordinary, that he had never heard its parallel—and although he was not acquainted with the circumstances, he thought the Senate should pause, before taking action.

Mr. FRANCIS also characterized the case as an extraordinary one; and although he was sorry to say a word in opposition to the passage of the bill, he was compelled to do so. He briefly opposed the bill.

Mr. GAZZAM thought there was sufficient justification for the passage of the bill, in the statement submitted by the Senator from Westmoreland. For one, he felt justified in voting for the bill.

Mr. MILLER thought that if the Senate was convinced of the truth of the statement made, there was just ground for the passage of the bill, and briefly advocated it.

Mr. SCHELL would have no hesitation at all in voting for the bill, if there was any evidence to substantiate the statement of the Senator from Westmoreland; and he thought it very unfortunate that the party had not furnished his evidence. He suggested that the bill should be allowed to lie over until the next session.

Mr. PENNEY said he found that provision had been made by law, in case of parties who married under a false rumor of the death of the other. The section of the law relative to the case, was read by the Clerk, at his request.

Mr. BELL again spoke in opposition to the bill, alleging that the more the merits of it were discussed, the more interesting it became, and the more was he convinced of the impropriety of this action being taken by the Legislature, without more sufficient evidence than has yet been furnished. He adverted to the mere statement upon which the marriage contract between these parties was sought to be annulled, and earnestly objected to the passage of the bill.

The further consideration of the bill was postponed.

Mr. TURNEY, Senate bill No. 1042, entitled "An Act changing the corporate name of the Northwestern coal company, and empowering said company to negotiate a loan."

Mr. FRANCIS, House bill No. 792, entitled "An Act to authorize the Auditor General to open and settle the account of James Mitchell."

Upon the subject of this bill, a brief discussion took place between Messrs. TURNEY, BELL and FRANCIS; when, on the motion of Mr. BELL, the further consideration was postponed.

On motion, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MONDAY, April 4, 1859.

The House was called to order at 8 o'clock, P. M.

The SPEAKER in the chair.

On motion of Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) the reading of the Journal of Saturday was dispensed with.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) on leave given, from the Committee on Claims, reported as committed, "An Act to pay the claim of H. E. Hudson."

Mr. PATTERSON, on leave given, from the select committee, to which was referred House bill No. 882, "An Act for the further reduction of the State tax on real and personal estate to two mills on the dollar," made report; which was read, as follows:

The question of taxation immediately concerns every citizen of the Commonwealth; and any legislation thereon requires the greatest caution and scrutiny. While the necessity of increasing the taxes would be seriously felt and lamented by all, the ability to reduce the present burden of the people, and the fact that such a reduction can be made with safety to the future, and justice to the creditors of the State, will, no doubt, be hailed with joyful satisfaction by the willing and patient tax-payers, as a forerunner of the "good time coming," when the ordinary resources of the Commonwealth will be amply sufficient to defray all its current annual expenditures, without a dollar of direct taxation.

The history of taxes is, that they are constantly increasing; and it is the plain and imperative duty of every legislator to direct his energy and influence to an actual and substantial reduction, if within his power.

In our inquiry into this subject, while we desire to relieve the tax-payer of a portion of his burdens, we are compelled to keep in view the honor and credit of our noble old Commonwealth, pledged for the redemption of her debt. The constitution requires the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund to annually redeem one quarter of a million ($250,000) dollars of the State debt, which is a wise provision. The present prosperous condition of the Treasury fully justifies the assertion that, by prudence, economy and financial skill, we can in future pay annually one million of dollars ($1,000,000) of the State debt, provided there should be no falling off in the revenue from other sources than the direct tax on real and personal estate: and upon careful examination of the different items of revenue, we can find no one which can, or will, be cut off, or be decreased in amount; but the experience of the Treasury goes to prove that the revenue is gradually but certainly increasing every year from its present sources.

The whole amount of receipts at the State Treasury for the fiscal year ending 30th November, 1858, was $4,708,916 82; deduct the whole amount of State tax on real and personal estate, $1,610,229 19, and we have the sum of $33,098,687 63 as the receipts of the Treasury from sources besides the direct State tax.

Now, a comparison for the year ending 30th November, 1859, will be still more striking, as going to prove the assertion that the condition of the treasury will justify a gradual reduction of the State tax until it is entirely removed, and yet the resources will be ample to meet the ordinary expenses of the government, and annually redeem a large amount of the State debt, and secure its final extinguishment.

The State Treasurer estimates the receipts for the year 1859, (and we are informed the figures have been more than realized since the year commenced—30th November, 1858,) at $4,980,827.76. Deduct whole amount received from State tax for 1859, $1,650,000, and we have the sum of $3,330,827.76 as the receipts of the State outside of the State tax; yet this sum is sufficient to pay the expenses of 1859, and redeem the amount of the State debt required by the constitution. The appropriation bill for 1859 is, in round numbers, $2,900,000; redemption of State debt, $250,000; added together, $3,150,000; showing a balance of $180,827.76, after paying expense and debt, without collecting one dollar of State tax. These figures must convince the most incredulous of the fact, that the State tax can be gradually reduced, and in a few years entirely removed.

Your committee doubt the policy of continuing the present heavy rate of taxation for the purpose of a rapid liquidation of the State debt. The creditors of the State receive their interest promptly and will be satisfied to receive so much of the principal as the figures show can be readily paid. A more rapid liquidation would soon place the funded debt not due at a premium, to pay which we think is a waste of money and gross injustice to the tax-payers. In 1857, the United States government bought in its loans at a heavy premium, and three months thereafter was in the market as a borrower of money. The tax-payers of the Commonwealth have borne the burdens imposed patiently for years, and now when it is in our power it should be our pleasure, as it is our duty, to relieve them, at least to the extent contemplated by the present bill. The policy of accumulating a large sum in the Treasury, and having at the end of each year an unexpended balance of near, if not altogether two millions of dollars, ($2,000,000,) is dangerous, offering inducements to extravagance on the part of the Legislature, and if the experience of other States can be taken as a guide, affording irresistible temptation to speculation and loss on the part of those having charge of the public funds. Far better and safer would it be to leave the care of so large a surplus in the hands of the rightful owners, the people, and not draw it from them in the shape of taxes, unless absolutely required.

The present debt of the Commonwealth, as stated by the Auditor General, after deducting the amount which will be cancelled by the bonds received from the sale of the canals and railroads of the State, which he pronounces good and responsible for the amount they represent, is $28,087,111 16, one million of which it is proposed to pay this year, and in the opinion of those conversant with the subject, and after careful examination, we are clearly of the opinion that the sum of one million of dollars can be paid annually until the whole debt is extinguished, which will require a period of about twenty-five years, unless some unforeseen and unexpected public contingency should arise to interfere with the regular operation of the treasury. While your committee consider that the condition of the treasury would justify a greater reduction than one half a mill on the dollar of State tax, and while in the present embarrassed and stagnant condition of business throughout the State and the serious losses sustained by the farmers by failure of the crops for the last few years, we would take pleasure in recommending such a course, yet prudence and a proper regard for the faith of the Commonwealth forbid us from recommending at this time a further reduction in the State tax than one half a mill on the dollar. We present the following figures, based upon the official returns and estimates of the Auditor General and State Treasurer, which we feel confident will satisfy any one of the correctness of the position we assume, and sustain the policy of the proposed reduction.

The State Treasurer estimates the entire receipts at the State Treasury up to 30th Nov., 1859, at.....$4,088,800 00
Add balance in treasury 30th Nov., 1850..... 892,027 76

Entire receipts for 1859..... 4,980,827 76
The appropriation bill for 1859, amounts in round numbers to... 2,900,000 00

Balance in treasury 30th November, 1859,..... 2,080,827 76

But deduct the payment on State debt as we propose, and which we are informed the State Treasurer will pay this year.... 1,000,000 00

And we have a balance of..... 1,080,827 67

In the treasury on 30th November, 1859, after defraying all the expenses of the State and redeeming one million dollars of the State debt. Now estimate the receipts from all sources the same for 1860 as for 1859, except from State tax, which item we will deduct from the estimate, and we have the following sum as the resources, except from State tax..... 2,608,988 77

The whole amount of State tax on real and personal estate at 2½ mills on the dollar, as fixed by the Board of Revenue Commissioners at their last triennial assessment, amounts to (see Report of Auditor General).....$1,484,816 28

Now deduct one-half mill on the dollar or one fifth of the above sum as proposed by the present bill,..... 296,968 24 and we have the sum of..... 1,187,852 99

as the entire amount of State tax to be raised for the year 1860 at two mills on the dollar, and which we will add to the receipts for 1860,..... 1,189,862 99 and we have the sum of.....$4,872,664 52 as the entire receipts for 1860, which will be greatly increased from other sources.

Now estimate the appropriation bill for 1860 at the same as for 1859, and it should be less—as the item of interest will be some $80,000 less,..... 2,900,000 00 and we have the sum of..... 1,972,664 52 as the balance in the treasury 30th November, 1860; but if we deduct the sum of..... 1,000,000 00

which could be applied to the redemption of the State debt in 1860, we have the sum of..... 972,664 52

as the balance in the treasury 30th November, 1860, after defraying the expenses of the government, and redeeming in the year 1859 and 1860, two millions of dollars of the State debt, and reducing the State tax to two mills on the dollar.

These figures can be relied upon as the sources of the Treasury are positive and sure, and cannot be diminished unless by carelessness on the part of the agents of the State, or recklessness of the Legislature, which we hope will be guarded against. The expenditures of the State must decrease every year, as there are no avenues through which the funds can be squandered, since the State has entirely relieved itself from the control and expenses of public improvements, and in future the operations of the Treasury can be strictly confined to the ordinary expenses of the State, and the reduction of the debt. The reduction proposed will not take place until next year, and can in no measure affect the revenue for this year.

In view of all these facts, your committee report, with an affirmative recommendation, House bill No. 882, entitled "An Act to reduce the State tax on personal and real estate to two mills on the dollar."

All of which is most respectfully submitted.

JOHN J. PATTERSON,
JOS. H. WILSON,
WILSON LAIRD,
JOSEPH BARNESLEY,
SAM'L OAKS.

Mr. PATTERSON offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That, for the purpose of considering the above bill, the rules be suspended; which was read the second time and adopted;

Whereupon the House resolved itself into committee of the whole (Mr. WALKER in the Chair) on said bill.

The first and only section was read, as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That hereafter the tax imposed upon real and personal estate for State purposes by the thirty-second and thirty-fourth sections of the act of Assembly, approved the 29th day of April, Anno Domini, 1844, entitled "An Act to reduce the State debt, and to incorporate the Pennsylvania canal and railroad company," be and is hereby further reduced to two mills on the dollar: Provided, That the reduction shall not be made upon the taxes levied for the present year.

Mr. ABBOTT moved to amend the section by reducing the tax to one and a half mills on the dollar instead of two mills; which was subsequently withdrawn.

The bill passed committee of the whole; and, being before the House on second reading, it was agreed to; and

On the question,
Shall the bill pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PATTERSON and Mr. M'CLURE, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schnylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durbin, Ellmaker, Evans, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, M'Clure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Shafer, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagonseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Berks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Wolf, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—78.

NAYS—None.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. WILLISTON, on leave given, introduced a bill in regard to the road taxes in Tioga county; which, on his motion, was considered and passed finally; and sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Messrs. ACKER and PEARCE moved that the House reconsider the vote had on the final passage of Senate bill No. 122, "An Act relative to a State road in Lancaster and Chester counties."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. PRICE moved that the motion of Mr. ACKER be indefinitely postponed.

Mr. ACKER declared that he desired the reconsideration in order to offer a supplement. He was opposed by Mr. PRICE, who said that he hoped the reconsideration would not take place. The matter was one in which the House did not generally feel an interest, and he hoped that their time would not be occupied by it.

The motion to postpone indefinitely was carried.

Mr. NILL asked and obtained leave to change his vote on the Free Banking Law.

Mr. GOEPP offered a resolution, that hereafter no member will be permitted to speak more than once on any private bill, nor more than five minutes; read the second time.

Mr. ABBOTT moved to amend, by allowing members to speak twice; not agreed to.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) moved to increase the time by five minutes; agreed to.

The resolution as amended, was adopted.

Mr. THORN moved a suspension of the rules in order to consider House bill No. 445, "An Act in reference to promissory notes, &c., bills of exchange, &c."

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon the House resolved itself into committee of the whole (Mr. DODDS in the Chair) on said bill.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That in all cases where suits at law may be instituted for the recovery of the amount due on any promissory note, due-bill, bill of exchange, draft, check, or any other instrument of writing in the nature thereof, no plea shall be held to be available and no defence shall be made, or taken by the defendant, or defendants, for want of proper and timely demand of payment, or acceptance, or proper and timely notice of non-acceptance, or non-payment of the same, unless the respective places where such demand is to be made and where such notice is to be given, or served, or the place, or places of residence, or business of the respective parties thereto shall be legibly and distinctly set forth thereon; unless the place where such demand should have been made, or where such notice should have been given, or served, could have been ascertained by reasonable search and inquiry of the bank, or of the person, or parties holding the same.

SECTION 2. That in all cases of omission as aforesaid, promissory notes, due-bills, bills of exchange, drafts and such like instruments, shall be held to be payable and protestable at the places where they may be dated; and if they contain no place of date or demand, then at the place where they are deposited, or held for collection; and in no case shall a notary public be required to go beyond the limits of the county in which he may reside, for the purpose of making a demand of acceptance, or payment.

SECTION 3. That in all cases where there is more than one endorser on a promissory note, due-bill, bill of exchange, draft, check, or any other instrument of writing in the nature thereof, and the party, or parties entitled to notice thereon cannot be found, after reasonable search and inquiry, a notice of non-payment, or of non-acceptance for such party, or parties, if left at the place of business or residence of the last endorser, shall be deemed and held sufficient to exonerate the notary public who shall protest the paper in question, from all responsibility for want of due and timely notice of the non-payment, or non-acceptance thereof. Provided, That if the place of business, or residence of the last endorser shall be beyond the limits of the county where the demand was made, or where the obligation was payable, the notice may be sent by mail.

SECTION 4. That none of the provisions of this act, except the proviso to the third section, shall apply to paper which may have been issued prior to the first of July, 1859."

The bill passed committee of the whole and the SPEAKER resumed the Chair.

And being before the House on second reading.

Mr. GOEPP wanted to know the necessity of a bill of this kind.

Mr. THORN said that the provisions were remarkably plain. He would cite an example. Smith gave a note to Brown, which was protested. The notary public would be under the necessity of calling on about five hundred Smiths or Browns. The bill would effectually obviate this difficulty. The benefits to arise were very apparent.

Mr. GOEPP acknowledged himself satisfied of the propriety of the bill.

Mr. M'CLURE cited several legal difficulties, under existing laws, to the collection of notes. He also favored the act, alleging it to be of high utility.

On the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WILLISTON and Mr. M'CLURE, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Burley, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Darboraw, Ellmaker, Evans, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Graham, Gratz, Gritman, Hamersly, Irish, Keneagy, Ketchum, M'Clure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Neall, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Peirot, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Shafer, Smith, (Berks) Stephens, Thompson, Thorn, Walborn, Walker, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—44.

NAYS—Messrs. Balliet, Burnsley, Barlow, Bryson, Dodds, Fleming, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Nill, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Stonehack, Taylor, Wagenseller, Warden, Witman, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson and Withrow—21.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And the bill passed finally.

Mr. EVANS, on leave given, read in his place and presented to the chair, "An Act supplementary to the act consolidating the city of Philadelphia," which, on his motion, was taken up.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to amend the bill as follows:

That on the first Tuesday of May next, and as often thereafter as the law regulating the election of assessors requires, the qualified electors of that part of the Twenty-first ward in the city of Philadelphia, formerly known as the district of North Penn, shall elect two assessors; and the qualified electors of the remaining portions of said ward shall also elect two assessors, of the like qualifications and in the same manner, and to perform the same duties as is provided in regard to assessors in the seventeenth section of "A further supplement to the act incorporating the city of Philadelphia:" Provided, That if at any time the councils of the city of Philadelphia shall change the election divisions of said ward, they shall designate which of said divisions shall elect the assessors as aforesaid.

Which was agreed to.

Mr. NEALL wished to hear good reasons for the passage of this bill, before it was urged upon the members.

Mr. EVANS said that the Nineteenth ward was the largest in the city, and required two additional assessors to perform the duties.

Mr. HAMERSLY coincided with the views of Mr. EVANS, and said that both of the additional assessors were requisite.

Mr. NEALL opposed the bill, and said it would bring an additional expense to Philadelphia of twelve hundred dollars per annum.

The bill as amended passed finally.

Mr. GOEPP moved that the Committee on Divorces be discharged from the further consideration of the act divorcing Almira R. Emery, from her husband, and that it be placed on the Calendar for to-morrow.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to amend by discharging said Committee from all bills, and that the same be placed on the Private Calendar for to-morrow; which was accepted.

And the motion as modified was adopted.

Mr. STUART, on leave given, presented "An Act entitled 'A supplement to an act to incorporate the Millerstown and Baileysburg railroad company,'" and, on his motion, said bill was taken up and passed.

Mr. MILLER, on leave given, read in his place, and presented to the Chair, "A supplement to an act to incorporate the Citizens' passenger railway company."

And moved that the rules be suspended, in order to proceed to the consideration of the same; which was agreed to.

The bill was read.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the bill?

Mr. WALBORN moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Not agreed to.

The bill was read the second time and agreed to.

And on the question,

Will the House suspend the rule and read the bill the third time by its title?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WALBORN and Mr. EVANS, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Balliet, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dodds, Darboraw, Evans, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Graham, Gray, Gritman, Hamersly, Hottenstine, Keneagy, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehafeey, M'Clure, M'Dowell, Miller, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Stephens, Stonehack, Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Warden, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Withrow, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—52.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Burley, Dismant, Gratz, Shafer, Smith, (Berks,) and Walborn—7.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The bill was then passed finally by the House.

Mr. DODDS, from the Committee on Pensions and Gratuities, reported as committed, "An Act for the relief of Elizabeth Neisely, widow of an old soldier."

Also, with a negative recommendation, "An Act for the relief of Elizabeth Murphy, widow of an old soldier."

On motion of Mr. WILLISTON, the House resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. WOODRING in the chair,) on House bill No. 894, "An Act in regard to the writ of estrepment;" which was considered and passed by the House.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) on leave given, offered a resolution, that the Committee on Railroads be discharged from the further consideration of all bills now before them; which was not agreed to.

Mr. GRAY, on leave given, read in his place and presented to the Chair, "An Act to authorize the Auditor General and State Treasurer to open and re-settle the account of the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank of Waynesburg;" which, on his motion, was taken up and passed, and sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. PATTERSON, on leave given, from the Committee on Canals and Inland Navigation, reported, with amendments, the act, entitled "A supplement to an act to incorporate the Plymouth canal company;" which, on motion of Mr. KETCHUM, was taken up, considered, and passed finally.

On motion of Mr. CHASE, the House proceeded to the consideration of House bill No. 378, "An Act relative to State taxes;" which was passed finally, as follows:

WHEREAS, Doubts have arisen as to the proper construction to be given to the eighty-sixth section of the act approved the eighteenth day of May, Anno Domino one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, entitled "An Act to provide for the ordinary expenses of government, the repairs of public canals and railroads, and other general and special appropriations:"

And whereas, It is proper that such doubts should be removed by an explanatory act; therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the true intent and meaning of the aforesaid section is, that the reduction of the State tax, from three mills to two and a half mills, shall apply solely to the real and personal estate expressly enumerated as such, in the thirty-second and thirty-fourth sections of the act to reduce the State debt, and to incorporate the Pennsylvania canal and railroad company, approved the twenty-ninth day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and forty-four, to wit: houses, lands, lots of ground and ground rents, mills and manufactories of all kinds, furnaces, forges, bloomeries, distilleries; sugar houses, malt houses, breweries, tan yards, fisheries and ferries, wharves and all the other real estate not exempt by law from taxation; also, all personal estate, to wit: horses, mares, geldings, mules and neat cattle over the age of four years, household furniture, including gold and silver plate owned by any person or persons, corporation or corporations, when the value thereof exceeds three hundred dollars, and to no other estate, real or personal, whatsoever.

On motion of Mr. GOEPP, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until 7½ o'clock this evening.

LAWS OF PENNSYLVANIA.

SESSION OF 1859.

AN ACT to make decrees for the payment in equity proceedings liens upon real estate, with the right to revive or continue the liens of the same by writ of scire facias.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That decrees in equity for the payment of money shall be and constitute a lien on the real estate of the defendants or debtors named in the said decree, in the manner, for the like period, and with the same force and effect as the lien of judgments rendered by and in the common law courts of this Commonwealth, and shall be entered in like manner in the judgment or lien docket of the proper county; and the complainant or plaintiff in such decree shall have the like remedy, by writ of scire facias or otherwise, for the revival and continuance of the said lien as is prescribed by existing laws for the continuance of the lien of such judgments, and the proceedings, under such writ of scire facias or other process; and the entry of a decree of revival may be regulated, so far as is necessary, by rules ordained by the proper court.

SEC. 2. Should any issue of fact arise in the course of such proceeding of revival, the same shall be proceeded in and determined by an issue directed in the manner now practiced in courts of equity.

W. C. A. LAWRENCE,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

JNO. CRESSWELL, JR.,
Speaker of the Senate.

APPROVED—The twenty-ninth day of March, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine. WM. F. PACKER.

No. 628.—FILE OF THE HOUSE.

CHASE, Judiciary—March 3.

AN ACT for the preservation of growing timber.

WHEREAS, In many parts of this State, persons who have no timber of their own, are in the habit of cutting timber and hoop-poles off the lands of others, and of selling the same as hewed logs, staves, shingles, rails and hoop-poles to purchasers in their vicinity; therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That where any person or persons own land, and such owner or owners have reason to believe that any other person or persons are in the habit of cutting timber or hoop-poles growing on their lands, and of selling the hoop-poles, and of making the timber into staves, shingles, rails or hewed logs, and then of selling or trading the same to any storekeeper or storekeepers, or to any other person or persons who may purchase or trade for the same, it shall be lawful for the owner or owners of lands from which such hoop-poles or timber may be cut, to give notice in writing to such storekeeper or storekeepers, or other persons who purchase or trade for the above mentioned articles, warning them not to purchase the same from such suspected person or persons named in said notice; and if, after such notice is given, any storekeeper or storekeepers, or other persons purchasing or trading for timber, shall buy or trade for any hoop-poles, staves, shingles or hewed logs that shall have been taken by such person or persons who have disposed of the same, from the lands of the owner or owners who have given such notice; such person or persons who have purchased or traded for the same, shall be liable to the owner or owners, in an action on the case, to be instituted in the court of common pleas of the proper county, for damages to four times the value of the said articles purchased or traded for: Provided however, That the time for commencing suit under this act shall not extend beyond one year.

No. 628.—FILE OF THE HOUSE.

CHASE, Judiciary—March 3.

AN ACT relating to the settlements of registers of wills, recorders of deeds, prothonotaries and clerks of courts, with the State Treasurer.

SECTION 1. *Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the several registers of wills, recorders of deeds, prothonotaries, clerks of quarter sessions and clerks of orphans' courts in the Commonwealth, shall, on the first day of June next and quarterly thereafter, or oftener if required by the State Treasurer, pay into the treasury or such places of deposit as said treasurer shall designate, to the credit of the Commonwealth, the whole amount of money received during the period preceding said payments, and shall furnish to the State Treasurer statements under proper heads designating the source from which the money was received: *Provided, That the quarterly payments of said officers falling due previous to the first day of June next, shall be made as heretofore required by law.

SEC. 2. That so much of the seventy-ninth section of the act of Assembly, approved the eighteenth day of May, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, as is inconsistent herewith is hereby repealed.

No. 780.—FILE OF THE SENATE.

COFFEY, Finance—March 22.

AN ACT to provide a mode of levying tax against delinquent municipalities.

WHEREAS, Sundry cities and counties of this Commonwealth have failed to levy taxes to meet the interest upon their just debts; therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That whenever any county, city or other municipality of this State, shall fail for two successive years to levy the taxes necessary to meet the interest upon any bonds issued by it under authority of acts of the General Assembly of this Commonwealth, it shall be the duty of the Auditor General to add to the rate of State taxes to be paid by said municipalities, or the people thereof, to the extent necessary to pay the interest upon said bonds, and require the amount collected as other State taxes are collected and paid into the treasury of this State.

SEC. 2. That when the amount thus levied is collected and paid into the State Treasury, it shall be the duty of the treasurer to give notice to the holders of said bonds, that he will pay the interest on the same, or as much of it as he may have received funds from this source to pay.

SEC. 3. That when any person or persons shall refuse to pay the tax thus assessed for a longer period than six months, it shall be the duty of the State Treasurer to sell any real or personal estate that the said party may be possessed of at the borough of Harrisburg, on giving thirty days' notice of the time and place of the sale, in one or more newspapers published in Pittsburg, or by handbill duly posted in said city.

No. 573.—FILE OF THE SENATE.

BELL, Judiciary—March 8.

AN ACT in relation to writs of error, appeals and certioraries in the Supreme Court, and abolishing the court of nisi prius.

WHEREAS, It often occurs in cases pending in the supreme court, on writs of error, appeals and certioraries, that by reason of an equal division of the judges of the supreme court hearing the same, the judgments of the courts below are affirmed, and it is obvious in such cases that there has not been such trial and decision as is contemplated by the judiciary system of the Commonwealth, and to which suitors are entitled; therefore

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this act, no entry made upon the record, in any writ of error, appeal or certiorari pending in the supreme court of this Commonwealth, shall have the force and effect of a final judgment or decision in the same by reason of an equal division of the judges, but the same shall remain pending and undetermined until heard and decided by a majority of the judges of the said court.

SEC. 2. That the court of nisi prius be, and the same is hereby abolished; and that the records, papers, and unfinished business of said court of nisi prius be, and the same are hereby transferred to the district court; the cases pending and undisposed of to be proceeded with in said district court as if they had been therein originated.

No. 726.—FILE OF THE HOUSE.

WILCOX, Ways and Means—March 3.

AN ACT to increase the revenues of the Commonwealth.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this act, all tonnage, except the ordinary baggage of passengers carried or conveyed on or over any railroad authorized to be constructed by or under any law of this Commonwealth, shall be subject to a toll or duty for the use of the Commonwealth, at the rate of two and one-half mills per mile for each ton of two thousand pounds, and it shall be the duty of such companies, between the twentieth and thirtieth days of July, and between the first and tenth days of December, in each and every year, to cause to be made out and filed with the Auditor General, a true and correct statement, exhibiting the amount of such tonnage and the distance the same was carried or conveyed on or over their roads respectively; which statement shall be verified by the oath or affirmation of the proper officers having a knowledge of the premises; and at the time of filing said statement with the Auditor General, such companies shall pay to the State Treasurer the amount of toll or duty so accruing for the use of the Commonwealth.

HOUSE—EVENING SESSION.

MONDAY, April 4, 1859.

The House was called to order at 7½ p. m.
The SPEAKER in the chair.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. GRAHAM, on leave given, from the Education Committee, reported "An Act to erect the borough of Catasauqua, Lehigh county, into a separate school district," with a negative recommendation.

Also, Senate bill No. 765, "An Act to incorporate the Franklin high school and Normal institute association of the borough of Martinsburg, Blair county," as committed, and moved that the House consider the same. Not agreed to.

Mr. FOSTER moved that the Committee on Education have leave to make their reports; which was agreed to.

Mr. FOSTER, (Education,) with amendment, Senate bill No. 541, "An Act for the regulation and continuance of education by common schools in the city of Pittsburg."

Mr. KINNEY, (same,) with a negative recommendation, "An Act to reduce and limit the annual tax for school and building purposes."

Also, with a negative recommendation, "An Act to authorize the school districts of Potter county to select sites for school purposes."

Mr. LAIRD, (same,) with a negative recommendation, "A supplement to an act incorporating the Shaefferstown academy, Lebanon county."

Also, with a negative recommendation, "An Act to erect an independent school district in Slippery Rock township, Lawrence county."

Mr. PUGHE, (same,) as committed, "A further supplement to an act authorizing citizens of the borough of Mercer, Mercer county, to erect a Union school house."

Also, with a negative recommendation, "An Act to incorporate the Belles Lettres society of Dickinson college."

Mr. GRAY, from the Committee to Compare Bills, made report; which was read.

Mr. NEALL, (Mines and Minerals,) as committed, "An Act to incorporate the Packer iron company."

INSURANCE BILL.

Messrs. WOODRING and PUGHE moved that the final vote be had on House bill No. 674, "An Act relating to insurance companies and associations in the city and county of Philadelphia and county of Allegheny."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. THORN moved that the further consideration of the same be postponed for the present.

Mr. PATTERSON moved to postpone the further consideration of the question indefinitely.

Mr. THORN hoped that the motion to postpone indefinitely would not prevail.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) desired that it might carry.

Mr. FOSTER said that the bill related to only two counties in the State, viz: Allegheny and Philadelphia. He trusted, therefore, that the county members would not oppose, but would allow the act to be considered.

Mr. LAIRD favored the indefinite postponement. The gentleman from Allegheny, (Mr. FOSTER,) he thought, had not examined the bill thoroughly, or he would have seen that its provisions applied to the companies in all the counties of the Commonwealth. The first section was general in its character.

Mr. THORN suggested that the bill, by all means, be not indefinitely postponed. If it was not right, why could not the House take it up, and by amendment, prepare it for ultimate passage. It had been presented very early in the session—had been placed in the hands of a committee, where it remained for a long time. Finally it was reported to the House, and placed upon the Private Calendar, from which it was objected. At length it progressed so far, that the first section was read to the House. Then no one objected to the wording or to the principle; no one said that it was wrong. The only cry was, "vote it down!" Now, if it was the intention to proceed in this manner, he would not complain.

If the principle was a correct one, that it was necessary and proper for the Legislature to protect the people of the Commonwealth from the inroads of irresponsible and fraudulent corporations, then why not proceed at once to the work, and by some effective action secure the community from calamity. But if there was a pre-determination not to touch the matter, he, of course, would be compelled to submit.

But would any one say that the bill was objectionable in a single feature? All that was asked was that its provisions should apply to the counties of Philadelphia and Allegheny.—If gentlemen from the interior considered that it would operate to advantage, they were free to accept it, and to apply it to their own counties.

If the phraseology did not meet the views of some of the members, they could modify it; but he earnestly wished to inquire whether there was a single man upon the floor who did not consider that it was the duty of the Legislature to take action in the premises.

Mr. THOMPSON said, that when the bill had been previously before the House, he had refrained from opposing it. Now, however, that the gauntlet had been thrown down by the gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. THORN) he would state several distinct grounds of opposition.

The principle was wrong, and why? As the gentleman from Erie (Mr. LAIRD) had truthfully said, the provisions of the bill extended to all the counties in the Commonwealth. Being thus general, it should not have been placed upon the Private Calendar. Now what right had the district courts of Philadelphia and Pittsburg to appoint commissioners to superintend vice companies, located in distant and distinct counties of the State? If this right was admitted, why could not the district courts of Lancaster, York, Bucks, or any other county claim the same privilege? If they all were to do so there would be such a number of judges and such a diversity of opinions that interminable confusion would result.

On what principle was the House asked to support this bill? If the object was to protect the people generally, then why was provision not made for the appointment of the commissioners by the Executive of the Commonwealth, and why were not those commissioners made State officers?

Mr. FOSTER said, that the bill was local and provided for the investigation only of the condition of companies doing business in Allegheny and Philadelphia counties. If other members desired to receive the salutary effects they could easily embrace its provisions. It was plainly the duty of the representatives of the cities of Pittsburg and Philadelphia to protect their constituents, who were necessarily largely interested in insurance companies.

Mr. THOMPSON wished to state a case: There was a company located in Philadelphia, or Pittsburg and having agencies in a certain county. A resident of that county desired to ascertain their standing. To do this would he not have to go to Philadelphia?

Mr. FOSTER said that now it was impossible to ascertain the standing by any means.

Mr. THOMPSON said that the implication was that the country residents had no protection for themselves, but that they were to obtain some through the magnanimous conduct of the gentlemen from Pittsburg and Philadelphia. Now this protection was both unasked and unneeded. He should record his vote against the bill.

Mr. ROSE said that when the bill had first been before the House he had been willing to oppose it, but on further examination he had been satisfied that it would not affect the companies in the interior counties. He differed entirely with the gentleman from Butler (Mr. THOMPSON) that it would result in detriment to those companies. It would rather tend to their benefit, because it would prevent the people of the different localities from patronizing bogus institutions, the agents of which offered to insure at low rates. The result, of course, would be an increase of business in the home organizations. The commissioners, if they were honest men, would expose and explode worthless corporations.

Mr. KINNEY inquired whether if the insurance companies in the interior counties, Bradford for example, insured property in Philadelphia and Pittsburg, they would not be liable to the investigations provided for in the act.

Mr. ROSE said that if they had agents in Philadelphia and Pittsburg, they would certainly be liable.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) rose to a point of order.

The question being on indefinite postponement, the merits of the question were not properly before the House.

The Chairman decided the point of order not well taken.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) rose to a point of order, to wit: That the question being on indefinite postponement of a motion to reconsider, the merits of the bill could not be discussed.

Mr. THORN said that this question involved the life or death of the bill, and therefore its provisions were debatable.

The Chairman so decided.

Mr. ROSE alluded to the probable injury which it had been alleged, on a previous question, might result from the appointment of improper commissioners. The same argument would hold good against the appointment of any official.

Mr. THORN refuted the arguments which had been advanced by the gentleman from Butler, (Mr. THOMPSON.) So far as the companies were concerned, whose location was in the interior counties, and who desired to do business in Philadelphia, if they were properly chartered with small and perfect capital, and choose to come to the city, they could do so simply on setting forth a statement of their condition, of their purposes, and what they intended to pay. If they choose to stay at home, no one would complain. But if they attempted business in Pittsburg or Philadelphia, having their actual locality in some little corner of the Commonwealth, it was only proper that they should be subject to the provisions of the act.

No one thought that it was the intention to make the act apply to companies which confined themselves to sections outside of Pittsburg and Allegheny counties.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) rose to a point of order. The gentleman, (Mr. THORN,) he thought, had already spoken more than ten minutes.

Mr. BAYARD hoped that the motion to postpone indefinitely would not prevail. There were, beyond doubt, many bogus companies in Pittsburg and Philadelphia, and the people required some protection against them. The gentleman from Butler, (Mr. THOMPSON,) ought to be thankful that the provisions of the act were extended to his constituents, if they choose to accept them. The bill would not interfere with any good company in the State.

Mr. KENEAGY hoped the motion to postpone indefinitely would prevail. There were other bogus institutions in the State besides insurance companies. There were pill machines equally bogus. The people were to blame for patronizing them.

Mr. NEALL inquired how the people were to know that they were bogus?

Mr. IRISH inquired whether the State incorporated any of these bogus pill machines?

Mr. KENEAGY said that in the country there were good mutual companies for purposes of insurance, and there was no need to have them interfered with by commissioners who might levy black mail. It would be better to have bank commissioners appointed.

Mr. NEALL contended that if the provisions of the bill did not exactly meet the views of the country members, it could certainly be amended. As for the question of black mail, the same argument could be used just as appropriately, in connection with every official, from the Governor down. The commissioners would utterly destroy bogus institutions by revealing their true condition. The bill itself was meritorious in the highest degree.

Mr. HAMERSLY wished to say a word in reply to an argument which had been used when the bill was previously before the House, to wit: that it was only opposed by bogus companies. He held in his hand three letters from influential companies in Philadelphia, who did not desire its passage. Public opinion should be left to remedy the evil of which it was complained.

On the motion to postpone indefinitely the motion to reconsider,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. KINNEY and Mr. FOSTER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Balliet, Barnsley, Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Boyer, (Clearfield,) Campbell, Dodds, Dorboraw, Galley, Glatz, Goepf, Graham, Gritman, Hamersly, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, McHaffoy, McCurdy, Palm, Patterson, Price, Proudfoot, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Withrow and Lawrence, Speaker—36

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Barlow, Bayard, Bryson, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Flemiog, Foster, Graiz, Gray, Green, Irish, McClure, McDowell, Miller, Neall, Oaks, Peirce, Pugh, Rohrer, Rose, Shafer, Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Thorn, Walborn, Warden, Williston, Wilson Woodring and Zoller—37.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. BURLEY paired off with Mr. HARDING.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion to postpone for the present the motion to reconsider?

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to postpone the subject until next Friday; which was agreed to.

Mr. IRISH moved that Senate bill No. 1022, "An Act to authorize the opening of Seventeenth street, between Francis street and Ridge avenue, in the Fifteenth ward, city of Philadelphia," be placed at the foot of the present Calendar.—Agreed to.

Mr. MCCLURE moved that the House proceed to the consideration of "A supplement to the act incorporating the Duncanon, Landsburg and Broad Top railroad company."

The motion was withdrawn, as the bill was at the printer's.

Mr. McDOWELL moved to re-commit House bill No. 1174, "An Act to erect a separate and independent school district out of parts of Allegheny and Westmoreland counties." Agreed to.

Mr. BURLEY, (New Counties and County Seats,) with amendment, "An Act to remove the seat of justice from Clearfield to Connersville, in Clearfield county."

Mr. CHURCH, on leave given, presented a memorial of hundreds of citizens of Philadelphia, against the removal of the market houses in that city.

Mr. WAGENSELLER, on leave, read "An Act to pay the claim of Peter Boley."

Mr. CAMPBELL, (Roads and Bridges,) "Supplement to an act to incorporate the Ridge turnpike company," reported the same as committed.

Mr. HOTTENSTINE, (same,) as committed, "An Act to authorize the Auditor General and State Treasurer to re-open and examine the account of the Bustleton and Feasterville turnpike road company."

Also, as committed, Senate bill No. 626, "A supplement to an act to erect part of the township of Denison, in the county of Luzerne, into a separate district for road purposes, &c."

On motion of Mr. KETCHUM, the same was ordered to be placed on the Calendar.

Mr. EVANS, (Railroads,) Senate bill No. 328, as committed, called "A farther supplement to an act to incorporate the Norristown and Freemanstown railroad company."

Mr. GALLEY read in his place and presented to the Chair, "A supplement to an act to incorporate the Layton bridge company," and moved that the rules be suspended and that the House consider the same.

The House refused to suspend the rules to consider said bill.

Mr. WALBORN, with a negative recommendation, "Supplement to City passenger railway company."

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

House bill No. 148, "An Act releasing Geo. S. Jameson, collector at Blairsville, from the payment of money due the Commonwealth," came up in order, and on motion of Mr. WALDEN, was postponed for the present.

House bill 1252, "An Act to incorporate the Thirteenth and Fifteenth Streets passenger railway company," came up in order, and was passed.

BILLS ON SECOND READING.

"An Act giving justices of the peace power with a jury of five to hear and finally determine charges for crimes of a certain character within certain counties of this Commonwealth, and to lessen the expenses in criminal proceedings," came up in order on second reading, as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That courts of special sessions of the peace, in the counties of Susquehanna, Washington, Blair, Erie, Crawford, Clearfield, Bradford, Wayne, Greene, Lawrence, Tioga, Potter, Venango, Westmoreland, Cambria and Fayette, may be held by justices of the peace and aldermen, and shall have power, subject to the provisions hereinafter contained, to hear and determine charges for crimes arising within their respective counties, as follows:

I. Cases of assault and battery, not charged as having been committed riotously or upon any public officer, in the execution of his duties, or with intent to kill or to commit a felony, and all cases of petty larceny.

II. Charges for poisoning, killing, maiming, wounding or cruelly beating any animal.

III. Charges for maliciously removing, altering, defacing or cutting down monuments or marked trees, ornamental or fruit trees.

IV. Charges for unlawfully, willfully and maliciously taking and carrying away fruit or vegetables or for destroying the same.

SEC. 2. That when any person charged with any such offence shall be brought before the justice of the peace issuing the warrant of arrest, the said justice may proceed to hear and determine the case, provided the defendant shall agree thereto; but if the defendant will not agree thereto, then the proceedings shall be as follows: if the defendant refuse to submit to a trial before the justice or jury, as is hereinafter provided for, he shall be bound to appear at the next court of quarter sessions, or discharged in the same manner as is now provided for by law.

SEC. 3. That at the request of the defendant that the cause shall be tried by a jury, the jury shall be chosen in the following manner, viz:

I. The number of jurors shall be five, all of whom shall join in the rendition of the verdict.

II. The defendant shall first nominate three persons and the prosecutor two, and if all or any be objected to by the opposite party, each party shall nominate other persons in place of those objected to, until he shall have nominated five persons for every person so allowed by him to be nominated.

III. If the parties cannot agree in the choice of the jury as aforesaid, the justice before whom the cause is pending, shall make out a list containing the names of twenty-five suitable, disinterested and lawful men, none of whom shall have been previously objected by either of the parties, from which list the parties shall strike out alternately, beginning with the de-defendant, until the number shall be five, and the five names thus left shall compose the jury.

SEC 4. That the justice of the peace shall then fix the hours of meeting: Provided, That the day of meeting shall not be less than five nor more than ten days after the selection of the jury as aforesaid, unless both parties agree thereto; and it shall be the duty of the justice of the peace to have served upon each of the jurors forthwith, a notice of his appointment, and the time and place of trial.

SEC. 5. That if any person chosen a juror as aforesaid, and residing in the county, having received due notice of his appointment, shall fail to attend and take upon himself the duties of his appointment, unless prevented by sickness or other unavoidable cause, he shall be fined by the said justice of the peace, two dollars, for the use of the school fund of the school district in which said justice may reside; and in case one or more of the jurors fail to attend at the time and place fixed for trial, if the parties cannot agree upon the person or persons to fill such vacancy or vacancies, it shall be the duty of the juror or jurors in attendance, to fill the place of such absent juror or jurors, with like effect as though said juror or jurors had been originally chosen.

SEC. 6. That to each of the jurors, the court shall administer the following oath or affirmation: You do swear, in the presence of Almighty God, (or you do solemnly affirm, as the case may be,) that you will well and truly try the case now before you, between the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and defendant, and a true verdict give according to the evidence, unless discharged by the court.

SEC. 7. That the charge made against the defendant, as stated in the warrant of arrest, shall be distinctly read to such defendant, who shall be required to plead thereto; the court shall enter such plea in the minutes of their proceedings to be kept by them.

SEC. 8. That if the defendant plead not guilty, the jury shall sit together and hear the proofs and allegations in the case, which shall be delivered in public, and in the presence of the defendant.

SEC. 9. That after hearing such proofs and allegations, the jury shall be kept together in some convenient place until they agree on a verdict, or are discharged by the court; and a constable shall be sworn to attend them, in like manner as upon trials in courts of quarter sessions.

SEC. 10. That when the jurors shall have agreed on their verdict, they shall deliver the same to the court, which shall be entered in the minutes of proceedings.

SEC. 11. That whenever a defendant, tried under the preceding provisions of this statute, either by the court or by a jury, shall be convicted, or shall plead guilty to the charges alleged, the court shall render judgment thereupon, and inflict such punishment by fine or imprisonment, or both, as the nature of the case may require; but such fine shall in no case exceed fifty dollars, nor such imprisonment three months.

SEC. 12. That whenever a defendant, tried under the preceding provisions of this statute, either by the courts or by the jury, shall be acquitted, he shall be immediately discharged; and in any case of misdemeanor, if the court shall be of the opinion, from the evidence, that the complaint was wilful and malicious and without probable cause, or if the jury shall return such by their verdict, and that they have acquitted the defendant, and order that the complainant shall pay the costs, the court shall forthwith sentence the complainant to pay all the costs of the proceedings, or give satisfactory security for their payment within thirty days, and to stand committed to the common jail of the county, till the sentence shall be complied with, the same as though the trial had been had in the court of quarter sessions, there to remain until the sentences shall be complied with, or until he shall be discharged by due course of law.

SEC. 13. That in case of the conviction of the defendant, the payment of the cost of the proceedings shall be included in the sentence of the court, which sentence shall be executed by the sheriff or a constable of the county, or city and county in which such conviction shall be had, by virtue of a warrant under the hand and seal of the justice holding the court, directed to such officer, and specifying the particulars of such judgment and sentence.

SEC. 14. That all fines imposed by any such court upon defendants, if paid before commitment, shall be received by the justice before whom the defendant was tried, and within thirty days after the receipt thereof, shall be paid by him to the treasurer of the school fund of the school district in which such conviction shall be had, to be applied by the school directors of such district for common school purposes.

SEC. 15. That after the defendant shall have been committed, payment of any fine imposed on him may be made to the sheriff of the county, who shall within thirty days thereafter pay the same to the persons designated in the preceding sections as entitled to receive it, deducting five per centum as his legal fees.

SEC. 16. That the court shall in all cases of conviction, sentence the defendant to stand committed to the common jail of the county till all fines and costs imposed by the sentence shall be paid, which sentence shall be of the same force and effect as though given by the court of quarter sessions.

SEC. 17. That from the judgment of a court of special sessions, there shall be no appeal upon an allegation that the verdict of the jury was contrary to the evidence in the case, and not justified thereby.

SEC. 18. That after the sentence shall have been pronounced, the defendant may deliver to the court, in writing, exceptions to the legality of the proceeding had; and if the court shall be of the opinion that such exceptions, if sustained, would affect the justice of the case, upon good and sufficient security offered by the defendant for his appearance at the next court of quarter sessions of the county, such recognizance shall be taken in the usual form, and said justice shall make out a certified copy of the proceedings on the trial from his minutes; which, together with all the original papers in the case, and the bill of exceptions, he shall, within twenty days after the trial, caused to be filed in the office of the clerk of the court of quarter sessions of the county; and any neglect so to do shall be deemed a misdemeanor in office.

SEC. 19. That notice of the filing of such bill of exception shall be given to the district attorney by the defendant or his attorney at least four days before the sitting of the next court of quarter sessions, at which time they shall be argued, unless said court shall otherwise direct; and if it shall appear that the defendant has willfully neglected the above notice, or in any other way endeavored to embarrass or delay the argument of the case, the court may set aside the exceptions without hearing, and order the execution of the sentence.

SEC. 20. That after a full examination of the record of the justice and bill of exceptions, if it shall appear to the court that the proceedings were illegal, and that thereby the defendant has been unjustly convicted and sentenced, he shall be discharged; and the court may, on a review of the case, diminish the sentence of a court of special sessions, if it shall appear extraordinary and unjust.

SEC. 21. That if the defendant be committed in pursuance of a conviction in a court of special sessions, by making an affidavit specifying the supposed errors in the proceedings on his trial before the clerk of the court of quarter sessions, and entering into recognizance with one or more sufficient sureties for his appearance before the next court of quarter sessions of the county, he may be discharged from commitment; whereupon he or his attorney shall give immediate notice to the district attorney of the county, who shall, as soon as practicable, notify the justice before whom the trial was had, to file a certified copy of the proceedings before him in the office of the clerk of the court of quarter sessions of the county, as hereinbefore provided.

SEC. 22. That if the exceptions be overruled before the court of quarter sessions, said court shall direct the execution of the remainder of the sentence, unless the circumstances justify a diminution thereof.

SEC. 23. That the exceptions shall be taken to the proceedings, record or jurisdiction of the court, or the admission of evidence, and no court of quarter sessions shall try any allegation that the verdict of the jury before a court of special sessions was against evidence; other than as to legal errors, the judgment of the court of special sessions shall be conclusive.

SEC. 24. That the magistrate, before whom any cases shall be had, under the provisions of this act, shall receive for his services the sum of one dollar; the jurymen, sitting in the same, fifty cents each; the constable officiating, shall receive the same compensation for serving the process, subpoenaing the witnesses and commitment on sentence, as is allowed by existing laws in criminal proceedings, before justices of the peace, and seventy-five cents for summoning the jury; the witnesses shall each receive the same fees as are now allowed in like cases.

Mr. WILSON opposed the bill inasmuch as its provisions interfered with the right of every man to be tried by a jury of twelve of his own countrymen. The law would be imperative in effect.

Mr. SMITH (Berks) opposed it because it conferred the consideration of some of the heaviest crimes upon officials who were nine times out of ten utterly incompetent.

Mr. MILLER said that the bill was local in its character, and that the magistrates of that locality were efficient.

Mr. WILLISTON moved an amendment to strike out the clause which left it optional with citizens to choose the means of trial.

Mr. M'CLURE was opposed to the whole bill.

The amendment of Mr. WILLISTON was lost.

Mr. LAIRD said that the powers conferred were too great. He moved to strike out petit larceny. Not agreed to.

Further debate ensued between Messrs. SMITH and M'CLURE, who moved to strike out all the counties named in the bill.

The motion to go into committee of the whole was not agreed to.

On the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. M'CLURE and Mr. GRAY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Balliet, Barlow, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Dismant, Dodds, Evans, Foster, Galley, Graham, Gray, Keneagy, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) M'Curdy, Miller, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Ramsdell, Shields, Stephens, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Warden, Witman Williston, Withrow and Woodring—34.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Aoker, Barnsley, Bayard, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Custer, Durbin, Gratz, Hammersly, M'Clure, Neall, O'ks, Patterson, Peirce, Shater, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Wagenseller, Walker and Wilson—20.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

VETO MESSAGES.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented the following messages from the Governor; which were read, as follows:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER.
Harrisburg, April 4, 1859. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

GENTLEMEN:—The bill, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Fall Brook coal company," is herewith returned, without the Executive approval, to the House of Representatives, where it originated, for re-consideration.

This bill proposes to confer on certain persons therein named, corporate powers, with the right to hold land in certain townships in the county of Tioga, not exceeding six thousand acres at any one time, and with the privilege of selling and exchanging such personal property as may be useful and convenient in their business. It further proposes to authorize the company, when incorporated, to build a railroad not exceeding fifteen miles in length, from any portion of its lands to connect with any other railroad. In addition to these privileges, the second section of the bill provides, "that the said company shall have the right also to mine, and prepare for market, coal, iron ore, fire-clay and other minerals of their lands,—to manufacture iron, fire-brick, mineral oil and other products of their minerals or lands, and to transport them to market, and dispose of them; and to lease, sell and convey their land and the minerals thereof, and to make all such improvements and erections as may be deemed necessary for their interests."

It will thus be seen that the proposed corporation, although a close one, and called a coal company, would in reality be a railroad company, a manufacturing company and a mining company, with power to buy and sell all kinds of personal property that might be useful and convenient in its business, and to buy and sell lands without limit, except that it shall not hold more than six thousand acres at one and the same time. Notwithstanding the unusual and extraordinary powers which the bill proposes to confer on the corporators, most of the restrictions contained in our general manufacturing act are omitted, and the individual liability of the stockholders is limited to debts due mechanics, workmen and laborers, and for produce furnished to the company, while the general law makes the stockholders individually liable for "debts due to miners, quarrymen and other laborers, and for machinery, provisions, merchandise, country produce, and materials furnished for such companies respectively."

That portion of the bill under consideration, which proposes to authorize the construction of a railroad, is objectionable; but if the corporators named, desire corporate powers for mining or manufacturing operations in this Commonwealth, they should be confined to the general law provided for all such cases.—The purchase and sale of real and personal property, except so far as it may be a necessary incident to powers granted to a corporation, should be left entirely to individual action and competition.

It has been suggested that as two of the three corporators are residents of another State, the general manufacturing act would not meet the requirements of this particular application; but this suggestion is met, by the fact that our general law authorizes the association of any five or more persons for mining or manufacturing purposes without regard to residence, requiring that a majority of the directors only shall be citizens of this Commonwealth. There is surely no hardship in this provision, and if we give the citizens of other States the same facilities for forming corporate associations that are furnished to our own, we cannot justly be subject to the charge of illiberality.

My views upon the impolicy of incorporating manufacturing or mining companies by special enactment, have been heretofore fully communicated to the General Assembly; and, as they remain unchanged, consistency as well as a sense of public duty, require that I should withhold the Executive approval from the bill under consideration.

WM. F. PACKER.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER.
Harrisburg, April 4, 1859. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN:—I herewith return, without the Executive approval, to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, the bill, entitled "An Act to incorporate the California seminary, of Washington county."

This bill proposes to combine the threefold functions of the common schools, an endowed private seminary, and a State Normal school; and is objectionable, because—first, its provisions are inconsistent with each other and with the common school law, as well as the general law in regard to State Normal schools; and second, the practical operation of the bill would be subversive of the interests and prosperity of the common schools of the borough of California, and of the rights and interests of the people of the Tenth Normal district, under the act establishing Normal schools.

The first section transfers the seminary to the management of a board of trustees and the school directors of the borough of California.—This would open a door to conflicts of jurisdiction, which cannot but prove injurious, and would permit interference with the common schools of the district on the part of the trustees of the seminary, and give them a share in the control of the common schools, which is, and should be, vested exclusively in the board of school directors. Whatever protection this section may seem to secure to the common schools, by equalizing the number of trustees and directors, is lost, by the fact that a majority of the whole number shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business; consequently, at any meeting in which there are more trustees than directors present, the directors may be out-voted, and their authority over-ruled.—The authority of the directors is made still more doubtful by the provisions of the fifth section, that each board of trustees and directors shall have a vote in the management of the corporation according to the several sums they have contributed; a rule of action, which, so far as appears from the bill, is uncertain now, and may be fluctuating and dangerous hereafter.—The tenth section makes an unconditional surrender of the common schools as model classes for the Normal school, without the consent of the board of directors, or any control on their part, or any other reservation whatever to protect the rights and interests of such schools.—The seventeenth section contains compulsory provisions with regard to the tuition of the common school pupils, incompatible with the municipal independence of the California school district, and the sound discretion of the board of school directors, under the terms of the general law; and the eighth section authorizes the entire transfer of the common school fund, and the virtual extinguishment of the common schools, for the benefit of the portion of the corporation known in the bill as the "seminary."

The bill is no less objectionable in its other features. It recognizes the California seminary as the State Normal school for the Tenth district, under the Normal school act; but without furnishing any evidence that its resources and organization are equal to the requirements of that act, or any guaranty that they will be hereafter. It manifestly is not yet ready for recognition under the terms of the general act, and it is evident from the property limitation in the fifteenth section, and in the proviso of the first section, that it will not be able to subserve the purposes of the Normal act, or confer the benefits which it contemplates. The terms of the deed of conveyance to the contributors, trustees, &c., in trust, are not recited in the bill; it is therefore possible, if not probable, that they are not consistent with the terms of the Normal act and with the ninth section of the bill. Other sections are modifications, but not improvements, of the Normal act; and while they would be injudicious in a general law, are liable to the further objection that they are made to apply to a single district, and, while lowering the educational standard, interfere with the uniformity of the State Normal system.

There is no apparent reason why the Tenth Normal district should be organized under a special law, nor why the California seminary should be recognized as the Normal school for that district before it has been properly organized and established under the general law. If this district and seminary may be thus recognized, every other district and similar institution of learning, may justly claim the same favor at the hands of the Legislature; and, in this event, all hope of establishing State Normal schools, uniform in their character, and equal to the growing wants of the Commonwealth, would be at an end. The importance of the common school system of the State cannot be overestimated. They are fast assuming the front rank among our great institutions. To them alone can the large majority of our children look for that education which is to fit them for the purposes of life and the duties of citizenship. The imperious want of the common schools is properly trained teachers. It is the settled conviction of the educational world that these can best be furnished by institutions set apart for that particular purpose. In harmony with our own wants, and the experience of the past, here and elsewhere, a Normal school system has been inaugurated, that, with proper encouragement, will, in my opinion, fully answer the end of its establishment; and hence any interference with the general plan, by special legislation, would be not only unwise, but pernicious. Modifications in some of its minor details, may be necessary to enable the Normal act to go into early operation; but these should be made by a general law, and not by special enactments.

WM. F. PACKER.

A motion was made by Mr. BOYER, (Clearfield,) that the House do now adjourn; which was agreed to.

Whereupon the Speaker adjourned the House until to-morrow morning at 9½ o'clock.

SENATE.

Tuesday, April 5, 1859.

The Senate was called to order at the usual hour.

On motion of Mr. TURNEY, the reading of the Journal was dispensed with.

Mr. FINNEY, who has been indisposed for several days, appeared in his seat.

The SPEAKER presented two remonstrances of citizens of Blair county, against any change in the school law.

PETITIONS, MEMORIALS, &amp;c.

Mr. MYER presented a petition of citizens of Bradford county, praying for such a change in the constitution as will allow colored persons to vote.

Mr. BLOOD, a petition of one hundred and sixty citizens of Clarion county, in favor of a removal of the seat of justice of said county from Clarion to Callensburg.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. TURNEY, (Finance,) reported, with a negative recommendation, "An Act for the relief of the military companies of the third brigade of the eighth division of the militia of this Commonwealth."

Also, (same,) as committed, "An Act relative to the final settlement of certain claims."

Also, (same,) as committed, "An Act for the relief of the sureties of William Wilson, collector of tolls in Northumberland county."

Also, (same,) as committed, House bill No. 377, "An Act to provide a more speedy method to enforce the payment of taxes against corporations."

Also, (same,) with a negative recommendation, House bill No. 892, "An Act relative to the collection of taxes on unseated lands in New Brighton, Beaver county."

Also, (same,) with a negative recommendation, "An Act to aid free persons of color to emigrate to Liberia."

Also, (same,) as committed, "An Act to authorize the Auditor General to correct certain accounts."

Mr. RANDALL, (same,) as committed, House bill No. 718, "An Act to amend an act relative to tax on meadow land in the Twetny-fourth ward of the city of Philadelphia."

Also, (same,) with a negative recommendation, House bill No. 740, "Resolutions relative to the tonnage tax on the Pennsylvania railroad."

Mr. GREGG, (same,) as committed, House bill No. 611, "An Act authorizing the auditors of Forest county to re-audit the account of William R. Coon, former treasurer of said county."

Also, (same,) with a negative recommendation, House bill No. 590, "An Act to increase the pay of collectors of State and county taxes in the townships and boroughs of Delaware county."

Also, (same,) with a negative recommendation, "Joint resolution relative to the final adjournment of the Legislature."

Also, (same,) with a negative recommendation, "An Act for the relief of Samuel W. Pierson, former Clerk of the Senate."

Also, (same,) as committed, House bill No. 461, "An Act authorizing the State Treasurer to pay the Towanda bridge company a balance due them in pursuance of a contract with the Canal Commissioners."

Mr. CRAIG, (Railroads,) as committed, House bill No. 1286, "A supplement to the act incorporating the North Lebanon railroad company."

BILL IN PLACE.

Mr. BELL read in his place and presented to the Chair, a bill, entitled "An Act authorizing the arrest of defendants in certain cases."

Mr. RANDALL, "An Act to incorporate the Washington Monument association of the first school district of the city of Philadelphia."

Mr. YARDLEY asked and obtained leave to withdraw certain papers relative to the claim of Anna Stackhouse."

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

Senate bill No. 763, "An Act to exempt from taxation the United States court rooms and postoffice in the city of Philadelphia," came up in order on second reading, the question being upon the proviso offered by Mr. SCOFIELD.

The proviso was not agreed to.

The title being amended, the bill passed finally.

Senate bill No. 285, "An Act relative to brokers," came up in order.

The first section being before the Senate,

Mr. PENNEY desired to hear from the Senator who had this bill in charge, some reason demanding its passage. He thought there was much in it objectionable.

Mr. SCHELL expressed a hope that the bill would pass. Brokers, as a class, should be taxed, and made to contribute their proportionate share to the support of the government.

Mr. MILLER explained the object of the bill.

It was proposed to tax a class whose investments are equal to those in lands, whose business is one of the most profitable character, and who pay a small comparative tax into the treasury. Brokers, he said, are not taxed in proportion to the balance of the community, and it becomes the duty of the Legislature to do something by which taxation shall be equalized. If the plan proposed by the bill is not exactly the means by which it can be reached, he would be glad to hear some amendment suggested by which the end desired can be accomplished. The capital employed by these brokers should be subject to taxation, and the burthen of it equalized to the people. This bill, he thought, would accomplish it, and he hoped it would receive that consideration from the Senate to which it was entitled.

Mr. PENNEY had but one word to say. He could see no reason why this return should be made by brokers, upon oath, any more than by the dealer in dry goods. His principal objection to it was, that it requires real estate, or exchange brokers, to set out under oath, a statement of their private affairs, which shall be open to the public gaze. The tax upon the business of these brokers may be too low—it probably was; if so, the proper way was to increase it. The bill, as it is, was manifestly objectionable, and should not receive the sanction of the Senate.

Mr. GAZZAM said there was a business institution in New York city, which had spread its branches throughout almost every State and town in the country. The object of this institution was to spy out the private affairs of business men, just as this bill proposes to do; and he was opposed to placing Pennsylvania in the same inquisitorial capacity. It was perfectly right that every public institution should account to the public; but the class which this bill proposes to reach, are now engaged in private business, and if the State began with this investigation of private affairs, where, he asked, would it stop? He hoped the bill would not receive the favorable consideration of the Senate.

Mr. MILLER further advocated his bill.—Brokers, he said, can do everything that banks can, with the exception of issuing notes. They can do all that savings institutions can; yet, while the one is compelled to pay a heavy tax, the other pays nothing at all. He would ask Senators whether the seven thousand dollars paid in by these brokers, is a fair representation of the capital employed by them in the prosecution of their profitable business? Is not that capital almost entirely exempt from taxation? If this is so, how are we to reach that capital, unless we put these brokers upon their oaths? Whether the bill will be effectual, or not, in bringing under taxation the vast amount of capital now exempt, it will have the moral effect, at least, of draining out much which cannot be reached. He had nothing to say against brokers, as individuals; he knew many of them, who were good and respectable men; but they were not bearing their proportion of taxation. The capital invested in real estate, and in personal property which the eye can reach, pays the vast proportion of tax which supports the government. The time has arrived when it is demanded that the man who owns his acre of land shall not pay tax, whilst the millionaire is released. The people demand some act by which the money in the strong chest of the broker may be brought out, and made to bear its just proportion of taxation.

Upon the adoption of the first section,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MILLER and Mr. PENNEY, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Francois, Keller, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Rutherford, Schell, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney and Wright—18.

NAYS—Messrs. Gazzam, Harris, Marselis, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—9.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The second section being before the Senate, Mr. WRIGHT moved to amend by inserting in the fourth line, after the word "Philadelphia," the words "stock-brokers, bill-brokers, or exchange-brokers."

Mr. WRIGHT stated the object he had in offering the amendment. By the bill, as it stands, gross injustice might be done to a large and respectable class of the citizens of Philadelphia. This his amendment was designed to obviate.

Mr. GAZZAM regarded the whole effect of the bill as designed to operate injuriously; and it would require additional amendments to make it acceptable.

Mr. MILLER hoped the amendment would not prevail.

Mr. WRIGHT said, if his amendment were not incorporated in the bill, he should be compelled to vote against the section.

The amendment was adopted, and the section, as amended, passed.

Upon suspending the rule,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MILLER and Mr. PENNEY, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Rutherford, Schell, Schindel, Turney, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—18.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Gazzam, Marselis, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Shaeffer and Steele—10.

So the question was determined in the negative, two thirds not having voted in the affirmative.

On leave given, Mr. TURNEY, (Finance,) reported, with amendment, House bill No. 382, "An Act to adjust the account of F. Knox Morton, late treasurer of the city and county of Philadelphia."

House bill No. 404, "A further supplement to the act incorporating the Philadelphia and Reading railroad company," came up in order, the question being upon the amendment offered by Mr. TURNEY, viz: to strike out the word "Harrisburg," and insert in lieu thereof the word "Reading."

Mr. TURNEY moved to amend the amendment, by inserting the words "from the tenth of March to the first of December in each and every year."

Upon the adoption of the amendment to the amendment,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. TURNEY and Mr. RANDALL, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Marselis, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Shaeffer, Turney and Wright—8.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Miller, Nunemacher, Penney, Rutherford, Schell, Scofield, Schindel, Steele, Thompson and Yardley—21.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring upon the amendment, it was not agreed to.

Mr. FINNEY moved to strike out the proviso inserted by the House of Representatives, imposing a tonnage tax upon all freight passing over the proposed extension from Harrisburg to Dauphin.

Mr. FINNEY spoke at some length on the subject. His concluding remarks were as follows:

I have been opposed to all that restrictive legislation that operates to the disadvantage of any particular roads. It may happen that a railroad constructed at an immense expense might be injured by laying a route parallel with it, and where there was no possibility of building it. But is it right, when a certain road is a paying road, that that fact should be made a pretext that no other road should be built running parallel with it? I am opposed to this tonnage tax on principle. I consider this a proposition merely to throw an obstacle in the way of business enterprise, and directly in the way of investment of capital, and that about to be done right here in the centre of the State, where there is no palliation or excuse for it whatever. You are calling upon the business men who, through their capital, their enterprise and industry are enabled to carry on a heavy business, to pay out of that enterprise that results more especially to the benefit of the whole State, a tax on their labors, to the exclusion of other companies situated just as they are.

Taxes should be levied as equally and proportionately as possible, and no man who will investigate this subject without, in the end, being convinced that the whole of this tax is derived immediately from the amount of business of the road. I am opposed to keeping the tonnage tax on the Pennsylvania railroad, but the people along the line clamor that it should be kept on, and as long as they clamor for it, I shall vote for it. As long as the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania desire a tonnage tax shall be kept on the company, I have no objections; but I have objections to putting the tax upon a road in a new territory against the wishes of the people.

Mr. TURNEY said that as soon as this bill would be signed by the Governor, there would be a competition between the Pennsylvania and the Lebanon Valley railroads, as to who should occupy this territory. It will then be almost a struggle between them. The Pennsylvania railroad should be allowed the privilege, as the surveys and other necessary operations had been made by that company. He called the attention of the Senate to the manifest fraud in the matter. The liberality of this Lebanon Valley company in assuming to pay this tax is a perfect fraud. They had fraudulently assumed to pay a tonnage tax on a distance of seven miles. You may transfer freight over the Pennsylvania, or any other road, for nineteen miles, yet you cannot impose a tax, unless the distance exceed twenty miles; therefore the fraud in this matter was palpable.

Mr. GAZZAM. I desire to ask the Senator from Westmoreland by what law the Pennsylvania railroad company, is exempt from the payment of a tonnage tax for less than twenty miles?

Mr. TURNEY. By the act which transferred to her the Main Line. The proposition I made here, of rivalry between these two companies, stands divested of any embarrassment on the score of constitutional objections. The Lebanon Valley railroad in accepting their charter, assumed the responsibility of paying this tax, at any time the Legislature imposed it. Now, I am not going to discuss the importance of these institutions, because that is a foregone conclusion. It is a matter of experience, and their benefit to the people of this and other Commonwealths, is established. In the proviso to the supplement to the act incorporating the Lebanon Valley railroad, there was contemplated the very exigency that has now arisen. That company now comes into the Legislature of this State, importuning the Representatives of the people, who are bound to protect the interests of people of this Commonwealth. I am not here as the Representative of the Pennsylvania railroad. I have no connection with it and no sympathy with it, except as an individual who is happy to see the prosperity of any corporation keep pace with the prosperity of the State. But I say the Pennsylvania railroad has upon her back a burden which no other corporation in this State has, and you are going to cripple her, for it is tangible, a matter of law and legislative enactment, that this organization has been held and will be held in this position, and the declaration of the Senator from Crawford explains the reason; because the people said the tonnage tax should be laid on this company he will vote for it. He is moulding his course in obedience, not to the will of the whole people, but to that of a part of them. Whether it is right or wrong to oppose this matter is not the question at issue at all; but I have only to say that the Legislature never yet passed an act of this kind, imposing a tax on a company, that they did not lay a heavy burden on that company.

Mr. SCOFIELD. If I can understand the Senator from Westmoreland, he has made two points against this bill. The one is that the application for an act to impose a tonnage tax on the Harrisburg and Dauphin railroad, for some nine miles, is a fraud; because there is no law authorizing a tax to be imposed on less than twenty miles. If that Senator will go to the Clerk's desk and read, as I have done, the clear, strong and unequivocal language there found, in regard to this case, he will find he is mistaken. The other point in the Senator's argument is that this matter creates a rivalry between the Pennsylvania and another road. If that was the fact, there might be some opportunity for debate as to whether we ought, or ought not, to pass it; but what is the fact? Philadelphia is the point at which all this freight passing over the Pennsylvania and the Lebanon Valley roads is to be landed.

The speaker here gave a detailed account of the position, attainments and importance of the several railroads of the State.

Mr. TURNEY said this bill had originated with the friends of the Lebanon Valley railroad. It passed the House under their patronage, control and management. It comes here to the Senate, and the Senator from Crawford, (Mr. FINNEY,) gets up and moves to strike out the very thing that the company assumed to take upon themselves. I do not see why we should do more for the company than it desires at our hands.

Mr. FINNEY. The Senator does not understand my position at all. I am not legislating for this company, but for the people. This company does not pay a tonnage tax, and I will not vote to impose it upon them, but I will refuse, as far as I am concerned, to take it off the Pennsylvania road.

Mr. TURNEY replied to the remarks of the gentleman from Warren, (Mr. SCOFIELD,) and further defined his position.

Mr. BELL. Scarcely any people are more noted for public improvements than the people of Pennsylvania. Under the guidance of those enthusiasts, whom I had supposed had passed away long ago, we have actually contracted a heavy debt of some thousands of dollars. Now, what are we doing to-day? Simply spending time in considering to which of two rival companies shall belong the privilege of extending a little local road for about ten miles. It seems to me, upon the present motion of the Senator from Crawford, to strike out the proviso, the Senate is ready to vote.

The amendment was not agreed to.

The question recurring upon the first section, the yeas and nays were required by Mr. TURNEY and Mr. BELL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Brewer, Craig,

Fetter, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Palmer, Penney, Rutherford, Schell, Scofield, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—22.

NAYS—Messrs. Coffey, Finney, Marselis, Parker, Randall, Shaeffer, Turney and Wright—8.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. TURNEY moved to amend, by the addition of a new section, which provided that the Philadelphia and Reading railroad company should not commence the proposed extension until the Pennsylvania railroad company had completed their road over the same route, upon which the yeas and nays were required by Mr. TURNEY and Mr. RUTHERFORD, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Coffey, Marselis, Parker, Randall, Shaeffer, Turney and Wright—7.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Blood, Brower, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Palmer, Penney, Rutherford, Schell, Scofield, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—25.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The title of the bill was agreed to, and the rule suspended.

The question being upon the final passage of the bill,

Mr. BELL understood the proposition to be simply this: Shall a company which has constructed a road, in continuation of one from Philadelphia, by way of Reading to Harrisburg, be allowed the privilege of extending it some twelve or fifteen miles westward, for the purpose of facilitating communication? What objection could be urged against it, he asked, except that it may interfere with the interests of a rival company. Are we sitting here to legislate for the interests of any particular railroad company—that of the Pennsylvania road, or any other? He had heard a great deal in the course of the discussion, with regard to the claims of the several companies. They have no claims, whatever, except those which their charters give them. Is there anything in the charter of the Pennsylvania company, which forbids the extension of this road twelve miles further west? Or is there anything in the charter of the Lebanon Valley road, which confines it to this point? That is the simple question for the Senate to determine. If there is not, how shall the Legislature of Pennsylvania say to them, they shall not do it? Why should we care, whether the Pennsylvania road is interested in preventing the extension of this road, or not? He was in favor of placing all of these roads upon the footing of competition with each other upon their merits alone.

Mr. SCHELL desired to give the reasons for his vote upon the bill. The law provides that when the Pennsylvania road has located its road, that act prevents its being taken by any other company.

Upon the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RANDALL and Mr. RUTHERFORD, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Palmer, Penney, Rutherford, Schell, Scofield, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—23.

NAYS—Messrs. Coffey, Marselis, Parker, Randall, Shaeffer, Turney and Wright—7.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

HOUSE AMENDMENTS.

House amendments to Senate bill No. 122, "A further supplement to an act to appoint commissioners to view, lay out and construct a State road in Lancaster and Chester counties," were twice read, considered and concurred in.

House amendment to Senate bill No. 483, "A supplement to the exemption law, &c., was read and considered.

Upon the motion to concur,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MYER and Mr. SCOFIELD, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Blood, Brower, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Harris, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Palmer, Penney, Rutherford, Schell, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Wright and Crosswell, Speaker—23.

NAYS—Messrs. Gregg, Myer, Parker, Randall, Scofield, Shaeffer and Schindel—7.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

House amendments to Senate bill No. 47, "An Act concerning turnpike, plank road and bridge companies, were pending, (Mr. BELL having the floor,) when the hour of adjournment arrived.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

TUESDAY, April 5, 1859.

The House was called to order at 9½ o'clock. Prayer by Rev. Dr. De Witt.

On motion of Mr. WILLIAMS of Bucks, the reading of the Journal was dispensed with.

CITIZENS' PASSENGER RAILWAY.

Messrs. EVANS and WARDEN moved a reconsideration of the vote had on final passage of bill 1308, "A supplement to the act to incorporate the Citizens' passenger railway company," and on the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WILLIAMS, of Bucks, moved that the further consideration of the motion be indefinitely postponed.

Mr. WALBORN said that the supplement conflicted with privileges already granted. He hoped that the motion to postpone indefinitely would not prevail.

Mr. NEALL denied that it would conflict. The company was already entitled to use eight squares in the street in question, and might as well be privileged to use four more.

Mr. HAMERSLY said that the bill would do no harm to any one.

Mr. WALBORN said that the original company was chartered to run north and south, and by this supplement derived the additional privilege of running east and west to an unlimited extent.

Mr. CHURCH was opposed to granting any further privileges to this company.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion to postpone indefinitely the motion to reconsider the vote had on the final passage of the bill?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WALBORN and Mr. HARDING and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Boyer, (Schuylkill) Campbell, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Evans, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Good, Graham, Gratz, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Laird, Mahaffey, McCurdy, Miller, Neall, Oaks, Palm, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Rohrer, Rose, Shields, Stephens, Stoneback, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagonseller, Walker, Warden, Wilcox, Williams, (Bucks) Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Woodring, Lawrence, Speaker—50.

NAYS—Messrs. Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield) Burley, Church, Ellmaker, Fisher, Foster, Goepf, Gray, Harding, Lawrence, (Washington) Nill, Shafer, Smith, (Berks) Smead, Styer, Walborn, Witman, Wigton, Wilcy, Williams, (Bedford) and Zoller—22.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On motion of Messrs. NILL and ELLMAKER, the House resolved to reconsider the vote had on the final passage of bill No. 378, "An Act relative to State taxes."

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass?

On motion of Mr. NILL, the House resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. PEIRCE in the Chair,) to amend the bill, so as to embrace moneys at interest and stocks within the provisions of the act; which was passed by committee of the whole.

And the bill, as amended, being before the House on final passage,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAMERSLY and Mr. PEIRCE, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Balliet, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Ellmaker, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Goepf, Good, Gratz, Gray, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mahaffey, Matthews, McCurdy, Miller, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagonseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—77.

NAYS—Messrs. Barnetcy, Graham and Stephens—3.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The bill, as passed above, read as follows:

WHEREAS, Doubts have arisen as to the proper construction to be given to the eighty-sixth section of the act approved the eighteenth day of May, Anno Domini, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, entitled "An Act to provide for the ordinary expenses of government, the repairs of public canals and railroads, and other general and special appropriations."

AND WHEREAS, It is proper that such doubts should be removed by an explanatory act; therefore

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the true intent and meaning of the aforesaid section is, that the reduction of the State tax from three mills to two and a half mills shall apply solely to the real and personal estate expressly enumerated as such in the thirty-second and thirty-fourth sections of the act to reduce the State debt, and to incorporate the Pennsylvania canal and railroad company, approved the twenty-ninth day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and forty-four, to wit: houses, lands, lots of ground and ground rents, mills and manufactories of all kinds, furnaces, forges, bloomeries, distilleries, sugar-houses, malt-houses, breweries, tan-yards, fisheries and ferries, wharves, monies at interest and stocks, and all the other real estate not exempt by law from taxation; also, all personal estate, to wit: horses, mares, geldings, mules and neat cattle over the age of four years, household furniture, including gold and silver plate owned by any person or persons, corporation or corporations, when the value thereof exceeds three hundred dollars, and to no other estate, real or personal, whatsoever.

Mr. LAIRD, from the select committee to which was referred the expenses of the committee on the Cambria county contested election case, reported bill of costs amounting to $390.07; which was read and approved by the House.

The Clerk of the Senate, being introduced, presented to the House Senate bill No. 89, "An Act to incorporate the Pennsylvania Fiscal Agency," which, on motion of Mr. MILLER, was ordered to be placed on to-day's Calendar.

PRIVATE CALENDAR.

Agreeably to order the House proceeded to the consideration of bills on the Private Calendar.

"An Act to incorporate the Towanda and Athens telegraph company," came up in order.

On the question,

Shall the bill be prepared and laid aside for second reading?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. KINNEY and Mr. CHASE, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Balliet, Barusley, Barlow, Chase, Dodds, Foster, Gratz, Harding, Kinney, M'Curdy, Palm, Preudfoot, Ramsdell, Rouse, Smead, Taylor, Thompson, Wiley and Williston—20.

NAYS—Messrs. Ackcr, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Church, Custer, Dismant, Durhoraw, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Graham, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Ketchum, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Pnghe, Rohrer, Rose, Shafer, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stonehack, Styer, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Witman, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—54.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. CHASE, from the Committee on Ways and Means, to which was referred Senate amendments to the appropriation bill, made report, which was read.

Mr. CHASE moved that the House adopt the report of the committee.

Mr. FOSTER called for a division of the question. He desired to have the amendments acted on separately.

The first amendment was read.

Mr. SMITH, of Berks, moved that the further consideration of the question be postponed for the present.

Mr. NEALL moved to amend so as to have said, "amendments printed for the use of the House."

Not agreed to.

Mr. KENEAGY moved to postpone the question until to-morrow morning. Agreed to.

SENATE AMENDMENTS

To House bill, entitled "Supplement to an act to incorporate the Second and Third streets Passenger railway company, of Philadelphia, were read,

Mr. EVANS said—

Mr. SPEAKER:—I desire to raise my voice against the adoption of these amendments. During the last session, of which I was a member, the charter for the company asking this legislation was granted, giving the right to it to cross at grade any railroad now, or hereafter to be built, and to extend their said road to Allegheny avenue, along Richmond street. It was evidently the full intent and meaning of said act to extend the road to Allegheny avenue, with a double track above the Reading railroad. Now, after one year's delay, they have just completed a single track to said avenue, without sufficient turn-outs or sidellings; and, as the cars only run to the Reading railroad, passengers arc, therefore, obliged to get out and walk across the track, a distance of from fifty to seventy-five yards, thereby being transferred to another car drawn by one horse. And, notwithstanding there are some twenty or twenty-five cars running at the present time up to the Reading railroad, the company have but one or two of these one horse cars to convey passengers north of the said railroad, much to the annoyance and inconvenience of those who are forced to patronize this road. Inasmuch, therefore, as this company have not complied with the requirements of their charter, and thrown every obstacle in the way to annoy the citizens residing north of said road, I hold that their request for further legislation, is a bold piece of impudence, and should not be granted. I therefore hope this House will recede from the Senate amendments.

And, on the question, will the House concur in the same,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. EVANS and Mr. GRAY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Ackcr, Balliet, Barnsloy, Barlow, Bayard, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Church, Custer, Dodds, Durhoraw, Eckman, Fisher, Foster, Glatz, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, M'Dowell, Neall, Nill, Palm, Peirce, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rouse, Shafer, Smith, (Berks,) Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson and Withrow, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—55.

NAYS—Messrs. Evans, Fleming, Goepp, Gritman, Hill, Laird, Oaks, Price, Rohrer, Shields, Stephens, Stoneback and Warden—13.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The hour of one having arrived, the Speaker adjourned the House until this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

CORRECTION.—In yesterday's proceedings it is incorrectly stated that Mr. NILL asked and obtained leave to change his vote on the final passage of the "FREE BANKING BILL." Mr. NILL having been absent when that vote was had, yesterday asked and obtained leave to record his vote in the negative on the final passage of said bill.

THE FREE BANKING LAW.

The final vote on the free banking law was had in the House of Representatives on April 1st, Mr. M'DOWDELL assigned the following reasons:

"Mr. M'DOWDELL, on the final passage of the bill, stated that he was not opposed to the general principles of a free banking law, but as the act, in its present shape, did not meet either his own views or those of his constituents, as he understood them, he voted 'no.' The provisions of the free banking law of the State of New York, he thought, were better suited to the wants of the people of Pennsylvania, and if the proposed measure had been similar, he would have voted for it."

SENATE—AFTERNOON SESSION.

TUESDAY, April 5, 1859.

BILLS CONSIDERED.

On motion of Mr. BALDWIN, the Committee on Roads and Bridges was discharged from the consideration of Senate bill No. 1061, "A supplement to an act incorporating the Quarrysville and Unicorn turnpike road company," agreed to, and the bill passed its various readings.

On motion of Mr. BELL, House bill No. 348, entitled "An Act for the better regulation of billiard saloons, bowling saloons and ten-pin alleys, in Chester county," was taken up, considered and passed.

On motion of Mr. BLOOD, House bill No. 611, entitled "An Act to authorize the auditors of Forest county to re-audit the State account of William R. Coon, Esq., former treasurer of said county," was considered, amended and passed.

On motion of Mr. BREWER, House bill No. 460, entitled "An Act to authorize the appointment of commissioners to examine and adjust certain claims," was considered.

Upon the passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCOFIELD and Mr. BREWER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Fetter, Gazzam, Palmer, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Schell, Steele, Thompson and Cresswell, Speaker—12.

NAYS—Messrs. Harris, Turney and Wright—3.

The bill fell for the present, there not being a quorum voting.

A call of the Senate was moved, when, a quorum answering to their names,

On motion of Mr. BREWER, the Senate resumed the consideration of the bill.

Mr. TURNEY moved to go into committee of the whole, for the purpose of special amendment; which was agreed to.

The amendment was to refer the settlement of the claim aforesaid to the Auditor General, instead of commissioners appointed by the Governor.

The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was then postponed for the present.

HOUSE.—AFTERNOON SESSION.

TUESDAY, April 5, 1859.

The House met again at three o'clock.

SPEAKER is the chair.

Mr. PUGHE, on leave given, from the Committee on Mines and Minerals, reported, with amendment, "An Act to incorporate the Harmony anthracite coal company."

On motion of Mr. GOEPP, the same was ordered to be placed on to-day's calendar.

Mr. KETCHUM obtained the unanimous consent of the House, to strike from Senate bill No. 510, "A supplement to the act to incorporate the Plymouth canal company," House amendment inserted yesterday.

On motion of Mr. THORN, the standing committees of the House obtained leave to make reports.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) (Ways and Means,) with a negative recommendation, "An Act repealing so much of the act of 29th April, 1844, as allows the State Treasurer to abate five per cent., &c."

Mr. CHASE, (same,) with a negative recommendation, "An Act to authorize the State Treasurer to refund to Samuel Baird certain money."

Mr. NILL, (Judiciary,) as committed, Senate bill No. 736, "An Act to legitimate Margaret Haas," which, on his motion, was taken up and passed finally.

Senate amendments to a number of House bills were read and concurred in.

Mr. CHASE moved that if the Private Calendar be not disposed of to day, it be made the special order for to-morrow morning, and that a session be held in the afternoon if the Calendar still remain unfinished.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved, and the House resolved to hold a session this evening, commencing at seven and a half o'clock, for the purpose of considering bills on the Private Calendar.

APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. CHASE called up Senate amendments to the House appropriation bill.

The House concurred in the Senate amendment to the second section, striking out "inclusive of his compensation as commissioner of the sinking fund."

Senate amendment increasing the salary of the Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth from fourteen hundred dollars to fifteen hundred dollars, was concurred in.

The amendment of the Senate striking out the words "inclusive of his compensation as commissioner of sinking fund," thus making the salary of the Auditor General two thousand dollars per annum, was concurred in by the House.

The amendment increasing the salary of the Superintendent of Common Schools from fourteen hundred to fifteen hundred dollars, was concurred in.

The Senate further amended the second section so as to allow the State Treasurer additional compensation as commissioner of the sinking fund; which was concurred in by the House.

The clerk hire, in the Auditor General's department, is increased by the Senate from eight thousand one hundred to eight thousand six hundred, and was non-concurred in by the House.

Senate amendment reducing clerk hire in the Surveyor General's department from eight thousand seven hundred to seven thousand six hundred, was non-concurred in by the House.

Senate amendments to the fifth and ninth sections were read and concurred in.

Senate amendments to the third section were concurred in.

Senate amendment to the tenth section increasing the appropriation for the payment of pensions and gratuities from ten thousand to fifteen thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, was non-concurred in.

The amendment in the thirteenth section, increasing the appropriation for the payment of the salaries of the judges of the district court, and the president and assistant law judges of the court of common pleas of Allegheny county, from eight thousand four hundred to ten thousand two hundred dollars, was concurred in.

The amendment to the fourteenth section was concurred in.

The amendment to the eighteenth section, allowing an additional appropriation of $12,000 for the purpose of removing the walls and extending the building and increasing the number of cells in the Western Penitentiary, was read.

And on the question, Will the House concur?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BAYARD and Mr. IRISH, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Bayard, Bryson, Campbell, Dismant, Evans, Fisher, Foster, Galley, Good, Gratz, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, Ketchum, Laird, Matthews, McDowell, Miller, Neall, Patterson, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rohrer, Rouse, Shields, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Warden, Whiston, Wilson, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker--36.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Burley, Chase, Church, Custer, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fleming, Glatz, Graham, Green, Gritman, Hill, Hottentstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, M'Carthy, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Price, Quigley, Ramsdell, Shafer, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Withrow and Woodring--51.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Senate amendments, allowing $12,895 for the payment of the salaries of officers of the Eastern Penitentiary, and $2,423 for necessary repairs, were read.

And on the question, Will the House concur?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAMERSLY and Mr. WALBORN, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Church, Evans, Fisher, Foster, Good, Gratz, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, McDowell, Miller, Neall, Quigley, Styer and Wiley--16.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Balliet, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Barley, Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Graham, Green, Gritman, Hill, Hottentstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, M'Curdy, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) and Wilson, Withrow, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—68.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The House non-concurred in the Senate amendment, requiring the Western Pennsylvania hospital to give bonds in the sum of $20,000 for the purpose of erecting suitable buildings.

The Senate amendment to section twenty-three, striking out House proviso, requiring repair account of lunatic hospital to be audited, was concurred in.

Senate amendment to twenty-sixth section, striking out clause appropriating $25,000 for completion of training school buildings, and inserting clause giving $12,500, providing that a similar amount be raised by private contribution, was non-concurred in by the House.

Senate amendment requiring account of the publisher of the Record to be certified by the Superintendent of Public Printing, instead of the Committee on Public Printing of both Houses, was concurred in.

Senate amendments to the thirty-third section were concurred in.

Mr. FOSTER moved to amend the Senate amendment, by adding to the end thereof the following:

And for protecting the public buildings from destruction by fire, the sum of fifteen hundred dollars; which was agreed to.

And the Senate amendments as amended were agreed to.

Senate amendment to the thirty-fourth section, reducing the compensation to be allowed committee appointed to try the contested election case, from six hundred and seventy-five dollars to two hundred and seventy-five dollars, was read.

And pending the consideration of the same, the hour of five having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until this evening at seven and a half o'clock.

HOUSE.—EVENING SESSION.

The House re-assembled at 7½ o'clock.

APPROPRIATION BILL.

The House resumed the consideration of Senate bill No. 840, "An Act to provide for the ordinary expenses of government, &c."

The question being,

Will the House concur in the Senate amendment to reduce the allowance for the payment of the expenses of the contested election case committee of the Third Representative district, Philadelphia, from $675 to $275?

Mr. ROHRER said that $1,000 was saved to the State by the committee going to Philadelphia. He had prepared at one time accurate and detailed statements showing this. It was not as a matter of pleasure that the committee had visited Philadelphia, but in the fulfilment of an earnest duty.

Mr. HAMERSLY thought that as the committee had thus gone they should be properly paid.

Mr. THORN said that the committee of nine, who went twice to Philadelphia, now demanded $75 for each member. This was no more than reasonable and just. He hoped that the House would at once refuse to non-concur in the Senate amendment.

Mr. FOSTER offered the following amendment as a substitute:

For the payment of the expenses of the committee selected to try the contested election case from the Third Representative district, Philadelphia, incurred by two sessions held in said city for the purpose of taking testimony, with the permission of the House of Representatives, $750, $75 of which shall be paid to each member of said committee, and $75 to Charles S. Pealo and Elisha McCarty for the use of rooms at the Pelletier House, for the sessions of said committee; which was agreed to.

Senate amendment to the thirty-fifth section, by reducing the compensation of Jno. A. Smull to that received by a Transcribing Clerk; which was non-concurred in by the House.

Senate amendments to the thirty-seventh section, by striking out the extra compensation of $100 each to Messrs. Morgan, Kimmel, Gardy, Williams, McDowell and Reese; which was non-concurred in.

Senate amendments to the thirty-eighth section relative to Lucius Rogers, by striking out the entire section; which was non-concurred in.

Senate amendments to the fortieth section, by adding the claim of J. D. Hamilton for balance due him on settlement, amounting to $14; which was concurred in.

Senate amendment to the forty-third section, by allowing Wm. H. Miller, Clerk of the Senate, $125 extra compensation for indexing; which was concurred in.

Senate amendments to the forty-fifth section, by striking out extra compensation of $150 to Chief Clerks; $100 to Assistants, and other Clerks $100; and to Sergeants, Messenger, Doorkeeper, Postmaster and Assistants, $75 each, and inserting $100 as additional compensation to each officer, with a proviso allowing officers a per diem salary for remaining after the session.

On the question,

Will the House concur?

It was determined in the negative.

The following new sections, inserted by the Senate, were read and non-concurred in by the House:

SEC. 47. To William P. Brady, the sum of one hundred dollars for filing the Legislative Record, and for services after the expiration of the session; and the pay of said Brady, as an officer of the Senate, shall be the same as that of a Transcribing Clerk, which shall be duly allowed, settled and paid.

SEC. 49. For transcribing for railroad committee in Senate, to be paid on the order of the chairman, twenty five dollars.

SEC. 50. That the State Treasurer is hereby authorized to pay to David S. Spear, as an officer of the Senate, the same compensation hereby allowed to the Assistant Messenger of the Senate.

The following new sections, inserted by the Senate, were read and concurred in by the House:

SEC. 52. That the clerks appointed according to the seventeenth section of the act approved May seventh, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-five, shall be allowed the same rate of mileage as other officers of the Legislature, and at the same rate of compensation as is now allowed to the Transcribing Clerks by said act, in proportion to the time they shall serve as such.

SEC. 53. That the Auditor General shall not allow any account presented for settlement by any of the officers of the several institutions named herein, and to which appropriations have been made, unless the same shall be attested by the oath of the superintendent, or other principal officer, that the same is correct, and was expended for the items set out in the bill, and that the same was contracted for on the most favorable terms.

SEC. 48. That there is hereby appropriated one hundred and fifty dollars to be expended by the Clerk of the Senate in the purchase of fifteen thousand of Gavit's electrotypo envelopes, and the stamp for the use of the Senate; and the sum of four hundred and fifty dollars for a similar purpose for the House.

SEC. 53. For the payment of the balance due Jacob Ziegler, late Clerk of the House of Representatives, twelve hundred and two dollars and thirty-six cents, as ascertained by the Auditor General on settlement.

SEC. 54. That the State Treasurer is hereby authorized to pay each of the women employed in the service of the two Houses during the present session of the Legislature, the sum of ten dollars for services rendered.

SEC. 58. For the pay of Charles Weitzel, for attending fires, carrying wood, attending the Senate chamber at night, and other miscellaneous services, one hundred dollars; and that a like sum be appropriated to pay Wm. Hutman, for like services in the House.

The Senate amend, by adding the following new section:

SEC. 57. That a sum, not exceeding one dollar for each board of directors and controllers in the State, be and the same is hereby appropriated to enable the Superintendent of Common Schools to carry out the requirements of the ninth section of the "Supplement to the general school law," approved the 8th day of May, 1855."

On the question,

Will the House concur?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BARNESLEY and Mr. STEPHENS, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Foster, Galley, Goepf, Good, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Irish, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington) Matthews, Palm, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Rouse, Shafer, Shields, Smead, Styer, Walborn, Warden, Wiley and Lawrence, Speaker—38.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Barnesley, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Custer, Dodds, Glatz, Gray, Hottentstine, M'Dowell, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Ramsdell, Rose, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Thorn, Wagen-seller, Walker, Witman, Williams (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson and Withrow—32.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The Senate adds the following new section:

SEC. 56. That the sum of one thousand dollars be appropriated to the "Mount Vernon ladies association of the Union," to be expended for the purposes declared in the charter and constitution of the said association, and the State Treasurer is hereby authorized to pay the same to the Vice Regent of the said association for Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the House concur?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GRATZ and Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Bayard, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Chase, Church, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Galley, Good, Gratz, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Kinney, Laird, Matthews, M'Dowell, Neall, Palm, Quigley, Shafer, Shields, Styer, Thorn, Walborn, Warden, Wiley and Lawrence, Speaker—30.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Barnesley, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durhoraw, Eckman, Fleming, Foster, Glatz, Goepf, Graham, Gritman, Hill, Hottentstine, Irish, Jackson, Kenegy, Ketchum, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehafeey, M'Curdy, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rouse, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Wagen-seller, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow and Woodring—54.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. CHURCH, on leave given, read in his place and presented to the Chair, "An Act to incorporate the Warren hose company of Philadelphia;" which, on his motion, was taken up and passed.

On motion of Mr. WILLISTON, the House proceeded to the consideration of the bill to incorporate the Fall Brook coal company, returned to the House with the objections of the Governor.

Mr. WILLISTON hoped the bill would pass notwithstanding the objections of the Governor. The bill was calculated to confer the best advantages upon the citizens of the county, and involved only a local question.

Mr. GOEPP wished to understand one point, viz: whether the bill made the proprietors and incorporators individually liable for debts due to workmen.

Mr. WILLISTON replied that such was the case.

Mr. GOEPP said that in such an event, he should vote for the passage of the bill over the veto. He further advocated the bill.

Mr. NILL concurred with this view. While desiring at all times to pay a proper respect to the opinions of the Governor, he felt impelled by duty to favor this bill.

Mr. GRITMAN hoped that the House would not stultify themselves by voting for this bill, on the mere supposition that others of a similar character were to be presented.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) favored the bill, and said that the veto of the Governor was not based on the ground that the act was unconstitutional or the result of hasty legislation. In sending the veto, he had merely submitted an opinion.

He concurred with the views of Messrs. GOEPP and WILLISTON.

Mr. GOEPP defended the bill, and reiterated his assertion that it deserved support.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

In obedience with the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Bayard, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fisher, Goepf, Good, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Green, Harding, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Taylor, Thorn, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Withrow, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—65.

NAYS—Messrs. Bertolct, Custer, Foster, Galley, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Laird, Peirce, Stephens, Stoneback and Warden—13.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And the bill passed, a constitutional majority having voted in the affirmative.

Mr. THORN, on leave given, read in his place and presented to the Chair, "An Act to establish a house of correction and employment in the city of Philadelphia;" and on his motion, the House took up and passed said bill finally.

On motion of Mr. LAWRENCE, of Washington, the House considered Senate bill No. 908, "An Act relative to the collection of militia taxes in Washington county;" which was passed finally.

Mr. GRITMAN presented the bill, on the part of the respondent, in the contested election case from the Third Representative district of the city of Philadelphia, for witness fees, accompanied with a resolution that the SPEAKER of the House draw his warrant upon the treasurer of said city for the amount therein set forth; which was agreed to.

Mr. BARNSELY moved that the House proceed to the consideration of the motion to reconsider the vote had on the final passage of the bill, entitled "An Act to prevent the defacing of bank notes;" which was not agreed to.

Mr. HAMERSLY, on leave given, read in his place and presented to the chair, "An Act to incorporate the Manayunk and Roxboro gas company;" which, on his motion, was ordered to be placed on last Tuesday's Private Calendar.

Mr. MILLER, on leave given, reported as committed, the following bills from the Committee on Corporations:

"An Act to incorporate the Farmers' and Citizens' hay and straw company of the city of Philadelphia."

"An Act to incorporate the Western library association of Philadelphia;" and on his motion, the same were ordered to be placed on last Tuesday's Calendar.

Mr. DURBORAW introduced "An Act to incorporate the New Oxford, Abbottstown and York railroad company."

Ordered to be placed on last Tuesday's Calendar of Private Bills.

Mr. STYER, "An Act to incorporate the Washington Monument association of the first school district of Pennsylvania;" which was taken up and passed finally by the House.

Mr. FISHER, from the Committee on Corporations, reported the following bills favorably:

"An Act to incorporate the Cochransville Hall association."

"An Act to authorize the Butler House hotel company to change their corporate name."

"An Act supplementary to an act to incorporate the Locust Gap improvement company;" which, on motion of Mr. HARDING, was ordered to be placed on last Tuesday's Private Calendar.

Also, "An Act to incorporate the Schuylkill Hose company of Philadelphia;" which was considered, and passed the House finally.

On motion of Mr. BURLLEY, the House considered, and passed finally, bill No. 1265, "An Act to authorize the Tyrone and Clearfield railroad company to borrow money."

Mr. CHASE, from the committee of conference, to which was referred the subject of the differences between the two Houses, on House bill No. 373, "Resolution relative to the pay of Lucius Rogers for services rendered as clerk to the committee appointed to try the contested election case of the Third Representative district, Philadelphia," made report; which was read and adopted, viz: that the House recede from its non-concurrence to the Senate amendment to said resolution.

Mr. WARDEN, on leave given, introduced a bill, entitled "Supplement to an act to incorporate the trustees of the Associate Reformed congregation of Brush Creek, Westmoreland county;" which was considered, and passed the House finally.

Mr. PROUDFOOT, "An Act to empower the Attorney General to examine certain claims in Cambria and Blair counties."

Ordered to be placed at the foot of the Calendar new before the House.

On motion of Mr. FOSTER, Senate bill No. 541, was ordered to be placed on same Calendar.

Mr. WALBORN moved that the Committee on Railroads be discharged from the further consideration of the act, entitled "A supplement to an act to incorporate the North Branch railroad company;" and that the House proceed to the consideration of the bill; which was agreed to.

The bill was read the second time.

When, on motion of Mr. GRATZ, the further consideration of the same was postponed for the present.

Mr. BOKMAN, on leave given, introduced "An Act, entitled 'A further supplement to the act erecting the town of Lebanon, county of Lebanon, into a borough, approved Feb. 20, 1821;" and, on his motion, the same was taken up, and passed the House finally.

Mr. BERTOLET, from the Committee on Agriculture, reported as committed, "An Act to prevent fishing with nets and seines in Augwick creek, Huntingdon county."

And presented "An Act more effectually to encourage the destruction of crows;" which, on his motion, was ordered to be placed on last Tuesday's Private Calendar.

Mr. KENEAGY called up House bill No. 1033, "An Act to incorporate the Lampeter and Bridgeport turnpike road company," which passed the House finally.

Mr. KETCHUM, from the Committee on Railroads, reported, with amendment, "A further supplement to the act incorporating the Susquehanna railroad company;" which, on his motion, was considered and passed finally by the House.

Resolved, That the clerks shall not be required to journalize any amendment made to private bills except those upon which the yeas and nays are called.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

House bill No. 825, "An Act authorizing the Bostwick iron company to mine coal, et cetera." Passed.

Senate bill No. 1076, "An Act authorizing the sheriff of Mifflin county to appoint William Shimp deputy sheriff thereof." Passed.

Upon the final passage of this bill, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PENNEY and Mr. FETTER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Keller, Marselis, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Schell, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney and Wright—20.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Coffey, Finney, Harris, Miller, Nunemacher, Penney, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—8.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

House bill No. 382, "An Act to adjust the account of F. Knox Morton, late treasurer of the city of Philadelphia." Passed.

Senate bill No. 285, "An Act relative to brokers." Passed.

On motion of Mr. MILLER, the Senate went into committee of the whole for the purpose of general amendment.

Mr. GAZZAM moved to strike out the words "stock and exchange brokers;" and,

Upon the question of agreeing to the amendment,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MILLER and Mr. WRIGHT, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Brewer, Coffey, Fetter, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Marselis, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Steele, Turney, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—17.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Finney, Francis, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Schell, Shaeffer, Schindel, Thompson and Wright—11.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. GAZZAM then moved to strike out the words "bill brokers," which he subsequently withdrew.

Upon the final passage of the bill, The yeas and nays were required by Mr.

RANDALL and Mr. STEELE, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Schell and Wright—2.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Coffey, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Harris, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Shaeffer, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—21.

So the question was determined in the negative.

House bill No. 718, "An Act to amend the act passed April 16, 1858, relative to tax on meadow land in the twenty-fourth ward of the city of Philadelphia." Passed.

On motion of Mr. BELL, the Senate resumed the consideration of Senate bill No. 672, "An Act relative to sureties of county treasurers."

The Senate went into committee of the whole for the purpose of general amendment, (Mr. CRAIG in the chair;) and

The bill as amended, passed finally.

On motion of Mr. RUTHERFORD, the Senate proceeded to the consideration of Senate bill No. 787, "An Act to incorporate the Susquehanna insurance company of Harrisburg," the bill having come up on a motion to reconsider.

The question being upon the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. TURNEY and Mr. RUTHERFORD, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Coffey, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Shaeffer, Thompson and Yardley—15.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Randall, Schell, Schindel, Turney, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—13.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. BELL called up Senate bill 169, "An Act in reference to the commissions of justices of peace and aldermen." Passed.

On motion of Mr. PENNEY, "An Act to provide for taking testimony in the contested election cases of members of the General Assembly." Passed.

Mr. GAZZAM moved to resume the consideration of Senate bill 386, "An Act to liquidate the amount due on a certain judgment."

The motion was agreed to, and on the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCHELL and Mr. GAZZAM, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Coffey, Francis, Gazzam, Harris, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Shaeffer, Thompson, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—16.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Fetter, Keller, Marselis, Nunemacher, Randall, Schell, Schindel, Steele and Turney—10.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. MILLER, the Committee on the Judiciary were discharged from the further consideration of House bill No. 833, entitled "An Act to provide for the erection of a house for the employment and support of the poor in the county of Greene."

The bill after being considered, passed finally.

On motion of Mr. FRANCIS, House bill No. 793, "An Act authorizing the Auditor General to open and re-settle the account of James Mitchell, late treasurer of Lawrence county. Passed.

On motion of Mr. WRIGHT, House bill No. 278, "Supplement to an act to repeal certain acts of Assembly upon the non-payment of the enrolment tax."

The bill lies over.

On motion of Mr. MYER, House bill No. 903, "An Act to authorize the auditors of Sullivan county to re-audit the accounts of James Taylor, late treasurer of said county, with the Commonwealth; passed."

Mr. NUNEMACHER read in place a bill repealing the second section of "An Act, entitled 'An Act declaring Cash Creek, in the counties of Clearfield and Indiana, a public highway; relating to Telpchocken creek, Berks county.'"

Mr. PALMER called up Senate bill No. 1093, entitled "A further supplement to an act relating to a burial ground and school lot in the borough of Pottsville;" which passed finally.

On leave given, Mr. SHAEFFER read in place "A Supplement to an act relative to the Columbia and Chestnut Hill turnpike road company."

On leave given, Mr. PARKER read in place, a bill, entitled "An Act to increase the capital stock of the Southwark Bank of the city of Philadelphia."

Also, a bill, entitled "An Act relating to the courts of Philadelphia."

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, he communicated the following message from the Governor:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, }
Harrisburg, April 6, 1859.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN:—I have approved and signed the following acts of the General Assembly, viz:

"A further supplement to the act incorporating the borough of Meadville."

"An Act to repeal an act relative to the Susquehanna and Waterford turnpike road company."

"An Act conferring on Sarah Ann, Melissa, Warren B., Nancy, Ellen, and Nicholas D. Evans, minor children of David O. Evans, deceased, and Catherine Evans, all the rights of children born in lawful wedlock."

WM. F. PACKER.

The hour of one o'clock having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

SENATE—AFTERNOON SESSION.

WEDNESDAY, April 6, 1859.

The Senate met at 3 o'clock. A quorum of Senators being present.

BILLS IN PLACE.

Mr. WRIGHT read in his place and presented to the Chair, a bill, entitled "A supplement to the act incorporating the Richmond and Schuylkill passenger railway company."

Mr. GAZZAM, "An Act to divide the township of Pitt, in Allegheny county."

BILLS CONSIDERED AND PASSED.

On motion of Mr. PARKER, Senate bill No. 1103, "An Act to incorporate the Delaware Avenue market company."

On motion of Mr. PENNEY, House bill No. 976, "A supplement to an act relating to fees of aldermen, justices of the peace and constables in the city of Pittsburg and the counties of Washington and Lancaster."

On motion of Mr. RANDALL, Senate bill No. 1104, "An Act to incorporate the Union reading room and association."

On motion of Mr. RUTHERFORD, House bill No. 1286, "A supplement to the act incorporating the North Lebanon railroad company."

On motion of Mr. SCHELL, Senate bill No. 1056, "An Act for the relief of the surties of Samuel W. Picerson, late a clerk of the Senate," was taken up.

Said bill, as amended, passed committee of the whole; and being upon second reading,

Mr. SCHELL said this was a very plain and meritorious case, and entered into a brief explanation of the grounds upon which its passage was urged.

Mr. GREGG resisted the passage of the bill, as one which was wrong in principle.

Mr. SCHELL further explained the bill, and urged the propriety of its passage.

The bill passed second reading.

The title was agreed to; and upon suspending the rule,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BELL and Mr. SCHELL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Coffey, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Keller, Miller, Parker, Penney, Schell, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—18.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Nunemacher and Palmer—4.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Upon its final passage,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HARRIS and Mr. SCHELL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Keller, Miller, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Schell, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—18.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Coffey, Craig, Gregg, Harris, Marselis, Nunemacher and Yardley—9.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. BELL, Senate bill No. 278, "An Act regulating the fees of auditors appointed by any of the courts of the city and county of Philadelphia."

On motion of Mr. SCHINDEL, House bill No. 988, "An Act to restrict sales by auction in the counties of Northampton, Dauphin and Lehigh."

On motion of Mr. THOMPSON, (Mr. WRIGHT, from the Committee on Corporations, on leave given, having reported said bill as committed,) "An Act to incorporate the military academy at Valley Forge."

[The preamble of the above bill was stricken out.]

On motion of Mr. TURNEY, House bill No. 770, "An Act for the division of North and South Union townships, in Fayette county, for all purposes."

On motion of Mr. STEELE, House bill No. 69, "An Act to incorporate the borough of New Columbia, Luzerne county."

On motion of Mr. YARDLEY, House bill No. 67, "A supplement to the act to incorporate the Dark Hollow and New Hope cemetery company."

On motion of Mr. CRAIG, House bill No. 1277, "A supplement to the act to incorporate the Newry railroad company."

On motion of Mr. BALDWIN, House bill No. 836, "An Act authorizing the supervisors of certain townships in Lancaster county to pay a portion of the cost of the construction of county bridges."

On motion of Mr. BELL, House bill No. 346, "An Act authorizing the appointment of three additional notaries public in Chester county."

On motion of Mr. BLOOD, House bill No. 1078, "An Act to authorize the laying out of a State road in Armstrong and Clarion counties."

On motion of Mr. BALDWIN, House bill No. 147, "An Act regulating the fees of aldermen, constables and justices of the peace relative to poor and indigent persons in Lancaster county."

On motion of Mr. FETTER, House bill No. 1000, "An Act requiring the sheriff of Cumberland county to compel all persons committed to the jail of said county, for vagrancy, to work."

Mr. MARSELIS called up House bill No. 182, "An Act to confer on certain associations of citizens of this Commonwealth the powers and immunities of corporations and bodies politic in law, and to confirm charters heretofore granted."

Said bill passed committee of the whole, (Mr. NUNEMACHER in the chair,) and objections being made, it lies over on second reading.

House amendments to Senate bill No. 337, "An Act to incorporate the Black Rock bridge company," were twice read, considered and concurred in.

House amendments to Senate bill No. 332, "An Act to incorporate the Centreville and Pineville turnpike road company," were twice read, considered and concurred in.

Mr. GAZZAM moved to resume the consideration of Senate bill No. 268, "An Act to incorporate the Commercial Bank of Pittsburg."

Upon which motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WRIGHT and Mr. GAZZAM, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford and Yardley—11.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Randall, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—14.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. FINNEY called up House bill No. 1094, "An Act for the payment of the claim of Mary Wilson, widow of Thomas Wilson."

Pending a discussion upon which, between Messrs. BELL and FINNEY, the Senate adjourned until 7 o'clock this evening.

SENATE—EVENING SESSION.

The Senate was called to order by the SPEAKER at 7 o'clock.

The Senate resumed the consideration of House bill No. 1094, "An Act for the payment of the claim of Mary Wilson, widow of Thomas Wilson." Said bill, after being duly considered, passed finally.

Mr. GAZZAM moved that the Senate proceed to consider Senate bill No. 971, "An Act to incorporate the Philadelphia and Pittsburg telegraph company."

Mr. WRIGHT stated that this bill had been negatived by the Committee on Corporations, and asked that the same be allowed to lie over on account of the absence of the Senator from Lancaster, (Mr. SHAEFFER,) who was interested in the bill.

Mr. GAZZAM insisted upon his motion, for the reason that this bill had been before the committee for nearly six weeks before they made any report, and said that if he permitted this opportunity for considering the same to pass, the bill might never be taken up.

The motion was agreed to,

Whereupon the Senate resolved itself into the committee of the whole, (Mr. RUTHERFORD in the Chair.)

After some time, the chairman reported the bill, as committed; when it was allowed to lie over.

Mr. GREGG called up House bill No. 751, "An Act to incorporate the Montour navigation improvement company."

Said bill (committee of the whole having been dispensed with) was laid over on third reading.

Mr. PARKER called up House bill No. 684, "An Act to incorporate the Penn steam engine, steamship and steam boiler manufacturing company;" which passed its various readings, and, being upon its final passage,

Mr. THOMPSON. I am not acquainted with the details of this matter, but I know I have presented several remonstrances here, numerous signed against the passage of this bill.

Mr. PARKER. By way of explanation, I would state that the objectionable part of the bill has been stricken out.

Mr. WRIGHT. I have to say that since the bill passed the House, it has been amended. Although this amendment may, in some measure, remove the objections of those persons who are engaged in building ships and steamboats, nevertheless, I do not feel like supporting the bill. I am opposed to the passage of these bills having for their object the formation of a company for carrying on a manufacture of the articles named in the bill. These parties who are incorporated here, often come in conflict with private parties engaged in the same business. I would have no objection to incorporating these gentlemen into a company; they carry on quite an extensive business and employ a great number of men; but I think they would be more successful in their branch of business, without than with an act of incorporation. I have uniformly opposed the granting of charters to companies, without being assured they will tend to their advantage and that they will not abuse the privileges granted them. Parties seeking these acts of incorporation, in addition to getting the act passed, desire to secure some advantage which the private incorporator does not have, under the laws as they now stand. For instance, these parties applying for an act of incorporation, usually seek to be relieved from the personal liabilities of the debts of the concern while the single handed operators are liable to the extent of all they are worth in the world, for everything they owe. I believe that the people of the locality generally, those who are not in the direct interest of the parties, who own this manufacturing establishment, are against this bill. I think it is but due to the people residing in the localities where these establishments exist, to say that.

Mr. GAZZAM. I am sorry I have to differ with the senator from Philadelphia (Mr. WRIGHT,) on this subject, because of the undemocratic views put forth by that Senator. It appears, by his own statement, there are wealthy men carrying on a successful business and making a great deal of money, but when a number of men of limited means come here, in order that they may compete with great capitalists, we are told by the Senator from Philadelphia we should not listen to them. I do not see that there is much force in the Senator's argument, when he says the people in that locality are opposed to this measure. We know that the people generally are in favor of it, or else they would not ask for it.

Here are a number of men, with a limited amount of means, who ask for the privilege to compete with a number of wealthy men of Philadelphia.

Mr. WRIGHT. I rise to call the attention of the gentleman (Mr. GAZZAM,) that these men he speaks of as having limited means have means without limit. I believe the reason for their pleading here, is because their business is so extensive and responsible.

Mr. GAZZAM. Without question, there are men of limited means in the enterprise, but they are aided by capitalists. The proposition before the Senate now is simply, will you aid and encourage a number of men of limited means to compete with men of wealth, in this branch of business?

Upon the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WRIGHT and Mr. PARKER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Coffey, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Schell, Shaeffer and Yardley—15.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Fetter, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Randall, Steele, Turney, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—12.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

BILLS CONSIDERED AND PASSED.

On motion of Mr. FRANCIS, House bill No. 857, "An Act to incorporate the ministers and elders of the general assembly of the United Presbyterian church of North America."

On motion of Mr. HARRIS, House bill No. 1106, "An Act to incorporate the Perry coal and oil company."

On motion of Mr. WRIGHT, House bill No. 880, "An Act authorizing the Maunayunk gas company to consolidate its stock."

On motion of Mr. NUNEMACHER, the (Committee on Corporations having been discharged from its consideration, (House bill No. 1075,) "An Act to incorporate the Amity horse company."

On motion of Mr. COFFEY, House bill No. 1086, "An Act to authorize the borough of Blairsville and the township of Burrell, in Indiana county, to hereafter elect supervisors separately."

On motion of Mr. KELLER, House bill No. 820, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Watsonstown bridge company."

On motion of Mr. PALMER, Senate bill No. 356, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Middle Coalfield tunnel and railroad company."

On motion of Mr. PENNEY, House bill No. 917, "A supplement to the act regulating boroughs."

On motion of Mr. MYER, Senate bill No. 1123, "A supplement to the act relative to the Towanda and Burlington plank road company."

On motion of Mr. RUTHERFORD, Senate bill No. 1026, "An Act for the relief of R. J. Fleming."

On motion of Mr. SCHELL, Senate bill No. 1037, "An Act authorizing the payment of the claim of Andrew Wise, of Huntingdon county."

On motion of Mr. SCHINDEL, House bill No. 416, "A supplement to the act in relation to establishing and changing the places for holding general elections throughout the Commonwealth."

On motion of Mr. PALMER, House bill No. 753, "An Act to incorporate the Mahoning railroad company."

On motion of Mr. RANDALL, (the Committee on Corporations having been discharged from its consideration,) House bill No. 1859,

"An Act to incorporate the Schuylkill hose company."

On motion of Mr. STEELE, Senate bill No. 738, "An Act authorizing the Governor to appoint an auctioneer for the boroughs of Scranton, Hyde Park and Providence, in Luzerne county."

On motion of Mr. TURNEY, House bill No. 885, "An Act to repeal an act increasing the pay of commissioners, jurors and witnesses in the counties of this Commonwealth, so far as the same relates to Fayette county."

On motion of Mr. WRIGHT, House bill No. 660, "An Act relative to vacating certain streets in the city of Philadelphia." This bill was, on motion of Mr. WRIGHT, slightly amended.

On motion of Mr. YARDLEY, House bill No. 251, "An Act to incorporate the Richlandtown turnpike road company."

On motion of Mr. BLOOD, (for the SPEAKER,) House bill No. 928, "An Act to incorporate the Clearfield water company."

Mr. FETTER called up House bill No. 755, "An Act for the relief of John S. Miller;" which passed to third reading, when Mr. COFFEY moved to go into committee of the whole, for the purpose of special amendment.

Messrs. FETTER and SCHELL explained the nature of the bill.

Mr. WRIGHT. I do not know what the facts of the case are, but from what I have been able to gather from different sources, I believe there is something due this gentleman, and I believe proper investigation cannot be had upon the act now pending. With regard to the amendment of the Senator from Indiana, who refers it to another Legislature, I would like to hear some good reason why that should be done.

Mr. COFFEY. I confess I am somewhat surprised at the novelty of the position which the Senator from Philadelphia, (Mr. WRIGHT,) and myself occupy. I am more frequently found advocating claims than he is, but to-night he is getting more liberal in his views on these matters. This bill may be right; this gentleman may have a just claim against the Commonwealth, but there are certain facts for the Senate to keep in mind; that it purports to be a claim for losses or damages sustained by him, in the construction of the Portage road. Now that work, on the Portage road, has been completed certainly five or six years ago. It is somewhat singular that at least six years could have elapsed since this man sustained the damages. During all that time and up to the commencement of the present session, the canal board were in existence, whose appropriate duty it was to report on all bills of this kind. The canal board has been abolished, and since the time of its abolishment, this claim has been introduced. It seems to me we ought not to express any opinion on this claim. I do not know nor does the Senator know whether it is right or wrong, because it has not received that investigation which ought to justify us in passing it. I think we should pursue the usual course in these matters. I happened one day, last session, to stop in the House and saw this claim defeated. It was started, this session, at an early day in the House, but not to this late day, it comes before the Senate, and it strikes me, it ought not to receive our sanction without our knowing for what we are to appropriate the money called for. I think a departure from the established practice in these matters, is a dangerous one, and therefore I made the motion to go into committee of the whole for the purpose of amending as I have proposed.

Upon the motion to go into committee of the whole,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. COFFEY and Mr. FETTER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Coffey, Francis, Harris, Mar-allis, Miller, Nuenmacher, Penney and Shaeffer—8.

YAYS—Messrs. Blood, Fetter, Gazzam, Koller, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Schell, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—13.

So the question was determined in the negative, and the bill passed finally.

On motion of Mr. GREGG, the Senate took up House bill No. 1265, "A supplement to the act authorizing the Tyrone and Clearfield railroad company to borrow money."

Said bill went through its various readings and passed finally.

On motion, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WEDNESDAY, April 6, 1859.

The House was called to order at 9½ o'clock by the SPEAKER.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. C. A. Hay, of the English Lutheran Church, Harrisburg.

On motion of Mr. HAMERSLY, the reading of the Journal was dispensed with.

On motion of Mr. NEALL, Senate bill No. 763, "An Act to allow the Government of the United States to hold certain real estate in the city of Philadelphia," was ordered to be placed at the foot of to-day's Calendar.

PRIVATE BILLS.

Agreeably to order, the House resumed the consideration of Private Bills.

Whereupon, the following were read, and no objections being made, prepared for second reading:

No. 1222, "An Act for the relief of William Rose, Rufus Smith and Aron Smith, sureties of S. L. Hibbard, late treasurer of Tioga county."

[Referred to Committee on Ways and Means, on motion of Mr. HAMERSLY.]

Sen. 715, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Attleboro, Hulmeville and Bristol turnpike road company."

No. 1234, "An Act for the protection of the rights of the people of Wayne county," which was read.

And on the question, Shall the bill be laid aside and prepared for second reading?

Mr. GRITMAN hoped that the bill would not be laid aside and prepared for a second reading.

And on the question being taken, It was not agreed to.

No. 1243, "An Act to incorporate the Diligent insurance company of Philadelphia," was read.

On motion of Mr. NEALL, the House refused to prepare the bill for second reading.

No. 1257, "An Act to authorize the establishment of Tanners' and Miners' Bank in the borough of Connelville, Fayette county," came up in order.

On the question, Will the House agree to lay the bill aside and prepare the bill for second reading?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GRITMAN and Mr. MILLER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Bayard, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Burley, Ellmaker, Evans, Galley, Grabam, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Keucagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehafeey, Peirce, Price, Proudfoot, Ramedell, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Shields, Smead, Styer, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Wilson, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—41.

"An Act to incorporate the Germantown market company," was read and prepared for second reading.

No. 1047 "An Act concerning the removal of the seat of justice of the county of Clearfield from Clearfield to Curwensville," was read.

The House refused to lay the bill aside for second reading.

No. 1351, "An Act to incorporate the Manayunk and Roxboro gas and water company," was read and prepared for second reading.

No. 1261, "An Act to empower the Attorney General to examine certain claims in the counties of Cambria and Blair," was read and prepared for second reading.

No. 1258, "An Act to incorporate the Seventeenth and Nineteenth Streets passenger railway company," was read.

On the question, Shall the bill be laid aside for second reading?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WALBORN and Mr. WILCOX, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Bayard, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Burley, Chase, Dodds, Ellmaker, Glatz, Goepp, Gratz, Gray, Green, Irish, Kenegy, Ketchum, Lawrence, (Washington,) Neall, Patterson, Price, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Smead, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Walborn, Witman, Wiley, Williston, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—35.

NAYS—Messrs. Barnsley, Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Campbell, Custer, Dismant, Darboraw, Evans, Fisher, Foster, Good, Grabam, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Laird, Mehafeey, Matthews, M'Curdy, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Peirce, Pinkerton, Pugbe, Quigley, Rohrer, Shields, Smith (Berks,) Stoneback, Stuart, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) and Wilson—42.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Messrs. HAMERSLY and MILLER moved that the vote just had be re-considered; which was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill be laid aside, and prepared for second reading? it was determined in the affirmative.

No. 1022, "An Act to incorporate the Allegheny and Etna passenger railroad company," was read and passed for second reading, after having been amended by Messrs. IRISH and M'DOWELL.

No. 1290, "Supplement to an act erecting the village of East Birmingham into a borough, approved 10th April, 1849," was read, and after having been amended by Mr. IRISH, was laid aside for second reading.

Sen. 337, "An Act to incorporate the Black Rock bridge company," was read the second time.

Mr. SHAFER moved to amend the bill.

Mr. SHAFER moved to amend the fourteenth section by striking from the same, the words, "and it shall be the duty of the said referees to take into consideration all the damages, both actual and consequential, as well as the value of all the property used in connection with the ferry, and any depreciation said property may and shall suffer by the destruction of the ferry, or by rendering it useless, or diverting the travel therefrom."

Messrs. HILL, SMITH, (Berks,) and DISMANT resisted the amendment, which was advocated by Messrs. HAMERSLY, SHAFER, BERTOLET, PEIRCE and others, and was subsequently agreed to; and,

On the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DISMANT and Mr. STONEBACK, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Darbrow, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Foster, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Kencagy, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mahaffey, Matthews, M'Curdy, Miller, Neall, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, and Lawrence, Speaker—53.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Church, Custer, Dismant, Eckman, Fleming, Galley, Goepp, Good, Gritman, Harding, Hill, Laird, Oaks, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Stuart, Warden and Woodring—21.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The hour of one having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until this afternoon at three o'clock.

HOUSE—AFTERNOON SESSION.

The House was called to order at 3 o'clock. The SPEAKER in the Chair.

Mr. TAYLOR, on leave given, read in his place, "An Act repealing an act, approved 5th May, 1854, authorizing the extension of Walnut street in Blairsville, Indiana county."

Also, "An Act relating to brackets in Canoe creek, in Indiana and Jefferson counties."

On motion of Mr. TAYLOR, said bills were taken up and passed finally, and were ordered to be sent to the Senate for concurrence.

GUARDIANS OF THE POOR AND BOARD OF HEALTH.

Messrs. CHURCH and WALBORN moved a re-consideration of the vote by which the House adopted the report of the Committee of Conference, on Senate bill No. 150, "A further supplement to the act consolidating the city of Philadelphia," relative to the board of guardians of the poor and board of health of the city of Philadelphia."

Mr. CHURCH said—

Mr. SPEAKER: I now move a reconsideration of the vote on the adoption of report of the Committee of Conference on the Senate bill, 150, in accordance with the notice given by me the other day. The vote which I gave on the original bill, was not my sentiment at the time, nor the sentiment of my public life at any time. It was, sir, in accordance with clamor, and its basis was entirely anti-Republican.

The courts should adjudicate upon high points of law; they should punish evil doers, but they should never exercise any of the rights which the Constitution delegates to the sovereign people—those rights which every man claims to enjoy. Men should be allowed to vote as they please, regardless of courts, so that they obey the laws. If they find that they have elected dishonest men to office, they can turn them out. Because a rogue may attain public office, or place, it is no reason why Republican institutions should be deemed a failure. I have confidence, sir, in the people, notwithstanding the people's servants may, at times, be false to their trusts. I see no reason for handing over our liberties to the Judges of any court, because scoundrels may now and then worm themselves into high places through the mistaken confidence of the masses. The people are right, sir, in the main—in the main they are virtuous and patriotic, and I have as much confidence in them as I have in their rulers—the great men they create. Judges are but men—they are only superior to their fellow men in the investments of office. They are liable to err, as truly as "to err is human." Judges have sinned—may sin again. Why, sir, we have the memory of courts being abolished, yea, even in the city of Philadelphia—courts which were a burning disgrace. Judges and courts are not infallible. Besides, sir, let us make the judiciary what it ought to be: it should not be tainted with politics. The ermine should not draggle in the mire and mud of partizanship. High-minded Judges desire too, sir, to keep aloof from the turmoil of the hustings. I have ever been an upholder of the dignity of the bench. It has been my wish that the bench should be better compensated than it is; that it should be exalted in all respects in accordance with its exact demands. I have favored an increase of judges' salaries in our State; and I regret, sir, that we are, as a Legislature, content to pay the judiciary in the niggardly manner we do.

Sir, I am opposed entirely to the sentiment of that Senate bill, No. 150, and to the entire sentiment of the committee of conference on the bill. Once, sir, I have voted against my conviction in the premises. I voted in obedience to clamor; and I stated, at the time, I did it as an experiment, without assenting to, or denying the truth of the allegation upon which the clamor was based. Since, sir, that vote was given, I have reflected upon the matter. I have conferred with the people. I found I was right, sir, in the views I expressed, and I regret that I did not vote in accordance with those views. Fortunately, sir, I now have an opportunity to retract my steps, and take a stand for popular sovereignty at home, and, by the grace of God I will do it, and take the consequences, whatever they may be. If the action which I choose to take, sends me back to private life, I am content. If the voters of the Sixth district, Philadelphia, choose to reject me because I am in favor of perpetuating Republican liberty—because I am opposed to sacrificing their rights, and the rights our Revolutionary fathers have fought to establish; to sacrifice all, too, sir, upon the altar of expediency, so be it. I will not comply with such a demand. I am opposed to the invasion of privilege now, as I have ever been. I will not abuse the faith—the old Jeffersonian faith in which I was reared. I will be true to the instincts of youth—to the inculcations of later years. I will “stand the hazard of the die,” be the issue what it may. Perish office—perish the honorable position which I hold, if I cannot retain it and at the same time retain all my self respect. Let me go back to the people, from whose ranks I came, if I cannot retain the position they have honored me with, without denying their ability to take care of themselves—without outraging every principle of Democratic faith in which I was reared.

I belong, sir, to the people's party, and I glory in the name. As one of the people, I am opposed to privilege everywhere, no matter where it is, as operating against man or men. I see wrong in the aggressions of capital upon labor, of whatever character it may be. I go in for the “greatest good of the greatest number.” I am opposed to that sentiment in National as well as State affairs, which gives undue influence to a section or class. I am in favor of the people continuing the exercise all of the rights which the constitution guarantees them, come what may.

I have seen many vicissitudes, Mr. Speaker, I have basked in the sunshine, and in I have gloomed in the shade of life. I earn my bread by the sweat of my brow. I am proud to say I work daily for my daily bread, and it is a simple desire with me that I may be permitted to labor hereafter, as I have done heretofore. I trust I can live, sir, and flourish, even though I may be overthrown politically, as it has been threatened, I shall be if I take the stand which I now do. It would be better, sir, however, if some of those make these threats, had a purer personal and political record themselves.

There is no reason why the judges should appoint either of the boards in question, any more than they should elect the members of council, members of the Legislature, or members of Congress; nay, any and all the offices now in the gift of the people. By giving up one's franchise as a voter, because honest men have not always been selected as members of the board of health or the guardians of the poor, is simply ridiculous. We have had dishonest men, at times, in high and low places, National and State, ever since we have been a government. Must there, forsooth, be a doubt of the ability of the people to elect their rulers, because of this fact?—Knaves sometimes attain very high places, and the people have the supreme felicity of kicking them out! The people of Philadelphia are ready to deal with bad men hereafter as they have done heretofore. Let a rogue ask their suffrages more than once, and the chances are that he will ask in vain. I am, sir, no apologist for dishonest public officers. The man who declares this, I here pronounce a falsifier. I have, all through my career, endeavored to do my duty to the sturdy and noble constituency I represent; many of them hard-headed, but whole-hearted working-men.

It has been my desire, sir, to do simply my duty, to represent fully and thoroughly the poorest as well as the wealthiest of the men of the Sixth district. I have erred, no doubt, but I trust my errors have been those of the head rather than of the heart. To the people I appeal, should you by your vote refuse to sustain the motion which I have just made. To them I feel I can go with confidence. In the end they will see that justice is done a public servant, whose only desire is to stand by, and to guard their sovereign rights. No man who votes to give away the rights of the people to power and privilege, can long be sustained. Such an assault on popular rights will be eventually rebuked; rebuked in a most unmistakable manner. Sir, I have no fear for the result, and put myself upon the record and I call upon others to do the same. It is no longer a question affecting the city of Philadelphia, but a great principle of public policy in which the whole people of the State are interested. I do not believe the representatives of the people of any party, are ready to endanger the purity of the judicial ermine of a court by an experiment so dangerous and unprecedented.

Mr. THORN said that he had before expressed himself on this subject; he had voted for the bill; had agreed to report it, and would now again ask that it might be ratified. He read a letter from Philadelphia, which declared that nine-tenths of the people were in favor of the abolishment of the boards.

Mr. WALBORN inquired whether the board would not be abolished by limitation at the next election, and whether more than three or four of the old board had been nominated for re-election?

Mr. THORN to the first question replied in the negative, and could not reply to the second.

Mr. NEALL said, when this matter was first presented to the House this afternoon, I was lying sick and asleep, but was awakened and informed of the proceedings, and hastened to my seat to record my vote upon the subject.

There has been letters and resolutions read to sustain the position of gentlemen upon this floor. I have none—I have seen and heard the people upon the subject, and know their wants. Action has been taken by parties, in reference to the matter, and I have looked at it in all its bearings, and have carefully and studiously examined it, and have come to the conclusion to cast my vote to wipe out the iniquity.

I would refer this House to the report of the councils upon the subject, and ask if there is not sufficient contained therein to cause every man, representing Philadelphia on this floor, to blush for the fair name of his constituency and the city he represents. The report of the grand jury, upon the subject, should be sufficient to convince even the most sceptical mind of the necessity of change in the manner of appointment of the members of board of guardians of the poor.

In answer to my colleague, (Mr. WALBORN,) that the people have concluded to elect better men to these positions, it is only necessary for me to say that two years ago this board of guardians was charged with actions more corrupt than those of the members constituting the board of 1858. It is well known that they were charged with exhuming the dead bodies of paupers, and selling them in the streets of Philadelphia. Under these outrages what was the course of the people? Forming the determination to have in future men who would not be guilty of such disreputable acts, they elected to office those whom they considered entitled to their full confidence. But the result was deplorable, for these same officials in 1858, betrayed the trust as did their predecessors.

The people thus seeing their confidence abused have asked that the occupants of such charitable positions should be placed under the surveillance of courts of justice, and should the remedy which they now seek to apply prove a failure, have, of course, reserved to themselves the right to legislate them out of office.

The people of Philadelphia are almost unanimous upon the subject, and I have no hesitation in yielding implicit obedience to the wishes of my constituents, and votes, as before, in favor of the passage of this bill.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) moved to postpone for the present.

Mr. EVANS moved to amend, to postpone indefinitely.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) opposed the bill, and was utterly opposed to the principle of taking responsible power out of the hands of the people, and placing it in the hands of the judges.

Mr. WALBORN defended the board of health from any allegation or intimation which might be made against them.

Mr. GRITMAN favored the bill, as not conflicting with any of the principles of government.

Mr. PRICE called for the previous question; which was sustained.

And on the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HARDING and Mr. NEALL, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Bayard, Bertholet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Custer, Durboraw, Evans, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Graham, Green, Gritman, Hill, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Kinney, Laird, Mahaffey, Matthews, M'Curdy, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—58.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Chase, Church, Dismant, Eckman, Ellmaker, Foster, Good, Graiz, Gray, Hamersly, Harding, Hottenstine, Ketchum, M'Dowell, Miller, Neale, Peirce, Pughe, Quigley, Sheppard, Smead, Styer, Thompson, Wiley and Wilson—28.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And on the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion to reconsider?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAMERSLY and Mr. WALBORN, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Barnsley, Barlow, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Burley, Campbell, Church, Eckman, Galley, Graham, Gray, Keneagy, Ketchum, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mahaffey, Palm, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Styer, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—33.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Bayard, Bertholet, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Ellmaker, Evans, Fleming, Foster, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Graiz, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Irish, Laird, Matthews, M'Dowell, Neale, Oaks, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Quigley, Rohrer, Shields, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stone-back, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wiley, Williston and Woodring—42.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. PRICE, on leave given, from the Committee on Corporations, reported with amendments, "An Act relating to the borough of Schuylkill Haven, Schuylkill county;" and, on his motion, the House took up and passed the same finally.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented a message from the Governor, which was read, as follows, viz:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, April 6, 1859 }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN:—I have approved and signed the following acts of the General Assembly, viz:

"An Act conferring on Sarah Ann, Melissa, Warren B., Nancy, Ellen, and Nicholas D. Evans, minor children of David O. Evans, deceased, and Catharine Evans, all the rights of children born in lawful wedlock."

WM. F. PACKER.

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication from the State Treasurer, transmitting the names of such public officers as appeared upon the books of this department on the 1st day of February last to be in arrears to the Commonwealth.

Mr. RAMSDELL moved to have the same printed in the Record; which was not agreed to.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved that the communication be printed in pamphlet form for the use of the House.

Not agreed to.

Mr. HAMERSLY called up Senate bill, "An Act changing the corporate name of the Northwestern coal company, and empowering them to negotiate a loan;" which was passed finally.

Mr. TAYLOR moved that the rules be suspended in order to proceed to the consideration of Senate bill, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Indiana County mutual insurance company."

On the question,

Will the House suspend the rules?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. CAMPBELL and Mr. MEHAFFEY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Bayard, Bryson, Burley, Chase, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Graham, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) M'Curdy, Oaks, Proudfoot, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Wilson, Zoller and Lawrence; Speaker—47.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Campbell, Church, Custer, Dismant, Foster, Goepp, Good, Gray, Hottenstine, Jackson, Laird, Mehafeey, M'Dowell, Patterson, Pinkerton, Rose, Stoneback, Walker, Williams (Bucks,) and Woodring—21.

So the question was determined in the affirmative, two-thirds having voted in the affirmative.

The bill was then duly considered and passed finally.

Mr. BARNESLEY, on leave given, called up Senate bill No. 774, "An Act to incorporate the Yardleyville Delaware bridge company;" which was considered and passed finally.

Mr. WIGTON, leave having been given, called up Senate bill No. 1069, "An Act authorizing the supervisors of Carbon township, Huntingdon county, to erect a lock-up house, &c.," which was considered and passed finally.

The House refused to concur in Senate amendment to House bill No. 399, relative to the Mutual fire insurance company of Sinking Springs, Berks county.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) on leave given, called up Senate bill, entitled "A supplement to an act to incorporate the Milford and Matamoras railroad company;" which was considered and passed finally.

SENATE AMENDMENTS

To numerous House bills, were read and concurred in.

The hour of five having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until this evening at 7½ o'clock.

HOUSE—EVENING SESSION.

The House re-assembled at 7½ o'clock, and was called to order by the SPEAKER.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) moved that the special order for this evening be postponed for the present, and that the House resume the consideration of bills on the Private Calendar.

On the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PEIRCE and Mr. FOSTER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Barnesley, Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill) Burley, Church, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eckman, Fisher, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Gratz, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehafeey, Matthews, Neall, Oaks, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Sheppard, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Syer, Thorn, Wagonseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, and Lawrence, Speaker—53.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Bayard, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Bryson, Campbell, Chase, Dods, Ellmaker, Evans, Foster, Graham, Irish, Kinney, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Palm, Peirce, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Taylor, Thompson, Witman and Williston—28.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. THORN, on leave given, read in his place, "A supplement to an act to incorporate the Kensington steamboat and navigation company," and moved that the House suspend the rules, and that the House proceed to the consideration of the same.

Mr. KINNEY called for a division of the question.

The question being,

Will the House suspend the rule?

The call for the division of the question was withdrawn,

And the bill was taken up, considered and passed finally.

Mr. GRITMAN, chairman of the committee appointed to try the contested election case of the Third Representative district, presented the bills of Sergeant and Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms for serving subpoenas and attachments in the case of Matthews vs. M'Clain,

Accompanied by the following resolution:

Resolved, That the bills of the Sergeant-at-Arms and Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms be approved by this House, and that the SPEAKER draw his warrant upon the treasurer of the city of Philadelphia for the amount therein set forth ($259) in favor of John Clemens and F. Gehr, Sergeant and Assistant Sergeant at-Arms.

The resolution was read the second time.

Mr. WILLIAMS (Bucks) moved to amend by striking from the resolution the name of F. Gehr, so that the warrant would be drawn solely in favor of John Clemens.

The amendment gave rise to considerable debate, which partook chiefly of a running character, and was finally defeated.

The resolution was then passed finally.

Agreeably to order, the House resumed the second reading and consideration of bills on Private Calendar.

Whereupon the following were taken up and passed finally:

"Supplement to the act to limit and regulate sequestrations in case of the Erie canal company, approved 9th April, 1850."

Sen. 660. "An Act to cure an irregularity in the incorporation of the borough of Carmichael, and to declare certain judicial proceedings therein valid."

Nr. 1136. "An Act authorizing the Pennsylvania railroad company to obtain a better supply of water for the use of their road."

"Supplement to an act relating to inspections, &c., passed 15th day April, 1845."

Sen. 737. "An Act to authorize the town council of the borough of Hollidaysburg to license drays and carts."

No. 1144. "An Act requiring the overseers of the poor in Delaware township, Juniata county, to give security."

No. 1145. "An Act to prevent injury to sidewalks in the township of Girard, in the county of Erie."

No. 1147. "An act to extend the provisions of an act to reduce the expenses of collecting State and county tax in the county of Venango, approved April 23, 1851, to the counties of Mifflin and Forest."

No. 1156. "An Act to change the name of John H. Smith, of Conoy township, Lancaster county, to that of J. Hoffman Smith."

Sen. 422. "An Act providing for the recording of certain papers in the county of Schuylkill."

Sen. 423. "An Act in relation to Edith T. Greeno, of Canton township, Bradford county."

No. 1168. "An Act to prevent the destruction of trout in the county of Westmoreland."

Sen. 558. "An Act to legalize the township election in Terrytown, Bradford county."

No. 1180. "Supplement to an act to incorporate the City Bank of Philadelphia."

No. 1181. "An Act to repeal the act of April 13th, 1858, entitled 'A supplement to the act re-chartering the Tradesmen's Bank of Philadelphia.'"

Sen. 593. "An Act authorizing the removal of the dead from the burying ground, deeded to the First Methodist Episcopal church of Norristown, Montgomery county, Pennsylvania, to the Norris City cemetery."

Sen. 293 "An Act authorizing the removal of the dead interred in the grounds connected with St. Stephen's church, Harrisburg."

No. 1185. "An Act to authorize the school directors of Jefferson township, Dauphin county, to sell certain real estate."

No. 1186. "An Act to incorporate the Milford and Zionsville turnpike road company."

No. 1187. "An Act to change the time for electing the officers of the Lehigh and Berks County turnpike road company."

No. 1188. "An Act to incorporate the Spring Garden engine company of the city of Philadelphia."

No. 1189. "An Act for the repeal of so much of the second section of the act, passed the 13th day of May, 1850, as relates to the Glenhope and Little Bald Eagle turnpike company."

No. 1190. "An Act to incorporate the Handel and Hayden society of Philadelphia."

Sen. 506. "An Act to incorporate the Towanda gas and water company."

No. 1195. "An Act to incorporate the borough of New Washington."

No. 1179. "An Act to increase the capital stock of the Southwark Bank of Philadelphia," was read the second time.

Mr. MATTHEWS said this bank now asking for an increase of its capital stock, was one of the oldest and soundest banks in the city. It asks only for an increase of the capital stock. Now we have been granting chartered privileges to other banks, to passenger railway companies of Philadelphia, and I ask it as a matter of courtesy to me, as well as justice to the institution, to pass this bill.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the bill?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GRITMAN and Mr. MILLER, and were as follows, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Chase, Green, Harding, Kenegy, Lawrence, (Washington,) Matthews, McDowell, Patterson, Price, Rouse, Styer, Thompson, Walborn, Wiley, Wilson and Lawrence, Speaker—17.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Church, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Good, Graham, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, M'Curdy, Miller, Neall, Oaks, Palm, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rose, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Woodring and Zoller—54.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. GRATZ paired off with Mr. FISHER.

No. 1198. "An Act to incorporate the American piano and melodeon distributing company of Pennsylvania," was read the second time.

Mr. EVANS moved to postpone the further consideration of the bill indefinitely.

The motion was resisted by Messrs. GOEPP, HAMERSLY and THORN.

And was advocated by Messrs. WALBORN, EVANS, SHEPPARD and PRICE.

Mr. EVANS withdrew his motion.

Mr. PRICE renewed his motion.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the motion to postpone the bill indefinitely?

It was determined in the negative.

Mr. SHEPPARD moved to postpone the bill for the present.

And on the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by M

PRICE and Mr. HARDING, and were as follows, viz :

YEAS.—Messrs. Barnsley, Evans, Galley, Gratz, Green, Harding, Hottenstine, Kenegy, Matthews, Palm, Peirce, Price, Ramsdell, Shafer, Sheppard, Styer, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton and Williams, (Bucks,)—21.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Bayard, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fleming, Foster, Glatz, Goepf, Graham, Gray, Gritman, Hill, Irish, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mebaffey, M'Curdy, Miller, Oaks, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Rohrer, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wegenseller, Warden, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Wilson, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—56.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to amend the bill, so that the pianos distributed shall be of American manufacture.

Mr. PRICE moved to amend the amendment, by striking out "American" and inserting "Pennsylvania."

Mr. HAMERSLY withdrew his amendment. Mr. PRICE'S amendment fell with it.

The bill passed finally.

Mr. WILCOX moved that the House do now adjourn.

On the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. McDOWELL and Mr. SHAFER, and were as follows, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Barlow, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Campbell, Chase, Dismant, Evans, Fleming, Galley, Goepf, Graham, Gray, Green, Hill, Jackson, Ketchum, Laird, Mebaffey, Matthews, Oaks, Pinkerton, Quigley, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Thompson, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Woodring and Zoller—39.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Burley, Church, Custer, Eckman, Foster, Glatz, Hamersly, Harding, Hottenstine, Irish, Kenegy, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) M'Curdy, McDowell, Neall, Palm, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rose, Shafer, Sheppard, Taylor, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Williams, (Bedford,) Wilson and Lawrence, Speaker—37.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Whereupon, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until to-morrow morning at 9½ o'clock.

SENATE.

THURSDAY, April 7, 1859.

The SPEAKER called the Senate to order at 9½ o'clock, a quorum of Senators present.

The Journal was read and approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Mr. TURNEY asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Franklin, (Mr. BREWER.)

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. RUTHERFORD, (Private Claims and Damages) as committed, "An Act to authorize the investigation of the claims for damages of Dennis McDonald."

Mr. SCHELL, (same,) with amendment, "An Act relative to unadjusted claims against the public works."

Mr. RANDALL, (Railroads) as committed, House bill, No. 1309, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Millersburg and Baileysville railroad company."

Mr. COFFEY, (same) with amendments, House bill, No. 1252, "An Act to incorporate the Thirteenth and Fifteenth Streets passenger railroad company of the city of Philadelphia."

Mr. CRAIG, (same) as committed, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Richmond and Schuylkill passenger railroad company."

Mr. STEELE, (same) House bill, No. 131, "An Act to incorporate the Citizens' passenger railroad company, approved March 13, 1859."

Mr. BELL, (Judiciary) as committed, House bill, No. 628, "An Act relating to registers of wills, recorders of deeds, prothonotaries and clerks of courts with the State treasurer."

BILLS IN PLACE.

Mr. PARKER read in place a bill, entitled "A supplement to an act regulating buildings in the city of Philadelphia."

BILLS CONSIDERED.

House bill No. 751, "An Act to incorporate the Montour navigation company," came up on second reading.

Mr. MYER moved to postpone the further consideration of the bill for the present. He wished to offer an amendment, but had not yet prepared it.

The motion was not agreed to.

Mr. HARRIS moved to postpone the bill until to-morrow; which was agreed to.

House bill No. 278, "A supplement to an act to repeal certain acts of Assembly upon non-payment of the enrolment tax."

On motion of Mr. WRIGHT, postponed.

Senate bill No. 971, "An Act to incorporate the Philadelphia and Pittsburg telegraph company," passed committee of the whole, and laid over.

Mr. FETTER called up Senate bill No. 323, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Northumberland and Juniata railroad company."

The motion to proceed to its consideration was not agreed to.

Mr. SCHELL called up Senate bill No. 1135, entitled "An Act relative to unadjusted claims against the public works;" passed committee of the whole, and laid over.

Mr. SCHELL also called up House bill No. 460, "An Act to authorize the appointment of commissioners to examine and adjust certain claims, &c."

After several important amendments, the bill passed finally.

Mr. HARRIS called up House bill No. 628, "An Act relative to the settlements of registers of wills, recorder of deeds, prothonotaries and clerks of courts with the State Treasurer." The bill passed finally, with amendments.

Mr. WRIGHT moved that the bill providing for the election of additional aldermen in the Eleventh ward of the city of Philadelphia be re-committed to the Committee on Judiciary. Agreed to.

Mr. PENNEY moved the Senate reconsider the final vote upon concurring in the House amendments to Senate bill No. 680, "An Act to incorporate the Pittsburg, Allegheny and Manchester passenger railway company."

The motion was agreed to, and the bill passed with amendments.

Mr. PALMER called up Senate bill No. 573, "An Act in relation to writs of error, appeals and certioraries in the supreme court, and abolishing the court of nisi prius." Mr. P. wished to know the reasons why the Committee on Judiciary should report the bill negatively. He thought it was a bill that should be passed.

Mr. BELL answered at some length, giving the reasons of the Judiciary Committee for the action they had taken in the matter. He said its objectionable features were confined to abolishing the courts of nisi prius. The gentleman discussed the subject at length.

Messrs. RANDALL and SCOFIELD further discussed the question.

On the second section,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr.

LEGISLATIVE RECORD.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE LEGISLATURE OF PENNSYLVANIA.

FOR THE SESSION OF 1859.

No. 74.

BELL and Mr. PALMER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Marselis, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Scofield, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Wright and Yardley—21.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Gazzam, Miller, Nunemacher, Schell, Thompson and Cresswell, Speaker—7.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The bill, with a slight amendment, was then agreed to.

Mr. SCOFIELD called up House bill No. 740, a joint resolution relative to the tonnage tax.

On the motion to proceed to the consideration of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCOFIELD and Mr. MYER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Gazzam, Miller, Myer, Penney, Scofield and Yardley—6.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Blood, Coffey, Fetter, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Marselis, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Schell, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—22.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. TURNEY moved the Committee on Judiciary be discharged from the consideration of a bill, entitled "An Act relative to a revised penal code of Pennsylvania," and the Senate proceed to its consideration; agreed to.

On the passage of the second section, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. TURNEY and Mr. COFFEY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Parker, Rutherford, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Wright and Yardley—19.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Coffey, Palmer, Penney, Randall, Scofield and Cresswell, Speaker—7.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The merits of the bill were briefly discussed by Messrs. RANDALL, TURNEY, PENNEY and SCHELL.

Mr. SCHELL moved to go into committee of the whole for the purpose of special amendment, which was agreed to.

The amendment offered by Mr. SCHELL, "to strike out all after the word 'repealed,' in the first section to the end of that section, was agreed to.

On the question of the adoption of the report of the committee,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. COFFEY and Mr. BALDWIN, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Marselis, Nunemacher, Parker, Rutherford, Schell, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Wright, Yardley—19.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Coffey, Gazzam, Myer, Penney, Randall, Scofield and Cresswell, Speaker—9.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The bill then passed finally.

On motion of Mr. MYER, House bill, No. 461, "An Act to authorize the State Treasurer to pay the Towanda bridge company a balance due them in pursuance of a contract made with the board of Canal commissioners." Passed committee of the whole and laid over.

Mr. SCOFIELD called up Senate bill, No. 743, "An Act relative to the election of district attorneys." Several amendments to the bill were agreed to. Passed second reading by yeas 17, nays 10, as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Fetter, Keller, Marselis, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Schell, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Wright, Yardley, and Cresswell, Speaker—17.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Coffey, Craig, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Myer, Nunemacher and Palmer—10.

The bill then passed finally.

Mr. GAZZAM called up Senate bill No. 268, "An Act to incorporate the Commercial Bank of Pittsburg."

On the final passage, the bill was negatived, as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Thompson and Yardley—11.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Craig, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Randall, Schell, Scofield, Shaeffer, Steele, Turney, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—14.

House bill No. 182, "An Act to confer on certain associations of the citizens of this Commonwealth the powers and immunities of corporations and bodies politic in law, and to confirm charters heretofore granted," came up in order.

On the final passage of the bill, the yeas and nays were as follow:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Coffey, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Marselis, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney and Yardley—18.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Keller, Nunemacher, Penney, Schell, Scofield, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—9.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. BLOOD called up House bill No. 1063, "An Act relating to the election of officers of the Wyoming canal company." Passed finally.

Mr. COFFEY called up House bill No. 665, "An Act declaring the bridge between the counties of Armstrong and Clarion a county bridge." Passed.

Mr. THOMPSON called up House bill No. 329, "An Act to incorporate the Union Market company, Philadelphia." Passed.

To House bill No. 399, "A supplement to the act to incorporate the Mutual insurance company of Sinking Springs, Berks county."

A message was received from the Governor, and read by the Clerk, giving the names of seven bills signed.

Adjourned until 3 o'clock this afternoon.

SENATE—AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Senate met at 3 o'clock.

Mr. HARRIS called up House bill No. 504, "An Act providing for the fencing of a part of the Cleveland and Pittsburg railroad, and for the protection of property in the county of Beaver."

On motion, the Senate dispensed with going into committee of the whole, and said bill passed second and third reading. The title was agreed to; and the bill being upon its final passage,

Mr. TURNEY. This same proposition was defeated in the Senate at the last session, and I hope will be defeated now. There may, perhaps, be some propriety in requiring all railroad companies to fence their roads, but that is not now the question at issue. The Senate has, on different occasions, defeated propositions of this kind, in the most emphatic manner. I cannot say where or how this road is located; all I know about it is that the company are struggling to arrive at some degree of prosperity. They have made great efforts to be able to stand upon their feet once more, having been greatly depressed in their financial concerns of late. The proposition introduced here by the Senator from Bradford, a short time ago, which was negatived, I believe twice by the committee and ultimately defeated by the Senate, proposed to fence a railroad similar to this. Now there is no good reason why this bill should be passed. There is as much danger on one railroad, in the destruction of cattle, stock, &c., as on another.

Mr. HARRIS. The Senator from Westmoreland, (Mr. TURNEY,) has very properly stated the subject. I would state further that this matter was before the Senate, two session ago, and has twice been defeated. This is the third time it has passed the co-ordinate branch of the Legislature, and I hope it will not be defeated now. The old adage is, the third time is the charm, and I hope it will be so in this case.— But there are reasons why this road, for the twelve miles in Beaver county, should be fenced. When the company obtained the right of way in that county, they agreed to fence their road. They have not done so, and I hear are under no legal obligations to fence that road. It runs twelve miles along the Ohio river, and on that line there are five very flourishing towns, the borough of Beaver included; back of the railroad are a number of very fine farms, and during the summer and even winter, there is no way for the cattle kept in those barns, to go to water, but over this road or down through a ravine. The cars going along the road almost daily or weekly destroy these cattle. This bill provides that so much of the road along the Ohio river, where there is danger from these cattle, in order to preserve the property and lives of persons transported by the company, shall be fenced. This bill comes here for the third time, asking that this company shall be required to build a fence on this road. I am willing to accept any amendment that will not interfere with the provisions of the bill. When property-holders have sustained damages along this route, I think the company should pay the damage.

Mr. RANDALL. In connection with this bill, I have merely to say it was referred to the railroad committee, and after consideration by them was reported with a negative recommendation. No argument introduced into that committee could convince the members of it, of the propriety or necessity of this bill being reported in any other way than that determined on. The Senate, so long as I have been a member of it, has refused in every instance, to compel these railroad companies to fence their roads. I was on the committee and heard, fully, the statements of the member from Bedford, but I heard nothing from him which would induce me, or the Senate, to depart from that rule they have laid down in every instance of this kind.

Mr. MILLER. I did not know that any rule had been laid down by this Senate. Bills have been considered here and passed day after day, and the fact that they were done according to rule never once occurred to me. I believe that there is a necessity for the passage of this bill. I have passed along this road, and think it is absolutely required that it should be fenced at this place. Although we have not been in the habit, in this country, of compelling railroad companies to fence their roads, it is no novel thing on the continent of Europe. In Europe, it is the custom to require all railroads to be fenced and kept under the greatest guards and restrictions, as I think they should be. The principal argument here appears to be, not so much against the necessity of the bill as that the companies are not able to fence the road. I do not think that the fencing of railroads would in any way injure the rights or property of individuals; on the other hand, I think it is universally conceded that if these roads would be fenced, there would be fewer collisions and less loss of property. I confess, sir, that upon many railroads, running through a wilderness or thinly settled country, it would fall very hard if you required them to fence their roads; but roads running through a populous district, I contend, should be fenced. I knew that more lives have been lost by steamboat and railroad collisions in this country, than, I was about to say, in all the countries of the world put together. We look lightly upon human life, and for that reason we have not compelled railroad companies to throw those safeguards around their institutions they should. This is a question, in which dollars and cents are put into one scale and the life of a human being is thrown into the other; and I am sorry to say the dollars and cents preponderate.

I recollect, sir, some three years ago, in the co-ordinate branch of the Legislature, when this subject was agitated, I am happy to say that there were some gentlemen of high position in that body, who took a deep interest in this subject, and this bill did finally pass the House, but was defeated in the Senate; that ended it. These propositions have been frequently before this body, but the dollars and cents have predominated, and the representatives of our citizens failed to take into consideration the value of human life.

Mr. RANDALL replied that the argument of dollars and cents urged by the Senator from Washington may have weight in some minds, but not in his. He thought it strange that this matter should be brought into the Senate at the close of the session when time is so precious. He continued: If the Senate is disposed to be inconsistent, and compel this railroad company, after having refused to compel others, to fence their roads, I am willing to submit, but I shall be consistent in my vote.

Mr. SCOFIELD. I would not trouble the Senate on this question, if I had not a few days ago voted against the Elmira and Williamsport railroad being compelled to fence their road, and intend to vote for this bill. The Senator from Philadelphia, (Mr. RANDALL,) may think I am inconsistent in my vote, as he says he is consistent, if I did not explain. I join in no crusade against any railroad companies whatever. In all respects, I am their friend, as my vote will show. The bill which the Senator from Bradford introduced the other day, provided that the whole length of the road in question should be fenced, but now the Senator gets up a bill very much modified, for which, I think, it is my duty to vote. No Senator who knows the ground upon which I think this bill is opposed, will vote against it. If the Senator from Philadelphia desires to do justice between a valuable company, that ought not to be robbed, and the people living along the line of that road, I cannot see how he can avoid voting for this bill. There are three small towns, and one or two large ones, through which this road passes — As the Senator has told us, the cattle, in the warm weather, come down to the bank of the Ohio river, and stand in the water beneath the trees that skirt the Ohio. I submit to the Senate, if it is safe that that little portion of the road where these cattle pass should be left unfenced. It is imposing no burden on the company to require them to do this. I know the wants of the people absolutely require it, and I know the railroad company is not to be injured, as the expense will not be large. I, therefore, will vote for the bill.

Upon its final passage, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HARRIS and Mr. RANDALL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Miller, Myer, Perney, Rutherford, Schell, Scofield, Steele and Thompson—13.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Fetter, Finney, Marselis, Nunemacher, Palmer, Randall, Shaeffer, Schindel, Turney, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—12.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. SCOFIELD, the Senate resumed the consideration of House bill No. 402, "An Act to incorporate the Fallbrook railroad company," which had been vetoed by the Governor.

The bill and veto message were read.

Upon the question,

Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

The SPEAKER, agreeably to the provision of the Constitution, ordered the yeas and nays, as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Guzzam, Gregg, Harris, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—21.

NAYS—Messrs. Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Randall and Wright—6.

Two-thirds having voted in the affirmative, the bill passed.

BILL IN PLACE.

Mr. MYER, on leave given, read in his place and presented to the Chair, a bill, entitled "A further supplement to the act regulating banks, passed April 16, 1850."

BILLS CONSIDERED. AND PASSED.

On motion of Mr. KELLER, Senate bill No. 4046, "An Act for the relief of the sureties of William Wilson, jr., late collector of tolls at Northumberland."

No. 910. "Supplement to an act to incorporate the Philadelphia ice company."

No. 1060. "An Act requiring the Sunbury and Pottsville railroad company in Northumberland county, to fence their road."

"An Act to annul the marriage contract between Charles A. Garrard, of Greene county, and Louisa his wife;" which was read the second time.

And on the final passage of the bill, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) and Mr. DRYSON, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Gray and Smead—2.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Bryson, Burley, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eokman, Ellmaker, Evans, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Graham, Gratz, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) M'Curdy, Neall, Palm, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Talyor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—74.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. JACKSON said—I vote "No," because there is no evidence that the wife has received notice of the application for a divorce.

"An Act to incorporate the Seventeenth and Nineteenth Streets passenger railway company of Philadelphia," was read the second time and agreed to.

And, on the question,
Will the House suspend the rule, and read the bill the third time?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. JACKSON and Mr. BERTOLET, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Bayard, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Chase, Church, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fisher, Foster, Glatz, Goepp, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehafeey, Neall, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Withrow, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—59.

NAYS—Messrs. Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Custer, Dismant, Jackson, Laird, M'Curdy, Miller, Oaks, Quigley and Woodring—12.

So the question was determined in the affirmative, and the bill passed finally.

No. 1268. "An Act to incorporate the Wrightsville steam ferry company," came up in order.

The House refused to lay the bill aside to be prepared for second reading.

"An Act relative to Tulip street, city of Philadelphia," was read the second time and passed finally.

PRIVATE CALENDAR.

The House next proceeded to the consideration of the Private Calendar of Tuesday, April 5th.

Whereupon the following were read; and, no objection being made, were laid aside and prepared for second reading:

"An Act relative to livery stable keepers in Allegheny county."

Sen. 634. "An Act relative to certain school accounts of Porter Township school district, in the county of Jefferson."

Sen. 539. "An Act for the relief of the Somerset Borough school district, Somerset county."

No. 1292. "An Act authorizing the Auditor General to cancel any balance standing open against the Lebanon Bank in his office on dividends of said bank."

No. 1296. "An Act to incorporate the trustees of the township of Jenkins, Luzerne county."

No. 1297. "An Act to incorporate the trustees of the borough of Pittston, Luzerne county."

No. 1305. "A further supplement to the act incorporating the Duncanon, Landisburg and Broad Top railroad company," was read, and laid aside for second reading.

Mr. PATTERSON moved that the bill be re-committed.

The CHAIR ruled the motion out of order.

No. 1261. "An Act to incorporate the Twelfth and Thirteenth Streets passenger railway company of Philadelphia."

And on the question,

Shall the bill be laid aside and prepared for second reading?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GRATZ and Mr. BURLEY, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Gray, Neall, Sheppard, Smead, Styer, Thompson, Walborn and Lawrence, Speaker—8.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Good, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Mehafeey, Matthews, M'Curdy, Miller, Oaks, Palm, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Shafer, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow and Zoller—61.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Messrs. DISMANT and STONEBACK voted "No," for the reason that they desire to see at least one street open for the purpose of allowing free travel in and out of the city.

Sen. 801. "A supplement to the act of the New York Middle Coal Field railroad and coal company," was read.

And on the question,

Shall the bill be laid aside for second reading?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WILEY and Mr. SHAFER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Bayard, Campbell, Chase, Durboraw, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Glatz, Goepp, Gratz, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, Keneagy, M'Dowell, Neall, Price, Pughe, Quigley, Rose, Rouse, Sheppard, Thoru, Warden, Wigton and Williams, (Bedford,)—31.

NAYS—Messrs. So the question was determined in the negative.

No. 1311. "An Act for the relief of Elizabeth Murphy, widow of an old soldier."

No. 1312. "An Act for the relief of Elizabeth Nicely, widow of an old soldier."

No. 1313. "An Act to pay the claim of H. E. Hudson."

Sen. 765. "An Act to incorporate the Franklin high school and Normal institute association of the borough of Martinsburg, in the county of Blair."

No. 1326. "An Act to incorporate the People's passenger railway company of the borough of Harrisburg."

No. 1327. "An Act to erect a new township and election district in the county of Dauphin, to be called West Londonderry township."

No. 1328. "An Act authorizing the State

Treasurer to pay the sum of fifty dollars to Elizabeth Husinger."

No. 1329. "A supplement to an act to enable the Governor to incorporate a company for making an artificial road, beginning at the intersection of Vine and Tenth streets, Philadelphia, and thence to Perkiomen bridge, in the county of Montgomery."

No. 1330. "An Act to authorize the Auditor General and State Treasurer to re-examine the accounts between the Commonwealth and the president, managers and company of the Easton and Feasterville turnpike road company."

No. 1340. "An Act to annul the marriage contract between Thomas Hemmich and Lydia, his wife."

No. 1341. "An Act to annul the marriage contract of Alexander M'Knight and Margaret, his wife, both of Philadelphia."

The House refused to lay aside said bill for second reading.

On motion of Mr. GOEPP, the House took up and passed finally, Senate bill entitled, "An Act to incorporate the Union association and reading room."

On motion of Mr. WILCOX, the standing committees of the House were discharged from the further consideration of all bills in their possession.

On motion of Mr. WITHROW, the House passed finally, Senate bill, entitled "An Act to authorize the sheriff of Mifflin county to appoint Wm. Shrimp his deputy."

Bill No. 733. "An Act to authorize the Governor to appoint an auctioneer for the borough of Scranton."

Mr. GRITMAN moved that the House proceed to the consideration of the same.

Agreed to.

Read a second and third time and passed finally.

SENATE AMENDMENTS.

To House bill, entitled, "An Act for the assessment and recovery of damages on the North Branch and Wyoming canals," were read.

Mr. KINNEY moved to amend the Senate amendments by striking out "conformity with" and inserting in lieu thereof, "pursuance of," which was agreed to.

Mr. KINNEY made further amendments to the bill; which were agreed to.

Mr. JACKSON moved to amend the bill, by adding a new section.

Sec. 10. That no statute of limitations, now in force in this Commonwealth, shall be set up as a legal defence by the present or any future owners of the said North Branch and Wyoming canals to any of the claims contemplated by this act.

Mr. JACKSON said—

Mr. SPEAKER:—In offering this amendment, I do so in good faith and in the hope that it will be adopted. I see no reason why it should not be; and I do see great reasons why it should be. I believe it to be necessary for the protection of those persons who have been damaged by the construction of the North Branch canal. Quite a number of these claimants reside in Wyoming county, which I have the honor, in part, to represent in this House. The North Branch extension of the Pennsylvania canal, has been in course of construction for over twenty years, and when any person or persons who have been injured, have made application for the payment of the damages which they have sustained by its construction, they have been invariably met with the answer, wait until the canals are completed, and then make your application and present your claims. Well, sir, as soon as they were finished and about to become a source of revenue to the Commonwealth, they are sold—or rather, given away, and in the seventh section of the act authorizing the sale, provision is made that the company shall pay all damages arising from the location, construction, repair, &c., of said canals, and that the Legislature shall direct the mode of assessing the damages.

Now, sir, this bill proposes the manner of assessing them, and says that the owners of said canals shall pay them. And here, sir, we are met by the canal commissioners, who are not willing that this section shall be inserted. It was in the original bill that passed this House some three weeks ago. It was in the Senate bill as reported by the committee, and printed as a substitute for the House bill; but by some way, I know not how, or by whom, it was stricken out in the Senate; and when it now comes before us again, and I offer the amendment, we are met with the assertion that it will defeat the bill.

Why, sir, what use is there of having an act at all if the statute of limitations is to be urged against the claimants? Is it right, is it just, is it honorable for this great Commonwealth, for this Legislature to allow those persons, who for a mere trifle have obtained the State Canals, to set up as a plea the statute of limitations? Sir, the State of Pennsylvania does not—will not enter such a contemptible plea against any person having an honest claim against her, and I do earnestly remonstrate against giving the canal companies an opportunity of taking advantage of a portion of my constituents.

But we are met here, sir, by the gentlemen who say they do not wish to use this plea, but they do not see any use of having the section in the bill, and that anything this Legislature may put in the bill will have no effect; that we cannot now make any change, or pass any act that will in any way affect the statute of limitations.

If this be the case, I really see no harm in having this section in the bill; and as I have before said, I believe it important that it be inserted, and I appeal to this House to sustain me and insist on the amendment. I hope, Mr. Speaker, that it will be adopted.

Which was agreed to.

And the amendment as amended was agreed to.

Mr. BAYARD, on leave given, read in his place and presented to the chair, the following: "An Act to increase the width of Highland Lane, in the township of Collins, Allegheny county."

And a petition from citizens of said township in favor of the same.

Senate insists on its amendment to the Appropriation bill, non-concurred in by the House, and have appointed a committee of conference.

On motion of Mr. CHASE, a similar committee was appointed on the part of the House.

Adjourned.

HOUSE.—AFTERNOON SESSION.

The SPEAKER called the House to order at 3 o'clock.

Mr. SHIELDS, on leave given, presented two remonstrances from citizens of Westmoreland county, remonstrating against the passage of any act submitting to the people the question of the continuance or abolition of the office of county superintendent of common schools.

Mr. STYER, on leave given, read in his place and presented to the Chair, "An Act to incorporate the Passayunk and Penn Township passenger railroad company," which, on his motion, was taken up.

The bill was read the second time.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed indefinitely.

Mr. NEALL said that he had listened attentively to the reading of the bill, and was of opinion that its provisions authorized the company to go where they pleased. He had listened to the names of the corporators, and had come to the conclusion that he could not vote for this bill. On the contrary, he should vote against it and place his vote on record.

Mr. WILEY said that it was only the other day that the gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. STYER,) had sprung a bill upon the House, which provided for the occupancy of two of the principal streets of the city. To-day, he attempted a similar project. He was surprised to see the gentleman acting thus hastily.

Mr. STYER explained that he had met with such success the other day, having received seventy-eight votes against eleven, that he thought he would try another.

Mr. NEALL said that this fact did not speak to the credit of those who had voted with the majority.

Mr. KENEAGY was in favor of giving each one of the Philadelphia delegation a City passenger road.

Mr. GRATZ said that the House had given him one the other day, and now sought to take it away again. He hoped that the motion to postpone indefinitely would prevail.

Mr. PINKERTON wished to remind the gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. THORN,) who had opposed this bill on the ground that the street was occupied, that the other day he had voted to confer on a company the right to lay a third track from Harrisburg to Dauphin, when two were already laid.

Mr. WALBORN hoped that the motion to postpone indefinitely would carry.

On the motion to postpone indefinitely,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WALBORN and Mr. GRATZ, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Chase, Church, Dismant, Fearon, Foster, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Irish, Ketchum, Kinney, Matthews, McDowell, Neall, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pughe, Shafer, Sheppard, Taylor, Thorn, Walhorn, Warden, Witman, Wiley and Wilson—31.

NAYS—Messrs. Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Custer, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fleming, Good, Gray, Hill, Jackson, Keneagy, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Melhaffey, Miller, Oaks, Palm, Pinkerton, Price, Quigley, Rohrer, Rouse, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stonehack, Styer, Wagenseller, Walker, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Withrow, Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—45.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question being,

Will the House suspend the rule, and read the bill the third time by its title?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GRATZ and Mr. WALBORN, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Custer, Dismant, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Goepf, Good, Gray, Hill, Jackson, Keneagy, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Melhaffey, Miller, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Pinkerton, Price, Quigley, Rohrer, Rouse, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stoneback, Styer, Wagenseller, Walker, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Withrow, Wolf, Woodring and Zoller—48.

NAYS—Messrs. Ahhott, Acker, Barnsley, Chase, Church, Durboraw, Fearon, Foster, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Irish, Ketchum, Kinney, Matthews, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Neall, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rose, Shafer, Sheppard, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Walhorn, Warden, Witman, Wiley, Williston, Wilson and Lawrence, Speaker—35.

So the question was determined in the negative, two thirds not voting in the affirmative.

Mr. WILSON moved that the rules be suspended in order to proceed to the consideration of House bill No. 453, "Supplement to an act to establish a land office," which was not agreed to.

Mr. BRYSON, on leave given, presented a remonstrance numerously signed by citizens of Lawrence county, against any change in the present school law.

Also, a petition from citizens of same county, asking for the abolition of the office of county school superintendent.

Mr. GLATZ, a petition from citizens of York, for the passage of the act to incorporate the steam ferry company of Wrightsville.

Also, one from citizens of Wrightsville, in favor of the same.

Also, one from citizens of York county, for the passage of a law for the protection of squirrels in said county.

PRIVATE BILLS.

The House resumed the consideration of bills on Private Calendar.

The following were laid aside and prepared for second reading:

No. 1343. "An Act to incorporate the Harmony Anthracite coal company."

"An Act authorizing the German Reformed church of the city of Philadelphia, to sell and convey certain real estate."

No. 1409. "A further supplement to the act to incorporate the North Philadelphia plank road company."

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to amend, so as to authorize the North Philadelphia plank road company, to extend their road down Broad street to connect with any road now constructed, or to be constructed, on Ridge avenue.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAMERSLY and Mr. PINKERTON, and were as follow, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Chase, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fisher, Foster, Graham, Green, Hamersly, Keneagy, Matthews, M'Dowell, Ramsdell, Styer, Taylor, Thompson and Witman—20.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Barnsley, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Church, Custer, Dismant, Evans, Fleming, Glatz, Goepp, Harding, Hill, Irish, Jackson, Ketchum, Laird, Mahaffey, M'Curdy, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Quigley, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Wigton, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Withrow, Wolf, Woodring and Zoller—49

So the question was determined in the negative.

And on the question,

Shall the bill be prepared and laid aside for second reading?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAMERSLY and Mr. MATTHEWS, and were as follow, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Bayard, Durboraw, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Goepp, Graham, Green, Hamersly, Hill, Matthews, M'Curdy, Miller, Neall, Oaks, Patterson, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walborn, Warden, Witman, Withrow, Wolf, Woodring and Zoller—41.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Messrs. CHURCH and HAMERSLY moved that the House re-consider the vote had on the final passage of House bill, entitled "An Act to increase the capital stock of the Southwark Bank."

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

A motion was made by Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) that the further consideration of the motion to re-consider be postponed indefinitely.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) and Mr. QUIGLEY, and were as follow, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Bryson, Campbell, Church, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Evans, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Graham, Gray, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, M'Curdy, Oaks, Palm, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Ramsdell, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stonebacks, Stuart, Taylor, Thorn, Waideu, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Wolf and Woodring—44.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Burley, Chase, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fisher, Hamersly, Harding, Keneagy, Lawrence, (Washington,) McHaffey, Matthews, M'Dowell, Miller, Neall, Patterson, Peirce, Price, Shafer, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Styer, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—36.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

SENATE AMENDMENTS

To House bill, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Allegheny and Etna passenger railroad company," were read and concurred in.

Mr. WALKER, on leave given, called up Senate bill, entitled "An Act relative to the claim of S. W. Pearson, former Clerk of the Senate," which was considered and passed finally.

The SPEAKER informed the House that he had appointed Messrs CHASE, GOEPP and LAWRENCE, (Washington,) committee of conference on the appropriation bill.

The hour of five having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until this evening at 7½ o'clock.

HOUSE.—EVENING SESSION.

The House re-assembled at 7 o'clock.

SPEAKER in the chair.

Mr. CHURCH, on leave given, read in his place and presented to the Chair, "A supplement to the act incorporating the Richmond and Schuylkill passenger railroad company."

Ordered to be placed at the foot of the Calendar.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved that the special order for this evening be postponed for the present, in order to proceed with the Private Calendar. Not agreed to.

Agreeably to order, the House proceeded to the consideration of House bill No. 362, "An Act relating to the granting of licenses to hotel, inn or tavern keepers."

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That it shall be lawful for the several courts of quarter sessions of this Commonwealth, to hear petitions in addition to that of the applicant, in favor of and remonstrances against the application of any person applying to either of them for a license to keep a hotel, inn or tavern, and thereupon to refuse the same; and so much of the sixth section of the act of Assembly, relating to the sale of intoxicating liquors, passed the twentieth day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, as is inconsistent herewith, is hereby repealed: Provided, That nothing in this act shall apply to the city of Philadelphia.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment offered by Mr. GOEPP, to strike out all after the word "tavern," and insert in lieu thereof, the following?

"And provided further, That the discretion of the said courts in the granting of said licenses, shall not extend to the question of the necessity for such hotel, inn or tavern, but shall be confined to the inquiry whether the applicant possesses the personal qualifications and has the accommodations required by law."

It was determined in the negative.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment offered by Mr. SMITH, of Berks, to insert after the word "Commonwealth" the words "boards of license and appraisers?"

It was negatived.

Mr. THOMPSON moved to amend by inserting after the word "same," the following: "Whenever, in the opinion of said courts, such inn, hotel or tavern, is not necessary for the accommodation of the public and entertainment of strangers and travelers;" which was agreed to.

And the bill as amended, passed finally.

Mr. WOLF called for the yeas and nays on the final passage of the bill, but it was not seconded.

BILLS ON SECOND READING.

"An Act defining certain powers," came up in order; and, on motion of Mr. HAMERSLY, was indefinitely postponed.

No. 594. "An Act to incorporate the Dimes savings of Harrisburg," was read and passed finally.

No. 107. "An Act relative to reserved tracts or out-lots in the borough of Franklin, Venango county," was read and passed finally.

No. 205. "An Act changing the venue of a certain action from Union to Northumberland county," was read.

Mr. PATTERSON moved that the same be postponed for the present; not agreed to.

On the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PATTERSON and Mr. WAGENSELLER, and were as follow, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Campbell, Church, Custer, Dismant, Evans, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Gray, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Kinney, Laird, M'Curdy, Neall, Oaks, Palm, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Rohrer, Rouse, Sheppard, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Wolf and Woodring—43.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Bayard, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Foster, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Irish, Keneagy, Lawrence, (Washington,) Matthews, M'Dowell, Patterson, Peirce, Ramsdell, Rose, Shafer, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Withrow and Lawrence, Speaker—31.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

No. 924. "An Act to establish a ferry over the Susquehanna river," was read the second time.

Mr. OAKS moved that the bill be postponed indefinitely. Agreed to.

No. 994. "Resolution authorizing the State Treasurer to pay the treasurer of Armstrong county certain militia money." Passed finally.

No. 667. "An Act to incorporate the Chemical company of Pennsylvania," was read the second time.

Mr. SHEPPARD moved to postpone the bill indefinitely; which was agreed to.

No. 413. "A further supplement to an act to incorporate the Allentown railroad company," was read the second time.

And, on the question,

Will the House agree to the same?

Mr. GOOD said that he had originally presented the bill, and had favored it. After closer examination, however, he thought that it was not just, and now should oppose its passage.

Mr. WALBORN said that the course which had been pursued by the gentleman from Lehigh (Mr. GOOD) was a singular one—thus refusing to father his own child. This supplement rendered it necessary for the majority of the directors of the Allentown road to reside in the State of Pennsylvania, and this was certainly to be desired.

Mr. GOEPP thought that, even if the supplement should pass, it would be unconstitutional, inasmuch as the original charter of the company provided that it should not be necessary for a majority of the directors to reside in Pennsylvania. This clause had been instituted because a great proportion of the stock was owned by New Yorkers, whose money had built the road. There was no proper reason why the supplement should pass.

Mr. WALBORN wanted to know whether, even if that clause was in the charter, it was not proper and competent for the Legislature, by an after-enactment, to repeal the former act, and, by the passage of this supplement, make the railroad subject to the provisions of the general railroad law of February 16, 1849.

Mr. PALM said, I hope this bill will not pass, I have reason to believe that the bill was got up for the purpose of breaking up the Allentown railroad. The friends of the Allentown railroad do not desire a bill making it obligatory for the stockholders to reside in this State. My friend over the way, (Mr. WALBORN,) I am inclined to believe, advocates the passage of this bill for the purpose of injury to the Allentown road, because that road does not connect with Philadelphia. It would seem as if that gentleman is bound to oppose all railroads which do not happen to terminate in Philadelphia. I trust the House will vote down this bill.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) said that at least nine-tenths of the stock of the Allentown railroad company was held in New York. It would, under these circumstances, be manifestly unjust to hamper the operations of the corporation, by obliging them to have a majority of Pennsylvania directors. He wished to inquire of the gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. WALBORN,) whether it was not a fact, as he had stated, that a majority of the stock was held by New Yorkers.

Mr. WALBORN thought that this was the case. But he wished to ask the gentleman, (Mr. LAWRENCE, Washington,) whether it was just to home roads, to allow foreign capitalists to come into the State and control railroads.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) said that if they constructed the road, they had a right to control it. When the matter had been before the committee, he had examined it and had found it to be unfair.

Mr. KINNEY inquired whether the road either began or ended in Philadelphia?

Mr. WALBORN said that it did not.

Mr. KINNEY remarked sarcastically that it ought then, of course, to be killed.

Mr. WALBORN said that it was one of the connecting links which was intended to tap the railroads of Pennsylvania, and to take trade through that State to New York without paying one cent of tribute.

Mr. GOOD thought that the gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. WALBORN,) was not as well posted as he might be on railroad matters.—Only the other day he (Mr. GOOD,) had presented to him a bill relative to the Norristown and Allentown railroad. Mr. WALBORN had opposed it because, as he alleged, it would take trade away from Philadelphia. Every one knew that the contrary was the case.

Mr. NEALL, in reply to the intimation that this road was to be opposed because it neither began or ended in Philadelphia, wished to say that he had never yet voted, and never would vote, to interfere with the interests of any road. It was true, as had been alleged by his colleague, (Mr. WALBORN,) that the Allentown road would tap the trade which would otherwise flow to Philadelphia.

Mr. HAMERSLY deprecated what he considered the narrow-minded policy of the opposition. The arguments used by the gentleman (Mr. WALBORN,) might possibly have been applicable when the original charter of the company was applied for. The New York stockholders invested their money in the road, and it would be a gross injustice to attempt now to deprive them of their right.

Mr. WALBORN rose to explain. As regarded the allegations of Mr. GOOD, he wished to say that he had opposed the Norristown and Allentown project, because the road was calculated to form one link of a chain to take trade from Pittsburgh and the west via Downingtown, Norristown and Allentown to New York. He considered that he did know the railroad interests, and was not narrow-minded in his views, as had been intimated.

The question being taken,

The bill fell upon second reading.

No. 129. "An Act securing to the people of Philadelphia the right of free travel over certain highways," came up in order.

Mr. NEALL moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

On the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WALBORN and Mr. HARDING, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Bryson, Chase, Church, Evans, Fearon, Fleming, Glatz, Goepf, Gratz, Gritman, Harding, Hill, Hottentstine, Jackson, Ketchum, Matthews, Neall, Palm, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Rose, Sheppard, Shields, Smead, Stephens, Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Walhorn, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Wolf, Woodring and Zoller—37.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Burley, Campbell, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eckman, Foster, Galley, Good, Graham, Green, Hamersly, Keneagy, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) M'Curdy, Miller, Oaks, Ramsdell, Shafer, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stoneback, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walker, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson and Withrow—37.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. EVANS moved to amend the bill by adding to the end of the first section: "and that each and every county in this Commonwealth, shall purchase all the turnpikes and plank roads, in their limits, and the same are hereby declared to be free and public highways."

Mr. HAMERSLY rose to a point of order. The amendment not only would make the bill a public one, but it is likewise not germane.

The SPEAKER ruled the amendment out of order.

Mr. EVANS moved that the further consideration of the question be postponed indefinitely.

This gave rise to a lengthy discussion on the merits of the bill, between Messrs. HAMERSLY, NEALL, WILEY, EVANS, HILL, SHEPARD, STYER, CHURCH, HARDING, ABBOTT, GRITMAN and WALBORN.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to postpone the bill indefinitely?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. EVANS and Mr. HARDING, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Burley, Church, Custer, Dismant, Evans, Fleming, Glatz, Goepf, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Gritman, Harding, Hill, Hottentstine, Matthews, Neall, Palm, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Sheppard, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Styer, Walborn, Warden, and Witman—33.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Campbell, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Foster, Good, Green, Hamersly, Keneagy, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) M'Curdy, Miller, Oaks, Peirce, Ramsdell, Rose, Shafer, Smith, (Berks,) Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Walker, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Withrow, Wolf, Woodring, and Lawrence, Speaker—38.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to Mr. HAMERSLY'S amendment to restore the first section to its original form?

Symptoms of further discussion manifesting itself,

Mr. HAMERSLY rose to a call of the previous question; which was sustained.

And on the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HARDING and Mr. GRATZ, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Dismant, Durhoraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fleming, Goepf, Good, Graham, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Irish, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) M'Curdy, Miller, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rose, Shafer, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Wagenseller, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—58.

NAYS—Messrs. Church, Custer, Evans, Foster, Galley, Gratz, Harding, Hill, Matthews, Neall, Quigley, Sheppard, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Styer, Thompson, Walborn and Warden—19.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to Mr. HAMERSLY'S amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAMERSLY and Mr. WILEY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Ellmaker, Foster, Goepf, Good, Graham, Gritman, Hamersly, Irish, Keneagy, Ketchum, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) M'Curdy, Miller, Oaks, Patterson, Peirce, Ramsdell, Shafer, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston and Withrow—35.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Church, Custer, Dismant, Eckman, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Glatz, Gratz, Green, Harding, Hill, Hottentstine, Matthews, Neall, Palm, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Rose, Sheppard, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence—Speaker—40.

So the question was determined in the negative.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the first section?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAMERSLY and Mr. EVANS, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bryson, Campbell, Eckman, Ellmaker, Foster, Good, Graham, Green, Hamersly, Keneagy, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) M'Curdy, Miller, Oaks, Peirce, Ramsdell, Shafer, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Taylor, Wagenseller, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) and Withrow—31.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Church, Custer, Dismant, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Gratz, Gray, Gritman, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Ketchum, Matthews, Neall, Palm, Patterson, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Rose, Sheppard, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stuart, Styer, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Williston, Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—43.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. McDOWELL, on leave given, read in his place and presented to the Chair, "An Act to incorporate the Monongahela passenger railroad company."

Messrs. GOEPP and WOLF moved that the vote had on the final passage of House bill No. 362, "An Act relating to the granting of licenses, &c., be re-considered.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. GOEPP moved that the further consideration of the motion be postponed for the present.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) moved to amend by postponing indefinitely.

Mr. MILLER rose to a call of the previous question; which was sustained.

And on the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GOEPP and Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Eckman, Fearon, Galley, Graham, Gratz, Gritman, Hamersly, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehafeey, M'Curdy, Miller, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rose, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Wageuseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow and Lawrence, Speaker—52.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Custer, Dismant, Fisher, Foster, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Gray, Green, Harding, Hill, Laird, M'Dowell, Neall, Pinkerton, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Wolf, Woodring and Zoller—23.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion to reconsider?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GOEPP and Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Custer, Dismant, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Gray, Green, Harding, Hill, Keneagy, Laird, Pinkerton, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Wolf and Woodring—20.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Church, Eckman, Fearon, Fisher, Foster, Galley, Graham, Gratz, Gritman, Hamersly, Hottenstine, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehafeey, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Neall, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rose, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Smead, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Wageuseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—58.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Messrs. LAWRENCE (Washington,) and CHURCH moved that the vote had on the final passage of Senate bill No. 801, "Supplement to the act of the New York Middle Coal Field coal and railroad company," be re-considered.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

A motion was made by Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) that the further consideration of the motion to re-consider be postponed for the present.

Mr. WILEY moved to amend, by postponing the bill indefinitely.

A motion was made that the House do now adjourn; which was agreed to; whereupon

The SPEAKER adjourned the House until tomorrow morning at 9½ o'clock.

SENATE.

FRIDAY, April, 8.

Senate met at the usual hour, the SPEAKER in the Chair.

Journal of yesterday partly read by the Clerk, and the further reading dispensed with.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES.

Mr. WRIGHT presented a remonstrance from citizens of Philadelphia against the removal of the market houses in the city of Philadelphia.

Also, a remonstrance of citizens of Bridesburg, Whitehall and Frankford, concerning the construction of fisheries in the Delaware river, and against the passage of any law authorizing the construction of dams in said river.

Also, a communication, containing resolutions of the Board of Trade of Philadelphia, relative to insurance companies.

On motion of Mr. WRIGHT, the resolutions were read and ordered to be printed in the Daily Record. They are as follow:

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF TRADE, }
PHILADELPHIA, March 28, 1850. }

At a stated meeting of the Board of Trade, held this evening, the following resolutions were unanimously passed:

Resolved, That the Philadelphia Board of Trade has viewed with much interest the pendency before the Legislature of House bill, No. 674, and trusts that its passage may not be longer delayed, believing that its provisions will accomplish the desired end in protecting the community against the operations of irresponsible insurance companies; which corporations, within the past few years, have done so much to injure the character and standing of the city, both at home and in other parts of the Union.

Resolved, That the officers of this Association be directed to transmit a copy of the foregoing to both branches of the Legislature.

By order of the Board of Trade.

SAM'L C. MORTON.

Attest: LORIN BLODGET, Secretary.

Mr. NUNEMACHER, two petitions from citizens of Berks county, asking for the laying out of a State road in Berks county.

Also, two remonstrances against the same.

Mr. KELLER, a remonstrance from citizens of Columbia county, against the extension and widening of Market street, in the town of Bloomsburg, Columbia county.

Mr. GAZZAM, a petition from citizens of Allegheny county, praying for an act incorporating the Allegheny and Sharpsburg railway company.

Also, a petition from citizens of Pittsburg, praying for the repeal of the law establishing a high school.

Also, a petition from two hundred citizens of Du Quesne borough and adjacent country, praying for the incorporation of the Sharpsburg passenger railway company.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. RANDALL, (Finance,) as committed, House bill No. 202, "Resolution relative to the payment of certain moneys into the State Treasury by the Manufacturers' and Mechanics' Bank of Philadelphia."

Mr. MARSELIS, (Banks,) as committed, "A further supplement to the act regulating banks." Passed April 16, 1850."

Mr. COFFEY, (Finance,) as committed, House bill No. 723, "An Act to modify the existing auction laws of the Commonwealth, and to provide more effectually for the collection of the State tax and duty on auction sales."

Mr. GREGG, (same,) with a negative recommendation, House bill No. 378, "An Act relative to State taxes."

BILLS IN PLACE.

Mr. BELL read in his place a bill, entitled "An Act to secure more effectually the right of appeal."

Mr. RANDALL, a bill, entitled "An Act to alter the number of trustees in the State savings' fund, incorporated as the Dime savings' fund in 1855."

Also, a bill, entitled "An Act relative to the Philadelphia and Reading railroad."

Also, "An Act to incorporate the Junction railroad."

ORIGINAL RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. SCHELL offered the following:

Resolved, That the standing committees of the Senate, except the Committees on Finance and Accounts, be and are hereby discharged from the consideration of all bills referred to them.

Mr. RANDALL moved to amend by inserting the words "on and after Tuesday next." The resolution as amended was then agreed to.

HOUSE AMENDMENTS

To Senate bill No. 361, "A further supplement to the act incorporating the Susquehanna railroad company, approved April 9th, 1853." Concurred in.

To Senate bill No. 894, "A supplement to an act to repeal certain acts, relating to the borough of Schuylkill Haven, in the county of Schuylkill." Concurred in.

THE TONNAGE TAX.

Mr. SCOFIELD moved the orders of the day be suspended for the purpose of calling up House bill No. 740, "Resolution relative to the non-payment of the tonnage tax."

Upon this motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCOFIELD and Mr. WRIGHT, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Craig, Francis, Gazzam, Harris, Miller, Myer, Penney, Scofield, Schiudel and Steele—10.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Coffey, Fetter, Keller, Marselis, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Schell, Shaeffer, Thompson, Turvey, Welsh, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—19.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. KELLER called up Senate bill No. 1143, "An Act changing the venue of a certain action from Union to Northumberland county." Postponed.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

House bill No. 461, "An Act authorizing the State Treasurer to pay the Towanda bridge company a balance due them, in pursuance of a contract made with the Board of Canal Commissioners." Postponed until to-morrow.

House bill No. 400, "An Act to incorporate the Bald Eagle boom company of Clinton county." Amended, and passed finally.

Senate bill No. 1135, "An Act relative to unadjusted claims against the public works." The bill lies over until to-morrow.

Mr. BELL, from the Judiciary Committee, reported, as committed, a bill entitled "An Act relating to the courts of the city of Philadelphia."

Senate bill No. 971, "An Act to incorporate the Philadelphia and Pittsburg telegraph company." Postponed for the present.

On motion of Mr. WRIGHT, House bill No. 278, "A supplement to an act to repeal certain acts of Assembly upon non-payment of the enrolment tax." Amended, and passed.

LEGISLATIVE RECORD.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE LEGISLATURE OF PENNSYLVANIA.

FOR THE SESSION OF 1859.

No. 75.

The orders of the day having been gone through with,

On motion of Mr. COFFEY, the Senate proceeded to the consideration of Senate bill No. 1128, "An Act to facilitate the sale of canals and railroads under mortgage." Lies over on second reading.

On motion of Mr. SOHELL, House bill No. 245, "A supplement to the acts limiting actions against real estate."

Amended and lies over.

On motion of Mr. BELL, Senate bill No. 111, "An Act relating to the action of replevin in cases of distress for arrears of rent."

Mr. GAZZAM. There has not been a word said in regard to the merits of this bill, and I do not see why there should not be a discussion on the bill, and if there are any objections to it, why not urged. My present purpose is to ask the Senate to let it go on the orders again. I cannot give the history of the bill in full, but I have to say I endeavored to get this bill out of committee for weeks. I said I did not care if it was reported with a negative recommendation, so that it came before the Senate. It is of no personal interest to me, but I believe the public interests would be promoted by the passage of this bill.

Mr. SCHELL. The Senator from Allegheny, (Mr. GAZZAM,) said the object of this bill is to do away with impositions. Now, I consider this bill nothing more nor less than an immense anaconda that is going to swallow up all the telegraph lines in the country, for I would like to know what would become of them if this bill passed. I am opposed to the bill on that principle.

Mr. GAZZAM. I think the general allegation against this bill, as an immense anaconda, and if sustained, would be a very good reason why the bill should be defeated, but I call upon the Senator, (Mr. SCHELL,) to make good his allegation. Competition is the life of business, and if there is to be any favoritism, I think it is wrong. What good reason is there for incorporating one company and not another?

Upon the first section,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCOFIELD and Mr. BELL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Blood, Coffey, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Welsh, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—26.

NAY—Mr. Scofield—1.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Upon the second section,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCOFIELD and Mr. GREGG, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Blood, Coffey, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Harris, Keller, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Rutherford, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Welsh, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—22.

NAY—Mr. Scofield—1.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Upon the final passage of this bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCOFIELD and Mr. BELL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Blood, Coffey,

Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Palmer, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Schell, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—24.

NAYS—Messrs. Harris, Parker and Scofield—3.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. MILLER, House bill No. 1051, "An Act relating to estates tail."

[Bill lies over on third reading.]

On motion of Mr. GAZZAM, the Senate resumed the consideration of Senate bill No. 971, "An Act to incorporate the Philadelphia and Pittsburg telegraph company."

And the question recurring upon the first section,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GAZZAM and Mr. MILLER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Coffey, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Palmer, Parker, Scofield, Thompson and Yardley—13.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Randall, Rutherford, Schell, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—13.

So the question was determined in the negative.

On leave given, Mr. MARSELIS read in his place and presented to the Chair, a bill, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Fulton market company."

Mr. GREGG submitted the following resolution; which was twice read and agreed to:

Resolved, That the Clerk be requested to cause inquiry to be made of the Public Printer, whether the copies of the Agricultural Report, ordered for the use of the Senate, will be ready for distribution before the close of the present session, and report to the Senate.

On motion of Mr. PENNEY, the Senate proceeded to the consideration of House amendments to Senate bill No. 1022, "An Act to incorporate the Allegheny and Etna passenger railroad company, in Allegheny county."

On his motion, the Senate concurred in amendments, except the proviso to the first section.

On motion of Mr. FETTER, House bill No. 1055, "An Act annexing the buildings of William Bratton to Beale township, in Juniata county." Passed.

On motion of Mr. SCHELL, House bill No. 245, "A supplement to the act limiting actions against real estate." Lies over on third reading.

On motion of Mr. SCHINDEL, House bill No. 761, "An Act for the relief of Sabina Bachman, of Northampton county." Passed.

On motion of Mr. BELL, House bill No. 1083, "An Act, entitled 'An Act to incorporate the Chester, Seipersville and Darby railroad company.'"

Read a third time and passed.

On motion of Mr. PARKER, House bill No. 701, "An Act to incorporate the Hope manufacturing company."

Upon the final passage of this bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WRIGHT and Mr. PARKER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Coffey, Finney, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Thompson, Welsh and Yardley—18.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Randall, Schell, Scofield, Schindel, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—11.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. FRANCIS, House bill No. 1465, "A supplement to an act repealing an act relative to roads and bridges in the county of Mercer." Passed.

On motion of Mr. PARKER, Senate resumed the consideration of Senate bill No. 258, "A further supplement to an act incorporating the city of Philadelphia."

Upon this question,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PARKER and Mr. WRIGHT, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Coffey, Finney, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Rutherford, Schindel, Steele and Thompson—13.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Craig, Fetter, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Randall, Schell, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—13.

So the question was determined in the negative.

On motion of Mr. GREGG, House bill No. 800, "An Act for the payment of the claim of S. Miles Green, of Huntingdon county." Laid over for the purpose of amendment.

On motion of Mr. SCOFIELD, House bill No. 1095, "An Act declaring Willow creek, in Warren and M'Kean counties, a public highway." Passed.

On motion of Mr. SCHELL, Senate bill No. 544, "An Act relating to the claim of Jackson Fee." Passed.

On motion of Mr. SCHELL, the Senate resumed the consideration of House bill No. 800, "An Act to authorize the payment of the claim of S Miles Green, of Huntingdon county."—The bill, as amended, passed.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTION.

On motion of Mr. SCOFIELD,

Resolved, That the Senate will adjourn from to-morrow at 12 o'clock, until half past 9 o'clock on Monday morning.

Mr. WRIGHT moved to amend by simply fixing the hour of adjournment at 12 o'clock to-morrow.

Upon this motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCOFIELD and Mr. WRIGHT, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Brewer, Coffey, Finney, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Palmer, Penney, Schell, Scofield, Steele, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—15.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Craig, Fetter, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Myer, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Schindel, Thompson, Turney, Welsh and Yardley—15.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring upon the original resolution,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PALMER and Mr. GAZZAM, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Harris, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Schell, Scofield, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Yardley, and Cresswell, Speaker—18.

YAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Gregg, Keller, Marsalis, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Thompson, Welsh, and Wright—11.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On leave given, Mr. PINNEY read in his place and presented to the Chair, a bill relative to the salary of the judges of the Supreme Court. Laid on the table.

The hour of 1 o'clock having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until this afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Friday, April 8, 1859.

The House was called to order at 9½ o'clock. SPEAKER in the Chair.

On motion of Mr. MILLER, the reading of the Journal was dispensed with.

Mr. OAKS moved that the rules be suspended, and that the House proceed to the consideration of Senate bill No. 357, "A further supplement to the act to incorporate the Danville railroad company."

Mr. KETCHUM regretted exceedingly that, after the pleasant intercourse during the session between Judge OAKS and himself, he should be obliged to oppose this motion. He paid the highest compliments to the Judge, as a legislator and gentleman, and trusted that the opposition which he might make would not be considered by him (OAKS) as a personal matter.

Mr. OAKS said that he was sorry that, in the fulfilment of the duty which he owed to his constituents, he had brought down the wrath (although it was good natured) of the gentleman from Luzerne, (Mr. KETCHUM.) He hoped that the House, however, would take a different view of the matter from that assumed by Mr. K. The project of a railroad from Sunbury to Danville was one in which many of his constituents felt a deep interest, and he hoped that the House would pass the bill.

Mr. CHASE called for a division of the question.

And on the question,

Will the House suspend the rule?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PUGHE and Mr. KETCHUM, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Burley, Campbell, Dismant, Fearon, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Kinney, Laird, Miller, Oaks, Palm, Rose, Smead, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Wigton, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—29.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Chase, Church, Custer, Darboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fleming, Good, Graham, Gratz, Gritman, Hamersly, Keneagy, Ketchum, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, Matthews, McCurdy, Neall, Patterson, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Smith (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Wolf and Woodring—50.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. ROSE, on leave given, read in his place and presented to the Chair, "A supplement to the act repealing an act relative to roads and bridges in Mercer county;" which, on his motion, was taken up and passed finally.

BILL RE-CONSIDERED.

Messrs. EVANS and BRYSON moved that the vote by which the act changing the venue of a certain action from Union to Northumberland county be re-considered.

Mr. STEPHENS said—

Mr. SPEAKER:—I trust this motion will not prevail. Sir, we are sent here as the representatives of a great and free people, to pass laws which will protect them in all their inalienable rights. The right of trial by jury, secured to us by our fathers, is the brightest jewel that sparkles in the diadem of self-government. It is a constitutional privilege which every citizen of the United States should enjoy free and untrammelled. It is alleged, by the party seeking this legislation, that this sacred right has been violated in Union county—that the ends of justice aimed at by this priceless boon has been alienated from the noble purposes for which it was ordained by our fathers, through the influence of a large incorporated company, who have overshadowed and palsied the arm of justice, the stockholders of said company being so numerous in that county that it is quite impossible to empanel a jury who are not interested, or made interested, through their influence. If such be the lamentable fact, let us, by all means, sustain the passage of this act, to change the venue from Union to Northumberland county, that these parties may have a fair and impartial hearing, before a disinterested tribunal, in order that the right of trial by jury may be preserved to these parties and the ends of justice satisfied. If this bill was to benefit some rich incorporated company it would find but few, very few, opponents; but, sir, because this bill is brought here to protect the rights of a lone female, pleading her own cause, through her tears, and praying that this body will protect her from the merciless grasp of an incorporated company, it finds opposition. Oh! shame on that man, or set of men, who will oppose a helpless female asking for justice. What, has it come to this, that we are sent here to pass laws for the exclusive benefit of incorporated companies? I, for one, trust not. I hope we will awake from this dreamy state to our duty to the people of Pennsylvania. I think is high time we should begin to legislate for their interests, before we are tied hand and foot, and delivered over to the tender mercies of these giant corporations. Self-protection asks it; self-preservation demands it; for these are the great first laws of our nature. If we would remain free; if we would preserve inviolate the rights of every man, woman and child throughout the length and breadth of our State, whether high or low, rich or poor, we must preserve these inestimable rights unpolluted and untarnished, upon which the structure of our government is founded and guard well, by statute acts, that precious legacy left unto us by our fathers, that we may secure to ourselves and our children, and our children's children, equal rights, equal privileges and equal protection. Sir, I trust this motion will not prevail, for the passage of this bill has been a triumph in favor of these principles—a victory in favor of justice and the common rights of the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. PINKERTON moved that the further consideration of the motion to re-consider be postponed indefinitely.

And on the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PINKERTON and Mr. PATTERSON, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Burley, Campbell, Church, Custer, Dismant, Fleming, Galley, Goepp, Harding, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Kinney, Laird, McCurdy, Neall, Palm, Pinkerton, Rohrer, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Wolf and Woodring—35.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bryson, Chase, Darboraw, Eckman, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Foster, Glatz, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Irish, Ketchum, Lawrence, (Washington,) Matthews, Miller, Oaks, Patterson, Peirce, Quigley, Ramsdell, Shafer, Smith, (Berks,) Styer, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walborn, Wiley, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—39.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. PINKERTON said that he considered this case one of the most important which had been before the House this session. Personally, he had no interest in the matter, except what was natural in the defence of a poor woman, who was liable to be crushed by the actions of a corporation.

He alluded to the fact that at an arbitration in Union county, great injustice had been done. This was cited as a reason why the venue should be changed, and by way of proof, he would forward some papers to the clerk to be read. These papers it would be perceived showed that although the arbitrators signed a report that the proceedings had been properly conducted, yet two of them had afterwards made affidavit that the defendant had not been present at the session. The papers were as follow:

ARBITRATORS' AWARD.

Northumberland County, ss.

In the court of common pleas of said county it is thus contained, to wit:

Rebecca D. Quinn vs. William Heart, Mary Jenkins and Alfred Kneass.

In the court of common pleas of Union county, No. 35. February Term, 1858. Ejectment.

John Van Buskirk, one of the arbitrators named in the annexed record, met at the time and place therein stated, to wit: at the Buffalo House in the borough of Lewisburg, on Tuesday, the 4th day of March, A. D., 1858. John Wilt, esq., and Paul Geddes, the other arbitrators named in said record, being absent, and no reason assigned for such absence;

Whereupon, due and legal proof was made, that lawful notice was served on said absent arbitrators of the time and place of meeting. The plaintiff appeared by her agent, James L. Quinn (as he represented himself). It was also proved that lawful notice of the time and place of meeting of the arbitrators was served on plaintiff; one of the defendants appeared in person, and the other two were represented by counsel. The parties were unable to agree upon suitable persons to fill the vacancy of the absent arbitrators; whereupon, John Van Buskirk, the arbitrator present, under the provisions of the act of Assembly in such cases made and provided, appointed Thomas Hayes and George Merrill as arbitrators, to fill the place of the absent arbitrators.

We, the undersigned arbitrators, after being all duly sworn according to law, proceeded to hear the cause. The plaintiff failed to establish by evidence any title to the land in dispute in this suit. Whereupon we do award for the defendant, or in other words, find no cause of action and the plaintiff to pay the costs.

Witness our hands and seals, this 4th day of May, A. D., 1858.

Ejectment in the common pleas of Union county, No. 35, February term, 1858, transferred to Northumberland county by act of Assembly, approved April 13, 1858.

To the arbitrators in this case:

You are hereby notified that the above case has its venue transferred to the court of common pleas of Northumberland county, by an act of Assembly, approved the 13th April, 1858. You, therefore, have no jurisdiction to try the case. You are requested to attach this notice to your proceedings, and dismiss the case.

Rebecca D. Quinn vs. William Heart, Mary Jenkins and Alfred Kneass.

In the court of common pleas of Union county. No. 35, February term, 1858. Transferred to Northumberland county.

Union county, ss:

John Van Buskirk on oath, says, he was one of the arbitrators in the case of Rebecca Quinn vs. William Heart, Mary Jenkins and Alfred Kneass, No. 35, February term, 1858, in the common pleas of Union county; that he met at the place appointed, on the 4th of May, 1858; the other two arbitrators did not attend. Before the board was fully organized, a paper was presented to me, a copy of which is hereto attached, I wanted to put it off to another day. Kneass and Miller insisted that I should go on and choose two other men in the place of the two that were absent, and intimated that he would compel me to do it. I then chose Thomas Hays and George Merrill, in the place of those absent; were sworn, made out an award, and wanted to attach the above notice to it; to which George F. Miller objected, and would not let me do it. I then kept the notice, which is now at my house in Dry Valley, having forgotten to bring it along.

Union county, ss:

James L. Quinn on oath, saith, that he, at the request of the plaintiff in the foregoing case, went to the Buffalo house on the 4th May, solely to give the arbitrators notice not to proceed in the case, as the venue of the case had been removed by act of Assembly, to Northumberland county; that only one of the arbitrators was present—John V. Buskirk—that he presented to him a certified copy of the act of Assembly, and gave him a written copy of the notice hereto attached, and then left before the other arbitrators were chosen. Buskirk said he would adjourn the case before I left.

Certified from the original, remaining on file in my office at Lewisburg, the 15th day of March, 1859.

SAMUEL RAUSH, prothonotary.

Mr. HAMERSLY wished that some gentleman would give the House full information on the subject.

Mr. HOTTENSTINE was in favor of changing the venue, because the principle was right.

Mr. WAGENSELLER wished to correct some of the statements of the opposition. The Judiciary Committee had reported the bill with a negative recommendation, and it was improper and unusual for the House to refuse to coincide in their action. He denied that the furnace company cared anything about the bill or the land. He stated that the efforts of Miss Quinn, the petitioner, had been successful thus far through sympathy. The property had been held by those whom she opposed for nearly sixty years, as was proved by the affidavit, which he called upon the Clerk to read. It was read, as follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The petition of Mary Ann Jenkins respectfully represents: That her father, James Jenkins, died about eighteen hundred and three, leaving issue—five children—and seized of some real estate, part of which was situate in the county of Union; that in December, A. D., 1825, application was made by the heirs to Union county court, for partition of the real estate of her deceased father, situate in said county. On and in 1826, a tract, or part of a tract of land, (being partly hill land,) was awarded to your petitioner at the valuation, on which some iron ore was afterwards discovered, and drifts for working the same opened; that from the sale of the iron ore, she has, in part, for several years, derived her support.

That in 1853, James L. Quinn, a young man, who was hunting about the lines of her land, made application, and obtained a warrant for nineteen acres, embracing, in part, her ore about drifts, alleging that it was vacant land. Notwithstanding it was claimed by an old title, and was in the peaceable and undisturbed possession of her father and his heirs for upwards of fifty years; and in 1854, said Quinn had a survey made for twenty acres and three perches; that after obtaining the warrant and survey, brought an action of ejectment for said twenty acres and three perches, which came on for trial at May term, 1857; and after a full and fair trial, a verdict was rendered in favor of your petitioner; or, in other words, the jury decided that there was no vacant land where Quinn laid his warrant and survey; that your petitioner was put to a heavy expense in defending the suit; and after Quinn was defeated, he denied owning any property out of which the costs could be realized. Consequently, she failed in collecting any part of her costs.

That the said James L. Quinn, without paying the costs, assigned or conveyed his claim to the said twenty acres and three perches to his sister, Rebecca L. Quinn, and brought another action in her name; after that, she went, as your petitioner has been informed, to Harrisburg, to get the venue changed to Northumberland county.

Your petitioner most respectfully protests against a change of the venue, as she has already been put to great expense; and, by removing the trial to another court, she would be under the necessity of getting the partition papers copied, and copy of said former suit, which would be considerable additional expense; and besides, there is no merit in Miss Quinn's claim, as she knows that your petitioner claimed the land and had defeated her brother when she took the assignment; and petitioner verily believes that Rebecca L. Quinn is merely acting as a cat's paw for her brother James.

Your petitioner further represents, that she has been informed that Miss Quinn is telling members of the Senate and House of Representatives that your petitioner is immensely rich; "that, if true," would be no good reason for changing the venue; but the charge against your petitioner is utterly false. The income that she has is scarcely adequate for her support; she has to use great economy.

Your petitioner is now upwards of sixty-six years, and in poor health; and she does most humbly pray, that your Honorable Bodies will not listen to the flattery of Rebecca L. Quinn, and will send her home, where a lady ought to be, without trying to deprive your petitioner of her just rights.

Northumberland County, ss:

Mary Ann Jenkins, the petitioner, being duly sworn, saith that the facts set forth in the foregoing petition are true, to the best of her knowledge and belief.

Sworn and subscribed, this — day of February, 1859, before me,

D. B. M'GREGOR,
Justice of the Peace.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion to reconsider?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PATTERSON and Mr. WAGENSELLER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Bryson, Durboraw, Eckman, Fearon, Fisher, Foster, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Irish, Ketchum, Lawrence, (Washington,) McDowell, Milder, Oaks, Patterson, Peirce, Ramsdell, Rose, Shafer, Smith, (Berks,) Styer, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walborn, Wiley Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Withrow, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—34.

NAYS—Messrs. Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Burley, Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Fleming, Galley, Goepf, Good, Gray, Gritman, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Kinney, Laird, M'Curdy, Neall, Palm, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Quigley, Robrer, Rouse, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Wolf and Woodring—40.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed the House that the Senate concurred in all the House amendments to bill, entitled "An Act for the assessment and recovery of damages on the North Branch and Wyoming canals," except the new section introduced yesterday by Mr. JACKSON.

Mr. SMEAD moved that the House recede from the amendment non-concurred in by the House.

Messrs. KINNEY, WILLISTON and SMEAD briefly favored the receding from the House amendments.

Mr. JACKSON appealed to the House and hoped that the motion to insist on the amendment would be carried. He believed that the interests of the claimants actually required it. He referred to the fact that the canals had been in course of construction for over twenty years, and that whenever the people had applied for damages they had been put off and told to wait until the canals were finished. That just as they were finished and about to be a source of revenue to the Commonwealth, they were sold. That the 7th section of the act selling the canals provides that purchasers shall be liable for all claims and damages arising from their construction, &c., and that the Legislature shall direct the manner of ascertaining and assessing the claims; and that this is a struggle between the canal companies and the people.

He hoped that this House would not consent that the company should have an opportunity to plead the statute of limitations and pay only those claims which had accrued within the last six years. The company had purchased the canals for a trifle, and he hoped the Legislature would protect the people and give the company no advantage over them.

He also referred to the fact that some of the members of the companies had been here the whole session, endeavoring to defeat the passage of a fair and just bill. That those persons were now opposing this amendment, and whilst doing so, at the same time asserted that it could not affect the rights of the parties, whether it was in or not.

Now, if this is so, then why do they say the bill must and shall fail if it is inserted?

He solemnly protested against the section being struck out, and hoped the House would sustain and protect the rights of the people against any and all incorporations, and insist on the amendment.

Mr. KETCHUM opposed the receding.

On the question,

Will the House insist on its amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. JACKSON and Mr. SHEPPARD, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Barnsley, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Burley, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Good, Graham, Green, Gritman, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Ketchum, Kenegy, Kinney, M'Curdy, Oaks, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rouse, Shafer, Shopard, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Wolf, Woodring and Zoller—55.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Bryson, Church, Fearon, Fisher, Foster, Gratz, Gray, Hamersly, Harding, Laird, Matthews, Miller, Neall, Patterson, Quigley, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Wigton, Wiley and Lawrence, Speaker—24.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. KINNEY moved that a committee of conference be appointed on the above bill, to confer with a similar committee from the Senate, (if the Senate appoint such a committee,) on the subject of the differences between the two Houses on said bill.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTION.

Mr. EVANS, on leave given, offered a resolution that this House will hold a session this afternoon, commencing at 3 o'clock, and an evening session commencing at 7½ o'clock; and that in lieu of to-morrow afternoon's session, a session be held to-morrow morning from 9 to 12 o'clock.

This resolution was read the second time.

Mr. PATTERSON moved to amend, by striking out to-morrow morning's session, and that when the House adjourns this evening, it will meet again on Monday afternoon, at 3 o'clock; which was not agreed to.

Mr. GRATZ moved to amend so that Public Bills be considered this afternoon—bills on which the House has made progress this evening—and private bills to-morrow morning.

Mr. GOEPP moved to amend the amendment, by inserting "Private Bills" in lieu of Public; which was agreed to.

And the amendment as amended was agreed to.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to amend by proposing the following substitute:

Resolved, That this House will hold a session this afternoon, commencing at 3 o'clock, for the purpose of considering bills on the Private Calendar; and that in lieu of the session provided for to-morrow afternoon, a session be held to-morrow morning from 9 to 12 o'clock, and to meet again on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock; which was read the second time.

Mr. IRISH moved to amend by holding a session this evening, commencing at 7½ o'clock; which was agreed to.

Mr. THORN moved further to amend by embracing within the resolution the consideration of bills on which the House has made progress; which was not agreed to.

Mr. GRATZ moved to amend that the session of this evening be devoted to the consideration of Public Bills. Not agreed to.

And substitute offered by Mr. HAMERSLY was adopted.

PUBLIC BILLS.

Agreeably to order, the House proceeded to the consideration of bills on the Public Calendar.

Whereupon the following were duly considered and passed finally:

With Mr. STYER in the Chair, Senate bill

No. 113, "An Act relative to testamentary trustees."

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That in all cases of trusts created by will and annexed to the office of executor, he may decline to accept the trust or be discharged therefrom, without affecting his office of executor; and the orphan's court of the proper county shall have power to fill the vacancy by appointment; and if a trust fund or estate is committed to an executor or other trustee, in which several cestues que trust have or are entitled to enjoy separate interests, and a vacancy should in any manner occur in the office of trustee thereof, the said courts may appoint one or more trustees of such estate or fund, for each of the said cestues que trust on his or her application; and the said trustees shall give security as is provided by existing laws.

With Mr. HOTTENSTINE in the Chair, Senate bill No. 566, "An Act relative to executors, administrators and guardians."

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That where any executor, administrator or guardian, has been required or hereafter shall be required upon the receipt of money to give a refunding bond as required by law, it shall be lawful for such executor, administrator or guardian, upon paying over such money to creditors, heirs, legatees or ward, to require under the direction of the orphans' court a bond refunding receipt or other obligation from the person or persons receiving the money to indemnify such executor, administrator or guardian to the amount each one may receive.

The following bills were considered and lost:

With Mr. Boyer, (Clearfield,) in the Chair, "An Act relative to challenging jurors in civil cases."

On the final passage of Senate bill No. 498, "An Act relative to the publication of opinions of the judges of the supreme court in certain cases."

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) and Mr. ROSE, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Church, Foster, Gratz, Harding, Neall, Shafer, Sheppard and Walborn—8.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Burley, Campbell, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Goepf, Good, Graham, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehafeey, Matthews, M'Curdy, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wegenseller, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Wolf, Woodring and Zoller—69.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The House resolved itself into committee of the whole, (Mr. PALM in the Chair,) on Senate bill No. 662, "An Act to equalize taxation on corporations, as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this act, the capital stock of all banks, savings institutions, and companies whatever, incorporated by or under any law of this Commonwealth, or that may be hereafter incorporated, shall be subject and to pay a tax into the treasury of the Commonwealth annually, at the rate of one-half mill upon each one per cent. of dividend made or declared by such bank, savings institution, or company; and in case of no dividend being made or declared by such bank, savings institution, or company, then a valuation of the capital stock of the same, agreeably to the thirty-third section of the act of twenty-ninth April, one thousand eight hundred and forty-four, entitled "An Act to reduce the State debt and incorporate the Pennsylvania railroad company;" and so much of any existing law as is inconsistent with the foregoing provisions, is hereby repealed. Provided, That any institution or company (except banks of issue) now liable for tax on capital stock, as also upon dividends, shall from henceforth be exempt from any tax upon dividends; And Provided further, That hereafter all banks of deposit and discount, or savings banks, shall be subject to the same tax as banks of issue; nothing, however, herein contained, shall be construed to make building associations, plank road, or turnpike companies liable for any tax to the Commonwealth, when such companies make or declare no dividends.

The bill passed committee of the whole, and being before the House on second reading,

Mr. CHASE moved to amend the bill as follows: "And Provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be taken or construed to apply to, or in any manner affect the existing law relative to tonnage tax on the Pennsylvania railroad," which was agreed to.

Mr. WILCOX moved to amend further:

"Provided also, That all unsettled accounts shall be adjusted in accordance with the provisions of this act," which was agreed to.

Mr. STEPHENS offered the following amendment:

That all property belonging to incorporated companies, shall pay taxes in their various localities in our township, ward, city, county and State governments, in proportion to its assessed value, the same as individual property holders; and all laws, or parts of laws, which makes their property public highways, or relieves it from taxation, is hereby repealed.

Mr. SPEAKER—I have offered this amendment in good faith, not with the view of repealing the tonnage tax, but to equalize the taxes of our governmental burthens, and should it prevail, I will amend the amendment by excepting the tonnage tax. Which thought did not occur to me at the time I penned the amendment, sir.

Mr. STEPHENS said the amendment before us, this day, is one that ought to meet with the hearty concurrence of every member upon this floor. It is one that has for its noble object, the disenthralment of the people of Pennsylvania, from the shackles of Legislative tyranny, from the chains of corporation bonds, which have so long prostrated the energies of her sons, and places her erect before God and man, where the constitution of our sires placed us, upon the platform of eternal justice, of equal rights, equal privileges, equal protection and equal taxation. Where is the legislator within these halls, that would not hail the passage of this act as the harbinger of a better, a brighter day, dawning upon the people of Pennsylvania? The rays of that light would fall upon us, like the gentle dews of Heaven, like the mellifluous streams of Heaven-born liberty, illuminating the pathway of self-government, so that we could see each other face to face, as freemen. If there should be any one here who would oppose this amendment from principle, who is so out of love with the principles of self-government, let him speak; he has not offended me, but he has betrayed and violated the principles which called into being our country. It would have been better for that man had he never been born within the limits of a free government, for he is unworthy of its protection. He would be a disgrace to the ashes of our sires, to the memory of our country's greatness and glory; to the spot where he was born, and the cradle of liberty in which he was rocked and reared up to manhood. Ah! more than this; the rebuke of a violated conscience would reprove him while life would last; and the rebuke of an outraged constituency would tell him, in language loud and plain, that could not be misunderstood, that he was unworthy to represent freemen. For my part, my judgment approves of this amendment; my whole heart is in it, and all that I am, I am willing to stake upon the issue. For the degeneracy of my country is so apparent from these great first principles, that I am willing to become a martyr to a cause that demands a sacrifice; that the old ship of State may be brought back into her safe moorings of constitutional liberty, from whence she has departed, through the tempestuous gales of corporate power. That she may have inscribed in letters of gold, upon the ample folds of the flag which waves at her masthead, mingled with the stars and stripes, those other symbols dear to every American heart, equal rights, equal privileges, equal protection and equal taxation. And that she may be manned with those men that will carry them out.

I know the finger of scorn will be pointed at me; I know that incorporated companies will gather around me and crush me to earth; but I know, also, that these principles must live and be carried out, or we must bid good-bye to self government. It may be here necessary to delineate what I understand to be the origin of government, in order to have a full view of the object aimed at by this amendment. The origin and source of government was to supply a defect in man's nature, occasioned by his fall. We must all admit that, if man was governed by the innate teachings of his conscience, and could not deviate therefrom, we should need no government. But seeing this is not the case, that to "err is human," we find it necessary to resort to some species of government in order to protect the good from the bad—the end and design of which is protection. It follows, therefore, as a natural consequence, that every man, or set of men, should pay taxes in proportion to the amount of property that each has protected in our township, county, ward, city and State governments. Each independent of the other in regard to the sovereign rights of the people only what each has surrendered up through the delegated powers of the Constitution. This is what I call carrying out the great doctrine of our fathers, of "equal rights, equal privileges, equal protection and equal taxation." This will fortify the township and ward governments from the encroachments of the county and city, and the county and city from that of the State. Then, happily, the people will enjoy the full fruits of self-government; the great balance wheel and key of the whole structure being equal taxation. Every departure from this principle, every step of centralization of the rights of the people, of township or ward by county and city, and county and city by State, is but so many steps towards absolutism. These reserved and inherent rights of the people must be preserved inviolate, if we would remain free. When we lose sight of these principles, and pursue a course for gain; when the glittering gold has more power over us than that patriotic duty which we owe to our country; when we forget that the great end and object of legislation is to secure every man in his inalienable rights, and to perfect his freedom; when we lose sight of these, the necessary objects of legislation, and legislate to increase the power of the State government over the city and county, and the county and city over the township and ward, by special legislation, for incorporated companies, who pay, for the betrayal of the rights of the people (in order to cover up their barefaced transactions,) a seemingly large State tax. While many of them pay no other, and a great many of them not even that, and if they do pay any, it is merely a nominal tax. Then, indeed, we have departed from the fundamental principles of self government, and are ready to sell our country as Judas sold his Lord and Master.

I beseech you, therefore, fellow laborers, if you wish to preserve the priceless principles of civil liberty; if you wish to hand it down to your children, as pure as you received it from your fathers, without spot, wrinkle, or blemish; if you wish the session of 1859 to stand, side by side, with any previous sessions of the halcyon days of our Republic, vote for this resolution, which will commit to the charnel house of oblivion, all those acts of legislation, which are calculated to "benefit the few at the expense of the many;" which places the people of Pennsylvania, as I said before, all upon one common platform. I hold to, and maintain the doctrine that the Legislature has no right to say that any man, or set of men, shall be relieved from township, ward, city, and county tax, and only pay a State tax. This is one of the reserved rights of the people, which they never delegated to the State government, and every act of this kind has been a violation of the principles of self-government and the rights of a sovereign people. Sir, I ask you, Mr. Speaker, I ask every member of this House, what are our delegated constitutional powers? Whose voices clothed us with authority? And whose agents, in reality, are we? Solve these queries in your own mind; let conscience and patriotism point out to you the duty which you owe to your country, to your posterity, and to your God. And then you will see clearly that sovereignty is not delegated to us—that we are but the servants of the people, to do their bidding.

They have clothed us with authority and power, not to take away their sovereignty, but to do their will; to make laws which will protect them in their rights of property and person; to reform all governmental abuse; or, in other words, we are the sentinels to watch, protect, defend, preserve, improve and perfect their freedom. So that the burthens of our government shall fall upon every man, in proportion to his means, and the amount of property he possesses; so that his rights of property and person shall be preserved. This is the great doctrine of civil liberty, and this should be the doctrine of Pennsylvania. It was this doctrine that caused our fathers to leave their mother country, to cross the ocean, in their fragile barques, to clear up and settle this then wilderness country; to endure all its hardships and privations. Yes, and more than all this, to fight the great battles of the Revolution, in defence of "equal rights, equal privileges, equal protection, and equal taxation." Which brought into being the union of these States, under one form of government, and a Constitution which binds them together in one indissoluble tie; which breathes forth in every word and line the doctrine of this resolution. How is it? Oh! Pennsylvania! How is it, my countrymen, that we have departed from those principles, which ought to rule and reign over us, and live forever? Oh, liberty! Oh! A sound once dear to every Pennsylvanian. Has it lost its magic-spell? Must the spell-bound appetite of the love of money, by our legislators, banish you forever from the American heart? I trust, never! Oh, never! Think of the trials and struggles of our ancestors, which have made this, once wilderness country, to bud and "blossom as the rose." Think of the sacrifices that they made in order that their posterity might enjoy civil and religious liberty.

Behold your country, extended from ocean to ocean, from the Gulf of Mexico to the great lakes, forming one complete belt around this continent, through the benign influence of their labor and patriotism. A country which is destined, if we are true to ourselves and their teachings, to spread itself from pole to pole, embracing all the isles of the ocean which surround this continent; and finally, by our example, our mission is to redeem the world from oppression and tyranny, so that man may take his place, as he was ordained by our Creator, free and upright, in the image of his maker. And, then, ask yourselves in view of the past and the glorious future that awaits us, as a people, whether you will suffer incorporated companies to despoil you of the noble heritage left you by your fathers, and rob you of all the glories of the past, and the future redemption of the world from tyranny.

Have the lessons of '76, so soon faded from our memories, that we are willing again to take upon ourselves the yoke of bondage, by placing incorporated power in the place of a king, exercised by legislative authority and sanctioned by the Supreme Court? so that these enactments are but the laws of the land, instead of the mandates of the King. What is the difference between laws made for the "protection of the few at the expense of the many," or, the authority of a King exercised for the same purpose?

We have not reached that period in our history, when we can see the full influence of corporate power, but we have seen sufficient to convince us that unless this power be restrained within proper limits, that there will soon be an end to our freedom.

Mr. Speaker, you and I may not live to see the fulfilment of this prediction; we may pass off the stage of action, before this young nestling of tyranny is fully fledged for its work of absolutism; but, he assured, he assured that if it is not checked by a law sentinel, of this character, it will eventually overthrow our free institutions and rob us of our liberty!

How many members, upon this floor, hold their seats through the influence of corporate power? How many are representing the interests of their constituents? Are there not some here representing the interests of British bondholders and neglecting the interests of their constituents? These are plain questions for the people to ponder upon; but nevertheless true.

With a union of corporate power, they can elect a majority of the legislators, the Governor and all other officers of the State. Then, who is to shield and protect the rights of the people? Is there not danger, then, that soulless corporations will usurp the rights of the people, and hold the balance of power in their own hands, and use it for their benefit? Do not these forebodings fill the breast of every lover of his country with fear and alarm for the future? Are past warnings not enough to teach us that power of such a dangerous magnitude, should be restrained?

We have given away the public works, which cost us untold millions to construct, at a period when we were about to realize some return for the labor and money expended. Had we held out to them and put them in proper hands, they would have supported our State government, for all coming time, without costing the people a single dime, and in the course of time would have paid off our State debt. It is our duty, now, to subject these works to taxation, the same as is your property, Mr. Speaker, and mine. Adopt this amendment, and I know we will realize more benefit from them, in the shape of taxation to uphold and sustain our government, than we ever did while we owned them. I know if the incorporated companies had to pay two and a half mills per dollar, for the real value of their property, the State would receive more from them than she does now. And then they would have to bear a proportionate burthen of supporting our township, ward, county and city governments. How is it now? While some of them pay heavy taxes, others are wholly relieved from any burthens. For instance, in my county, the Delaware and Hudson canal company, and the Pennsylvania coal company paid last year one-tenth of the whole corporation tax of the State. Is this fair or equal? If they had paid one-tieth part they would have paid their share.

I trust, therefore, this resolution will be adopted. If adopted, it will spread universal joy and rejoicing throughout the length and breadth of our good old Commonwealth; lost confidence will again be restored in the integrity of our Legislature, and all will work harmoniously together to perfect and improve our government, to the elevation of our race, and to the upholding and sustaining of our free institutions.

If not adopted, I trust the people will take this matter into their own hands and keeping, and adopt a resolution of this character as their platform, for our Governor, our Legislatures, and all other officers of the State Government to stand upon. Let this be the issue, and the test of their fidelity to these principles. And, sir, I will risk the future of our country if committed to the keeping of such men. They will restore the equilibrium of governmental burthens; they will make corporations a blessing, to improve and develop our country, by keeping them in the path of self-government. What is the difference between the Czar of Russia and the President of the United States? They are both men. The difference is in the power they are permitted to exercise; the one uses his power for the good of his people, he cannot do well otherwise, for his power is limited. The other has full power; his will is the law of the land, and he can exercise it at his pleasure, for the weal or woe of his subjects. I want corporations to be thus put under proper restraint, in order that their power shall be limited to do evil, and only exercised to do good, and that restraint to be in keeping with the principles of self-government, so that the machinery of our government will be so constructed and managed as that all its parts will work in happy union and harmony, each part performing its proper functions. The burthens of keeping the machinery in motion being equal, and the benefits alike. I trust the people of our good old Commonwealth will take this matter into their own hands and keeping, and if they will carry it out, the millennium of happiness, of the peaceful fruits of self-government, will show forth its workings in all its grandeur and glory, and the old Keystone will take her appropriate place as the star of the first magnitude in the constellation of States, and the proudest monument of self-government.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment proposed by Mr. STEPHENS, it was determined in the negative.

Mr. SHEPPARD moved to amend the bill by inserting after the word "same," in the second proviso, the words, "building associations."

Pending the consideration of which, the hour of one having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until this afternoon at three o'clock.

SENATE.—AFTERNOON SESSION.

Friday, March 8, 1859.

On motion of Mr. GREGG, the Senate proceeded to the consideration of House bill No. 755, "An Act to incorporate the Montour improvement company," which was on third reading.

Mr. BREWER, on leave given, reported from standing Committee on Militia, bill No. 235, "An Act to authorize the Allen Rifles to erect an armory;" and on his motion,

The Senate proceeded to the consideration of the same. Passed.

On motion of Mr. STEELE, House bill No. 1310, "A further supplement to the act to incorporate the Citizens' passenger railway, approved March 25, 1859."

Mr. PARKER moved that the consideration of the bill be indefinitely postponed.

Upon this question,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RANDALL and Mr. PARKER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Schell, Scofield, Schindel, Thompson, Welsh, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—26.

NAYS—Messrs. Randall and Steele—2.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. TURNEY, Senate bill No. 1149, "An Act authorizing the State Treasurer to pay Andrew McClelland, grandson of John McClelland, a balance of money due said John McClelland for services rendered in the Indian wars of 1782."

Read a third time and passed.

HOUSE AMENDMENTS

On motion, the Senate recede from its amendment to Senate bill No. 680, "An Act to incorporate the Pittsburgh, Allegheny and Manchester passenger railway company."

On motion, the Senate recede from amendments to House bill No. 382, "An Act to adjust the account of F. Knox Morton, late treasurer of the city and county of Philadelphia."

On motion, the Senate recede from its amendments to House bill No. 660, "An Act relative to the vacation of certain streets in the city of Philadelphia."

On motion of Mr. RANDALL, Senate bill No. 1171, "An Act to alter the number of trustees of the State savings fund of Philadelphia, formerly the Dime savings institution." Passed.

On motion of Mr. SCHINDEL, Senate bill No. 91, "An Act to incorporate the Eastern iron company."

This bill had been vetoed by the Governor; and the question being,

Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the veto of the Governor?

Agreeably to the thirty-third article of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Schell, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney and Yardley—21.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. TURNEY, Senate bill No. 1050, "An Act to authorize the Auditor General to correct certain accounts." Passed with amendment.

On motion of Mr. BALDWIN, the Committee on Roads and Bridges were discharged from the further consideration of House bill No. 1043, "An Act to incorporate the Pequa and Beaver Valley turnpike road company." The Senate proceeded to consider the same. Passed.

On motion of Mr. RUTHERFORD, Senate bill No. 704, "An Act to authorize the Church of United Brethren in Christ, of the borough of Middletown, to convey certain real estate." Passed.

On motion of Mr. HARRIS, the Senate resumed the consideration of House bill No. 504, "An Act providing for the fencing of a part of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad, and for the protection of property in the county of Beaver;" and, on his motion, the Senate went into committee of the whole for special amendment.

Upon this motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HARRIS and Mr. TURNEY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Scofield and Thompson—11.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Fetter, Keller, Marselis, Nunemacher, Randall, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—14.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Upon the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. TURNEY and Mr. HARRIS, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Miller, Myer, Penney, Rutherford, Scofield and Thompson—10.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Fetter, Finney,

Keller, Marselis, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—15.

So the question was determined in the negative.

On motion of Mr. BLOOD, House bill No. 471, "An Act to authorize Sabina R. Sloan to sell certain real estate."

Upon the passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BLOOD and Mr. MILLER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Coffey, Francis, Nunemacher, Parker, Schell, Steele, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—9.

NAYS—Messrs. Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Gazzam, Miller, Palmer, Penney, Scofield, Turney, Welsh and Yardley—11.

So the question was determined in the negative.

On motion of Mr. FETTER, House bill No. 214, "An Act authorizing the sale of property belonging to the Keystone Division Sons of Temperance."

On the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WELSH and Mr. FETTER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Brewer, Fetter, Francis, Keller, Parker, Randall, Rutherford, Schell, Steele, Turney and Cresswell, Speaker—11.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Finney, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Palmer, Penney, Scofield, Welsh, Wright and Yardley—15.

So the question was determined in the negative.

On motion of Mr. FRANCIS, the Committee on Corporations was discharged from the consideration of House bill No. 1193, "An Act to incorporate the American piano and melodeon company of Pennsylvania," and that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the same.

On the first section,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. TURNEY and Mr. WRIGHT, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Welsh, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—24.

NAYS—Messrs. Marselis, Nunemacher, Schell, Turney and Wright—5.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. BREWER moved that the Senate do now adjourn.

Upon this question,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RANDALL and Mr. BREWER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Brewer, Miller, Nunemacher, Randall, Schell, Scofield, Solindol, Welsh and Wright—10.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Coffey, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Marselis, Palmer, Parker, Rutherford, Steele, Thompson, Turney and Yardley—18.

So the question was determined in the negative.

On motion, the Senate adjourned until nine and a half o'clock to-morrow morning.

HOUSE—AFTERNOON SESSION.

FRIDAY, March 8, 1859.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTION.

Mr. GOEPP, on leave given, offered the following resolution; which was twice read, considered and adopted.

Resolved, If the Senate concur, that bill No. 509, House file, entitled "A further supplement to an act incorporating the Navigation railroad company," approved April 20, 1854, be amended by striking out the fourth section, and adding to the end of said bill the following new section as section six, "that on the payment of the enrolment tax, on the act, entitled 'A further supplement to the act incorporating the Navigation railroad company, approved April 20, 1854, which said act was approved the 18th April, 1857, said act shall be as good and valid as though the enrolment tax had been paid as required by law."

Mr. FLEMING, on leave given, read in his place and presented to the Chair, "An Act relating to the Susquehanna and Waterford turnpike road company, in Clarion, Clearfield and Jefferson counties;" which, on his motion, was taken up, considered, passed finally, and sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) offered a resolution that in addition to the chief clerks and assistants, each of the regular transcribing clerks shall be entitled to a copy of the Geological Survey of the State; which was read the second time.

Mr. THOMPSON moved to amend the resolution by including the Postmaster.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) moved that each of the clergymen of Harrisburg who officiated during the session by opening its proceedings with prayer, be furnished with a copy of said report.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAMERSLY and Mr. HARDING, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Bryson, Burley, Chaso, Church, Custer, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fleming, Graham, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehafeey, M'Clure, Oaks, Patterson, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Ramsdell, Shafer, Smith, (Berks,) Stuart, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Wardeo, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson and Lawrence—Speaker—35.

NAYS—Messrs. Barnsley, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Dismant, Evans, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Gratz, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Matthews, M'Dowell, Miller, Neall, Peirce, Price, Pughe, Rouse, Sheppard, Smead, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Styer, Thoru, Wigton, Wolf and Woodring—39.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. EVANS moved to amend the amendment by furnishing Ed. H. Flood, late a Transcribing Clerk of the House, with a copy of said report.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the same?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GOOD and Mr. BURLEY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Church, Custer, Evans, Fisher, Foster, Goepp, Good, Gray, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Laird, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Neall, Oaks, Pinkerton, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rouse, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Thompson, Thorn, Warden, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Woodring and Zoller—37.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bertolet, Bryson, Burley, Chase, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hottenstine, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) M'Dowell, Peirce, Price, Proudfoot, Rose, Shafer, Smead, Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Wolf and Lawrence, Speaker—40.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. EVANS moved that the further consideration of the question be postponed indefinitely.

Mr. M'CLURE rose to a call of the previous question; which was sustained.

And on the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

It was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the main question—Mr. THOMPSON'S amendment?

It was agreed to.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the resolution as amended?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. EVANS and Mr. STONEBACK, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Goepp, Good, Graham, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Keneagy, Ketchum, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehafeey, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Neall, Oaks, Palm, Peirce, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Walborn, Walker, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—57.

NAYS—Messrs. Bertolet, Custer, Dismant, Evans, Galley, Glatz, Gray, Gritman, Hill, Hottenstine, Kinney, Patterson, Ramsdell, Shields, Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Wagenseller, Warden, Williams, (Bedford,) Wolf and Woodring—23.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. M'DOWELL voted "No," because the amendment included only the clergymen of Harrisburg, when clergymen from other places had officiated, and were equally entitled to receive the courtesy.

The House resumed the consideration of Senate bill No. 662, "An Act to equalize taxation upon corporations."

Mr. SHEPPARD moved to amend the bill by inserting after the word "make," the words "building associations;" thereby exempting from taxation building associations which declare no dividends; which was agreed to. And the bill as amended passed finally.

PRIVATE BILLS.

The House resumed the second reading and consideration of bills on the Private Calendar.

Whereupon the following were read and laid aside for second reading:

Senate 529. "An Act to incorporate the Huntingdon Valley railroad company."

Senate 547. "A further supplement to the act to incorporate the Trenton City bridge company."

No. 1471. "An Act to authorize the State treasurer to pay Wm. F. Felix for losses sustained on the Philadelphia and Columbia railroad company."

"An Act declaratory of An Act to apportion the city of Philadelphia."

BILLS CONSIDERED AND PASSED.

The House, on motion of Mr. HAMERSLY, proceeded to the second reading and consideration of the following bills on the Private Calendar, which were passed finally:

Sen. 634. "An Act relative to certain school accounts of Porter township school district, in the county of Jefferson."

Sen. 539. "An Act for the relief of the Somerset borough school district, Somerset county."

No. 1292. "An Act authorizing the Auditor General to cancel any balance standing open against the Lebanon Bank in his office on dividends of said bank."

No. 1296. "An Act to incorporate the trustees of the township of Jenkins, Luzerne county."

No. 1297. "An Act to incorporate the trustees of the borough of Pittston, Luzerne county."

"An Act relative to livery stable keepers in Allegheny county."

No. 1305. "A further supplement to the act incorporating the Duocannon, Broad Top and Landisburg railroad company," was read the second time.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the bill?

Mr. PATTERSON moved to amend by adding to the end of the bill the following:

Provided, That if said company shall change its route they shall first refund all moneys paid by stockholders dissatisfied with the change in such route.

Mr. WIGTON moved to amend the amendment by inserting the words "between Waterloo and Bedford" at the end of the seventh line.—Not agreed to.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment of Mr. PATTERSON?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PATTERSON and Mr. WIGTON, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Burley, Church, Custer, Fearon, Glatz, Gritman, Hottenstine, Jackson, M'Dowell, Miller, Oaks, Patterson, Proudfoot, Shafer, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Styer, Wagenseller, Walborn, Wilman, Wigton, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—31.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Bryson, Campbell, Chase, Dismant, Durboraw, Ellmaker, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Goepp, Good, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Hill, Irish, Keneagy, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) M'Clure, M'Curdy, Neall, Nill, Palm, Peirce, Pinkerton, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Sheppard, Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thorn, Walker, Warden, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Wolf and Woodring—43.

LEGISLATIVE RECORD.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE LEGISLATURE OF PENNSYLVANIA.

FOR THE SESSION OF 1859.

76.

So the question was determined in the negative.

And on the question.

Will the House agree to the bill?

A motion was made by Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) that the House do now adjourn; which was agreed to.

Whereupon the SPEAKER adjourned the House until this evening at seven o'clock.

HOUSE—EVENING SESSION.

FRIDAY, April 8, 1859.

The House was called to order at 7½ o'clock, and resumed the consideration, on second reading, of House bill No. 1305.

FURTHER SUPPLEMENT to the act incorporating the Duncannon, Landishurg and Broad Top railroad company.

SECTION. 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the president and directors of the Pennsylvania and Pacific railroad company are hereby authorized to locate the main line of their road on the route which they may deem most advantageous, and for the best interests of said company.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the bill?

Mr. M'CLURE moved to amend, by adding to the end thereof:

Provided, That the supplement shall not be construed to confer on the said directors the power to change the present terminus of the road in Perry and Bedford counties.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Messrs. M'CLURE and PATTERSON entered into a discussion.

Mr. WALBORN explained what he considered to be the whole object of the road, which was to form a connection between the Baltimore and Ohio railroad on the south, and the Susquehanna railroad on the north, thereby taking the productions and cattle of Virginia into N. York directly through this State.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. M'CLURE rose to a call of the previous question; which was sustained.

And on the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

It was determined in the affirmative.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment of Mr. M'CLURE?

It was determined in the negative?

The question again recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PATTERSON and Mr. STYER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Campbell, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Evans, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Good, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Hottenstine, Irish, Keneagy, Laird, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Rose, Sheppard, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thorn, Walker, Warden, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Wolf and Woodring—45

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Burley, Church, Eckman, Fearon, Glatz, Green Harding, Hill, Jackson, Ketchum, Mehaffey, M'Dowell, Miller, Patterson, Peirce, Shafer, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Styer, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walborn, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow and Lawrence, Speaker—30.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The bill was ordered to be transcribed for a third reading.

And on the question,

Will the House suspend the rule and read the bill the third time by its title?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PATTERSON and Mr. WAGENSELLER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Campbell, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Evans, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Goepp, Good, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Laird, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Peirce, Proudfoot, Ramsdell, Rose, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thorn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Wolf and Woodring—48.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Bryson, Burley, Chase, Church, Eckman, Fearon, Glatz, Harding, Hill, Ketchum, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, M'Dowell, Miller, Patterson, Shafer, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Styer, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walborn, Wigton, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—32.

So the question was determined in the negative, two-thirds not voting in the affirmative.

No. 1329. "A supplement to an act to enable the Governor to incorporate a company to make an artificial road, beginning at the intersection of Vine and Tenth streets, Philadelphia; and thence to Perkiomeu bridge, in the county of Montgomery," was read the second time.

Mr. NEALL moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed indefinitely.

And on the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HILL and Mr. WALBORN, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Barusley, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eckman, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Gray, Gritman, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Ketchum, Laird, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Dowell, Neall, Oaks, Patterson, Shafer, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Thorn, Walborn, Warden, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bucks,) Williston and Woodring—43.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Campbell, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Graham, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Keneagy, Lawrence, (Washington,) M'Clure, M'Curdy, Miller, Nill, Palm, Peirce, Pughe, Rouse, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Walker, Wigton, Williams, (Bedford,) Wilson, Wolf, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—36.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

No. 1334. "An Act to annul the marriage contract between J. B. Emery and Almira R. his wife," was considered.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) desired an explanation.

Mr. GOEPP explained, that in this case the husband had been notified of the intended application, and had offered no opposition. The parties were married in April, 1858, and lived together for a short time. The husband then went to California, and wrote home that he cared nothing about his wife. There could be no recourse to the courts, because the time of desertion had not yet been sufficiently extended.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) thought that the matter plainly came under the jurisdiction of the courts, as no one knew better than the gentleman from Northampton. He desired further information, and called for the reading of the proofs of the assertions of the gentleman from Northampton, (Mr. GOEPP.)

Mr. GOEPP then forwarded to the Clerk the following papers, which were read by him, to wit:

In the matter of the petition of Almira R.

Emry, for the passage of "An Act divorcing her from the bonds of matrimony contracted by her with J. B. Emry."

Edward Lawall, of the borough of Easton, in the county of Northampton, and Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, aged thirty-five years, being duly sworn, says: That he knows Almira R. Emry, the petitioner; that her maiden name was Almira R. Keiser, and that she was adopted by him when nearly twelve years of age; and after that, was generally known by the name of Almira R. Lawall: that on the 10th day of April, A. D., 1858, whilst living with this deponent, at Easton, where he then kept and still keeps a hotel, she was married to J. B. Emry, of the said borough, a saddler; after her marriage they both continued to board at the house of this deponent; shortly after her marriage, on the 12th of April, J. B. Emry purchased a stock of millinery goods, and set her up in the business, associating his sister with her; on the first of September, she, at his request, sold out her interest in the stock to his sister, but received no money therefor; on the 2d of September he left Easton, saying that he had some business in Bucks county, and would return in eight or ten days; at the time he left, he owed this deponent seventeen dollars and a half for board, and left no money with her, nor has he sent her any since; he did not return at the time appointed, nor has he been here, at Easton, since; that this deponent afterwards learned from E. E. Hemingway, that he had received a letter from J. B. Emry, from San Francisco, California, stating that he had obtained employment there, and asking Hemingway to send him his tools; and that said Hemingway had accordingly sent them; that the said J. B. Emry took with him all his money, amounting to $1500 or $1600, and has no property, whatever, at Easton; that the parents of the said J. B. Emry, who reside in Bucks county, refuse to do anything for the support of the said Almira, and that she is still living with this deponent, who is able and willing to assist her, and put her in the way of supporting herself: Provided, she be divorced from the said J. B. Emry, who, as this deponent verily believes, has deserted and abandoned her, willfully and without any just cause.

EDWARD LAWALL.

Sworn to and subscribed, December 30th, 1858, before me, B. F. ARNDT, J. P.

In the matter of the petition of Almira R. Emry, for the passage of "An Act of Assembly divorcing her from the bonds of matrimony contracted with J. B. Emry.

Edward Lawall, being duly sworn says: that on the 30th day of December, A. D., 1858, he deposited in the postoffice, at Easton, a letter, whereof the following is a true copy, viz:

EASTON, December 30, 1858.

Mr. J. B. EMRY—Sir: Take notice that an application will be made to the Legislature of Pennsylvania for the passage of an act divorcing me from the bonds of matrimony contracted with you, at their next session, commencing on the 4th of January, 1859.

ALMIRA R. EMRY.

Addressed—"Mr. J. B. Emry, San Francisco, California."

EASTON, March 26, 1859.

DEAR SIR: I received your letter to-day, stating about J. B. Emry. He has not written to me; neither to his wife since he left; but he has wrote to Miss Hemingway about five weeks ago, and in that letter he has stated that I had sent him notice that I was trying for a divorce, but he did not care anything about it. This is all that he has said about it.

Your friend, EDWARD LAWALL.

Mr. GOEPP denied that the case was one which could be properly taken to court.

Mr. WALBORN thought that the parties should not come into court, until the power of the court had been exhausted.

On the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WALBORN and Mr. ROSE, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Custer, Dismant, Goepp, Good, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Hill, Keueagy, Kinney, Oaks, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rohrer, Shafer, Smead, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Thorn, Witman, Wilcox and Woodring—24.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Chase, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Graham, Harding, Hottenstine, Irish, Ketchum, Lawrence, (Washington,) M'Curdy, Miller, Neall, Nill, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Sheppard, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Walhorn, Warden, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson and Wolf—47.

So the question was determined in the negative.

No. 1335. "An Act to annul the marriage contract between Catharine and Reuben Frankendorf," was read the second time and lost.

No. 1336. "An Act to annul the marriage contract between Mahlon and Mary Griffith, of Chester county," was read the second time and lost.

No. 1337. "An Act to annul the marriage contract between Oliver and Lydia Merritt," was read the second time and lost.

No. 1339. "An Act to annul the marriage contract between James Edward and Catharine Roosevelt," was read the second time and lost.

No. 1340. "An Act to annul the marriage contract between Thomas and Lydia Hemmich," was read the second time.

Mr. BERTOLET moved to amend, by adding preamble; which was agreed to:

WHEREAS, Lydia Hemmich, wife of Thomas Hemmich, has, since her marriage, become hopelessly insane, and subject to fits of violent passion, which render it necessary to keep her confined and restrained of her liberty; and she is now so confined in the asylum for the insane in the county of Berks; and it is the opinion of her medical attendants that she can never regain the use of her reason; therefore, &c.

Mr. BERTOLET called for the reading of the papers in the case. They were read by the Clerk, as follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The petition of Thomas F. Hemmich, of the city of Reading, county of Berks, and State of Pennsylvania, respectfully represents:

That your petitioner, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-one, was united in the bonds of wedlock with Lydia Holloway; that he has always treated his said wife kindly, but that his said wife, four years ago, or thereabouts, lost her mind and become subject to fits of insanity; that when not actually raving, she has been melancholy and incapable of attending to her household duties; that she has been in the habit of tearing off all her clothing and appearing naked in the presence of both men and women; that she, at the present time, will not keep any clothes upon her; that she has run your petitioner into debt by her extravagance, he having no control over her; that she has neglected, and still does neglect, the said child of of your petitioner; and the said Lydia Hemmich becomes intoxicated whenever she can obtain spirituous liquor, and that generally, she is a hurthen to your petitioner, a cause of annoyance, shame and expense; and that in all respects she fails to perform her duties as a wife and mother.

Being unable to procure a divorce from the courts of law on the grounds above stated, your petitioner respectfully prays your Honorable Bodies to pass a law divorcing him from the bonds of matrimony entered into with the said Lydia Hemmich.

And he will pray, &c.

THOMAS F. HEMMICH.

Reading, March 14, 1859.

City of Reading, Berks County, ss:

Before me, the subscriber, an alderman of the said city, personally appeared Thomas F. Hemmich, who, being duly affirmed, deposes and says, that the facts set forth in the above petition are true, to the best of his knowledge and belief.

THOMAS F. HEMMICH.

Affirmed and subscribed, the 14th day of March, 1859, before me,

GEORGE IMITZ, Alderman.

Mr. THORN moved that the bill be indefinitely postponed. It was terrible for a man, after having married a wife, to wish a divorce from her because she became sick and insane.

Mr. BERTOLET said that the woman had brought the trouble on herself. About three years ago she had been detected in adultery, and had taken to drink.

Mr. M'CLURE opposed the divorce.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) said that the husband alleged that he had detected the wife in adultery, and applied to the courts. His application for a divorce fell through, however, for want of proof. The power of the courts had thus been exhausted, and this was a fit case for the Legislature. The wife, since the discovery, had deserted her partner and become hopelessly insane.

The motion to postpone indefinitely was agreed to.

The House resumed the consideration of bills on the Private Calendar; whereupon the following bills were taken up, considered and passed finally:

No. 1306. "An Act in relation to the election of trustees, et cetera, of the Proprietors school fund in the township of Plains, in Luzerne county."

No. 1307. "An Act relative to the election of assessors in the Twenty-first ward of the city of Philadelphia."

"An Act to incorporate the Mount Vernon Hook and Ladder company independent No. 1 of Harrisburg."

"An Act to authorize the State Treasurer to refund certain moneys to Samuel Baird paid by him."

Mr. FOSTER moved to amend by adding the following proviso:

Provided, That before the act shall take effect the said Samuel Baird shall pay to Charles Shaler and Stephen H. Geyer, attorneys for the Commonwealth and plaintiffs in said case, the sum of one hundred dollars each, their fees as counsel therein; which was not agreed to.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. NILL and Mr. GRAY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Custer, Dismant, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fleming, Galley, Good, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Irish, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mahaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Neall, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Pughe, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walhorn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wiley, Williston, Wilson, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—56.

NAYS—Messrs. Barnsley, Barlow, Chase, Church, Durboraw, Eckman, Foster, Graham, Gratz, Nill, Ramsdell, Taylor, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) and Wolf—15.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass?

It was agreed to.

"An Act to regulate the building of powder magazines, &c., within the county of Dauphin," was again read and passed finally.

No. 1457. "An Act for the relief of Benjamin E. Appold," was again read and passed.

No. 1460. "Supplement to an act incorporating the Quarryville and Unicorn turnpike road company," was read and passed.

No. 1461. "Supplement to the act to incorporate the Richmond and Schuylkill passenger railroad company," was read and passed.

No. 1463. "An Act to incorporate the Plymouth and Wilkesbarre railroad and bridge company."

No. 1467. "An Act to prevent frauds at elections in the city of Philadelphia," was read and passed finally.

No. 1416. "An Act for the relief of Andrew Heintzleman and others, of Adams county," was read and passed finally.

No. 1393. "Supplement to an act to incorporate the Upper Presbyterian congregation of Marsh creek, York county," was read and passed finally.

1469. "Supplement to an act to incorporate the city of Philadelphia," was read and passed finally.

No. 1470. "An Act to pay the claim of Peter Bolig," was read and passed finally.

No. 1471. "An Act to authorize the State Treasurer to pay Wm. F. Feels, for loss sustained on the Philadelphia and Columbia railroad," was read and passed finally.

Senate bill No. 481. "An Act to amend an act, entitled 'An Act to apportion the city of Philadelphia into single senatorial and representative districts, agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution,' approved April twenty-second, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight."

WHEREAS, By the third section of the act, entitled "An Act to apportion the city of Philadelphia into single senatorial and representative districts, agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution," approved April twenty-second, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, the third election division of the Sixth ward is made to compose a part both of the Sixth and Seventh representative districts; therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this act the said third election division of the Sixth ward shall be deemed and taken as composing a part of the Sixth representative district, as provided in said third section of the act, approved April twenty-second, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight; and said act shall be so taken and construed as if said third election division had not been made, to compose a part of said Seventh representative district, was again read.

Mr. CHURCH moved to amend in the fifth line, by inserting "seventh," instead of "sixth," and "sixth," instead of "seventh," in the ninth line.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed until tomorrow.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) moved that the House do now adjourn.

And on the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. EVANS and Mr. IRISH, and were as follow, viz:

NAYS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Campbell, Chase, Church, Custer, Eckman, Fishor, Fleming, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Graham, Gray, Hamersly, Hill, Jackson, Kinney, Laird, Mahaffey, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Proudfoot, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Woodring and Zoller—40.

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bryson, Burley, Dismant, Durboraw, Evans, Fearon, Foster, Galley, Gratz, Green, Hottentstine, Irish, Keneagy, Ketchum, Lawrence, (Washington,) Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Neall, Peirce, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Stuart, Styer, Thorn, Walhorn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Wilson and Wolf—42.

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment proposed by Mr. CHURCH?

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned House bill, "An Act to incorporate the Pottsville and Minersville railroad company," with amendments; in which the House concurred.

The SPEAKER adjourned the House until to-morrow morning at nine o'clock.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The bill then passed finally.

On motion of Mr. FETTER, House bill No. 923, "An Act requiring the supervisors of the different townships in Cumberland county to keep the wing walls and embankments of said county bridges in repair." Passed.

On motion of Mr. BELL, House bill No. 819, "An Act to authorize the Auditor General to examine the claim of S. C. Williamson, for loss sustained on the Philadelphia and Columbia railroad."

Mr. GREGG wished to have some explanation of the claim.

Mr. BELL explained, by producing a deposition, which stated that Mr. Williamson, the present claimant, being the owner of a number of cars on this railroad which were under the agency of the State, and in that capacity his agents were proceeding towards Philadelphia with a load of cars. They were going slowly, it being at night, when somewhere below Paoli, a train, coming in the rear, run into them and destroyed three or four cars.

Some further discussion ensued between Messrs. MILLER, MYER and BELL, when the bill passed finally.

On motion of Mr. GREGG, House bill No. 511, "A further supplement to the act to encourage the manufacture of iron with coke or mineral coal, and for other purposes, passed June 16th, 1856." Lies over.

The following message from the Governor was received and read:

The hour of twelve having arrived, the SENATE adjourned the Senate until Monday morning at 9½ o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

SATURDAY, April 9, 1859.

The House was called to order at 9 o'clock A. M.

Prayer by Rev. Green Miles.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks) moved to dispense with reading of the Journal.

Agreed to.

BILLS CONSIDERED.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks) called up Senate bill, No. 624, "A supplement to an act incorporating the Quakertown and Spinnertown turnpike road company." Passed finally.

Mr. WIGTON, on leave given, called up House bill, No. 492, "An Act to run and define part of a boundary line between Mifflin and Huntingdon counties," which was considered and passed finally.

Mr. WITMAN, moved that the vote had on final passage of the bill, entitled "A supplement to the act to incorporate the Allentown railroad company," be reconsidered; which was agreed to.

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. WALBORN moved that the further consideration of the bill be indefinitely postponed.

Mr. WALBORN said that the bill contemplated the enlargement of privileges to a company, the principal part of whose stock was owned by parties in another State. It allowed lateral branches to be constructed, wherever the officers might deem such to be expedient, and to tap such roads as was thought proper.

Mr. GOOD said that the branches were only to be ten miles long.

Mr. WALBORN granted this, but said that a ten mile extension would not be necessary to enable the road to connect with many coal roads, and to take the coal, which now found an outlet at Philadelphia, to the city of New York, thereby injuring the North Pennsylvania and Reading roads, and drawing trade from the metropolis of the Commonwealth. Moreover, it was proposed to give this power to a company which did not pay one cent of tribute to the State treasury, when another corporation, (the Pennsylvania Central) was taxed to the uttermost, although its owners were Pennsylvanians. This was manifestly unjust.

Mr. PALM said that the bill was perfectly harmless, had been before discussed, and he hoped that it would pass.

Mr. HAMERSLY said that the bill gave a roving commission to the company to build roads where they please.

Mr. PALM said that the only extension contemplated was one to Schuylkill Haven.

Mr. HAMERSLY read from the bill to prove that it gave to the company every possible privilege which they could desire. He was certain that, if the House understood its provisions, they never would pass it.

Mr. GOOD declared that it only allowed the company to build a road ten miles in length to connect with certain coal beds.

Mr. GOEPP stated that the object was to extend the road to certain iron and coal beds, and to benefit the stockholders and the Lehigh region.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion to postpone indefinitely?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GOOD and Mr. PALM, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Bryson, Burley, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Glatz, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Jackson, Lawrence, (Washington,) Matthews, Miller, Neall, Oaks, Patterson, Peirce, Ramsdell, Rose, Shafer, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stoneback, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Wolf, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—61.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Campbell, Foster, Galley, Goepf, Good, Gritman, Hottenstine, Laird, M'Curdy, Nill, Palm, Rouse, Shields, Smead, Stuart, Warden, Williams (Bedford,) and Woodring—19.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. M'CURDY, on leave given, read in his place, "An Act to authorize the burgess and town council of Mechanicsburg, Cumberland county, to borrow money;" which, on his motion, was taken up and passed finally.

Mr. THORN moved, that for the purpose of proceeding to the consideration of a motion to re-consider House bill No. 672, "An Act relating to insurance companies in Philadelphia and Allegheny county," the rules be suspended.

And on the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PATTERSON and Mr. GRATZ, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Chase, Church, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Foster, Gratz, Green, Irish, Matthews, M'Clure, Miller, Neall, Peirce, Pughe, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Sheppard, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Taylor, Thorn, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Wiley, Williston and Zoller—32.

NAYS—Messrs. Barnsley, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Fearon, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Goepf, Graham, Gray, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, Oaks, Patterson, Price, Ramsdell, Shafer, Shields, Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Thompson, Wagenseller, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow, Wolf, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—51.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. SMITH, (Philadelphia,) on leave given, called up House bill No. 538, entitled "Supplement to the act for the better preservation of game," which, on his motion, was taken up, (Mr. OAKS in the chair,) and passed finally.

Mr. LAIRD, on leave given, read in his place, "An Act authorizing the corporation of St. Paul's Church, of the city of Erie, to sell certain real estate;" which, on his motion, was taken up, and passed finally.

Mr. HARDING, on leave given, read in his place, "An Act relative to the Scott Legion of Philadelphia," and moved that the rules be suspended and that the House proceed to the consideration of the same.

Mr. ROSE called for a division of the question.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the suspension of the rules?

It was determined in the negative.

The House resumed the consideration of Senate bill No. 481, "An Act declaratory of an act apportioning the city of Philadelphia."

The question being on the amendment of Mr. CHURCH, so as to make the first section read as follows:

That from and after the passage of this act, the Third election division of the Sixth ward, shall be deemed and taken as composing part of the Seventh Representative district, as provided in said third section of the act approved April 22, 1868, and said act shall be so taken and construed as if said Third election division had not been made to compose a part of said Sixth Representative district.

The question being on the amendment of Mr. CHURCH,

Mr. NILL moved to postpone the subject indefinitely; which was agreed to.

"An Act to incorporate the Susquehanna mutual insurance company of Harrisburg," was read, and passed finally.

No. 1042. "An Act to lay out a State road in Bucks and Lehigh counties," was read, and passed finally.

No. 1098. "An Act to annul the marriage contract between Horace B. Fry and Emilie R. his wife," was read.

And on the question,

Shall the bill be prepared for second reading?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. CHASE and Mr. ROSE, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Gray, Ketchum, Neall, Pughe, Smead and Stephens—8.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Chase, Church, Custer, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Goepf, Good, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Kinney, Lawrence, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Miller, Nill, Palm, Patterson, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Ramsdell, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Wolf, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—73.

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the bill fell.

Mr. NEALL voted against, because he wanted the bill to come to second reading, that the evidence upon which the report of the committee was based might be read. And also that the House might endeavor to bring about an investigation of the charges made against persons who have taken an active part in this matter on both sides; as for his part, he felt no interest one way or the other. The property in his district would not depreciate in value, let it be decided as it might.

Messrs. PALM and M'CLURE moved that the vote by which the House concurred in Senate amendments to House bill to incorporate the Pattonville and Minersville railroad company be re-considered.

On the motion to re-consider.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PATTERSON and Mr. WILLIAMS, of Bucks, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Evans, Galley, Gratz, Harding, Hottenstine, Irish, McClure, M'Curdy, Nill, Palm, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stuart, Taylor, Warden and Williams, (Bedford,)—18.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Custer, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Glatz, Graham, Green, Hill, Hamersly, Keneagy, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Matthews, Miller, Oaks, Patterson, Peirce, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Shafer, Sheppard, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stoneback, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Withrow, Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—53.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. PALM said—

My reasons for voting "yea," on this question to re-consider the vote had last night, to concur in the Senate amendments to the bill in question, are as follow, viz: This bill originated in the Senate only a short time ago. A similar bill, under a different title, was negative in the Railroad Committee some time ago. This bill, as it came from the Senate, was objectionable in many of its features, and was obnoxious to many of my constituents. I could, in fact, find very few individuals that were favorable to the provisions of the bill, in its original form. Now, sir, I am in favor of a railroad from Pottsville to Minersville, but I want that road to terminate at Minersville, so that the citizens of that place can reap the benefits of the road as well as Pottsville, and I am opposed to the road terminating at any point inconvenient to the citizens of Minersville. The bill in question was modified and rendered unobjectionable in this House by the consent of the Senator from Schuylkill, my colleagues and parties interested at home. The Senator from Schuylkill argued, as I understand, that the bill as amended in the House should pass the Senate. When the bill came up in the Senate, that body concurred in the House amendments; but made other amendments changing entirely the features of the bill. I do not believe that the bill, in its present form, will be acceptable to the citizens of Minersville, and others of my constituents. I have good reasons for believing that the road contemplated is intended to terminate some five or six miles from Minersville.

Senate bill No. 445. "An Act to incorporate the Mount Alto iron company," was returned with the objections of the Governor.

And on the question,

Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

Mr. M'CLURE favored the bill, and hoped that it would pass over the veto.

In accordance with the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were required, as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bertolet, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fisher, Goepp, Good, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Miller, Neall, Nill, Palm, Patterson, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—69.

NAYS—Messrs. Custer, Dismant, Evans, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Gray, Hill, Hottenstine, Stephens, Stonehack, Stuart and Warden—13.

So the question was determined in the affirmative, and the bill becomes a law.

Senate bill No. 91. "An Act to incorporate the Easton iron company," was returned with the objections of the Governor.

And on the question,

Shall the same become a law, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

The yeas and nays were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fisher, Fleming, Goepp, Good, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Matthews, M'Clure, M'Curdy, Miller, Neall, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rose, Rouse, Shafer, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Styer, Taylor, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—70.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Custer, Dismant,

Evans, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Hill, Hottenstine, Peirce, Stephens, Stonehack, Stuart and Warden—14.

So the question was determined in the affirmative, and the bill becomes a law.

Mr. STYER moved that the House resume the consideration of the motion to postpone for the present the motion to reconsider the vote by which the House refused to lay aside for second reading House bill No. 801, "An Act relative to the New York Middle Coalfield railroad and coal company."

Mr. PEIRCE moved to amend the motion by postponing indefinitely the motion to reconsider the vote by which the House refused to lay said bill aside for second reading.

Discussed by Messrs. GRATZ, NILL, PEIRCE, WALBORN, SHAFER, CHURCH, PINKERTON, ACKER and others.

And on the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PEIRCE and Mr. SHAFER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Burley, Custer, Durboraw, Eckman, Graham, Hamersly, Hill, Kinney, M'Curdy, Nill, Patterson, Peirce, Ramsdell, Rouse, Shafer, Stuart, Taylor, Wagenseller, Walborn, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Wilson and Withrow—26.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Bryson, Campbell, Church, Dismant, Dodds, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Gratz, Gray, Green, Gritman, Harding, Irish, Jackson, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehafeey, Miller, Neall, Oaks, Palm, Pinkerton, Price, Rohrer, Rose, Sheppard, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Stonehack, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Walker, Warden, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Wolf, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—54.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion to reconsider?

It was determined in the affirmative.

Said bill was read the second time.

And on the question,

Will the House suspend the rule and read the bill the third time by its title?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PEIRCE and Mr. SHAFER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Campbell, Chase, Church, Custer, Dodds, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Gratz, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Matthews, Miller, Neall, Oaks, Palm, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Rohrer, Sheppard, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stephens, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Walker, Warden, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Wolf, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—56.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Burley, Dismant, Eckman, Fearon, Graham, Hill, Hottenstine, M'Curdy, Nill, Patterson, Peirce, Ramsdell, Rouse, Shafer, Stuart, Taylor, Wagenseller, Walborn, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow and Zoller—26.

So the question was determined in the affirmative, two thirds having so voted.

Mr. SHAFER moved that the House go into committee of the whole, for the purpose of special amendment; which was not agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SHAFER and Mr. ACKER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Campbell, Chase, Church,

Dodds, Durboraw, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Fleming, Foster, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Gratz, Gray, Green, Gritman, Harding, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehafeey, Miller, Neall, Oaks, Pinkerton, Price, Sheppard, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Smith, (Philadelphia,) Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Warden, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Wolf, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—48.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Custer, Dismant, Eckman, Fearon, Graham, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Kinney, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Nill, Patterson, Peirce, Proudfoot, Ramsdell, Rouse, Shafer, Stephens, Stuart, Taylor, Wagenseller, Walhorn, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow and Zoller—32.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. WOLF, on leave given, read in his place and presented to the Chair, "An Act to change the place of holding elections in West Manheim township, York county," which on his motion was taken up, considered and passed finally.

Mr. GREEN called up House bill No. 1173, which was considered and passed finally, (Mr. CHURCH in the Chair,) as follows:

SUPPLEMENT to an act to provide for the due training of teachers for the common schools of the State, passed on the twentieth of May, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That as soon as a normal school, such as is contemplated and described by the act to which this is a supplement, shall be in full operation in any of the districts created by said act, and shall have all the requisites, and have been visited, approved and recognized in the mode directed by said act, then said act shall go into operation, as fully and effectually, in regard to said school, as if the four schools, thereby required had been established and recognized: Provided however, That no more than one school in each district shall be recognized under this act.

SEC. 2 That the requisites to entitle any school to the benefits of this act or the one to which this is a supplement, as set forth in the sixth section thereof, are hereby altered in the following particulars, viz: The pupils of the model school, may or may not be from the immediate vicinity of the normal school with which it is connected, as in the discretion of the trustees thereof shall seem most expedient; that the cost of the tuition of all classes of students, whether admitted on common school district account, private account, or whether they are actual school teachers, shall be fixed by the trustees of the several schools; that the examination of students for graduation, if only one school shall be recognized, operation shall be by the faculty thereof; if two schools shall be in operation, it shall be by the principals of both; if three, it shall be by the principals of all, or at least two of them, and when more than three shall be in operation, the examination shall never be conducted by less than three principals, to be designated as prescribed by the twelfth paragraph of the sixth section of said act, of whom the principal of the school, whose students are to be examined, shall be one: And provided, That these examinations shall, in all cases, be conducted in the presence of the superintendent of common schools and the county superintendents of the proper district, if they desire to attend, upon receiving due notice that the certificate to graduates shall embrace such branches of learning, in addition to those of orthography, reading, writing, English grammar, geography and arithmetic, as shall be prescribed by the board of principals, in accordance with the seventh paragraph of the sixth section of said act, or by the principal of the first school recognized, so long as only one shall be in operation; and the certificate shall be signed by all the examiners, if less, and by at least two thirds of them, if more than three, and also by the whole faculty of the proper school in every case.

Mr. WARDEN called up House bill N. 1076; which was considered and passed committee of the whole, (Mr. WILSON in the chair,) as follows:

A SUPPLEMENT to an act for the better regulation of the militia of this Commonwealth, approved the twenty-first day of April, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That hereafter the pay of uniformed militia men, as provided for in the twenty-fourth clause of the ninth section of the act to which this is a supplement, shall be, for each officer, non-commissioned officer, musician and private, of any uniformed company or troop, one dollar for every day actually on duty, and for each horse used by them, fifty cents per day; but no officer or member shall receive pay for parading oftener than five times in any one year.

SEC. 2. That hereafter the fines imposed by the third clause of the thirteenth section of the act aforesaid, shall be one dollar for every non-commissioned officer, musician and private; and it shall be the duty of the court of inquiry or appeal, after having ascertained the amount of the fines aforesaid, to place the same in the hands of the constables residing near or convenient to the rendezvous or regular parading ground of each of the respective companies constituting the brigade, whose duty it shall be to collect the same, deducting therefrom ten per cent. as commission for collecting, and paying over the remainder to the proper treasurer of the county, to be placed to the credit of the military fund; but in all cases where persons against whom such fines have been charged shall refuse to pay the same on demand, after due notice has been given according to the requirements of the law to which this a supplement, then it shall be the duty of the constables aforesaid to collect such fines in the same manner as they are authorized to collect any debt upon civil process, together with lawful costs; but in no case shall absence or neglect to appear for the performance of military duty work a forfeiture of pay, except when, upon a fair and impartial trial before the court of inquiry or appeal, the party so charged shall have been found guilty of willfully and without lawful excuse absenting himself from the regularly called parades of his company, regiment, brigade or division; but any refusal to appear, after due notice has been given, to answer such charge, either in person, or by affidavit duly sworn to and attested before a proper justice of the peace, shall be taken as evidence of willful neglect, and work a forfeiture of pay accordingly.

SEC. 3. That in all cases where calls shall be made for encampments, either by the Governor or the commanding officer of any division or brigade, or regiment, no company shall go into camp before Tuesday morning, or remain longer than Saturday morning of the same week.

SEC. 4. That hereafter it shall be lawful for the Adjutant General to furnish each of the regularly organized companies of this Commonwealth with the requisite number of tents and equipments for camping purposes, under the same provisions and requirements of law as apply to arms and other equipments.

SEC. 5. That it shall be the duty of the several treasurers of this Commonwealth, to prepare annually a statement of the receipts and expenditures of the military fund of their respective counties, setting forth the amount received from each collector separately, and the amount paid each person to whom money may be due; which statement, after being examined and passed by the county auditors, shall be published in the same manner that the other accounts of the said county treasurer are by law directed to be published; the expenses whereof to be paid out of the military fund of said county, and a statement of the same forwarded by the county treasurers to the State Treasurer of this Commonwealth, on or before the first day of February in each and every year.

SEC. 6. That the State Treasurer is hereby authorized and required to pay out of the aggregate military fund, now accumulated or that may hereafter accumulate, to the several county treasurers, any deficiencies of the county military expenses wherein statements have been duly transmitted agreeably to the fifth section of this supplement.

SEC. 7. That so much of the provisions of the act to which this a supplement as are inconsistent with the provisions of this act, be and the same are hereby repealed.

Mr. WARDEN moved to strike out sections three, four, five and six, and substitute as follows; which was agreed to:

SEC. 3. That it is hereby declared to be the true intent and meaning of the fifth section of the act aforesaid, that the election of Major Generals shall take place on first Monday in July, one thousand eight hundred and fifty nine, and on the first Monday in July in every five years thereafter.

And the bill, as amended, passed finally.

Mr. WILLISTON, on leave given, read in his place "An Act relative to the road laws in Potter county;" and upon motion, the same was considered and passed finally.

Mr. HOTTENSTINE, on leave given, presented to the Chair, "An Act to authorize the Attorney General and Auditor General, to re-examine the accounts between Isaac Briedlespach and Martin Bielmyer and the Commonwealth;" and on his motion, said bill was considered and passed finally.

Mr. KETCHUM called up Senate bill No. 684, "An Act to incorporate the Wilkesbarre and Pittston railroad company;" which was considered, and passed finally.

Mr. GOEPP called up House bill No. 384, "An Act relating to void marriages;" which was considered, and passed finally, as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That in all cases where a supposed or alleged marriage shall have been contracted, which is absolutely void by reason of one of the parties thereto having a husband or wife living at the time, the courts of common pleas shall have power to decree the said supposed or alleged marriage to be null and void, upon the application of an innocent or injured party, and the jurisdiction shall be exercised and proceedings conducted according to the principles and forms which are or shall be prescribed by law for cases of divorce from the bond of matrimony.

Mr. GRAHAM called up House bill No. 1020, "An Act to provide for the payment of the uniformed militia of this Commonwealth;" which was considered and passed finally, as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That hereafter it shall be the duty of the several treasurers of the respective cities and counties of this Commonwealth, immediately after the board of officers shall have audited the just claims on the military fund of their respective brigades for contingent expenses of the brigade, and for the per diem pay of all the officers, musicians and privates for services and duty performed in or for said brigade, and shall have made their order on the proper city or county treasurer, requiring him to pay such order out of the military fund of the brigade, to ascertain the balance of the said claims, if any there be, over and above the amount of the military fund in the treasury, and also the balances of such claims of the year Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, that remain unpaid, and certify the amount of them to, and draw his warrant on the State Treasurer, whose duty it shall be to pay the same out of any money in the State Treasury, not otherwise appropriated; and the city or county treasurer having received the same, shall distribute the same among the claimants according to law; and so much of any law of this Commonwealth as is inconsistent herewith is hereby repealed.

Mr. NILL called up House bill No. 125, AN ACT supplementary to an act relating to certain duties and rights of husband and wife and parents and children, passed the fourth day of May, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-five.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That in all cases under the act, to which this is a supplement, where any person has adopted a child in accordance with the provisions of said act, and where such child, after being so adopted, shall die intestate, the adopting parent shall become heir, under the intestate laws, to such adopted child, and in such case such child had been by birth his or her own legitimate offspring—which was considered, and on motion of Mr. ROSE, indefinitely postponed.

Mr. CHURCH called up Senate bill No. 995, "Further supplement to the act incorporating the city of Philadelphia."

Mr. THOMPSON called for the orders of the day.

The question being on the first section,

LEGISLATIVE RECORD.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE LEGISLATURE OF PENNSYLVANIA.

FOR THE SESSION OF 1859.

77.

Mr. MILLER remarked that this was an important bill, and if Senators would examine its provisions they certainly would not vote for it. This bank claimed they should not be taxed for an increase of their capital stock, because they had paid a bonus of $30,000, as required by the act of 1836. The act of 1836, under which an increase of capital was obtained, extended to the bank the provisions of the act of 1824, limiting the tax upon dividends to eight per cent. This was a part of the consideration for which the bank agreed to pay the bonus referred to. Therefore, as this bank has enjoyed this exoneration from the payment of heavy dividends they are justly entitled to pay for the increase of capital obtained under the act of 1857. He said the adoption of this bill would have a tendency to bring a host of other banks here making the same application, and to deplete the treasury to the extent of thousands of dollars. Therefore he would vote against the bill.

Mr. PARKER briefly replied.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PARKER and Mr. MILLER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Craig, Gregg, Palmer, Parker, Rutherford, Shaeffer and Thompson—7.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Brewer, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Penney, Schell, Scofield, Schindel, Turney, Welsh, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—17.

So the question was determined in the negative.

And bill fell.

Mr. RANDALL moved that the Judiciary Committee be discharged, and that the Senate proceed to the consideration of House bill No. 1214, "A supplement to an act authorizing the courts of common pleas to change the name of persons, approved the 9th day of April, 1852," which was agreed to.

And the bill passed.

On motion of Mr. PENNEY, the Senate proceeded to the consideration of Senate bill No. 1223, "An Act relative to actions of ejectment." Passed with amendment.

On motion of Mr. RANDALL, the Senate proceeded to the consideration of Senate bill No. 1023, "A supplement to an act regulating lateral railroads." Passed with amendment.

Mr. HARRIS moved that the Senate proceed to the consideration of House bill No. 362, "An Act, entitled 'An Act relating to the granting of licenses to inns and taverns.'"

The question being on the first section,

Mr. HARRIS briefly supported the bill. The law passed at the last session has been construed differently in different courts of the Commonwealth, and the object of this bill was simply to explain that law.

Mr. BELL moved to amend, by inserting the word "not" after the word "shall," in the fourth line, and striking out all in the section after the word "tavern."

Mr. PALMER opposed the amendment. He thought it derogatory to the dignity of the judges of our courts, that they should be denied any discretion in the matter of granting tavern licenses. Why not put the matter in the hands of the clerks of our courts at once, if it is to be a compulsory duty, that as soon as the petition is presented, the license shall be granted? In the good old days, there was a possibility of keeping irresponsible men from getting license; but under our modern laws, all classes can obtain licenses to sell intoxicating liquors. There should be a wise discretion left with the judges, so that when improper parties claim a right to sell, they may be refused. He said he was not an ultraist on this subject. He did not view it as a partizan, but as a Senator, conscious of the high obligations he owes to his fellow-citizens. He could overlook party considerations, and cheerfully vote for a measure so eminently calculated to prevent an indiscriminate licensing of whisky shops; then right must prevail, and no consideration of party preference shall induce him in any manner to help spread the great evil of the age—intemperance.

Mr. TURNEY would vote against the amendment and the bill, because there was no reason he could see for disturbing the present enactment. In his county, the courts had placed the only just construction the law of 1858 would admit, and that was, that their duty ceased when they had examined the petition and papers, and found them in compliance with the demands of the law.

Mr. MILLER. Did you not vote at the last session for this discretionary power?

Mr. TURNEY. I voted against the whole bill.

Mr. MILLER. I find in the Senate Journal of last session that upon the adoption of the sixth section you voted in the affirmative.

Mr. TURNEY. If so recorded it is wrong; because I voted against every section, and on final passage against the whole bill.

Mr. FRANCIS thought the whole traffic in liquors was not confined to any party or community, but was everywhere present, and that only for evil. He did not believe in the practicability of sumptuary laws; they have proved to be incapable of good; but he was in favor of at least granting to our courts a wise discretion in the granting of licenses to sell liquor. It was a well known fact that our courts have put different constructions upon the law of last session, and if the legal minds of our Commonwealth cannot agree upon its meaning it is our duty to make it plain.

Mr. BELL remarked there were two propositions before the Senate—one that the judges shall not exercise discretionary power, the other, that they shall or may exercise a discretion in the granting of licenses. If you adopt the last named, it gives unlimited discretion, and hence judges may grant one hundred applications, or fifty, or ten, or none. It is for the Senate to say whether it is safe to place this power in their hands, or whether their power shall not cease when the applicant has complied with the requirements of the law.

Mr. BELL moved to postpone further consideration for the present.

On this motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HARRIS and Mr. PALMER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Brewer, Craig, Keller, Marselis, Nunemacher, Randall, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—13.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Fetter, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Schell, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Thompson and Yardley—17.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. BELL then withdrew his amendment.

The question recurring upon the 1st section to the bill,

It was further debated by Mr. SCHELL and Mr. WELSH.

Mr. SCHELL moved to strike out all after the word "tavern," in the 7th line.

Mr. MILLER moved to postpone further consideration until to-morrow.

On this motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HARRIS and Mr. MILLER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Brewer, Craig, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Penney, Randall, Schell, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—17.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Fetter, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaeffer, Thompson and Yardley—14.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. RANDALL offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Senate hold a session this afternoon and evening, at the usual hours.

On motion of Mr. BREWER, the resolution was so amended as to make that the order for the present week.

On motion of Mr. PENNEY, the Committee on Judiciary was discharged from the consideration of Senate bill No. 1228, "An Act to repeal an act relative to executions against bridge companies."

Mr. PENNEY explained the object of the bill, and gave the reasons for which he urged the repeal of the act to which he referred. Passed.

On motion of Mr. BELL, Senate bill No. 1015, "A supplement to the act of the 16th of June, 1836, relating to executions."

On this motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BELL and Mr. SCOFIELD, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Brewer, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Miller, Penney, Schell, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—15.

NAYS—Messrs. Craig, Fetter, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Randall, Scofield, Turney and Welsh—9.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Pending the consideration of the question on the passage of the bill, and during the remarks of Mr. BELL in explanation and advocacy of it,

The hour of one o'clock having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

SENATE—AFTERNOON SESSION.

Senate met according to adjournment.

On leave given, Mr. MILLER read in his place and presented to the chair, bill, entitled "An Act to equalize taxation in the borough of Washington."

On his motion, the Judiciary Committee was discharged from the further consideration of the same, and the Senate proceeded to consider, when the bill finally passed.

Mr. SCHELL read in his place, "An Act relative to turnpike companies."

Mr. GREGG called up on second reading, House bill No. 828, "A supplement to the act, entitled "An Act to encourage the manufacture of iron with coke and mineral coal."

On the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BREWER and Mr. GREGG, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Fetter, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Schell, Shaeffer, Schindel, Thompson and Welsh—15.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Brewer, Craig, Marsellis, Miller, Nunemacher, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—8.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. MYER, the Senate proceeded to the consideration of House bill No. 658, "An Act authorizing a State road from Dushore, Sullivan county, to the north branch of Susquehanna river, at or near Welles' ferry, Bradford county." Bill lies over.

On motion of Mr. CRAIG, the Senate proceeded to the consideration of Senate bill No. 1219, "An Act relative to the claims of James Condin." Read by its title and passed.

On motion of Mr. SHAEFFER, Senate bill No. 768, "A supplement to an act relating to common schools in the city of Lancaster." Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. PARKER, the Senate proceeded to the consideration of House bill No. 1355, "An Act to incorporate the Washington Monument association of 1st school district of Pennsylvania." Read by its title and passed.

Mr. TURNEY, from the committee of conference on the Appropriation bill, made a report, which was read and adopted.

On motion of Mr. PENNEY, the Senate proceeded to the consideration of Senate bill No. 1281, "An Act to incorporate the Turners' Association." Read by its title and passed.

On motion of Mr. PARKER, Senate bill No. 1141, "A supplement to an act to incorporate the Union railroad company." Amended and passed.

On leave given, Mr. SCHELL, from the Committee on Estates and Escheats, reported, as committed, House bill No. 1283, "An Act to authorize the Washington hose company of Harrisburg to sell certain real estate."

Mr. RUTHERFORD moved that the committee be discharged from the further consideration of the bill, and that the Senate proceed to consider the same. Agreed to.

The bill was read a third time and passed.

Mr. SCHELL moved to proceed to the consideration of House bill No. 469, "An Act to incorporate the Huntingdon County Bank."

Mr. SCHELL asked the indulgence, at this stage of the question, to make a few remarks in explanation of his position upon this bill.—He had called it up at the urgent solicitations of his constituents, of Huntingdon county, of all parties; and being called upon to do so, he felt that he was but performing his duty in moving to proceed to its consideration, no matter what his private opinions may be upon the question of banks. If there was any necessity for banks, in any locality, he believed that necessity existed here. There is no bank between Harrisburg and Pittsburgh, with one exception. The coal trade of Huntingdon county has increased half a million of dollars within the last five years, and that trade, in connection with other business, is increasing at a rate which bids fair to double itself in a few years. He, therefore, believed a necessity did exist for the incorporation of this bank, and he hoped the Senate would proceed to its consideration.

Upon this motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCHELL and Mr. THOMPSON, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Brewer, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Parker, Schell and Thompson—10.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Craig, Fetter, Keller, Marselis, Myer, Nunemacher, Randall, Scofield, Shafer, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—16.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. SCOFIELD moved to discharge the Judiciary Committee from the further consideration of "An Act to authorize the sheriff of Philadelphia county to sell certain real estate in the city of Philadelphia in lots or sub-divisions."

The motion was agreed to, and the bill read a second and third time, and passed finally.

Mr. SCHINDEL called up House bill No. 510, "An Act to incorporate the Bethlehem mining company."

On the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MILLER and Mr. SCHINDEL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Craig, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson and Cresswell, Speaker—15.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Fetter, Miller, Nunemacher, Randall, Schell and Wright—8.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. SHAEFFER called up Senate bill No. 503, "An Act for the relief of the firm of Moderwell & Longenecker."

Mr. MILLER moved to amend, by referring the claim to the Auditor General for his supervision before payment.

Mr. SHAEFFER moved to amend further, by adding after Auditor General, "State Treasurer and Attorney General," and to authorize them to examine and pay the same."

Upon the amendments, as well as upon the merits of the bill, there was a brief discussion between Messrs. SHAEFFER and CRESSWELL, in favor of the payment of the claim, and by Mr. MILLER in opposition to its allowance, without its reference to the proper board, where its justice may be investigated and decided upon.

The amendment to the amendment was agreed to.

And the question recurring upon the section as amended,

It was agreed to.

On the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCOFIELD and Mr. SHAEFFER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Gazzam, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Shaeffer, Schindel, Thompson, Welsh, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—22.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Nunemacher, Scofield and Turney—4.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On leave given, Mr. STEELE, from the Committee on Railroads, reported, as committed, House bill No. 1463, entitled, "An Act to incorporate the Plymouth and Wilkesbarre railroad and bridge company."

And, on his motion, the committee was discharged from the further consideration of the same; when the Senate took up the bill, and passed it through its several readings.

On motion of Mr. THOMPSON, House bill No. 789, "An Act to incorporate the Philadelphia and Florence steamship company." Read and passed.

Mr. GREGG, on leave given, read in his place and presented to the Chair, bill, entitled "An Act declaring Elk creek, in Sullivan county, a public highway," and moved that the Senate proceed to a consideration of the same. Objected to.

Mr. STEELE, from the Committee on Private Claims and Damages, reported, as committed, House bill No. 1233, entitled, "An Act authorizing the State Treasurer to pay the claim of R. Young for losses sustained by him from fire on the Columbia railroad."

On motion of Mr. GREGG, the Senate receded from its amendments to House bill relative to the claim of S. Miles Green.

On motion of Mr. TURNEY, House bill No. 561, "An Act to repeal an act for the better preservation of game and insectivorous birds, so far as the same relates to the counties of Fayette, Westmoreland and Greeng," read a third time and passed.

The hour of five having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate till this evening at 7 o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MONDAY, April 11, 1859.

The House met at three o'clock, and was called to order by the SPEAKER.

The Clerk read the Journal of Saturday.

SENATE AMENDMENTS

To House bill relative to the claim of S. Miles Green, were read; and, on motion of Mr. WIGTON, non-concurred in.

To House bill, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Montour navigation improvement company," were read.

Mr. JACKSON moved to amend the first Senate amendment, by striking out the words, "in proportion."

Mr. MEHAFFEY opposed it.

Mr. JACKSON said—

Mr. SPEAKER:—When this bill passed the House, I offered an amendment to the fourth section, as follows:

Any provided further, That nothing contained in this act shall be so construed as to give the said corporation, or any other person or persons, any other or greater rights than they now have, of floating logs or lumber under the laws of this Commonwealth; and the officers, directors and stockholders of this corporation, shall be individually liable for the full amount of all damages that may result to any person or persons, from the misuse or abuse by the said corporation or its employees, of the privileges hereby granted; which was adopted.

Now, sir, the amendment that the Senate has made, is one, in my opinion, calculated to cause considerable trouble to any person who may suffer damages from this corporation. The amendment is as follows: after the word "liable," insert the words, "in proportion to the amount of stock held by each." Now, sir, what will be the consequence if this amendment is adopted? Why, if a person wishes to bring suit against a member or stockholder of this corporation, he will have to prove by the books of the company, the amount of stock held by him, and then he can recover from him in proportion to the amount of stock held by each stockholder. Now suppose, sir, that he holds one-fifth of the stock, and the damage has been one hundred dollars. Then he can recover of him but twenty dollars, and must bring suits against each of the other stockholders before he can recover the full amount of his damages. It is true, sir, however, that as long as the company has property, the person damaged can bring suit against the corporation and recover from it the full amount. But my object, sir, has been and is, to hold the officers, directors and stockholders individually liable for all damages that may arise from the misuse or abuse of the privileges granted to the corporation, and to give the person who has been damaged an opportunity of bringing suit against any stockholder he may see proper, and not compel him to sue the company unless he saw proper to do so.

If these words are stricken out it will still hold each stockholder individually liable to the amount of stock held by each and render it easier to recover damages.

I hope my amendment will be adopted.

Mr. MEHAFFEY said—

Mr. Speaker, I hope that this House will concur in the Senate amendments. This bill was read in place early in the session and was held over from time to time for the purpose of getting it in shape so that it would be satisfactory to all concerned. It passed this House and went to the Senate, and there passed with amendments, and has come back for our concurrence. Now, sir, I think that the Senate amendments are not objectionable to the bill; therefore, I trust this House will concur, as it is getting near the close of the session, and if the bill has to go back to the Senate, for the want of time the bill may be defeated.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment proposed by Mr. JACKSON?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. JACKSON and Mr. STEPHENS, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Custer, Dismant, Evans, Fleming, Foster, Good, Gray, Hill, Hottentstine, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Nill, Oaks, Patterson, Pennell, Proudfoot, Rohrer, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stonehack, Stuart, Wilcox and Woodruff—28.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Church, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearou, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, Keneagy, Lawrence, (Washington,) MehaFFEY, Matthews, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Neall, Peirce, Pinkerton, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Smead, Styer, Taylor, Wagenseller, Walhorn, Walker, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow and Lawrence, Speaker—45.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The several amendments to said bill were then read and concurred in.

SENATE AMENDMENTS

To bill No. 400, "An Act to incorporate the Bald Eagle boom company, in Clinton county," were read, and on motion of Mr. FEARON, concurred in.

Mr. PALM, on leave given, read in his place, "An Act repealing the first section of a further supplement to an act to incorporate a company to make a lock navigation on the river Schuylkill;" and on his motion, said bill was taken up.

Mr. WALBORN moved that the further consideration of the bill be indefinitely postponed.

Mr. PALM said, I had hopes that it would not become necessary for me to occupy the time of the House, at this late day, to discuss the merits of the bill under consideration. I see that I must defend the bill to prevent its defeat. Now, sir, this bill was read in place only a short time ago, and hurried through before members had time to inquire or examine its merits. As for myself, sir, when the gentleman from Berks, (Mr. BERTOLET,) called up the bill, and the Clerk read the title of the bill, my attention was first called to the bill. A gentleman, who I had reason to believe knew the provisions of the bill, passed my desk, I stopped him and inquired of him the nature of the bill, he informed me that it was a bill to "extend the charter of the Schuylkill canal company;" that the charter must be renewed every fifteen years. While I was thus engaged in inquiring about the bill, the section of the bill, which we propose to repeal, was read and passed. Now, sir, the Schuylkill navigation company have, for a long time, been endeavoring to procure legislation to give them power to transport coal, &c., and to keep the boatmen down. In the year 1841, a similar bill passed both branches of the Legislature. But, sir, that good man, Governor Shunk, vetoed the bill. The public, sir, sustained the Governor. Why, sir, a public meeting was called in different places along the line of the Schuylkill navigation. At Pottsville a large and enthusiastic meeting was held, Strange V. Palmer, Esq., assisted by a large and respectable number of vice presidents. That meeting, sir, passed resolutions endorsing and approving of the Governor's veto. I hold a paper in my hand containing that veto and the proceedings of that meeting. If it were earlier in the session, I would have this veto, of one of the best Governors the State of Pennsylvania ever had, read, but I do not deem it necessary. I hold also in my hand a large list of names—these were procured within one or two hours. Sir, the boatmen, and others along the line of the navigation, are in an intense state of excitement upon this subject. I trust that the good sense of this House will go to the rescue of the boatmen, who have their all invested in boat stock on the Schuylkill canal. I want the members of this House to show those men that they have their interests at heart by voting for this bill, to repeal this objectionable section! If this law is permitted to remain on our statute books, the boatmen will be compelled to relinquish their business. I sincerely trust that the friends of the boatmen will give this bill their support, and not postpone the matter until to-morrow. We have only about a day and a half left for work, we want this bill to pass now; we want it to pass the Senate, and we want it to receive the signature of the Governor. I am a friend of the workingmen, so are my colleagues—so are the members of this House! Shall we then crush individual enterprise, or shall we protect?

Mr. WALBORN opposed the supplement.

Mr. PINKERTON said—

I feel astonished to find the gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. WALBORN,) opposing this supplement. He need not fear but what the bill will be supplied with coal, and the event of this bill will either way interfere with the amount of coal transported, but affects only those who are now delivering coal to market; in short, the only question is, whether individuals shall carry the coal, or whether the canal company shall have incorporated powers to carry the coal. So you see there are conflicting interests between individuals, and the individual labor and a corporation. I shall, as I have invariably done upon this floor, vote to protect the laborer or individual capital in opposition to corporation capital, where these two interests conflict.

Mr. HAMERSLY said—

This bill, like a hundred others at the present session, passed the House without its provisions being properly understood. It was not printed and placed upon our files as is usually done, but the bill was in manuscript, and was read from the Clerk's desk at a time when, from the noise and confusion which prevailed in the Hall, it was difficult to understand what it really did contain. The gentleman from Schuylkill, who has examined the bill since its passage, assures us that it is calculated to interfere seriously with the business of individual boatmen, and as a large number of honest and hard-working men in my district are engaged in this business, I shall cheerfully vote for the repeal of so much of this bill as is calculated to interfere with their rights and interests. I am a friend of the Schuylkill navigation company, and am willing to vote for any proper measure to promote the interests of an improvement in which the city of Philadelphia is deeply interested, but I am not willing to do it at the expense of the thousands of industrious and deserving men who are dependent upon the boating business for their support. I shall, therefore, vote to repeal the first section of this bill.

Mr. BERTOLET said—

Mr. SPEAKER:—Gentlemen say that I introduced this bill into this House; I deny it; I called up the bill after its introduction, and it passed this House almost unanimously, and it has since become a law. Now there are men here advocating and asking the repeal of the first section of this act, which has so recently become a law. I have been a boatman for the last seven years, and have always stood by the boatmen, and on more than one occasion, fought the canal company. I am opposed to companies and corporations monopolizing the interests of the laboring man. When I called up this bill, I expected to do a great deal of good for the laboring boatmen. I am satisfied the Schuylkill canal company desired nothing but the good of the boatmen in this bill. They ask not for transportation power and privileges; but the purport of the bill is more for the relief and interests of the boatmen than of injury to them. I am satisfied the boatmen do not understand the import of the bill, which merely asks for power to contract for freights, which would throw more freights upon the canal, and thereby the canal company would be enabled to assist and relieve the boatmen.

I myself have been deeply, and am still somewhat interested in transporting on the canal, and would certainly not go against my interests and the interests of my friends, and had I entertained the idea for one moment, that the company intended to injure the boatmen, I would have opposed the bill throughout.

I shall, therefore, vote for the repeal of this section, which seems to be so objectionable to the boatmen.

The motion to postpone indefinitely was withdrawn.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) moved the bill be postponed until to-morrow; which was not agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill?

It was determined in the affirmative.

And on the question,

Will the House suspend the rule, and read the bill the third time by its title?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WALBORN and Mr. BERTOLET, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Church, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fleming, Glatz, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Ketchum, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Curdy, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Pennell, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Rouse, Shafer, Smead, Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Wolf and Lawrence, Speaker—64.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Foster, Good, Neall, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Styer, Wagenseller and Walborn—9.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The bill being on final passage,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) and Mr. HAMERSLY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Glatz, Graham, Gray, Green, Gritman, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Curdy, Miller, Oaks, Palm, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Shafer, Smead, Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,)

Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow, Wolf, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—57.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Foster, Good, Jackson, Neall, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Styer, Wagenseller and Walborn—10.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. BERTOLET said—

Mr. SPEAKER:—I shall place my reasons upon the record for voting for the repeal of the first section of this canal bill.

When it was introduced here, I was under the impression that it was more for the relief of the boatmen than the benefit of the canal company. I would, under no circumstances, vote power and privileges unto companies and corporations, whereby they could oppress the community, the persons interested in such business, or the laboring man. I do not hold that the Schuylkill canal company desire to do anything of the kind, and am only sorry that the company have not had an opportunity to try the effects of this act, and I do hope the working boatmen will be benefitted by the repeal of this section, and hope that at some future day they will see the necessity of just such an act as has been repealed. Therefore, in conformity of the wishes and earnest solicitations of many of my constituents and boatman friends, I do vote for the repeal of the section.

Mr. CUSTER said:

Mr. SPEAKER: I give for my reason for voting for the repeal of the first section of an Act passed April 1859, [this canal bill] that I am inclined to the belief that the passage of the act which this in part proposes to repeal, would be, in my opinion, injurious to the interests of the individual boatman and boat owners. That I have in my possession a number of letters received from persons engaged upon said navigation as boatmen and boatowners, and they inform me that a law of this kind would operate highly detrimental to their individual interests. The law to which I refer was passed without due deliberation and in a hurried manner and under a different statement to me, in reference to its probable operation upon the class of persons above referred to, I therefore vote, "aye."

Mr. IRISH, on leave given, introduced "An Act to incorporate the Cameron House hotel company," which, on his motion, was taken up and passed finally.

Mr. CHASE read "An Act authorizing vice-presidents of banks to receive salaries for their services;" which, on his motion, was considered and passed finally.

Mr. KINNEY, committee of conference on House bill No. 617, "An Act for the assessment and recovery of damages on the North Branch and Wyoming canals," made report, which was read and adopted.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington) read "An Act to authorize the Auditor General to examine the claim of John Gennill, of Huntingdon county;" which, on his motion, was taken up and considered, and on the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. NILL and Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bedford,) and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Bryson, Burley, Chase, Church, Durboraw, Fearon, Fisher, Foster, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Keneagy, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Matthews, M'Curdy, Neall, Palm, Pennell, Proudfoot, Rouse, Sheppard, Styer, Witman, Wigton, Wilson and Lawrence, Speaker—32.

NAYS—Messrs. Barnsley, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fleming, Glatz, Good, Gray, Hill, Irish, Ketchum, Nill, Oaks, Patterson, Price, Rohrer, Shafer, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Wilcox, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Withrow, Wolf and Woodring—38.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. WOLF read in his place and presented to the Chair, a petition from citizens of the borough of Columbia, Lancaster county, in favor of the Wrightsville steam ferry company.

Mr. GRATZ, on leave given, presented "An Act supplementary to an act to incorporate the Thirteenth and Fifteenth Streets passenger railroad company;" which, on his motion, was taken up and passed finally.

Mr. ROHRER, "An Act to incorporate the Armstrong gas company;" which, on his motion, was taken up and passed finally.

Mr. WAGENSELLER, "An Act to fix the place of holding elections in Union township, Union county, and to legalize a late election held in said township;" which was taken up and passed finally.

Mr. WALKER, "An Act to authorize the election or a lock up house in the borough of Millersburg, Somerset county;" on his motion, considered and passed finally.

Mr. PRICE, "An Act to incorporate the Mt. Joy gas company, in the borough of Mt. Joy, Lancaster county;" on his motion, considered and passed finally.

Mr. HAMERSLY, "An Act relating to the courts of the city of Philadelphia;" which, on his motion, was considered and passed finally.

Messrs. BARNSELY and ROUSE moved that the vote by which the act relating to the courts in the city of Philadelphia passed the House be reconsidered.

Mr. THORN moved that the further consideration of the motion be postponed indefinitely. And on the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BARNSELY and Mr. NILL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Campbell, Church, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Foster, Gratz, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, Laird, Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, Neall, Price, Rohrer, Sheppard, Styer, Thorn, Walborn, Wigton, Wiley and Zoller—26.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Good, Graham, Gray, Gritman, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) M'Curdy, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Patterson, Pennell, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Shafer, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stonehack, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Warden, Witman, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Wolf, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—56.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion to reconsider?

It was discussed by Messrs. NILL, CHASE, HAMERSLY, BARNSELY, THOMPSON and WILSON, and determined in the affirmative.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved that the House go into committee of the whole by striking out all but the entire second section, and the words "to be paid quarterly by the treasurer of the city of Philadelphia," in the first section; which was agreed to.

Whereupon, the House resolved itself into committee of the whole (Mr. GRITMAN in the Chair,) and the amendment was inserted.

The bill being before the House, on final passage,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) and Mr. WALKER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Chase, Church, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Foster, Gratz, Hamersly, Irish, Mann, Matthews, Neall, Pughe, Rouse, Sheppard, Styer, Thorn, Walborn, Wiley and Zoller—22.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Good, Graham, Gray, Gritman, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) M'Curdy, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Pennell, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Shafer, Shields, Smcad, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow, Wolf, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—62.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. CHASE, from the committee of conference on the Appropriation bill, made report; which was read.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the report of the committee?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WILLISTON and Mr. M'DOWELL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS.—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fleming, Foster, Glatz, Goepf, Good, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Gritman, Hill, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Meliaffey, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Pennell, Peirce, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Robrer, Rouse, Shafer, Shields, Stephens, Stuart, Styer, Thompson, Thorn, Warden, Wigton, Wilcox, Wilson, Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—64.

NAYS—Messrs. Burley, Fisher, Hamersly, Harding, Hottenstine, Mann, Matthews, Neall, Patterson, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Wagenseller, Walborn, Witman, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston and Withrow—20.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. IRISH, on leave given, offered a resolution that this House will hold a session this evening, commencing at 7 o'clock; which passed to second reading.

Mr. GOOD moved to amend, by meeting at 7½ o'clock; not agreed to.

Mr. WILCOX moved to amend, by meeting at 8 and adjourning at 9 o'clock: not agreed to.

Mr. WALBORN moved that the House meet at 7½ and adjourning at 9½ o'clock; not agreed to.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to amend the resolution, by substituting the following:

Resolved, That when this House adjourns, it will meet again this evening at 8 o'clock; which was agreed to.

And the resolution as amended was adopted.

Agreeably to order, the House proceeded to the consideration of House bill No. 957, "An Act to afford further protection to passengers on railroads."

WHEREAS, We are of the opinion that many of the accidents happening on our railroads are to be attributed to the inefficiency or to the carelessness of some of the locomotive engineers;

And whereas, The large body of our citizens engaged in that dangerous and responsible avocation, should be aided and encouraged in their efforts to elevate the character of the individuals employed in it;

And whereas, It is our duty to invoke as many expedients, and to throw around the traveling public as many safe-guards, calculated to protect their lives and limbs, as wisdom or experience can suggest; therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania shall appoint, in the month of October of this year, and every third year thereafter, three persons who shall be a board of examiners for all persons who desire to act as engineers, in charge of locomotive engines upon any railroad in whole or in part in the State, and that said examiners shall be selected from a list of five names, three of said names to be furnished by the association of locomotive engineers of the State of Pennsylvania, and two by the railroad companies of the Commonwealth; and on the said companies failing, refusing or neglecting to present two such names for the space of five days, then the Governor shall have the right and power to appoint the said three persons, presented by the association.

SEC. 2. That said board of examiners shall hold their commission for three years, and not less than two of them shall be practical locomotive engineers running an engine on a railroad lying in whole or in part within the State, at the time of their appointment, and the other a practical machinist.

SEC. 3. That the board of examiners shall meet at Harrisburg for the purpose of examining candidates for license to act as engineers upon locomotives on railroads, on the first Monday of January of each and every year, and shall have power to meet as much oftener, and in such places as may be deemed expedient and necessary by said board; and they shall remain in session not less than three days, and until the applications filed or made previous to the meeting shall have been disposed of by fair and impartial examination.

SEC. 4. That no candidate shall be licensed as locomotive engineer aforesaid, unless the board is satisfied upon the examination of the applicant, and upon full consideration and inquiry, that he is of temperate habits and a suitable and safe person to be entrusted with the duties of such a station; nor shall any candidate be licensed to act as an engineer unless the said board is also satisfied by strict personal examination, as well as by certificate or inquiry, as to the proper knowledge and experience possessed by such candidate, for the position of engineer as aforesaid; to this end said board must be satisfied that said candidate, so seeking a license as aforesaid, is competent to superintend or execute all road repairs, while on road duty, that may be needed on a locomotive, and that he is able to answer all practical questions that may be submitted to him.

SEC. 5. That the said board shall issue a license to every applicant whom they shall believe to be qualified to act as engineer in charge of a locomotive on any railroad in this State; after having made the inquiry and examination required in this act, the said license shall be good for three years from the date thereof: Provided however, That said board of examiners shall have the power, upon cause shown, to revoke said license, and also to reinstate the person, when, in their judgment, they shall deem it right and just; the fee for said license to be paid by the applicant to the board, shall be ten dollars on the expiration of said term of three years; the fee to be paid to said board for the renewal of a license for another term of three years, shall be three dollars.

SEC. 6. That the members of said board shall, before they or any of them, enter upon the duties of their office, take the following oath, which shall be administered to them and each of them, by the clerk of the criminal court of the respective counties in which they may be holding a session, and shall be entered on the records of said court "I, A. B., appointed an examiner of locomotive engineers for the State of Pennsylvania, do solemnly swear or affirm, that in the examination of candidates and licensing locomotive engineers, I will inquire only into the moral and professional fitness of the candidate, and that I will show neither prejudice or partiality in the discharge of my duty as examiner, but will be governed in my action by my examination into the moral and professional fitness of the candidate."

SECTION 7. That no person shall run, or be placed in charge of a locomotive engine upon any road in this State, as engineer thereof, after the third month from the first regular meeting of said board of examiners; and the said person having been running three months as aforesaid, shall not again run, or be placed in charge of a locomotive as engineer thereof, on any railroad in this State, unless he shall have first obtained a license as locomotive engineer from the said board of examiners; and any person running a locomotive engine on any railroad in this State, without such license, shall be subject to an action of debt in the name of the association of locomotive engineers, before any alderman or justice of the peace; and on conviction, shall be fined seventy-five dollars; and on default of defendant paying said sum with costs of proceeding, or if no property owned by him or them can be found, then the body of said defendant shall be taken and committed to the prison of the respective county for the space of ten days.

SECTION 8. That no individual or corporation incorporated by this State, and no corporation whose line of railroad may be in whole or in part within this State, shall suffer or permit, or employ any person to act as an engineer in charge of any locomotive, any longer than three months as aforesaid, unless the said person so suffered, or permitted, or employed, has at the time of sufferance, or permission, or employment, and during the whole term thereof, have received and shall hold a license from the said board of examiners to act as engineer within this State; and the person, or corporation suffering, or permitting, or employing any person to act as engineer in charge of any locomotive on any road lying in whole or in part in this State, who is not licensed as aforesaid, shall be subject to a fine of one hundred dollars, to be recovered by action of debt in the name of the association of locomotive engineers.

SEC. 9. That any vacancy or vacancies that may occur in the said board of examiners shall be filled by the Governor: Provided however, That said vacancy or vacancies shall be filled from the names presented by the association, if the same occur by the death, removal or resignation of any member of the same in said board; and from the names presented by the companies, in case such vacancy shall be caused by the death, removal or resignation of any of the members presented by them; and the person or persons appointed to fill said vacancy or vacancies, shall hold his or their offices only until the expiration of the term for which his or their predecessor or predecessors were appointed.

Mr. NILL moved to amend the bill, by adding the following new section; which was agreed to.

That all railroad companies in the Commonwealth, shall keep their ticket offices open for at least one hour before the time fixed upon for the starting of trains, under the penalty of fifty dollars, to be recovered as debts of like amount are recovered; one-half to be paid to the informer, and the other half of said penalty to be paid to the treasurer of the Commonwealth.

Mr. PENNELL moved that the further consideration of the bill be indefinitely postponed.

The motion was resisted by Messrs. ABBOTT and NEALL.

And on the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. NEALL and Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Barnsley, Bertolet, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Bryson, Burley, Chase, Church, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eckman, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Graham, Hottenstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, M'Dowell, Miller, Pennell, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rohrer, Shafer, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Taylor, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Witman, Wigton, Withrow and Wolf—41.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Campbell, Gratz, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Matthews, Neall, Nill, Pinkerton, Sheppard, Stuart, Walker, Warden, Williams, (Bedford,) and Wilson—16.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. MILLER offered a resolution that the use of this hall be granted to the Democratic State Convention on next Wednesday, from 12 o'clock, m., till 7 o'clock, p. m., which was read the second time and adopted.

Mr. FOSTER, on leave given, read in his place and presented to the Chair, "An Act to incorporate the Home and Foreign Bible society," which, on his motion, was taken up and considered.

The bill being on final passage,

A motion was made by Mr. THORN that the House do now adjourn; which was agreed to.

Adjourned till 8 o'clock this evening.

HOUSE.—EVENING SESSION.

MONDAY, April 11, 1859.

House called to order at 7 o'clock, p. m.

Mr. CHASE in the chair.

The House resumed consideration of bill to incorporate the Allegheny Bible society.

Mr. FOSTER moved to go into committee of the whole for amendment; which was agreed to.

Mr. WILSON assumed the chair.

The bill was amended by the insertion of different names as corporators.

Mr. WALBORN asked the unanimous consent of the House to make an amendment. Not agreed to.

The House again went into committee of the whole to add the words: "provided the books are published and sold only in the county of Allegheny."

The amendment was agreed to.

On the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WALBORN and Mr. FOSTER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Bertolet, Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Graham, Gratz, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Irish, Jackson, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mahaffey, Matthews, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Neall, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pughe, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Wigton, Wilcox, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow, Wolf and Woodring—53.

NAYS—Messrs. Barnsley, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Custer, Evans, Gray, Hottenstine, Keneagy, Ketchum, Nill, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Styer, Walborn, Witman and Wiley—17.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. HOTTENSTINE called up House bill No. 1135, viz:

AN ACT requiring supervisors of roads and overseers of the poor in this Commonwealth to give security.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this act it shall be the duty of the township auditors and borough councils to require the overseers of the poor and the supervisors of roads in each township and borough in this Commonwealth, before entering upon their duties, to give bond with security, to be approved by the auditors or borough councils, in a sum not less than double the probable amount of the tax which may be levied by the said officers for the ensuing year, which bonds shall be taken in the name of the auditors and borough councils and their successors in office, for the use of such borough or township, conditioned for the faithful performance of their respective duties as supervisors and overseers of the poor, accounting for and paying over to their successors in office any balance that may remain in their hands at the settlement of their accounts, by the aforesaid auditors or borough councils; and in case the said officers shall neglect or refuse to pay over said balance remaining in their hands within thirty days after the settlement, it shall be the duty of the said auditors and borough councils holding the bonds to proceed, by due course of law, to collect the same, for the use of said township or borough: Provided, That each officer may give security individually in double the amount of such sum as may, in the judgment of the auditors, come unto his hands for the ensuing year; and in such case he shall not be accountable for the acts of his associate in office.

SEC. 2. That any officer or officers failing to give the security required by the 1st section of this act, within one month after his election, then his or their offices shall be declared vacant, and the court of quarter sessions shall appoint one or both as the case may be, subject to all the restrictions of the first section of this act, and who shall hold his office till the next election; and until such appointment is made the officer giving bail shall act for both; and if both fail to give the required security, then the preceding officers shall perform the duties, as heretofore, until such appointment is made by the court, in accordance with the provisions of this act.

SEC. 3. That any officer failing to give the security required by this act shall not be liable for the penalty imposed by existing laws upon township and borough officers refusing to serve: Provided, That the auditors and borough council shall be satisfied that such security could not be obtained.

SEC. 4. That all laws which are inconsistent, and being supplied by the provisions of this act, be and the same are hereby repealed.

Mr. HOTTENSTINE moved to amend by making the bill apply only to the county of Northumberland. Agreed to; and the bill passed finally.

The SPEAKER'S table was cleared.

Senate bill, entitled "An Act authorizing the sheriff of the county of Philadelphia to sell certain real estate in lots, parcels or subdivisions," came up.

Messrs. HAMERSLY and WILCOX moved to proceed to consideration. Agreed to; and the bill passed finally.

Mr. HAMERSLY called up "A supplement to an act to incorporate the Union railroad company," and moved to proceed to its consideration. Agreed to; and the bill passed finally.

"A supplement to the act incorporating the city of Philadelphia."

Mr. CHURCH moved to proceed to consideration. Agreed to. The bill passed finally.

"A supplement to the act incorporating the Young Men's christian building association of Philadelphia."

Mr. THORN moved to proceed to its consideration. Agreed to.

The bill passed finally.

Mr. NEALL read "An Act repealing an act incorporating the National Art association," and moved to proceed to its consideration; which was agreed to; and the bill passed finally.

Mr. KETCHUM read "An Act to incorporate the Waynesburg gas company," and moved to proceed to its consideration. Agreed to; and the bill passed finally.

"An Act to authorize the sale of the Northwestern railroad company."

Mr. THOMPSON offered a substitute.

A debate ensued, which was participated in by Messrs. THOMPSON, WALBORN, HAMERSLY and THORN.

Mr. THOMPSON favored the substitute which he had offered to the original bill. The discussion took a wide range, and the course of the people of Butler county and of Philadelphia, was canvassed. Allegations that frauds had been committed on both sides, were freely made and denied.

On the substitute of Mr. THOMPSON,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. THOMPSON and Mr. BRYSON, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Brodhead, Bryson, Campbell, Chase, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Graham, Hottenstine, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mahaffey, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Patterson, Pennell, Peirce, Proudfoot, Rouse, Shafer, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Wolf, Woodring and Zoller—45.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Bertolet, Church, Dismant, Evans, Fisher, Gratz, Hamersly, Hill, Keneagy, Neall, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Styer, Thorn, Walborn, Wiley and Wiliston—20.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. ZOLLER moved to adjourn. Not agreed to.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to strike out a portion of the amendment or substitute of Mr. THOMPSON'S.

The CHAIRMAN decided not to entertain the motion, alleging that although the regular SPEAKER of the House entertained motions to strike out portions of sentences just before inserted, his judgment would not allow him to adopt that course.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved to amend, by adding as follows:

Provided, That this act shall not affect any proceedings in regard to said road, now pending in any of the courts of this Commonwealth, and before it shall go into effect, the consent of a majority of stockholders shall first be obtained thereto.

Mr. THOMPSON opposed the amendment.

Mr. HAMERSLY said that evidently the object of the act was to interfere with the action of the court.

On the amendment of Mr. HAMERSLY, the yeas were 20, nays 43.

Mr. EVANS offered an amendment, inserting the names of two additional corporators.

Before the question was taken,

Mr. THOMPSON called the previous question, which was sustained.

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAMERSLY and Mr. SHEPPARD, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Chase, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Fleming, Galley, Gray, Hottenstine, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, M'Curdy, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Pennel, Peirce, Shafer, Stouckback, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Walker, Wigton, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson Wolf and Woodring—41.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Church, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Foster, Gratz, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Keneagy, Matthews, Neall, Proudfoot, Sheppard, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Styer, Walboru, Warden, Witman, Wiley and Willis-ton—21.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On the amendment of Mr. EVANS,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SHEPPARD and Mr. GRATZ, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Bertolet, Burley, Church, Evans, Fearon, Fisher, Gratz, Gritman, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Keneagy, Ketchum, Matthews, Neall, Proudfoot, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Thorn, Walhorn, Warden and Wiley—26.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Campbell, Custer, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Graham, Gray, Jackson, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Pennell, Peirce, Shafer, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walker, Wigton, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Wolf and Woodring—36.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The bill passed to a second reading, and was laid over.

"An Act to prevent the destruction of trout in the counties of Blair, Bedford and Somerset."

The House insisted on its amendments.

Senate amended the bill relative to claims for damages on the Columbia railroad.

The House refused to concur.

Senate amendments to House bill relative to the borough of Blairsville, Indiana county, were concurred in.

Senate amendments to House bill, relative to the treasurer of Beaver county, were concurred in.

Senate amendments to the bill incorporating the Seventeenth and Nineteenth Streets passenger railroad of Philadelphia, were concurred in. Adjourned.

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION.

"Wherever the property selected by a defendant, under the exemption laws of this Commonwealth, shall consist in whole or in part of the dwelling house of such defendant, he or she being at the time a housekeeper charged with the maintenance of a family, the amount of valuation shall be five hundred dollars instead of three hundred, as heretofore."

While the above section was under consideration in the Senate, Mr. SCOFIELD made the following remarks:

The policy of exemption, so far as it now goes, is to leave to the debtor the absolute necessities of life. The same policy should certainly spare the family roof. Many articles allowed under the old law might possibly be dispensed with; but a house of some kind must be had at all events. If the policy of any exemption is well founded, the poor man's home, which comes clearly within its reason and spirit, should certainly be free. But while the principle upon which all exemption laws rests, would leave to an unfortunate family a small habitation, as an object of first necessity, there are some reasons in favor of the measure that do not apply to any other species of property.—A dwelling house is always accommodated to the size, arranged and ornamented to the taste of a particular family. In this respect it is unlike a store, shop or tavern. These are planned, not to suit a particular tradesman, but a particular trade, and are as suitable for one person carrying on such trade as another. Experience shows that while this kind of building will generally sell for more than cost, a dwelling house is often sold at a ruinous sacrifice. The family residence, like family portraits, is far more valuable to the occupant than to any one else; and when forced to sale, though it does not enrich the purchaser, leaves the unfortunate sufferer poor indeed. It is more or less a sale of all the attachments and affections which the whole household cherish for their old haunts and hearth. For to them it is not only a shelter, but the depository of cherished associations. The tree they have planted, whose germination and growth they have watched and watered, has to them an ideal value; if you drive them from it, you deprive them not only of its shade, but the mental satisfaction with which they regard it as the product of their care. The vine that spreads over the hovel its protecting and beautifying green, clings not more closely to its rude support, than do the affections of the child it shelters to the objects of its first familiarity. This home affection never chills. The child grown to manhood, and wandering where he may in new pathways of life, will gaze, even in the busiest moments of ambitious prime, and turn a pensive thought or a reverent step to this first Mecca of the mind. These sentiments exist in the coarsest heart. And I submit to the Senate if it is good policy, to say nothing of humanity, to turn these amiable traits in the human character to articles of merchandize.

In opposition to this measure, it is said we cannot build men houses by legislation. No, sir; but we can do much to encourage their acquisition. Place the family residence beyond the reach of chicane or misfortune, and you stimulate the idle and thriftless to habits of labor and economy. The present proverbial uncertainty of fortune is the great discouragement of human exertion. Now, industry knows not whose overgrown estate its acquisitions may finally swell. The hand that would plant a tree knows not what unbidden stranger may enjoy its shade. The household, whose united efforts might earn a common home, knows not how soon simplicity or mismanagement in its legal control, may expose it to the exactions of credit or of craft!

Cannot give poor men homes by legislation! Sir, it is by a long course of adverse legislation that the poor are deprived of their portion of the earth. It is because the hooks overflow with legislation that encourages land monopoly; that the million has not a place to rest the sole of his foot, nor a turf to cover his grave, except by leave of "my lord." There is space enough in the world for all, and plenty to spare. Naturally, we are but tenants in common in its surface. Naturally, each person has an equal right with his brother, to a spot on which to pitch his tent and erect an altar—to ground in which to plant and gather harvests during life: and in whose familiar dust his ashes may sleep when life's fitful fever is over. It is because this natural right has been legislated away; because a single man is authorized by law to draw an imaginary line around whole leagues of land, and hold it away from the world, that the child of want is compelled to "beg his lordly fellow-worm to give him leave to toil."

We have 24,000,000 of population, and yet the census informs us that less than one and a half millions have any interest in the soil; except what still belongs to Government this million and a half have monopolized the whole of this magnificent country. Between the Atlantic and Pacific there is not a single foot of ground upon which a poor man may rest and say "It is mine." Over every hill and valley, prairie and plain, the ægis of ownership has long since been spread. In some degree this unnatural state of things is the result of legislation, and in some small degree the proposed legislation will correct it.

Again, the State has an interest, aside from that of the debtor, in the enlargement of the number of freeholders within her limits. Bound by interest to the soil they cultivate, they become the natural supporters of the government that confers and protects their tillers. The landowner, unlike the capitalist, cannot fly with his property, nor change it with the shifting government and laws. His safety lies in the stability of law and good order in society. The Commonwealth should not allow her humblest citizen to be driven to extreme poverty by the remorselessness of a single creditor. God prescribed limits to the persecutions of his servant, and the Commonwealth should prescribe a line beyond which the pursuit of her honest poor should cease. She owes this duty alike to the poor and the tax-payers; for each class are alike sufferers by the extreme exactions of credit.

But what wrong could this law do to creditors? It is prospective in its character. No contract could be effected by it, except those made after the date of its passage. Suppose at the time a credit is given it is stipulated by the parties that in case of failure to pay, the creditor should have no lien upon his dwelling house. Would any one say that upon the happening of the contingency provided for, the creditor should be allowed to isolate his contract and drive his unfortunate debtor into the street? I presume not. Yet parties contract in view of the existing laws of the State, in their contemplation such laws are as much a part of the contract, as if drawn up at length, and inserted in it. Now, will it be claimed that the creditor may violate his implied any more than his express contract? And if not, in what respect is he injured? So far from being injured, the general class of creditors would be benefited. There is no wisdom in the law that strips the falling debtor at once. For, from that time however numerous or honest his debts, he pays no more. Driven from his fireside and compelled to seek a home in new and changing places, his ambition and energy are gone. His lessened earnings are absorbed in rents, if not wasted in dissipation. The inheritor of suffering knows not there is a cup of happiness he never tasted. Man schooled to want may bear its hardships with a callous heart. But failing affluence or forced insolvency wears a heavier chain. The child always homeless, may forget his sorrows on the pillow of occasional charity, but one cast upon the world by fresh misfortune, rarely finds an easy pillow, till he finds it on the bosom of mother earth. Real want and fancied shame pursue him to the last.

Let the homestead, unless one of fraudulent extravagance, be held sacred by the law. Let it be made, what the law now wrongly declares it, the owner's castle. Let no servant of exacting credit come within its gates. Let the latch-string be pulled only by familiar hands, and the threshold crossed only by the feet of friendship.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

House bill No. 658, "An Act authorizing the laying out of a State road from Dushore, Sullivan county, to the north branch of the Susquehanna river, at or near Wells' ferry, Bradford county." Passed.

House bill No. 1008, "An Act to authorize the investigation of the claim for damages of Dennis McDonald." Passed.

House bill No. 1463, "A supplement to an act to incorporate the city of Philadelphia." Passed with amendments.

House Bill 236, "An Act to authorize the State Treasurers to pay A. K. and A. L. Witmer, for losses occasioned in the course of a collision on the Columbia and Philadelphia railroad." Passed.

House bill No. 1456, "An Act to regulate the building of powder magazines and the deposit of powder therein."

Mr. RANDALL offered to amend by adding the following:

"Provided, That this act shall not apply to such buildings as shall be fire-proof, and otherwise safe."

On this amendment,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RANDALL and Mr. RUTHERFORD, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Keller, Randall, Schell, Turney and Welsh—6.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Blood, Brewer, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Scofield, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—23.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The bill passed finally.

House bill No. 203, "An Act relating to the granting of licenses to inns, hotels or taverns."

Mr. WELSH moved to amend, as follows:

Strike out all after the word "tavern," in the seventh line; and insert: "Provided, That the discretion of said courts in the granting of licenses shall not extend to the question of the necessity of such hotel, inn or tavern, but be confined to the inquiry whether the applicant possesses the personal qualifications, and has the necessary accommodations required by law."

On this amendment,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WELSH and Mr. MYER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Craig, Keller, Marselis, Nunemacher, Randall, Schell, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—14.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Coffey, Fetter, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaeffer, Thompson and Yardley—17.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. SCHELL offered the following amendment:

Provided, That the several courts of quarter sessions shall have and exercise such discretion, and no other, in regard to the necessity of inns or taverns, as is given to said courts by the act relative to inns and taverns, approved March 11, 1834.

Mr. SCOFIELD moved the previous question; which was seconded by Messrs. COFFEY, MYER, HARRIS and PALMER.

And the question being,

Shall the question be now put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MYER and Mr. COFFEY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Coffey, Fetter, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaeffer and Thompson—13.

NAYS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Brewer, Craig, Gazzam, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Penney, Randall, Schell, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—19.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring on the amendment of Mr. SCHELL,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr.

MYER and Mr. RANDALL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Brewer, Craig, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Randall, Schell, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Yardley—16.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Coffey, Fetter, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Scofield, Shaeffer, Thompson and Cresswell, Speaker—15.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Upon the adoption of the section as amended, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HARRIS and Mr. BLOOD, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Coffey, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gregg, Harris, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Schell, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Thompson and Yardley—20.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Craig, Keller, Marselis, Nunemacher, Randall, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—12.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Upon the motion to suspend the rule, and read the bill a third time by its title.

The yeas and nays were required, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Coffey, Fetter, Finney, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Schell, Scofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Thompson and Yardley—21.

NAYS—Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Craig, Keller, Marselis, Nunemacher, Randall, Steele, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—12.

So the question was determined in the negative.

A communication was received from the State printer, and read, in reply to a resolution of the Senate, informing the body that it would be impossible to furnish the copies of the State agricultural report, ordered before the close of the present session.

The following resolution was submitted by Mr. GREGG:

Resolved, That the State printer is hereby ordered to deliver to the custody of the chief clerk of the Senate, the copies of the State agricultural report, ordered by this body, and that he retain in his custody the quota of each Senator, subject to their order.

Mr. SCOFIELD moved to amend by substituting the Secretary of State for the chief clerk.

The amendment was agreed to, and the resolution, as amended, passed.

The following message was received from the Executive, and read:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, April 12, 1859.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN:—I have approved and signed the following acts of the General Assembly, viz:

For return of survey to Surveyor General's office, one dollar.

For draft thereof to the warrantee, twenty-five cents.

For executing order of re-survey, and making return thereof, same fees as for like service on original survey.

For certifying survey made by deputy, fifty cents.

For each mile necessarily traveled in going to and returning from land, ten cents.

SEC. 2. That if any county surveyor shall take greater or other fees than is hereinbefore expressed and limited for the service designated, he shall be subject to all the penalties and liabilities prescribed by the twenty-sixth section of the act of the twenty-eighth of March, one thousand eight hundred and fourteen, entitled "An Act establishing a fee bill."

SEC. 3. That all laws or parts of laws relating to the fees of surveyors inconsistent herewith, be and the same are hereby repealed.

Mr. WITHROW offered a resolution that the Senate be requested to return to the House a bill, entitled "An Act to run and define part of the boundary line between Mifflin and Huntingdon counties," for the purpose of amendment; which was read the second time.

And on the final passage of the resolution, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WIGTON and Mr. WAGENSELLER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Bertolet, Bryson, Campbell, Dismant, Dodds, Durhoraw, Eekman, Fleming, Glatz, Good, Hottenstine, Irish, Ketchum, Kinney, Matthews, M'Curdy, Nill, Oaks, Palm, Patterson, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Smead, Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Wagenseller, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Withrow and Wolf—38.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Barlow, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Custer, Ellmaker, Fearon, Foster, Galley, Goepp, Graham, Gray, Green, Hill, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Miller, Pennell, Peirce, Price, Smith, (Berks,) Warden, Wigton, Woodring and Zoller—25.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. IRISH called up Senate bill No. 1237, "An Act to incorporate the Pittsburg and Birmingham passenger railway company;" which was considered and passed finally.

Mr. WITMAN called up Senate bill No. 1026, "An Act for the relief of R. J. Fleming;" which was considered and passed finally.

Mr. NILL called up Senate bill No. 672, "An Act relating to sureties of county treasurers;" which was considered and passed finally, as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That whenever any county treasurer within this Commonwealth shall fail to pay to the Commonwealth, on demand being made, the balance found to be due by him upon settlement of his account by the Auditor General and State Treasurer, a petition may be presented to the court of common pleas of the county wherein the said treasurer may reside, at the instance of the Attorney General, or one or more of the sureties of said county treasurer, praying for his dismissal from office on account of said default. Upon the presentation of said petition, the said court shall enter a rule upon said county treasurer to appear on a day certain to show cause why he should not be removed from said office, of which due notice shall be given to said county treasurer.

SEC. 2. That upon the hearing of said rule, if it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of said court that the said officer is in default for the non-payment of money due the Commonwealth, the court shall forthwith make a decree dismissing him from the said office; and upon receiving a certified copy of the said decree, the commissioners of the proper county shall immediately fill the vacancy thereby created, for the unexpired term of said treasurer.

Mr. GRAY called up Senate bill 1164, "An Act relating to the time of holding the courts in Greene county;" which was considered; and passed finally.

Mr. THORN moved that the House proceed to the consideration of Senate bill No. 1128, "An Act relative to the sale of the Northwestern railroad company;" which was agreed to; and the bill passed finally.

Mr. SMEAD called up Senate bill No. 1123, "An Act in relation to the Towanda and Burlington plank road company;" which was considered and passed finally.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (of Bedford,) called up Senate bill No. 538, "An Act for the relief of Liberty township school district, in Bedford county."

And being on final passage, it was not agreed to.

Mr. HAMERSLY called up Senate bill No. 1168, "Supplement to an act establishing a mode for drawing and selecting jurors in and for the city of Philadelphia;" which was considered and passed finally.

Mr. WIGTON called up Senate bill No. 1037, "An Act authorizing the payment of the claim of Andrew Wise, of Huntingdon county;" which was considered and passed finally.

Mr. TAYLOR called up Senate bill No. 1239, "An Act to authorize the managers of the Indiana and Ebensburg turnpike road company to collect tolls for certain purposes;" which was considered and passed finally.

Mr. NILL called up Senate bill 1131, "An Act to incorporate the Valley Forge military academy;" which was considered and passed finally.

Mr. PROUDFOOT called up Senate bill No. 1152, "Supplement to the act dividing the borough of Johnstown into wards;" which was considered and passed finally.

Mr. GOEPP offered a joint resolution that House bill No. 182, "An Act to confer upon certain associations of citizens of this Commonwealth all the rights and immunities of corporations and bodies politic in law, and to confirm charters heretofore granted," be amended by striking out the 11th section; which was twice read and passed finally.

Mr. HAMERSLY offered a resolution that the State printer be directed to print 3000 copies of the report of the Auditor General on banks and savings institutions, for the use of members of the next House of Representatives, and that they be laid on the desks of the members at the opening of the session; and that 1000 copies of all public bills passed at the present session, be printed for the use of the members; which was read the second time.

Mr. NILL moved that the further consideration of the bill be indefinitely postponed, which was not agreed to.

Mr. CHASE called for a division of the question,

And the resolutions were severally adopted.

Mr. KINNEY offered a joint resolution relative to the pay of George H. Lenhard and Jacob Hoffman, folders of the House; which was considered and passed finally.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented a message from the Governor; which was read, as follows, viz:

WM. F. PACKER.

Mr. GOEPP called up Senate bill No. 169, "An Act relating to commissions of justices of the peace and aldermen;" which was considered and passed finally, (Mr. ELLMAKER in the chair,) as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That every person hereafter elected to the office of justice of the peace or alderman, shall, within, thirty days after the election, if he intends to accept said office, give notice thereof, in writing, to the prothonotary of the common pleas of the proper county, who shall immediately inform the Secretary of the Commonwealth of said acceptance; and no commission shall issue until the Secretary of the Commonwealth has received the notice aforesaid.

SEC. 2. That so much of an act of Assembly as requires constables to send copies of the returns of the election of aldermen and justices of the peace to the Governor of the Commonwealth, is hereby repealed.

SEC. 3. That whenever any person elected to the office of alderman or justice of the peace shall fail to give the notice of acceptance as provided for in the first section of this act, within thirty days after said election, the office shall be considered vacant, and shall be filled as vacancies are now filled by law.

Mr. WITMAN called up Senate bill No. 704, "An Act to authorize the trustees of the corporation of the United Brethren in Christ, of Middleton, Dauphin county, to convey certain real estate;" which was considered and passed finally.

Mr. BURLEY called up Senate bill No. 1219, "An Act relative to the claim of James Condrnn;" which was considered and passed finally.

Mr. SMEAD called up Senate bill No. 1050, "An Act to authorize the Auditor General to correct certain accounts;" which was considered and passed finally.

Mr. WIGTON called up Senate bill No. 544, "An Act relative to the claim of Jackson Fee;" which was considered.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) moved to amend, by requiring the Auditor General to report the amount to the next Legislature; which was agreed to.

And the bill, as amended, passed finally.

Mr. WOLF called up House bill No. 1263, "An Act to incorporate the Wrightsville steam ferry company;" which was considered.

Mr. GREEN forwarded to the SPEAKER'S desk a memorial against the passage of the act; which was read by the Clerk.

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the bill,

It was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. GALLEY, from the conference committee on House bill No. 885, "An Act repealing an act to increase the pay of jurors, witnesses, &c., so far as relates to Fayette county," made report; which was read and adopted.

Mr. HAMERSLY called up Senate bill 1214, "Supplement to an act to authorize the courts of common pleas to change names of persons;" which was considered and passed finally.

Mr. THORN alluded to the speech which Mr. STEPHENS delivered on Friday last. He admitted it to be overpoweringly eloquent, but objected to the course which had afterwards been taken by the gentleman from Wayne (Mr. STEPHENS) in directing the publishers of the Record to strike out the remarks of all other gentlemen who had spoken on the subject. He now asked that the remarks which he had made on that occasion be published, as follows:

MR. SPEAKER: This House have been entertained and instructed by the very eloquent remarks of the gentleman from Wayne. The manner of the gentleman, and the lamentable condition of our Commonwealth, as described by him, the probable destruction of our institutions, because of the degeneracy of her representatives, forcibly remind me of the unfortunate condition of a boat descending the Ohio. It was freighted with, or had on board, some souls; it encountered a severe storm, and after much trouble all were saved. The pilot afterwards described the scene and the condition of the boat in the following language:

"She pitched and heaved, and heaved and pitched,
And up her rudder flung;
And every time she pitched and heaved,
A worse leak she sprung."

Mr. STEPHENS said that the remarks in question had been published in Berger's paper, and that they were in character with the man who controlled that sheet. The remarks were entirely out of place. He had done nothing but his duty to his country.

Mr. THORN said that his remarks had been entertained by the SPEAKER, and therefore were not out of place. He did object, however, to the clandestine course of the gentleman from Wayne, (Mr. STEPHENS.)

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) said that at this juncture, when it was so important to the members that the Record should be right, he had been surprised to find it incorrect, not through any action of the Reporters, but through the effort of Mr. STEPHENS. In the printed speech of that gentleman, (written by himself,) there was an insidious allusion to members who were controlled by "British Bondholders." Now, the gentleman from Wayne, when he delivered the speech, had made no such remarks. He called upon Mr. STEPHENS to explain whether by that printed allusion, he had any reference to the connection which he, (Mr. SMITH, Berks,) was supposed to have with the Reading railroad. If Mr. STEPHENS had uttered the same words which he caused to be printed, they would have met an immediate response on the floor.

Mr. STEPHENS said that he had not alluded to the gentleman from Berks, (Mr. SMITH.)

Mr. HARDING wished the gentleman to state who he had alluded to.

Mr. HAMERSLY said that several questions and some remarks which he had volunteered, when the gentleman from Wayne was delivering his celebrated speech, had also been withheld from the Record, by order of Mr. STEPHENS.

Mr. KINNEY said that a resolution of his, had also been stricken out.

Mr. THOMPSON protested against the action of the gentleman from Wayne, (Mr. STE-PHENS, in thus causing remarks of other members to be suppressed, when he distributed two thousand copies of his own speech throughout the State. It was unfair. He wished the gentleman to explain what he had meant in his speech, by a comparison between the Czar of Russia, and the President of the United States.

Mr. STEPHENS said that all his acts had been in obedience to the duty which he owed his country. The remarks of the other gentlemen, if they had been published, would have injured him. He had attempted fruitlessly to attract the attention of the SPEAKER at the time they were delivered.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) rose to a point of order. It was not proper or honorable to cast reflections on the SPEAKER, when that gentleman had no opportunity to reply.

Mr. HARDING rose to a conundrum, and wanted an answer. What was the difference between the Czar of Russia and the President of the United States?

Mr. STEPHENS knew that what he had said had made the gentleman from Berks, (Mr. SMITH,) sore.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) called upon Mr. STEPHENS to explain? What did he mean by saying that he (Mr. SMITH,) was sore? Was it intended as an aggravation of an injury already inflicted?

Mr. STEPHENS relied upon the people of the State and country to sustain him.

Mr. ROHRER said that his resolution at the conclusion of Mr. STEPHENS' speech had also been left out. The resolution had been to give three cheers for the American eagle; and had been offered in good faith.

Mr. STEPHENS said that the gentleman from Armstrong, (Mr. ROHRER,) would have sustained him, if he had been a man.

Mr. ROHRER rose to a personal explanation. He wished to know what the gentleman meant.

SENATE AMENDMENTS

To House bill, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Pittsburg gymnasium association," were read; and, on motion of Mr. McDOWELL, non-concurred in.

To House bill, entitled "Supplement to an act to incorporate the North Pennsylvania railroad company," were read and non-concurred in, on motion of Mr. HAMERSLY.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) moved that the vote by which the resolution granting the use of this Hall to the Democratic State Convention was passed, be re-considered; which was agreed to.

The resolution being on final passage,

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) moved to postpone the further consideration of the resolution until this afternoon; which was agreed to.

Mr. KINNEY offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That a committee of thirteen be appointed to wait on the third house, to ascertain if they have any further business in readiness for this House.

The SPEAKER ruled the resolution out of order.

An extract from the Journal of the Senate was read and adopted.

Mr. GALLEY offered a resolution, that the SPEAKER of the House of Representatives be directed to withhold his signature from bill, entitled "An Act relative to the division of the borough of Uniontown, Fayette county;" which was considered and adopted.

The hour of one having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until this afternoon at three o'clock.

The House was called to order at 3 o'clock. The SPEAKER in the chair.

Mr. THORN moved to take a recess for half an hour; agreed to.

And the SPEAKER adjourned the House.

AFTER RECESS.

House re-assembled at 3½ o'clock.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved that when the House adjourns it do so to meet at 8 o'clock.

Mr. GLATZ moved to amend, by saying 7½ o'clock.

Mr. WILSON moved to amend the amendment, by making it 7¼ o'clock.

The proposition to meet at 8 o'clock was agreed to.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) called up "Resolution relative to granting the Hall to the Democratic Convention from 12 M. to 7 P. M., to-morrow.

Mr. THOMPSON moved to amend, by saying from 10 A. M. to 7. P. M.

The original resolution, as thus amended, was agreed to.

Mr. QUIGLEY moved to adjourn.

Not agreed to.

The House adjourned.

HOUSE.—EVENING SESSION.

The House met at 8 o'clock, and was called to order by the SPEAKER.

Mr. FOSTER called up Senate bill No. 1228, "An Act repealing an act relating to executions against bridge companies;" which was considered and passed finally.

Mr. SHEPPARD, from the Committee to Compare Bills, made report; which was read.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTION.

Mr. NEALL offered a resolution that the Clerk of the House be authorized to employ a competent person to construct such ventilators as he may deem necessary for a proper ventilation of this Hall.

Read the second time.

The question was discussed by Messrs. HAN-

ERSLY, NEALL, SMEAD, THORN, ROHRER, and WILSON.

And on the question,
Shall the resolution pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. NEALL and Mr. HARDING, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Evans, Fearon, Foster, Hamersly, Harding, Keneagy, Matthews, M'Dowell, Neall, Sheppard, Smith, (Berks,) Styer, Walborn, Wiley and Lawrence, Speaker—14.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Bryson, Church, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Fleming, Galley, Glatz, Goepf, Graham, Gray, Hill, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) M'Curdy, Oaks, Pennell, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Rohrer, Shafer, Shields, Smead, Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Wilson, Wolf and Woodring—50.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. HAMERSLY offered a joint resolution relative to the pay of certain paper-folders of the House; which was considered and passed finally.

SENATE AMENDMENTS

To House bills numbered and entitled, as follows, were read and concurred in:

No. 1076. "Supplement to an act for the regulation of the militia of this Commonwealth."

No. 1285. "Supplement to the act incorporating the Philadelphia and New Hope railroad company."

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) moved that the House proceed to the consideration of House bill, entitled "An Act to run and define part of the boundary line between Mifflin and Huntingdon counties;" which was not agreed to.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed the House that the Senate insisted on its amendment to House bill, entitled "An Act to authorize the appointment of commissioners to examine and adjust certain claims," and has appointed a committee of conference.

On motion of Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) a similar committee was appointed on the part of the House.

The Senate insists on its amendments to House bill No. 1276, "Supplement to an act to incorporate the North Pennsylvania railroad company."

On motion of Mr. THORN, the House insisted on its amendment, and appointed a committee of conference.

BILL IN PLACE.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) on leave given, read in his place and presented to the Chair, "An Act authorizing interpleading in executions levied on real estate," and moved that the House proceed to the consideration of the same; which was not agreed to.

Mr. THORN moved that this House will hold a session to-morrow evening, commencing at 7 o'clock; which was agreed to.

Mr. WALBORN moved that when this House adjourns, it will meet again at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning; which was agreed to.

On motion of Mr. SHEPPARD, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

SENATE.

WEDNESDAY, April 13, 1859.

Senate met at the usual hour. The SPEAKER in the chair.

Prayer by Rev. Mr. Hay.

The Journal was partly read. The further reading was then dispensed with.

The following communication was received from the Governor:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER.

On motion of Mr. KELLER, the Senate proceeded to the consideration of House bill No. 1165, "An Act compelling the overseers and supervisors in the borough and county of Northumberland to give security."

Pending the consideration of the bill,

Mr. COFFEY moved the Senate do now adjourn.

On this motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. CRAIG and Mr. COFFEY, and were as follows, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Francis, Marselis, Nunemacher, Scofield, Shaeffer and Welsh—10.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Fetter, Gregg, Keller, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Schell, Schindel, Steele, Turney, Wright and Yardley—17.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The Senate resumed the consideration of the bill, when it passed finally.

Mr. PARKER moved that the Senate proceed to the consideration of House bill No. 673, "An Act to incorporate the Mutual Dupont insurance association of Philadelphia."

Mr. RANDALL moved that the Senate do now adjourn.

On this question,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RANDALL and Mr. PARKER, and were as follows, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Brewer, Francis, Marselis, Nunemacher, Randall, Schell, Scofield, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—11.

NAYS—Messrs. Baldwin, Coffey, Craig, Keller, Miller, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Shaeffer, Steele, Thompson and Yardley—14.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The bill being on the passage of the first section,

Mr. RANDALL moved that the Senate do now adjourn.

On this motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RANDALL and Mr. BELL, and were as follows, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Brewer, Francis, Gregg, Keller, Marselis, Nunemacher, Randall, Schell, Scofield, Schindel, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, Speaker—15.

The SPEAKER thereupon declared the Senate adjourned, until to-morrow morning at nine and a half o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WEDNESDAY, April 13, 1859.

The House was called to order at 9 o'clock by the SPEAKER.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Mr. G. J. Martz, of the Lutheran Church, Harrisburg.

The Clerk read the Journal of yesterday.

Mr. M'CURDY, from the Committee of Accounts, made report, accompanied with a resolution, that the SPEAKER draw his warrant in favor of G. W. Porter, Postmaster at Harrisburg, for $1,237 84, being in full for postage up to date; which was read the second time and adopted.

SENATE AMENDMENTS

To a number of House bills were read and concurred in.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed the House that the Senate non-concurs to House amendments to Senate bill, entitled "An Act relative to the claim of Jackson Fee;" and, on motion of Mr. WIGTON, the House recede from its amendment.

On motion of Mr. THOMPSON, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until this evening at 7 o'clock.

HOUSE—EVENING SESSION.

The House met again at seven o'clock, and was called to order by the SPEAKER.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) from the committee of conference, on House bill No. 460, relative to the examination and adjustment of certain claims, made report; which was read and adopted.

Mr. WILEY called up Senate bill No. 906, "An Act to incorporate the Byberry and Andalusia turnpike road company;" which was considered and passed finally.

Mr. BARNESLEY, from the committee of conference, on bill, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Huntingdon Valley railroad company," made report; which was read and adopted by the House.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) on leave given, presented "A supplement to an act to incorporate St. Pauls church, city of Philadelphia," and moved that the House suspend the rule and proceed to the consideration of the same.

The bill was read at the request of Mr. THORN.

The motion to consider the bill was carried, and the bill was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the same?

A motion was made by Mr. THORN that the further consideration of the same be postponed indefinitely; which was agreed to.

Senate amendments to numerous House bills were read and concurred in.

Senate amendments to House bill relative to the granting of licenses to hotel, inn or tavern keepers, were read, as follows :

Provided, That the several courts of quarter sessions shall have and exercise such discretion, and no other, in regard to the necessity of inns or taverns as is given to said courts by the act relative to inns or taverns, approved March 11, 1834.

The first section of the bill reads as follows : That it shall be lawful for the several courts of quarter sessions of this Commonwealth to hear petitions, in addition to that of the applicant, in favor of and remonstrances against the application of any person applying to either of them for a license to keep a hotel, inn or tavern, and thereupon to refuse the same; and so much of the sixth section of the act of Assembly relating to the sale of intoxicating liquors, passed 20th day of April, 1858, as is inconsistent herewith, is hereby repealed: Provided, That nothing in this shall apply to the city of Philadelphia.

And on the question,

Will the House concur in the same?

The question was discussed by Messrs. GOEPP, THOMPSON, SMITH, (Berks,) WILSON, FOSTER, IRISH, and others, at some length; when

Mr. EVANS rose to a call of the previous question; which was sustained.

And on the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GOEPP and Mr. RAMSDELL, and were as follows, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bryson, Burley, Campbelle, Church, Dodds, Durhoraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fleming, Galley, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Curdy, Nill, Oaks, Pennell, Peirce, Price, Proudfoot, Pugh, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Shields, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Williams, (Bedford,) Williston, Wilson and Lawrence, Speaker—58.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Messrs. IRISH and ELLMAKER moved that the vote just had be re-considered, for the purpose of amending the bill, by adding to the end of the Senate proviso the words "except in the city of Philadelphia and county of Allegheny."

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the motion to re-consider?

Mr. GRAHAM moved that the further consideration of the motion to re-consider be indefinitely postponed.

A rambling discussion having ensued,

Mr. THORN rose to a call of the previous question; which was not sustained.

The question was then further discussed by Messrs. BARLOW, RAMSDELL and NEALL.

Mr. GRAHAM withdrew his motion to postpone indefinitely the motion to re-consider.

Mr. IRISH withdrew the motion to re-consider; whereupon

Mr. FOSTER asked leave to offer a resolution, that the bill under consideration be so amended as to add after the word "sessions," in the second proviso, the words, "empowered to grant licenses."

And on the question,

Shall the gentleman have leave to offer the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) and Mr. GOEPP, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Church, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fleming, Foster, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottentstine, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Dowell, Neall, Oaks, Peirce, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wilson and Lawrence, Speaker—55.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Custer, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Gray, Laird, Nill, Ramsdell, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Thorn, Wolf and Woodring—17.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And on the question,

Will the House proceed to the second reading and consideration of the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GOEPP and Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Bayard, Bryson, Burley, Church, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Foster, Galley, Graham, Gratz, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottentstine, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Neall, Oaks, Peirce, Proudfoot, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Wagonseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Williams, (Bucks,) Williston and Wilson—51.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Custer, Dismant, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Gray, Laird, Nill, Price, Quigley, Ramsdell, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Wolf and Woodring—20.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. FOSTER moved to amend as follows: "and that the joint rule be suspended, so far as relates to the transmission of this resolution;" which was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

Mr. EVANS rose to a call of the previous question; which was sustained.

And on the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GOEPP and Mr. WOLF, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Acker, Barlow, Bayard, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Church, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Evans, Fearon, Galley, Graham, Gratz, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Oaks, Patterson, Peirce, Proudfoot, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Wagonseller, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson and Lawrence, Speaker—51.

NAYS—Messrs. Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Custer, Dismant, Ellmaker, Fleming, Foster, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Laird, Neall, Nill, Price, Quigley, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Walborn, Wolf, Woodring and Zoller—23.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The question recurring,

Shall the resolution pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GOEPP and Mr. WOLF, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Graham, Gratz, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Mann, Mehaffey, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Neall, Oaks, Peirce, Proudfoot, Rohrer, Ronse, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Smith, (Philadelphia,) Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Wagonseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—56.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Custer, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Laird, Nill, Price, Quigley, Ramsdell, Smith, (Berks,) Wolf and Woodring—14.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

An extract from the Journal was received as follow:

Resolved, (the House of Representatives concurring,) That the eleventh joint resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives be dispensed with for the purpose of considering "An Act relative to the removal of the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad company from a portion of Liberty street, in the city of Pittsburg;" which was read the second time.

Discussion ensued between Messrs. THORN, M'DOWELL, FOSTER, HAMERSLY and WALBORN.

And on the question,

Shall the resolution pass?

Mr. PRICE rose to a call of the previous question; which was sustained.

And on the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

It was agreed to.

The question recurring,

Shall the resolution pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. FOSTER and Mr. HAMERSLY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Bayard, Bryson, Burley, Church, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fisher, Galley, Glatz, Graham, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottentstine, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Lawrence, (Washington,) Matthews, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Neall, Oaks, Patterson, Pennell, Peirce, Price, Proudfoot, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Ronse, Shafer, Sheppard, Smead, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Walborn, Walker, Wigton, Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—54.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. GAZZAM submitted the following:

Resolved, That, if the House of Representatives concur, the twelfth joint rule of the Senate and House of Representatives be suspended, and that the Senate proceed to the consideration of bill, "An Act to authorize the Pennsylvania railroad company to remove their track from Liberty street, Pittsburg."

Agreed to.

Mr. PALMER submitted the following:

Resolved, That 3,000 copies of the Auditor General's report on the finances, and 5,000 of the public laws of this session, be printed for the use of the Senate.

Agreed to.

Mr. RANDALL offered the following:

Resolved, That a committee of two be appointed by the Senate, to act with a similar committee, should the House appoint such a committee, to wait upon the Governor and inform him that the Senate and House of Representatives will adjourn at 12 o'clock to-day.

The SPEAKER appointed Messrs. RANDALL and GAZZAM.

Mr. WELSH submitted the following:

Resolved, That a committee of two be appointed by the Senate to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate will adjourn at 12 o'clock this day.

The SPEAKER appointed Messrs. WELSH and SCOFIELD.

The Speaker, Mr. CRESSWELL, then arose and said:

SENATORS:—In transferring to your hands again the position with which you have honored me, which I now transfer, I am performing the last official act of my Senatorial career.

My aim and effort has been to discharge in a becoming manner the duties of the position, and to faithfully carry out as your presiding officer the pledge made to you when I took upon myself the trust. I congratulate the Senate upon the harmony and order which has generally prevailed during our session. I have been sustained in a manner and with a degree of liberality upon your part, gentlemen, that to me has been truly gratifying. If occasionally, from exciting causes and discussions, unpleasant or unkind feelings may have been generated, I trust and hope they have been evanescent, and will be remembered no more.

That our labors here may contribute to the common welfare, prosperity and progress of our Commonwealth is the earnest desire and wish of all of us. I trust that the results will be in accordance with our hopes—and that all we have done here may redound to the honor and interest of our country.

We are about to exchange the labors and cares of official life for the more agreeable and pleasant pursuits of private life. You will bear with you, one and all, my kindest regards for your future welfare and happiness.

For your confidence, courtesy and kindness personally, I return to you my sincere and heart-felt thanks. I will bear with me to my mountain home many fond recollections of associations formed in this hall.

With sentiments of high personal regard and esteem for you respectively, allow me to bid you "finally, brethren, farewell."

On motion of Mr. BREWER, the Senate proceeded to the election of a SPEAKER.

Messrs. Blood, Brewer, Craig, Fetter, Gregg, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Randall, Schell, Schindel, Steele, Welsh, Wright and Cresswell, voted for Mr. TURNER.

Messrs. Coffey, Francis, Gazzam, Harris, Myer, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Rutherford, Scotfield, Shaeffer, Thompson, Turney and Yardley, voted for ANDREW GREGG, JR.

Mr. TURNER was then conducted to the chair by Messrs. CRESSWELL and GREGG, when he delivered the following address:

Senators, I shall ever cherish a kind remembrance and cordial appreciation of the high honor you have conferred upon me. The duties that devolve upon me are, to some extent, a mere sinecure; yet it is not in that point of view that I advert to the honor, nor is it necessary for me to predict, in the future, the facility with which I shall attempt to discharge the duties that may devolve upon me, but the appreciation I have of the honor conferred upon me, arises from the fact of my elevation from the floor of the Senate to the chair of the SPEAKER. I shall endeavor, so far as the duties of SPEAKER may devolve upon me, to discharge them with an impartial and honest judgment, and with an eye solely to the interests that are committed to our keeping and control.

I can see that there are but two important duties that will devolve upon me as the SPEAKER of this body; that is, at the hour fixed and designated in the resolution to adjourn, and return to our homes, which will be the disruption of a social and Senatorial intercourse which, I have no doubt, every Senator on this floor will acknowledge has been of the most kindly character. The other is when we shall next be summoned to this field of labor, with such of us as shall have the happiness to meet in the service of the Commonwealth, to officially convene the Senate of Pennsylvania, and when the choice of a presiding officer shall have been determined, to resign the trust which you have have confided to me.

I am satisfied every Senator will carry home with him an impression which will be indelibly stamped upon his memory. Now, we have a right to review the history of the past session; but I know I participate in the common sentiment of the country, which accords to the present Legislature a degree of industry and efficiency, in every possible respect, which will commend, and make the session of 1859 one of mark. I heard, recently, the remark made by a close observer, that a more industrious body of men never convened at the Capital of the State, and that no body of men has ever accomplished more labor in the same length of time. The public interests have never been more consulted and subserved, I believe I can safely say. The number of bills that have been acted upon and passed, during this session, is commendatory of this Legislature; a fact which will, I know, be a source of sincere congratulation to every member of this body.

We are about to separate and return to the scenes of those labors which claim our private attention at home; and I have no doubt the feeling of congratulation I have adverted to, will be taken home by every Senator and cherished as long as he lives. To those who will meet here again, I must say, I shall hail the moment with pleasure, when the opportunity is presented of again commingling in the social relations with those members who are now in the Senate. To those whose term of office expires with the close of this session, I only express the sentiment of this body, when I say that every Senator is followed with the sincere regrets of his fellows; and I hope when they return to their homes and receive that approving voice from their constituency, they will sometimes, in their mind's eye, look back here and approve the judgment they exercised whilst here, while they receive the reward due to true and faithful public servants; that is, that they have been good and faithful in the discharge of their duties. Will the Senate designate one of their number to administer the oath?

Mr. BELL offered the following:

Resolved, That the thanks of the Senate be tendered to the Hon. JOHN CRESSWELL, Jr., for the dignity and impartiality with which he has presided over its deliberations.

Upon the adoption of the resolution,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WRIGHT and Mr. BELL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Myer, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Seofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Welsh, Wright and Yardley—29.

NAYS—None.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. COFFEY offered the following:

Resolved, That the thanks of the Senate be, and they are hereby tendered to Gen. WM. H. MILLER, Chief Clerk, and to the Assistant and Transcribing Clerks, and other officers of the Senate, for the fidelity and efficiency which have marked the performance of their duties during the present session.

On this motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. COFFEY and Mr. CRAIG, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Blood, Brewer, Coffey, Craig, Fetter, Francis, Gazzam, Gregg, Harris, Keller, Marselis, Miller, Nunemacher, Palmer, Parker, Penney, Randall, Rutherford, Seofield, Shaeffer, Schindel, Steele, Thompson, Turney, Welsh, Wright, Yardley and Cresswell, Speaker—30.

NAYS—None.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. SHAEFFER offered the following:

Resolved, That the thanks of the Senate be tendered to the clergymen who so kindly officiated during the session, in opening the sessions of the body with prayer. Agreed to.

Mr. WELSH, from the committee to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate will adjourn at 12 o'clock, reported that they had discharged their duty.

On motion of Mr. RANDALL, the Senate took a recess until 11 o'clock.

RECESS.

The Senate met at 11 o'clock.

A committee, from the House of Representatives, were introduced and informed the Senate that the House would adjourn at 12 o'clock.

On motion of Mr. SHAEFFER, the Senate took a further recess for half an hour.

SECOND RECESS.

At half-past 11 o'clock, the Senate again met. The following message was received from the Governor:

NAYS—None.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

So the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate sine die.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

THURSDAY, April 14, 1859.

The House was called to order at 9 o'clock, by the SPEAKER.

The Clerk read the Journal of yesterday.

BILL RE-CONSIDERED.

Messrs. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) and WAGEN-SELLER, moved that the vote by which the act, entitled "Supplement to the act to incorporate St. Paul's church, and for other purposes," was indefinitely postponed, be re considered.

And on the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. EVANS and Mr. WALEORN, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Burley, Campbell, Church, Durboraw, Ellmaker, Fearon, Galley, Glatz, Goepf, Good, Gratz, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Curdy, Neall, Patterson, Pinkerton, Pughe, Quigley, Ramsdell, Shafer, Sheppard, Styer, Thompson, Walborn Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Wolf, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—50.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Custer, Evans, Fisher, Foster, Graham, Green, Kepeagy, Nill, Oaks, Proudfoot, Rohrer, Rouse, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Thorn and Williams, (Bedford,)—19.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And on the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. THORN and Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Campbell, Church, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Glatz, Good, Gratz, Gray, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Ketchum, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, Miller, Neall, Patterson, Pinkerton, Price, Pughe, Sheppard, Smcad, Styer, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—49.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Custer, Dismant, Evans Foster, Graham, Hamersly, Jackson, Keneagy, Nill, Oaks, Proudfoot, Rohrer, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Thompson, Thorn and Warden—21.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And the bill passed.

On motion of Mr. GRATZ, the joint rule relative to the transmission of bills was dispensed with in this case.

Mr. HAMERSLY said—

Mr. SPEAKER:—I arise to a personal explanation. When the bill to divorce Emily L. Fry from her husband, Horace B. Fry, was before this House, in common with a number of other friends of the bill, I voted against proceeding to its second reading and consideration, because I deemed it unadvisable at the time, and because I did not then believe that the House was prepared to consider it. As chairman of the Committee on Divorees, I reported the bill some three weeks ago, because at the time my judgment approved it, and because I believed that the happiness of the parties and the interests of society would be promoted by its passage. I have had no reason to change the views which I then entertained. On the contrary, all that I have seen—all that I have heard—has tended to strengthen the opinions which I originally formed, and if the question had come up on the passage of the bill, I have no hesitation in saying that I should have cheerfully voted for it. I deem this much due to myself—due to the House—as well as to a lady who has excited my deepest sympathies.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) said that the impression had gone abroad that out of all the members of the House only eight or ten men had been willing to hear any argument on the Fry divorce case. He, for one, had voted "no" when the bill was before the House, because there was not then time, in the press of business, to consider it properly. If the members had made the acquaintance of the lady their sympathy would most probably have induced them to espouse her cause. The vote on that occasion was not, under any circumstances, to be considered as a test vote.

Mr. MILLER rose to correct an erroneous impression which had gone abroad in regard to himself. He had voted against proceeding to a second reading, because he thought that on the succeeding Monday the matter would be again brought up, and ample time and opportunity afforded for its discussion. He favored the divorce, and thought that the allegation of Mr. Fry himself in the reply to the petition of his wife, was sufficient to satisfy any one that it was both a moral and a legal duty for the Legislature to have passed the bill divorcing these parties. He, (Mr. MILLER,) had always, since he became acquainted with the facts in the case, been in favor of the passage of the bill, and embraced this opportunity of placing himself right before the public on this subject. He was not influenced by anything but a consciousness of right. He had never had the pleasure of seeing either Mrs. Fry or her father.

Mr. NILL said he had no regrets for the vote which he had cast on that occasion.

Mr. PRICE moved that the House proceed to the consideration of Senate bill No. 768, "Supplement to an act relating to the common schools of Lancaster city, passed January 7, 1850." And on the motion,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PRICE and Mr. ELLMAKER, and were as follow, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Bryson, Campbell, Church, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fisher, Foster, Glatz, Goepf, Green, Hamersly, Hill, Hottentstine, Irish, Keneagy, Ketchum, Laird, Mann, Mcchaffey, Matthews, McCurdy, Neall, Oaks, Patterson, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Ramsdell, Shafer, Sheppard, Styer, Walborn, Warden, Wiley, Williston, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—43.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bertolet, Burley, Custer, Dismant, Evans, Galley, Good, Graham, Gray, Nill, Peirce, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Stuart, Thompson, Thorn, Wagenseller, Witman, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Withrow and Wolf—26.

So the question was determined in the negative, two thirds not voting affirmatively.

An extract from the Journal of the Senate relative to the messaging to the Governor of the act relative to the removal of the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad from a portion of Liberty street, Pittsburg, was read,

And on the question,

Will the House agree to the suspension of the joint rule?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. THORN and Mr. FOSTER, and were as follow, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Bayard, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Burley, Campbell, Church, Ellmaker, Glatz, Gratz, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Irish, Keneagy, Lawrence, (Washington,) Matthews, Miller, Neall, Nill, Patterson, Pughe, Rohrer, Rouse, Sheppard, Shields, Styer, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—37.

NAYS—Messrs. Barnsley, Bertolet, Brodhead, Custer, Dismant, Durboraw, Eckman, Fisher, Foster, Goepf, Good, Graham, Hottentstine, Jackson, Kinney, Laird, Mann, Mahaffey, McCurdy, Oaks, Pennell, Peirce, Price, Proudfoot, Quigley, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Thorn, Warden, Witman, Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Withrow, Wolf and Woodring—39.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Messrs. WELSH and SCOFIELD, a committee from the Senate, were introduced, and informed the House that the Senate were ready to adjourn sine die, at 12 o'clock M. to-day.

Messages from the Governor, signing bills, were received and read, as follows:

WM. F. PACKER.

The Clerk of the Senate, being introduced, informed the House that a committee had been appointed by the Senate to inform the Governor that that body would be ready to adjourn at 12 o'clock, M. sine die.

Mr. NILL offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That we most cordially tender the thanks of this body to the Hon. WM. C. A. LAWRENCE, for the able, courteous, impartial and faithful manner with which he has discharged the duties of his highly responsible office.

Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) seconded the resolution in a few appropriate remarks.

And on the question,
Shall the resolution pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. ROUSE and Mr. WALBORN, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Ackel, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Church Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Graham, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Irish, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mehaffey, Matthews, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Patterson, Pennell, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Smcad, Smith, (Berks,) Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Wadren, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow, Wolf, Woodring and Zoller—79.

NAYS—Messrs. Fisher, Stephens and Thorn—3.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Upon resuming the chair, Mr. Speaker LAWRENCE addressed the House, as follows:

I congratulate you, gentlemen, upon this honorable conclusion of your labors. We are now in the last hour of a busy and fatiguing session, in which, though it has scarcely reached the limit formerly fixed by the laws of the Commonwealth, we have been in session a greater number of hours, and considered—but not passed—more bills than any body which has preceded us. The fruits of our labors must be discovered in the future. Whether they have been dictated by prudence and patriotism, and whether they will be productive of good, is a problem for solution at our homes and among our constituents. This I may say, however, with safety—that in all our intercourse, whether official or private, the members of this House have distinguished themselves by a degree of kindness and courtesy in all respects honorable and manly. Gathered together as we were, nearly all strangers, few of us having had experience in legislation, the harmony of action and great success of the session have been remarkable. And I am sure we will separate now with a sincerity of regret which is rarely engendered by a conflict of interest and opinion.

For myself, gentlemen, I have to thank you for your uniform kindness and courtesy to me. At times when great excitement prevailed by reason of contending interests—when the outside pressure was almost irresistible, and when legislation had been almost stopped—your support of the Chair was constant, undeviating and firm. There was no faltering; and to your firmness, in a very great measure, is it due that we now terminate our labors in this harmonious quiet. I am, also, indebted to the officers of the House for many acts of kindness. For the most part, they have been scrupulously attentive and industrious. If I have won your confidence and respect I am content. I have desired to do my duty. In doing so, I am sure I have incurred the enmity of some whose interests were in conflict with my sworn duty; but I shall not regard their displeasure as of serious consequence. There are men so constituted in their natures, that their hostility is more honorable and pleasant than their friendship. I am not dependent upon the approbation of such for one iota of my happiness or self-respect. [Loud applause.]

And now, gentlemen, it is my fervent desire that you may all be speedily restored to the comforts and joys of your families; that prosperity and happiness may go with you through life, and that in the end you may merit and receive that peace which passeth all understanding, eternal in the Heavens. [Loud applause.]

"An Act to incorporate the City building association," was returned with the objections of the Governor.

And on the question,

Shall the same become a law, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor? agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were called, as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Neall, Sheppard and Styer—4.

NAYS—Messrs. Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Church, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Kinney, Laird, Mann, Mahaffey, Matthews, M'Curdy, Miller, Oaks, Patterson, Pennell, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Ramsdell, Shafer, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—73.

So the question was determined in the negative, and the bill fell.

Mr. WALBORN moved that a committee of two be appointed to act in conjunction with a similar committee of the Senate, to wait upon and inform the Governor that the Legislature is ready to adjourn at 12 o'clock, M., to-day.

The SPEAKER appointed Messrs. WALBORN and GLATZ said committee.

Mr. WILLIAMS, (Bucks,) moved that a committee of two be appointed to inform the Senate that the House is ready to adjourn at 12 o'clock, M.

"An Act to incorporate the Union school district of Wattsburg, Erie county," was returned with the objection of the Governor.

And on the question,

Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

Agreeably to the provision of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were called as follow, viz:

YEA—Mr. Harding.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Church, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Foster, Goepp, Good, Gratz, Green, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Jackson, Ketchum, Kinney, Mann, Mahaffey, Matthews, M'Curdy, Neall, Patterson, Pennell, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Ronse, Shields, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wilson, Withrow, Wolf, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—67.

So the question was determined in the negative, and the bill fell.

House bill No. 240, "An Act to incorporate the California seminary of Washington county," was returned with the objections of the Governor.

And on the question,

Shall the bill pass notwithstanding the same?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were called, as follow:

YEAS—Messrs. Bayard, Graham, Lawrence, (Washington,) and Zoller—4.

NAYS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Brodhead, Burley, Campbell, Church, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Foster, Galley, Goepp, Good, Gratz, Gray, Hamersly, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Mann, Mahaffey, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Neall, Oaks, Patterson, Pennell, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Wolf, Woodring and Lawrence, Speaker—67.

So the question was determined in the negative, and the bill fell.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. NEALL offered the following resolution: Resolved, That the committee appointed to examine the affairs of the Shamokin Bank be authorized to report to the next Legislature; which was read the second time.

Mr. NEALL moved to amend, as follows:

And that said committee be requested to sit during the recess; which was not agreed to.

Mr. NEALL said that he offered the resolution for the purpose of either giving the committee power to sit during the recess, or having them discharged. He had no knowledge of the language of the original resolution, until within ten minutes of his offering this one; or he would not have allowed his name to have been associated with it. The original resolution reads, that the "committee shall report to this House at as early a day as possible," and he was not going away and leave the business of his constituency for the purpose of investigating any bank, and he hoped his resolution would be adopted, or the committee discharged from all further consideration of the subject.

The resolution was not agreed to.

Mr. HAMERSLY moved that said committee be discharged from the consideration of said resolution; which was agreed to.

Mr. ROHRER offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the thanks of this House be tendered to S. J. REA, Esq., Chief Clerk of the House, for the able, energetic, efficient and courteous manner in which he has fulfilled the duties of his position.

The resolution was read the second time.

And on the final passage of the same,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SMITH, (Berks,) and Mr. MANN, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Church, Custer, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Gratz, Gray, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Hottenstine, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mahaffey, Matthews, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Nill, Patterson, Pennell, Peirce, Pinkerton, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Shafer, Sheppard, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—83.

NAYS—None.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. WALBORN, chairman of the committee appointed to wait on the Governor and inform him that the House would be ready to adjourn at 12 o'clock, M., informed the House that they had performed that duty.

Mr. KETCHUM offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That we consider it eminently due to JOHN A. SMULL, assistant clerk, that our thanks be tendered him for his unwearied exertion in facilitating the business of the session; which was read the second time.

And on the question,

Shall the resolution pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GRATZ and Mr. M'DOWELL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Church, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Fearon, Fleming, Foster, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Graham, Glatz, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mahaffey, Matthews, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Patterson, Pennell, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Shields, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stephens, Stoneback, Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—85.

NAYS—None.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. JACKSON offered a resolution that a vote of thanks be tendered to Judson Hilecomb, Esq., chief assistant clerk, for the courteous, able and efficient manner with which he has discharged the arduous duties of his position; which was read the second time; and,

On the final passage of the resolution,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MILLER and Mr. JACKSON, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Church, Custer, Dismant, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Ellmaker, Evans, Fearon, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Hill, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mahaffey, Matthews, M'Curdy, M'Dowell, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Patterson, Pennell, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Pughe, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stuart, Styer, Taylor, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—80.

NAYS—None.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. RAMSDELL offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the thanks of the House be tendered to E. H. Rauch, John Picking, C. W. Gilfillan and Lucius Rogers, Transcribing Clerks, for the faithful and courteous manner in which they have discharged their duties.

Which was read the second time.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Washington,) moved to include the name of the Postmaster, S. C. Stewart, and other officers of the House; which was agreed to.

And on the question,

Shall the resolution pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RAMSDELL and Mr. CHURCH, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Acker, Barnsley, Barlow, Bayard, Bertolet, Boyer, (Clearfield,) Boyer, (Schuylkill,) Brodhead, Bryson, Burley, Campbell, Church, Custer, Dodds, Durboraw, Eckman, Evans, Fearon, Galley, Glatz, Goepp, Good, Graham, Gratz, Gray, Green, Hamersly, Harding, Hill, Irish, Jackson, Keneagy, Ketchum, Kinney, Laird, Lawrence, (Washington,) Mann, Mahaffey, Matthews, M'Curdy, Miller, Nill, Oaks, Patterson, Pennell, Peirce, Pinkerton, Price, Proudfoot, Quigley, Ramsdell, Rohrer, Rouse, Shafer, Sheppard, Smead, Smith, (Berks,) Stuart, Styer, Thompson, Wagenseller, Walborn, Walker, Warden, Witman, Wigton, Wiley, Williams, (Bedford,) Williams, (Bucks,) Williston, Wilson, Withrow, Wolf, Woodring, Zoller and Lawrence, Speaker—77.

LAWS OF PENNSYLVANIA.

SESSION OF 1859.

AN ACT relative to orphans' courts.

SECTION. 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That in all sales of real estate under the order of the orphans' court, authorized by the laws of this Commonwealth, the court decreeing the sale shall have power to direct the terms thereof for cash, not less than one-fourth of the purchase money at the time of the confirmation of the sale, and the balance in such instalments, and at such times as in the opinion of the court shall be for the interest and advantage of those interested therein, requiring security, to be approved by the court, in at least double the value of the interest proposed to be sold, before such sale shall be ordered or made: Provided, That the purchase money shall be a lien on the premises sold until fully paid, according to the decree of the court.

SEC. 2. That all sales of real estate heretofore ordered by the orphans' court as aforesaid, wherein a longer time than one year shall have been directed for the final payment of the purchase money, shall be taken and deemed to have the same force and effect, and be as valid and binding, as if the purchase money therein had been ordered and directed to have been paid within one year from the time of any such sale or sales: Provided, That this act shall not apply to the city of Philadelphia.

W. C. A. LAWRENCE,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
JOHN CRESSWELL, JR.,
Speaker of the Senate.

APPROVED—The twenty-second day of March, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine.

WM. F. PACKER.

A SUPPLEMENT to an act, entitled "An Act relating to the authentication of letters of attorney, protests of notaries public, and assignments made out of the State, and to the acknowledgment of deeds," approved the fourteenth day of December, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-four.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That all ambassadors, ministers plenipotentiary, charges d'affairs, or other persons exercising public ministerial functions, duly appointed by the United States of America, shall have full power and authority to take all acknowledgments and proofs of any deeds, conveyances, settlements, mortgages, agreements, powers of attorney or other instruments under seal relating to real or personal estate, made or executed in any foreign country or State, by any person or persons, or by husband and wife, in the manner and according to the forms required by the laws of this Commonwealth, and to administer all oaths or affirmations necessary or required for the purposes aforesaid; and that all acknowledgments and proofs heretofore made by any or either of the persons aforesaid before any of the officers aforesaid in the manner and according to the forms aforesaid, are hereby ratified and confirmed, and the same, and the records of the instruments aforesaid, if the said instruments have been heretofore recorded, are declared to be as valid and effectual as if the said acknowledgments, proofs and records had been respectively made, taken and recorded under the provisions hereof.

W. C. A. LAWRENCE,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
JOHN CRESSWELL, JR.,
Speaker of the Senate.

APPROVED—The second day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine.

WM. F. PACKER.

AN ACT to establish the Penn Industrial reform school.

WHEREAS, A number of citizens of this Commonwealth have associated themselves together for the purpose of establishing an industrial reform school for the physical, mental and moral instruction and reform of destitute, ignorant, idle and vicious, and criminal, and weak, and such as may be fit subjects of education in labor and improvement in the arts, and desire the Legislature to grant them a charter to that effect; therefore

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That Ellis Lewis, Mordecai L. Dawson, William D. Kelly, J. J. Barclay, Cornelius S. Smith, Joseph R. Flanigen, Robert Morris, John Mason, William F. Murphy, Daniel L. Miller, John C. Murphy, James Tyson, A. L. Kennedy, Elijah Dallett, C. H. Rogers, Philip M. Price, John Reynolds, Alfred Huidekooper, John Barker, Gordon F. Mason, John Wilson, C. M. Reed, George A. Lyon, James Miles, John Galbraith, R. C. Boileau, D. C. Wright, Wm. Himrod, Judah C. Spencer, Alfred King, Thos. Stewart, S. P. Johnson, Chapin Hall, Strange N. Palmer, Lewis Brenner, E. D. Gazzam, Geo. W. Jackson, Wm. N. Shimer, Arnold Plumer, B. Gillott, C. H. P. Kinney, Thos. White, John Graff, Jos. Buffington, Darwin Phelps, Henry D. Foster, Edgar Cowen, Richard Coulter, Cyrus Blood, Thos. H. Burrowes, A. C. Thomas, C. Collins, Moses Boileau, Daniel Lott, J. D. Williamson, J. E. Forester, K. McArthur, John Greer, G. W. Harris, D. Himrod, J. Y. James, W. M. Meredith, Henry D. Moore, Samuel M. Lane, George Griscom, G. J. Ball and their successors, and all who may become members, agreeably to the by-laws, are hereby incorporated as a body politic, known by the name, style and title of the Penn Industrial reform school; and by that style and title may sue and be sued, have a common seal, purchase, receive, hold and convey any estate, real or personal, for the use and purposes of the said corporation; and to institute, erect and maintain a school or schools, embracing the departments of common school education, agriculture, the mechanic arts and labor, with such buildings, workshops and such appurtenances, auxiliaries and instrumentalities as in the judgment of the managers may best contribute to the safe keeping, instruction and reformation of those committed to their custody and guardianship.

SEC. 2. That until otherwise directed by the by-laws, the officers shall be a president, six vice presidents, a secretary, a treasurer, and twelve managers, who shall conduct the affairs of the corporation; and for the purpose of electing said officers, the corporators may meet at such time and place as five or more thereof may designate and appoint, in the city of Philadelphia, at any time after the passage of this act.

SEC. 3. That the time and manner of admitting and continuing members, the amounts payable by members annually or for life, the manner of calling special meetings, the duties of the officers, the time and place of the annual meeting for the election of officers, the manner of electing the same, and such other matters as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this act and its true object and intent, may be provided by the by-laws: Provided, They do not conflict with the true intent and meaning of this act, or of the Constitution or any other law of this Commonwealth: And provided further, That the annual election shall be held before or as early as the first day of November in each year.

SEC. 4. That it shall and may be lawful for the board of managers, at their discretion, to receive into their care and guardianship all such as may be committed to their custody, in the same manner, to the same extent and on the same conditions as are provided for in the acts incorporating the houses of refuge, and the accounts to be kept and settled in the same manner; and in addition thereto, they may receive, at their discretion, any person charged with crime in any of the courts mentioned in the said acts, incorporating the houses of refuge, without regard to age, who may be adjudged by the court trying the cause to be a fit subject of reform; and on that question, the said court shall bear the statement of the defendant, if requested, detailing the circumstances under which the offence was committed, together with the birth and parentage, place of birth and former residence, education, course of life, and such other matters as they may judge necessary to decide the question of fitness, for the care and guardianship of the managers, which shall be substantially taken down in writing and transmitted with the commitment to the managers; when such affirmative decision is made, the said court designating the sentence of the law, and may take recognizance conditioned for the good behaviour of the defendant, and compliance with all the rules and orders of the managers; and in case the managers on personal examination and investigation of the case, or by reason of his or her conduct, upon further trial, shall ascertain the defendant not to be a fit subject for their care and management, then and in that case they shall have power to return the defendant to the sheriff of the proper county, to be committed according to the sentence so designated by the court as aforesaid; if found by the said managers to be a fit subject for their care and guardianship, and the defendant should so prove throughout the period of their control and instruction, then the managers shall furnish a certificate to the defendant, setting forth the facts in as full a manner as they may adjudge right and proper as deserved, and forward a copy thereof to the clerk of the court in which the trial was had.

SEC. 5. That the managers may receive, in the same manner, such persons as the legal authorities of the houses of refuge may determine to be fit subjects for their care and guardianship, for the purposes of education, culture and reformation.

SEC. 6. That they may receive such as may be committed as vagrants, idlers, intemperate and disorderly persons, as may be committed to their care, under authority of any of the courts or magistrates, under the examination of said commitment by the president judge of the proper district; and also, all such persons as may have fallen into the habits of intemperance or other vices or errors, who may themselves or by their friends without compulsion commit themselves to the care and guardianship of the managers, as may be provided by the by-laws and as may be stipulated.

Sec. 7. That it shall be the duty of the managers on or before the first day of December in each and every year, to forward to the Governor and to each of the departments of State, a full detailed report of their proceedings during the year, up to the first day of November, with their views on the causes of crime within the State, the most efficient means in their opinion of preventing and reforming it, and such other matters as they may deem of importance in furnishing information on that subject; and as soon thereafter as practicable, transmit a copy of said report to each of the judges of the several courts of record, to the president of each of the colleges, academies, and high schools, and to each member of the Legislature.

Sec. 8. That the Governor, Attorney General, Superintendent of Common Schools, and the president of the Agricultural high school, for the time being, and the judges of the several courts, shall be entitled to visit freely all departments under the control and guardianship of the managers; and that the friends and relatives of the inmates may at all times have free admission for the purpose of mutual conversation; subject to such regulations and restrictions compatible with the safe-keeping of the inmates, as may be from time to time prescribed in the by-laws.

WM. F. PACKER.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, April 13, 1859 }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN:—I return herewith, without the Executive approval, to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, the bill, entitled "An Act authorizing the collection of taxes for the support of the poor in the counties of Tioga, Potter and Northumberland, from unseated lands."

The bill proposes to authorize the poormasters of the several townships in the above named counties, to levy in their respective townships a poor tax on unseated lands, and to collect the same as other taxes are now collected from such lands.

I cannot approve this bill, because, should it become a law, it will introduce into three of the counties of this Commonwealth, a species of taxation unknown to the remainder of the State. Our tax laws should, as far as practicable, be uniform, general and equal. Like property should be taxable for like purposes in all the counties of the State. Bills general in their character, thus imposing burdens on any class of the community, will then receive such attention from the law-making power as their importance demands. Considering this bill an innovation in our system of taxation, calculated as a precedent to prove injurious in the future, in my opinion, it ought not to become a law. It is, moreover, by no means clear that any additional taxes should be imposed upon unseated, and therefore unproductive property. It is believed that the unseated lands in the several counties, already pay their full proportion of the expenses of the local governments.

WM. F. PACKER.

AN ACT relative to the manner of payment of coupons.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That all coupons heretofore issued by any county, city, borough or other municipal corporation within this Commonwealth, for interest due or to become due on any railroad bonds issued to any railroad company, or for any other purpose under the laws of this Commonwealth, or in payment of subscriptions to the capital stock of any such railroad company, shall as they become due and payable, be a legal tender in payment of taxes due or to become due to such county, city, borough or other municipal corporation which may have issued, or authorized the issue of such coupons or bonds; and it shall be the duty of the collectors of such taxes, and the treasurers of said county, city, borough or other municipal corporations, to receive said coupons in payment of such taxes, and to receipt for the same in like manner as if said taxes were paid in cash.

SEC. 2. That in all cases when the sum of money mentioned in said coupons, shall exceed the sum or amount of taxes due and payable by the person or persons holding and tendering such coupons in payment of taxes as aforesaid, then and in such cases, it shall be the duty of collectors and treasurers aforesaid, to receive such coupon or coupons in payment of taxes due, and for the excess or amount overpaid, to execute and deliver as such collector or treasurer in behalf of such corporation to the holder of such coupon or coupons, a warrant stating the sum or amount so overpaid and due thereon; which warrant so executed shall be a lawful tender pro tanto for the payment of any future taxes which may become due and payable by the holder thereof, to any such municipal corporation.

SEC. 3. That all coupons so redeemed and received in payment of taxes, shall be returned by the collectors to the proper treasurer of such county, city, borough or other municipal corporation; and in all cases where warrants shall be issued as aforesaid, such warrants shall be noted and designated by number, date and amount endorsed on the coupon or coupons for which they may have been given or exchanged, by the proper collector or treasurer who issued the same.

SEC. 4. That all coupons aforesaid, shall be a legal tender in payment of any and all debts due by the holder or holders thereof to any such city, county, borough or other municipal corporation which may have issued or authorized the issue of the same: Provided however, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to deprive any city, county, borough or other municipal corporation, of any right which they now possess, to obtain the decree of a court of equity declaring any such bond in whole or in part void, by reason of fraud or illegality in the issue thereof.

AN ACT to authorize certified copies of records of insurance companies to be admitted as evidence.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That in all cases of litigation in any of the courts of common pleas or quarter sessions of this Commonwealth, where a mutual fire insurance company chartered by the Legislature of this State shall be a party, a copy of the record or records of such company, certified by the seal of the company and the affidavit of the proper officer, that such is a true copy of the record, as the same may purport to be, shall be admitted as evidence before such courts, and be received as of equal weight with the original record; also, that such fire insurance companies so chartered, shall not be compelled to produce their books of record before any of the courts of this Commonwealth, but in lieu thereof, shall on sufficient notice, furnish a copy of a designated record or part thereof, at the proper cost of the party requiring such evidence, which, certified as before mentioned, may be read in evidence on trial.

AN ACT supplementary to an act relating to counties and townships, and county and township officers.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the terms and provisions of the fifth and sixth sections of the act relating to counties and townships, and county and township officers, approved the fifteenth day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and thirty-four, be and the same are hereby extended to cities and boroughs.

SEC. 2. That in no case shall any county, city, township or borough, be compelled by any judicial proceeding to pay any claim against the same, or any alleged debt thereof, nor shall any such county, city, township or borough, be compelled by any legal or judicial process whatsoever, to make provision therefor, until a judgment has been first obtained against such county, city, township or borough, by suit or action at common law, in accordance with existing regulations; and then only by execution issued upon such judgment, in accordance with the provisions of the said sixth section of the said act.
